TOM RIORDAN'S Long AND Short

One of the busiest spots in the city these days is the swimming pool.

As it turns out, not all the activity has been confined to regular swim hours.

A few mis-guided youngsters have been horsing around there in the wee small hours of the morning, tossing a variety of debris into the water.

Several breaking and enterings into the locker rooms are apparently on their way to being solved. (Note story on four being accused of two pool B&Es, as well as 10 at other area places.)

Police have also picked up youngsters admitting to hurling bottle caps and other junk into the pool.

Their parents were called in and a firm understanding arrived at. We hope the firmness went home with the moms and dads and was applied to the proper spot.

But pool news is not all bad, far from it and I'd like to mention some coming activities of general interest.

A swimming demonstration will be held there Monday evening at 7, with nearly 250 students of various classes, offered daily at the pool, taking part.

Beginners, who range from six-years-old; junior intermediates, eight and up; intermediates, usually 10 and over, will show their stuff.

It's a real sight to watch a kindergartener dive into eight feet of water and swim 25 yards.

These kids have confidence in their abilities and at the same time a deep respect for the potential danger of deep water. That's a reflection of the excellent instruction they have been getting under the teaching corps headed by Vic Lawson.

Incidentally, Vic is busy at Camp Grayling with the National Guard. His chief assistant, Ted Todd, will be handling the Monday show.

Besides the groups listed above, Red Cross life saving students will display various techniques in aiding a drowning victim.

Mr. Todd will explain to the audience the purposes and goals of the various swim class brackets.

Here's something else. From now until the end of the season, Tuesday and Thursday nights will be for families only.

From 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., an entire family will be admitted for 50c — regardless of how many there are.

This idea ties in nicely with the adult classes, which are held those evenings from 8:30 until 9:30.

In closing, there's this memo from swim officials:

The small wading pool in front of the locker room is for use of any small child, when accompanied by a parent or baby sitter.

There is no life guard at any time there, so parents must furnish supervision.

Ted told me that some people have been dropping off three and four-years-olds on Friday evening, then going shopping.

This is a reminder that pool personal cannot take responsibility for these little ones.

Women Will Run in Pancake Event

A pancake race for women over 18 will highlight the merchants annual Free Pancake Supper here Friday night.

Patterened exactly after the event of Olney, England — held annually these since the 15th Century — the Tecumseh sprint will start at 7:30 p.m.

Each contestant will carry a nine-inch griddle, containing one pancake, over a course 415 yards long — identical to Olney's.

The Tecumseh layout will begin at the library on W. Chicago Blvd., proceed east to the main four corners and turn south to the fire station and the finish

At four points along the way, the gals will have to flip the pancakes over eight-feet high ribbons, which cross the course.

Contestants must catch the griddle cake on the way down before she may continue. If she misses, she keeps trying.

Officials for the event will be Duncan Lectka and Carol Kapnick, who operate the summer recreation program. They'll come properly attired in striped referee shirts.

Police will halt traffic on the course during the race, which should last about five minutes.

In the event of a deluge of contestants — which the pancake committee would love to see — there will be several races. Winners would be timed with a stop watch and the racer with the lowest time declared the victor.

Women from all over Michigan are invited to take part and may sign up at the fire station, site of the free dinner, before 7 p.m. Each contestant will be given a numbered card, which will be pinned to her dress.

First prize will be $25 in free dry cleaning, being given by Royal Welch.

There's a pancake race at Disneyland, put on the Tuesday before Lent. It also follows the rules established by Olney housewives.

Committeemen hope that somehow the winner in Tecumseh may represent Michigan at the California event.

Local merchants have held a free pancake meal—feeding upwards of 3,000—for the past two years. This marks the initial pancake race and is believed to be the first one ever staged in Michigan.

AUNT JEMIMA will be on hand to supervise the four giant griddles on which the cakes will be cooked.

She'll also sing and there'll be a local jazz band, fronted by Tecumseh High music teacher Don Johnson to entertain guests as they dine at outdoor tables.

All Lenawee County candidates in the coming Constitutional Convention primary have been invited to the dinner to meet the crowd and answer questions on their platforms.

The evening is being capped by the annual city-wide Moonlight Sale, during which all stores will open from 9 p.m. until midnight.

"THAT'S THE PRESIDENT'S CAR SON"—Hugh DesErmia shows his son, Brian 6½, pictures of the custom built Lincoln Continental Convertible made for President John Kennedy.

He Helped Build Lincoln for JFK

Hugh A. DesErmia of 100 Maple St. had a part in the building of the new Lincoln Continental convertible in which President John F. Kennedy will be riding.

Mr. DesErmia is senior engineer in the body and electrical engineering section of the Lincoln Thunderbird Products Engineering office of the Ford Division at Dearborn.

He has been with the company five years.

Mr. DesErmia supervised the design and installation of heating and air conditioning equipment in the custom built 21-foot auto. It was designed by engineers in the Center's Product Enginering activities in cooperation with Hess and Eisenhardt of Cincinnati, O.

There are two compartments in the five-and-three eights passenger sedan with formal top of vinyl covered metal. Both compartments have two-way radio telephones, heaters and air conditioning.

There are two other tops for the convenience of the president, one of transparent plastic in six sections and a canvas one for sudden showers. Also a number of combination tops may be used.

Mr. DesErmia, home on vacation this wek, said that the Secret Service men from Washington, D. C., with whom he and two helpers worked, were not enthusiastic conversationalists. They wanted short questions and yes and no answers.

He said he, for one, was not sorry to see the big car completed about three weeks ago, since almost everything about it had to be reworked and the communication betwen his office and the Cincinnati firm was continuous.

Rules for Race

The rules for Tecumseh's pancake race will be identical to those followed in England and in Americe's Disneyland.

1. Race is open to all women of age 18 or over and who perform some type of household duties.

2. Racing costume shall be: Ordinary household dress to those followed in England and in America's Disneyland. (no slacks or shorts), plus an apron, head-scarf, and low heeled shoes (no track shoes).

3. Race will be conducted on a 415-yard course and at four points on the course a wire will be stretched across all racing lanes at a height of approximately 8'.

4. Racers will have a skillet (minimum 9" diameter) and will be furnished a hard-cooked pancake.

5. The object: The racer with a pancake in her skillet runs the course and enroute—at each wire—uses the skillet to flip her pancake over the wire, catching it again in her skillet and continuing to the finish line.

6. If racer drops pancake she may pick it up, replace it in skillet, and continue (all "flips" must be completed).

Irene Wisner Will Teach in Private School in Brazil

Irene Wisner, a first grade teacher in the Huron Valley School system, left Thursday afternoon for Campinas, Brazil, where she will teach for the government in a private American School for one year.

Miss Wisner will be employed as a supervisor for Brazilian teachers of American children.

These children must return to the states for high school and the difference in the course of studies of the two countries poses a grave problem for them.

Miss Wisner lived in Tokyo three years ago, where she taught for the army one year.

Police Nab Yegg

Alert work by Tecumseh police helped net four men suspected of passing six bad checks and a dozen breaking and enterings in this area.

Now being held in Lenawee County jail on $2,500 bond are:

► Eugene Cole, 22, 307½ N. Pearl St., Tecumseh

► Joe Williams, 17, 322 N. Maumee St., Tecumseh

► Jerry Karpo, 19, Tipton.

The fourth member of the circle was a 16-year-old from Clinton, now under jurisdiction of probate court.

Clinton Justice L. J. VanDeusen held a preliminary hearing Monday for the three men.

The boys are charged with B&Es at six Tecumseh locations: Bailey Motor Sales, R. S. Moore & Son Lumber Co., Whelan Implement Co., Bug's Service Station, two break-ins at Joyce Andrews Memorial swimming pool building and the Tecumseh Saw Shop.

They also admitted entering two garages in Manchester, the Keeling Garage in Britton, the Community Center in Clinton and the Country Market in Manchester.

Williams also admitted several larcenies of cars in the parking lot of the Tecumseh Products Co.

The Tecumseh police apprehended Mr. Williams and after questioning, he admitted breaking and entering several Tecumseh businesses.

The state police moved in to complete the case.

Cole's hearing will be July 19 and Williams will appear in circuit court July 14.

10 Named to Steering Committee

By JIM LINCOLN

A Citizens Committee for the schools was given a boost Monday night when the Tecumseh School Board appointed a 10-member steering committee.

Members selected by the board were:

Arthur Eaton
Rev. Blair O. Bashore
Mrs. Richard Preston
Martin Hally
Joseph Dziachan
Thomas Jacoby
Orville Bishop
Mrs. Larry Hart
Mrs. Warren Puffer
Lee Prettyman

The committee has been requested to select its own chairman and additional members as desired for working with school problems.

It was originally planned for a 40-member committee but the board decided to leave the number at the original ten.

After Mrs. Robert Stone took office, replacing Dr. Ralph Helzerman on the board, Aden Mead was elected president.

He succeeds Jens Touborg, 20-year member, who said that he was unable to devote enough time to the position and announced that he did not plan to seek re-election next year.

Other officers elected were Dwight Hodges, secretary, and Ralph Comfort, treasurer.

☆

IN OTHER action, the board:

Awarded contract to Forrest Abner for installation of a boiler at the library.

Approved borrowing $100,000.

Accepted teachers' resignations from Louis J. Whitton, Frances Waggoner, Sue Kane and Mrs. Murell Clark.

Authorized Supt. James McDowell to seek bids for a station wagon for the special school at West Branch. The county is to pay the costs.

Approved second Monday of each month as regular meeting date.

June Stone Wins Place on Board

Mrs. June Stone gained a four-year term on the Tecumseh School Board in a light vote cast Monday at the high school.

Only 499 ballots, including absentee, were cast.

Mrs. Stone, part-time teacher at Adrian College, won by a sizeable majority with 191 votes.

William Wright was second with 138; Al Russell, 93; John Robinson, 33; and Don Purkey, write-in candidate, received 29 votes. Arthur Eaton, a candidate at the last board election but who did not seek a term this time, received one vote.

There were several ballots voided due to voters' failure to follow instructions.

Flower Show Is Saturday

Mrs. Earl Baldwin, "Flora-Drama" Chairman, introduced the Little Garden Club to the plans for their coming flower show by reading from an article by Mrs. W. H. Barton, Chairman of Flower Shows, Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan.

"Why have a flower show? The flower show is an implement of education. It is the garden club show case and stimulates interest.

"It shows what ordinary people may get in average gardens and how these flowers may be used.

"It may be a venture in civic cooperation anticipating the establishment of a garden center, a restful park, a monument, beautification of a bridge, placing of horticulture books in a library, etc."

With these views and the civic interest in plays and staging plays in mind, the theme "Flora-Drama" gradually took shape.

The Products clobbered Clinton 22 to 2 behind the home run hitting of Dennis Beemer and Gary Peterson.

In the meantime Deerfield was chalking up their second win with a 5 to 3 decision over the Eagles. The heavy stick work was handled by Dave Dziachan with a long triple in a losing cause.

Warm weather has drawn many childdren to the playground. There were as many as 31 children this week. Due to the fact that the children forgot the pet show, there were only two contestants.

After the judging, games were played. Amy Jo Skinner taught a game called "Duck".

Friday there was a picnic with about 20 children attending. The menu was baked beans, sandwiches, potato chips, marble cake, and kool-aid.

"Calling all gals, calling all gals. Now is the time. Now is the time to sign up for the big pancake race Friday evening at 7:30 p.m."

Its much more fun than tennis or ping pong. Just fry yourself a good stiff pancake and then take that skillet out on the back lawn and try it.

You'd be surprised at the fun you can have. And any gal eighteen and over is eligible, so lets get in practice and call or phone the Herald office to register.

Lets give those ladies of Olney, England and Liberal, Kansas a real race for their money.

BRITTON — Mrs. William Gibson and Mrs. Percy Cadmus were co-hostesses for the Priscilla Circle of the Congregational Christian Church last Thursday in the Gibson residence for a noon luncheon and meeting.

Mrs. Charles Patterson opened the business meeting with the following verse, author unknown:

"You cannot say the Lord's Prayer and make one selfish plea.

"You cannot say the Lord's Prayer and even once say me.

"For it's our, our, our, and it's us, us, us.

"And the fourth time it's our and the fourth time it's us.

"You cannot say the Lord's Prayer and even once say 'I',

"You cannot say the Lord's Prayer and even once say my,

"You cannot say the Lord's Prayer and pray not for another,

"For when you ask for daily bread, you must include they brother.

"For it's us, us, us, and it's our, our, our,

"As free from selfish motive as the fragrance of a flower.

"For others are included in each and every plea,

"For from beginning to the end it does not once say me."

Mrs. John Beal presented the program, assisted by Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Cadmus, Mrs. Lawrence Hoagland, Mrs. Carl Auten, Mrs. Douglas Fairbanks, Mrs. Harold Osterhout, Mrs. Lawrence Ash, Mrs. Jennie Youngclove and Mrs. Patterson.

The circle will meet Wednesday, Aug. 2 with Mrs. Carl Thompson at Deep Lake for a picnic at noon.

Britton, Michigan
July 3, 1961

Dear Mom and Dad,

I am having a good time. This place isn't much like school, it's more like a prison.

We made up a new game today in archery. You try to hit an apple off somebody's head with a bow and arrow. It's a lot of fun. Tomorrow I get to hold the apple. We also made up another new game, It's called "Destroy."

So far I like swimming the best, I keep going under and they can't find me.

I can make a bed real good now. Our counselor taught me how to make his. I was judged the best boy in our Troop so I get to bring the counselor his breakfast in bed.

Guess what? I was the first one to find the poison ivy on our nature hike.

Please don't forget the picnic Wednesday night. Bring lots to eat because I haven't ate here yet. We eat at 6:30.

Next summer I wish I could be a counselor, or some one would row me around the Lake. I hope I'm out of the Infirmary by Wednesday. See you then.

Love,

Bride-To-Be Honored at Shower

BRITTON—Suzanne Spohr was a guest at a bridal shower given in her honor Monday evening when the Misses Lois Neidlinger, Sharon Bottoroff and Nina Crutchfield entertained 25 friends in the home of Mrs. Wayne Dunbar.

Upon her arrival Suzanne was presented a corsage of white roses with tiny kitchen utensils on it.

Appropriate games were played and prizes were awarded to the winners and guest of honor.

Suzanne opened many lovely and useful gifts which had been placed around a parasol decorated with ivy, pink miniature roses and tiny white bells.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses from a white covered table enhanced by two lighted candles in milk glass holders encircled by ivy and blue delphinium.

Guests were present from Williamston, Toledo, O., Blissfield, Brooklyn, Tecumseh and Britton.

JIM SMITH, MIDWEST SOARING CHAMPION, WITH GLIDER. HE MADE 2953 OUT OF 3000

Jim Smith Wins Soaring Contest

A. J. Smith of 106 E. Chicago Blvd., Tecumseh's architect, was high point winner in the Midwest Soaring Championships which closed July 4 at Adrian Airport, under the sponsorship of the Toledo Glider Club.

Mr. Smith made 2953 points out of a possible 3000.

He uses a German glider weighing 500 pounds which he has had for about five years modifying and improving it each year.

Mr. Smith says that he gets extremely high performance from his machine with a gliding ratio four times as great as a normally powered aircraft.

During the competition, the gliders were towed by powered plane to an altitude of 2000 feet and released. They climbed to the base of the clouds about 6000 feet during the contest and operated on air currents between these altitudes.

Mr. Smith says that gliding is extremely challenging since one can use all the senses, even smell, to detect the rising warm air currents.

Sometimes they originate in a hot dusty field, sometimes from other sources of heat.

Then, too, the weather is always different and it is necessary to constantly make decisions. A good glider pilot who makes all the right decisions can remain in the air a long time, said Mr. Smith.

From the enclosed plastic canopy of the cockpit of his glider, there is relatively no noise other than that of the rising air currents.

This helps the pilot to detect them as well as concentrations of haze in the atmosphere.

Mr. Smith mentions that sometimes at 6000 feet a glider pilot runs into a flock of swallows who have risen with the insects in a warm air current and are still feeding on them.

He says, too, that buzzards and hawks are most helpful to the pilot. When looking for air currents, if he should happen to see these birds, he immediately knows that they are within an air current and he sails over to them and gets in too.

The birds are not disturbed by the glider and will often sail right along beside the plane looking at the pilot as though perhaps he, too, is a bird.

The recent meet at Adrian included several days goal and return trips to Bowling Green, Definance and Marion, Ohio.

Several contestants elected to follow air currents rather than stick to scheduled routes. One of these, Rudy Moser of Warren, Mich. made the longest of these flights, landing at Frederick, Md., 396 miles from Adrian.

The United States National Competition will be held at Wichita, Kansas in August. Mr. Smith said "We wil lbe there." When queried about the we, he replied, "Yes, me and the sail plane."

The trophy won by Mr. Smith was previously held in 1949 by Paul Bikle, civilian head of NASA at Edwards Air Force Base in charge of the test program on the X 15 rocket plane.

Rudy Opitz won the trophy in 1952. He was test pilot for the German Air Force jets and rocket planes during World War II.

Richard Johnson, chief aerodynamicist for Tempco, holds the world's soaring distance reward in 1951.

Union and Hodges Still Undefeated

This past week was a light one for the ball players due to the holiday.

In the two games played July 6, the Bears defeated the Yankees 20-15 and the Tigers won over the Braves 23-8. Tigers Lee Cheever and Bruce Costigan pitched their team to victory and were helped by Tony Nykodymis four hits.

There were four games in the Major League last week.

Union finished the week strong with two wins to stay on top in the league standing.

Wednesday, they defeated the Jaycees team 7-4. Jeff Robinson was the winning hurler and Dean Hebb pitched for the losers.

July 7, they handed Exchange their first loss 13-6.

The other game Wednesday was a close one, with Kiwanis sneaking by Credit Union 13-12.

The tables were turned two days later, however, when Hodges defeated the Kiwanis team by one run, 11-10. Kim Rosacrans belted a homer

VOICE of THE HERALD

A Fortunate Community

We wonder how long it will take the city to recover from the news of two new civic buildings—the community center and the library?

The one-two punch that came in the past two weeks is hard to beat in any city, especially one with a population of 7,000.

Who would have ever dreamed that Tecumseh would be benefiting from two outstanding projects at the same time—and two such rewarding programs to the citizens of this community?

Last year, the FACT committee was appointed to determine possible projects for the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation to undertake with their growing treasury.

Here is the order of their findings, according to a public survey of preferences:

1—Community Center—Auditorium
2—Library
3—Teen Club
4—Expanded recreation program
5—Improved swimming facilities
6—Park facilities
7—Artifical ice rinks

Look what has happened!

The community center is under construction now, thanks to an anonymous gift to the city.

The library, it was announced last week, will be started this fall by the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation.

An area for youth will be incorporated into the community center, with plans for the 8,000 square foot second floor of the building to be remodeled as a Teen Center. This should be ideal for dances, parties, and general recreational activities for the young people of the community.

There are also possibilities for the other choices too.

Ice skating can take place on the adjoining Globe Pond, and the setting there is ideal for a summer-time park or picnic area.

Indoor recreation programs, especially for youth, might easily be arranged in the community center.

So what does this add up to?—a tremendous program for the citizens of Tecumseh.

Over $300,000 will be spent on the two projects, with funds for the community center coming from an anonymous donor, and funds for the library from the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation.

The settings chosen for the two projects are really ideal.

The community center will be located in the picturesque area alongside the Globe Pond. Located near the geographical center of the city and close to the schools, the library will be built in the park across from the Junior High School.

Seldom in the history of any community has such news been so exciting and has held such promising rewards for the civic program of the community.

JB

Question the Candidates

Since voters in the April 1961 election made the first decision towards a study of the state's 53-year-old Constitution, plans have been under way to organize the convention.

The next step in this project comes July 25 with the primary election to nominate delegates to Con-Con.

After four attempts — in 1926, 1942, 1948 and again in 1958—to revise the consitution, we hope this one will be completely successful.

Since its adoption in 1908, Michigan's Constitution has been amended three times more than our national constitution in it's some 170 years.

There are many different issues to be examined at this convention—representation in the state legislature, reduction of complex structures in the executive department, the role of local governments, and the financial program of our state which faced near bankruptcy just a few short months ago.

What are some of the important features to look for in those vieing for the delegate spots? We suggest the following:

1. Is this person acquainted with the state government and the problems which the state has been facing?

2. Is this person objective and can he think clearly through a problem?

3. Is this person one who is willing to work for what he feels the state needs in this new constitution?

4. Is this person one who will faithfully serve those by whom he is elected?

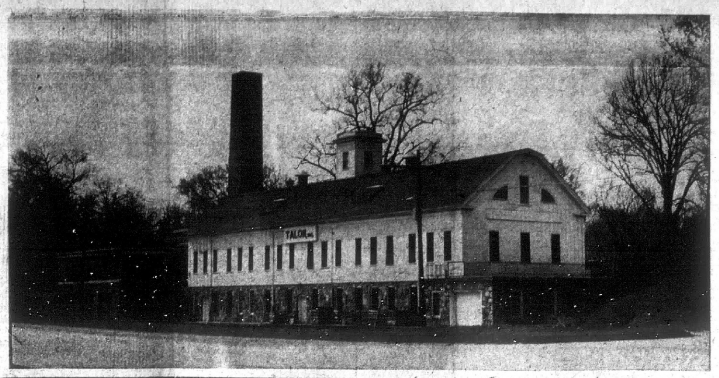
The answers to these and other questions will come only by you — the voter — having a chance to talk with the various candidates fo the delegate spots.

This opportunity is being arranged for you. The local Republican party has invited its candidates to come to the Moonlight Sale Friday evening so that you can personally meet them and hear their platforms.

Those Republican candidates who have been invited are Royal Welch and John Hamilton of Tecumseh and Clyne Durst, Jr., Howard Foust and Richard Hoben of Adian who are running for the nomination as representative delegate to the convention from Lenawee County.

Charles Figy of Morenci, who is running for the Senatorial delegate form Lenawee and Monroe Counties, has also been invited.

Come out, hear what they have to say.



OCTOBER COMPLETION — Remodeling work is now under way at the city's new community center. The former Talon plant will be the home of the center that will offer many activities for young and old. The second floor will receive the most renovating with new supports, floors and ceiling to be installed. This will be used as a teen activity room. The glass room at the west end of the building will be modeled for use as a meeting room, seating around 250. There will also be changes in the basement area and the third floor. Improvements will be made on the outside too. The building will be painted and the bricks repaired.

Does This Cool You?

Now that everyone is complaining about the heat, we thought you might enjoy this cool picture taken last winter on one of the coldest mornings of the season. And if you are a normal human being, you were probably complaining then about the cold weather. But now, we hear that it is just too hot. Will we humans ever be satisfied?

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITORS:

I've been wondering for many years if anyone really knew how hard my father worked to keep up "his" school. For twenty five years he lived just to keep the old Central building up in tip-top shape.

Many mornings I would wake up at 4 a.m. to hear his leaving for work. If trouble occured during the day he would work through the night so it would be ready for school the next day. He even had an alarm system from the old heating boilers to our house, so if anything happened to them at night, he would know it.

I've heard it ring several times at all hours and he would get out of bed, go to school and repair the boilers so school could be held the next day.

I think every student that went to Tecumseh High remembers the late Leon "Cap" Maynard whom I'm proud of and am glad to be his son.

Thanks to Martha Baldwin who remembers a man who really loved his job.

I've often wondered what he would say if he could see how our school system has grown in the past 15 years.

He worried enough about two schools, what would he do with eight or nine?

A car owned by Gary Abner was reported on fire Sunday at 11:45 p.m. on the corners of Evans and Chicago Blvd. Firemen extinguished the blaze.

S. T. Cleridge (1712-1834) said:
"A SADDER AND A WISER MAN"

For years Mr. Delayit suffered from pains and headaches. Patent medicines gave temporary relief, but each year his condition grew worse. Despite the advice of his family and friends, he neglected visiting a physician for help.

When Mr. Delayit finally consulted a Doctor, he learned that delay had given a malignant disease a firm foothold. A cure now was doubtful. Had he been wiser sooner he would have visited a physician at the very first sign of trouble and probably been cured long ago Don't be a Delayit".

Don't Gamble on Wet Grain

It doesn't pay to gamble on storing grain with a border-line or higher moisture content.

Not only are granary insects more active in wet than in dry grain, but wheat is subject to "sick" and mold damage—especially during warm weather — when it is above 14 per cent moisture.

If grain on the border-line for moisture is to be farm stored, some protection from insects can be provided by using a wheat protectant chemical to keep insects away.

Since excessive moisture is the cause of much of the loss from either insects or mold in stored grain, it is essential that the moisture content of the grain be known before it is stored.

If it is not feasible to have the local elevator check the sample, there are low-cost moisture testers available from farm implement dealers.

Moisture or insect damage can cause contaminated grain which will not pass federal inspections.

A Quart Is Just A Quart

It was Gertrude Stein who remarked that "A rose is a rose is a rose."

But what about the sign reading "gigantic jumbo economy family a size" quart?

However long a train of adjectives you tie to it, a quart is a quart—just that— a certain size container holding a precisely determined amount.

Psychologists say this kind of advertising is supposed to dazzle you with words so that you think you're buying more than you know a quart holds. They say it works, too.

But suppose you don't know how much the bottle container holds?

As long as the word "quart" is there, you have the basis for protecting yourself. Once the standard sizes are abandoned, however, you may be deceived by an infinite number of shapes and sizes—all of which silently deceive you by appearing to be more than they are.

In some areas, such as certain basic foods, there are federal or state laws governing the use of standard size containers. But unfortunately, these laws do not cover all or even most of your basic daily needs.

GERTIE'S DUCKS

Finally, after how many years have there been ducks on the? — well, anyway, at last there are some baby ducks. Once before there were small ones but they were brought in, these are a homegrown product. It has been exciting, suspenseful affair, a lengthy one, too.

Months ago, way back in April, I think it was, she started laying eggs in the duckhouse. At the rate of one a day, the eggs were laid until finally at eight the clutch was completed.

The nest was in the duckhouse at the bottom of Gertrude's creek-bank, and she was the only one allowed near it. Other curiosity seekers were greeted with much hissing, flapping of wings, etc.

The nest itself was quite interesting — straw pushed around and worked into the proper shape and the eggs were covered with soft, fluffy feathers the duck had pulled from her breast.

Before going any further perhaps we had better straighten out this name business. Technically duck and drake are proper but that seems awkward; Papa and Mama are reserved for the for the quail. Quack, quack for the male was started, I imagine, by the cardinals; and Mr. and and his mate is just called She.

NOW THAT you know 'who is who' let's get on with the duck adventure. Until she had to devote full time to the eggs, she and Quack-Quack were a devoted couple.

He was Lord and Master and she seemed happy to be a devoted servant. Things changed quickly however — when she started sitting and could not devote full time to him, Quack-quack started sulking. He pouted and finally left home.

He roamed the neighborhood and his actions spoke eloquantly of his displeasure. Under the ramp leading to our screen porch was a good feeling sorry-for-himself spot and from it, when anybody went up or down he ran out, hissing loudly, and gave them a good fright.

In the middle of the entrance to Dr's drive was another favorite place — just before office hours he took position and not only made car after car stop but usually the driver had to get out before Quack-quack would move.

He also spent much time sitting on the creek-bank, glaring at the duck-house upstream.

☆

THIS WENT on for weeks and weeks; she dutifully tended the eggs while he sulked.

Finally, after we had about given up hope, Gertie called with the exciting news that some of the eggs had hatched. The next day a few more were out. All told, five little yellow duck lings made it.

They haven't ventured down this way but thru the binoculars we have enjoyed the youngsters as they splash or play in the creek.

An unbelievable bright yellow at first, they are gradually fading and I imagine soon she will be riding herd on five little white things.

Quack-quack has not returned to his family yet but evenings he goes home for dinner at Gertie's back-door and a short visit to the creek-bank. I wonder if gradually he is trying to 'go home'.

So it is another chapter in the saga of Gertie's ducks. Wonder what will be next?

NEXT WEEK:
Vacation Time—See you in a Couple of weeks!

4-H Safe Driving Program Stresses Rules of the Road

An outstanding teenage driver is expected to be among the state delegation to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next November.

The delegate can be either a boy or girl just so long as he or she is enrolled in the national 4-H automotive program and meets the requirements for a state award.

The winner will then be eligible to compete for a national $400 college scholarship.

Work done in this project is helping to make young drivers more safety conscious and better informed on the mechanism of the automobile.

The 4-H'ers not only learn rules of the road, but also the "golden rule" of driving.

State Police Urge Water Sport Safety

Seventeen drownings over the Fourth of July holiday period have brought water fatalities in the state this year to 91 as of July 5.

In addition, 66 persons have suffered injuries and there have been 165 reportable water accidents.

State Police again warn that beginning with July 4, water sports activities get into high gear with the possibility of a much heavier increase in deaths if ordinary safety precautions are not taken.

Particular emphasis should be placed on watching children at play on the shore or in the water and on swimmers over-estimating their physical ability and endurance. These are heavy contributors to the death toll.

Music Camp at Interlochen in Full Swing

Interlochen—The world-famed National Music Camp got into full swing last weekend with a total of 13 concerts scheduled after only one week of rehearsals.

Highlighting the July 7-9 weekend camp programs were three performances of "The Curious Savage", by the high school drama department.

In a starring cast of eleven, two major roles were captured by Michigan students: Steve Randolph of Midland, who played Hannibal, and Michael Hatch of Benton Harbor, who played Samuel.

A new feature of the camp, the National High School Philharmonic Orchestra, composed of 90 outstanding young musicians of high school age, held its premier Sunday.

Under the direction of Orien Dalley, the orchestra performed Sibelius' Symphony No. 4 and Gershwin's "An American In Paris."

Maynard Klein, nationally known choral director, presented a choral concert Sunday.

His 132-voice choir already outnumbers the total students—115—who studied under Dr. Joseph E. Maddy in the camp's first season in 1928.

The music camp, which has just launched its 34th season, now has a total enrollment of 1600 students from 41 states and five foreign countries and is guided by a hand-picked faculty and staff of some 550.

The camp is located in the beautiful northwoods Grand Traverse Bay area of Michigan.

Its 400 modern classroom buildings, dormitories, and concert halls are spread over 1100 acres and nestled between two lakes near the tiny village of Interlochen, which was once a bustling lumber camp site.

Campers now range from eight-year-olds through the university level.

In 57 days they present some 350 concerts, including performances of 22 symphonies, six plays, operettas, ballets and scores of recitals. The major concerts traditionally are those performed by some 300 of the camp's most talented youngsters in a series of Sunday evening Symphony-Under-the-Stars concerts.

This youth symphony orchestra is the only student orchestra in the world that has ever attempted to perform one full major symphony every week after only 15 hours rehearsal.

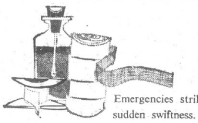
The camp has four major divisions for the various age levels—Junior, Intermediate, High School, and University. Each has its own instrumental and choral groups.

Courses are also offered in dance, radio, drama, speech art, ceramics, music composition, theory, and electronics.

Now in its 34th season, the National Music Camp has launched an extensive expansion program to include the establishment of a winter school of fine arts to be known as the Interlochen Arts Academy.

The Academy, scheduled to open in September, 1962, will provide specialized educational opportunities for gifted youth and will accomodate some 350 students with superior talent in music and the creative arts.

What to do till the doctor comes



Emergencies strike with sudden swiftness. A slip, a fall, a collision is seldom announced. So be prepared. At least one member of every family should have a working knowledge of first aid. There are books on the subject and the American Red Cross gives classes where such information and training can be acquired. We recommend that you, or someone in your household, acquire the know-how. Another worthy recommendation is to maintain a supply of first-aid medications on hand at all times—antiseptic, gauze bandages, adhesive tape, alcohol, soothing creams, etc. The cost is small and we'll be glad to assist you in your selection.

Poultry Farmers Can Increase Egg Production

It may pay Michigan poultrymen to trim the comb and wattles from their baby chicks.

Research has shown that dubbed birds will produce about one to two per cent more eggs than birds not dubbed.

Figuring production at 240 eggs a year, an investment of one-half to one cent a bird for the trimming would bring an extra two to five eggs a year.

On a 1,000-pullet basis, a dubbing investment of $5 to $10 would return from $50 to $125 if eggs average 30 cents a dozen.

Another advantage of trimming is that the chicks will not get their combs stuck in the wire of cage feeders. And, there seems to be less fighting among hens.

Culling hens without combs is harder, but comb color is not the only indication of rate of lay, and the breeding of modern poultry strains makes culling less important.

Hatcherymen can remove the comb and wattle of day-old chicks easily without apparent harm to the birds. Costs have been running between 50 cents to $1 per hundred chicks.

Pastor Ball Attends

Kenneth Ball and family of Adrian returned June 27 from a week's visit in New York City where they attended the "United Worshippers" district assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Present were 92,901 at the main session Sunday to hear the address by Nathan H. Knorr, president of the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, on the subject, "When All Nations Unite Under God's Kingdom."

Outstanding events of the convention were the baptism of 1,732 new ministers at a New York beach and the release of a one-volume edition of the "New World Translation of the Holy Scriptures".

It is a modern-language translation from the original Bible tongues. More than twelve years were required to complete the work.

The program especially stressed the educational aspects of the work of Jehovah's Witnesses.

It highlighted the importance of family Bible study and prayer as well as united family attendance at religious meetings. This was pointed out as the most effective deterrent to juvenile delinquency.

The local congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses meets in Kingdom Hall, 2750 E. Monroe Road, Tecumseh with Mr. Ball, presiding minister.

He added, "any new or revised constitution must give local governments the right to issue revenue bonds for the attraction of industry.

"Many Michigan industries are moving south because they are offered new factory buildings without a capital outlay."

Here's How He Did It

Thirteen years ago when Bill was living at that residence, his father gave it to him for a birthday present.

The chain? — it's welded together.

Fall-Out Shelter Built

A model fall-out shelter is now open for public inspection in the basement of the Superintendent's office north of the high school.

Built by high school Industrial Arts students of Charles Gross, the shelter was financed by a grant from the Federal Government.

Tecumseh was one of 20 high schools in Michigan chosen to participate in the government program to promote Civil Defense.

The government provided the school with over $200 to build the shelter to show the public that a fall-out shelter can be built easily with ready available materials in a portion of a house basement.

One regulation of the grant was that the shelter must be open to the public for six months. A formal open house is planned for the fall.

The basement shelter is about 10'x12' with room for two to three people to live for a maximum period of two weeks. The room is equipped with supply shelves.

The shelter is made of concrete block with a double ceiling. Sandbags have been placed around the single window in the room.

The basement of the Superintendent's office was chosen due to its convenience for the high school boys who spent some 20 hours on the project.

The shelter was patterned after Civil Defense recommendations.

Information can be secured from John Saling, Civil Defense director in this area.

Watch Those Labels

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee has recently completed three days of public hearings on the subject of the effect on consumers of packaging and labeling practices of food and household products.

Results have shown that the consumer spends hundreds of millions of dollars on the some 6,000 different items in today's supermarkets. But how much do they know about what they are buying?

They know just what that package and label tells them and nothing more. The only salesman available to the public today is the label on the package.

The problem, is, how clearly does the label speak to us?

Witnesses demonstrated things they had bought and some of them were clearly labeled as to content, others one would have to stand on his head to read. Some of them were in flat units, one pound or four ounces. Others were fractions and decimals.

It is too early in these hearings to determine just what the answer should be, but if we can produce boxes on the counters which will show in simple units how much it is that we're buying and how much we're paying per unit so that we can compare that unit with all the others, shopping will be a lot simpler and easier.

Counseling Service Available to Families

The many husbands, wives, parents, children, senior citizens, young people and any others with problems in adjustment now have a place to go and expect some help.

The family counseling service of Lenawee county opened offices in the former Baptist parsonage at 213 Toledo St. in Adrian, Wednesday, July 15.

Paul Diller of Toledo has been hired as executive director of the service and will move to Adrian with his wife and family soon.

Mr. Diller has been employed in family counseling in Toledo for the past three years.

The Rev. Blair Bashore, chairman of the Lenawee County Ministerial Association, is now chairman of the executive committee.

The Ministerial Association initiated the movement to organize the non-profit, non-stock and non-sectarian corporation in January, 1960.

Mrs. Frederick Dickinson is treasurer of the executive committee.

The Rev. Raymond Taylor is chairman of an open house to be held Sunday, July 16, from two to five in the afternoon.

A secretary has been hired to assist Mr. Diller.

Death Toll Drops

Following four successive months of traffic death increases, the June fatality toll of 110 in Michigan was 17 per cent below 133 in the same month a year ago.

Despite the reduction, however, the total toll of 699 at mid-year is six per cent ahead of 661 for the corresponding six months in 1960.

January was the only other month to show a decrease.

The records show that nearly 60 per cent of the deaths occur in the last six months of the year. Michigan drivers should be alert to the danger period ahead.

TECUMSEH AND THE CIVIL WAR

Draft of 1865 Was Small

(Editor's note: In the concluding article of her series, Clara Waldron tells of the local reaction to the end of the war and of the monument erected in honor of the war dead.)

By CLARA WALDRON

The last draft call came in February 1865 and, owing to Tecumseh's "credit" from past quotas, it was a very small one. This, together with the steadily growing optimism from the war front, had created a hopeful atmosphere.

Still the town was in a state of business as usual that Monday, April 10 when the "morning train from Jackson" brought the news of Lee's surrender.

At the Union school the pupils had all gathered as usual on the third floor for the customary morning chapel exercises.

In the middle of Bible reading by the superintendent, the old school bell in the south tower began to clang madly. Annoyed, the superintendent sent a boy to tell the janitor to stop that noise, only to have him come back with the message that "he wouldn't do it".

Just then the church bells began to peal, a cannon shot sounded and the returned "school boy", Col. Lemuel Savers leaped to his feet and shouted "Hurrah, the war's over" —and school was out for the day.

No doubt the pandemonium on Main street was duplicated across the nation, but to Tecumseh their cheers, tears, shouts and laughter were unique.

The village band gathered hurriedly and an important parade gained in numbers and noise as the news spread over the village.

Then, as the Herald writer phrased it," The crowd became prodigiously possessed of a desire to have someone tell them how happy they were." A dry-goods box was rolled out and willy-nilly, one after another, the usual senior citizens were hoisted up to speak "when the crowd would let them".

Only the words of Benjamin Baxter are recorded as—"dealing sharp blows on the brainless pate of defunct rebellion" — an apt description of that pungent speaker.

Wise in the ways of celebrations, the village fathers had requested the closing of all saloons for the day, a request that was heeded, for nothing marred the occasion. "Three cheers for the village board", said the Herald.

☆

BY EVENING THE NEWS had spread to the surrounding countryside and a much larger but more quiet meeting of thanksgiving was held in a "beautiful illuminated" main street. There were prayers and more speeches by many of the same speakers, but more coherent by this time, and the celebration ended with the impressive, mass singing of the Doxology.

This decorous gathering was a fitting prelude to the one held five days later, when a shocked and saddened town had learned of the assassination of President Lincoln.

This was held in Bidwells Hall, Saturday evening, when resolutions were read and adresses were given by the same men who had spoken with so much rejoicing the previous Monday.

The four days of mourning which followed were climaxed by a union memorial service at high noon, the following Wednesday, in the newly completed Methodist church, which was "heavily and beautifully draped, while the flag of our country, bordered with heavy black, covered the altar."

It seems now almost unbelievable that so long a period could elapse before the news of victory or disaster could reach the town. It is almost as difficult for a modern and more sophisticated Tecumseh to appreciate the simple unity of feeling with which the village of a century ago reacted to joy and sorrow.

THERE IS NO WAY to make an accurate estimate of the number of Tecumseh men who fought in the war. For one thing they were scattered through dozens of units and, for another, the address "Tecumseh" covered a wide area.

However, five years later, what might be called a summing up of Tecumseh's supreme war effort took place. May 30, 1870, when the town celebrated what was probably its first official "Decoration" or Memorial Day, the speaker of the day, Capt. Henry Romeyn of the U.S. Army, called the roll of the Civil War dead.

He read the names of forty-three men, only sixteen of whom were buried in Brookside Cemetery. To quote his words, the other 27 "slept where they fell."

That those resting places were widely scattered is indicated by the fact that the records of the men whose names were read covered 15 different Michigan military units, attesting to the diversity of Tecumseh's service.

In Capt. Romeyn's speech, he suggested that a fitting war monument was due those fallen heroes. In so doing, he must have touched a tender spot on the civic conscience.

Immediately after the close of the war such a project had been started with much enthusiasm and with pledges, generous enough to guarantee an impressive shaft.

In 1870, when the captain spoke, much of that enthusiasm had faded and so had many of the pledges. The amount on hand was far from adequate and in spite of much effort and many public benefits, it grew very slowly, especially when a part of the fund disappeared along with a bank cashier.

In fact, it was 1882 before a by-that-time, desperate committee managed to accumulate $1,000 to pay for the granite figure of a bearded soldier, resting on his musket, which would symbolize the war dead of four townships Clinton, Macon, Raisin and Tecumseh.

As some of them had drilled there in life, our Military Square seemed a fitting setting and the monument, suitably inscribed, was placed on a grassy mound, within a circle of fence, in the center of what was then a pleasant, green and shady park.

For years it served to remind the town of the sacrifices of the past, a past that was also most ably kept alive by those surviving war veterans, the members of Beers Post, 140 of the Grand Army of the Republic.

Organized soon after the war and named for Lt. Jeptha Beers of the Fourth Mich. Infantry, this Post, like the National Grand Army, wielded considerable power. Its insignia, in the second story window of Union Hall, was a mark of prestige and its members had a firm hand on local affairs.

Gradually its activities became centered in Memorial Day parades and reunions and by 1927 only twelve veterans were left, their ages ranged from 81 to 96.

Soon the last of the Tecumseh men who had taken part in the Civil War had joined his comrades in Brookside.

With him went the bearded figure in the granite uniform and for Tecumseh, the Civil War was history.

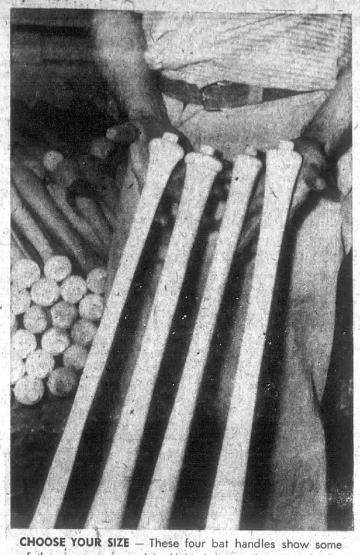
Story of the Louisville 'Slugger'



CHOOSE YOUR SIZE — These four bat handles show some of the range now used in Major League play. At left, the thin handle of Mickey Mantle's bat; next to it, the thick handle of a Jackie Robinson bat; third, an average diameter handle with a small knob; at right, an average diameter handle with the "cone knob" made popular by Ted Kluszewski.

(Editor's note: Every youngster in America, who ever played baseball well knows the name "Louisville Slugger." It's as much a part of the sport as home plate. John Lynch, talented managing editor of the magazine, "Perini News", recently toured the plant where these bats are made. The Herald has been given permission to reprint the story and pictures Mr. Lynch took while there.)

By JOHN LYNCH
Managing Editor of "Perini News"

To the man in the bleachers, and even to the average fan sitting along first base line, the bats swung by Hank Aaron, Joe Adcock, Eddie Mathews and other Milwaukee Braves may all look the same.

They are all, certainly, about the same length and shape, and a closer inspection would show that they are all burned with the famous oval trademark of the Hillerich & Bradsby Co.—the mark of the "Louisville Slugger."

But beyond that the similarity ends, for hardly two bats are exactly alike.

Variations in shape and style that may not be noticed even close at hand can mean the difference between a hitting streak and a slump.

Some players use bats of identical length and weight.

Yet, even here, no two bats are alike, for there are subtle differences in thickness of handle, thickness of barrel, taper and size of knob.

In the archives of the Hillerich & Bradsby Co. in Louisville, Kentucky, there are more than 50,000 cards recording through the years the preferred bat models of every major and minor leaguer who has ever used a Louisville Slugger.

A card is opened whenever a player in organized baseball orders his first bat from Louisville, and the card is updated at each succeeding order, with the bat's length, weight and model number.

In the archives we learn also that as the years have passed, bat styles have changed considerably.

No longer is there a Ty Cobb to order 42-ounce bats at 34½ inches. And nevermore is there a Willie Keeler to order a 30½-inch bat to "hit 'em where they ain't."

Many of the famous hitters now in the Hall of Fame swing bats of more than 40 ounces. Babe Ruth once ordered 54-ounce bats. But the trend has been to shorter bats and lighter bats.

The shape of the bat has also undergone changes and, where bats of long ago were nearly as thick in the handle as in the barrel, the present trend is to a thin handle and a heavy barrel. This gives the bat "whip." It also causes more broken bats.

Frank "Wildfire" Schulte of the old Chicago Cubs is generally credited with pioneering the small handle design, although Babe Ruth was the one to popularize it.

The knob end of the bat also comes in a variety of models, from a large ring like a doughnut blossoming on the handle to practically no ring at all but a flaring off the end into what is known as a "cone knob."

As to bat timber itself, bats have at various times been made a hickory, pecan and a Cuban wood majagua, but white ash has outlasted them all.

It has spring and driving power, toughness and resiliency. It is also lighter than the other woods and with the trend to lighter bats it serves the purpose best in every way.

Hickory, however, is still used in limited quantities for softball bats.

☆

PERSONAL INTEREST in the players and knowledge of baseball history is in constant evidence at Hillerich & Bradsby when the subject turns on the characteristics of the bat.

"A Gehrig," you might hear, "is not as thick as a Hornsby."

You will learn that Johnny Logan really uses a Vern Stephens barrel with a Stan Musial handle, and a few variations of his own.

It is their attentiveness to the individual ballplayer's feeling for his particular sort of bat that has helped establish Hillerich & Bradsby as the nation's leading batmaker.

Not only are lengths, weights and shapes given careful attention, but the whims and idiosyncrasies of any and all players are considered and translated into the end product. For some players there must be tiny pin knots showing in the barrel — Babe Ruth wouldn't take a bat otherwise.

For others, bats must be turned from timber that has a streak of red heartwood in it —for 23 years Eddie Collin's preference.

Ted Williams as had the run of Hillerich & Bradsby's nine-acre timber yard in Louisville so that he could seed out and set aside timber of particularly close grain.

The creation of a Louisville Slugger, accordingly, is not something left to accident or chance. It approaches an art, where human judgment and instinct are often as important as scientific processing methods.

From start to finish there are some 50 hand operations that each Slugger undergoes. If one were to add the number of inspections and gradings, the total would be closer to 75.

The history of a Louisville Slugger begins, actually, even before a tree is cut. Because white ash does not lend itself well to tree-farming and artificial seeding, Hillerich & Bradsby employ "tree cruisers" who spot and buy timber in the wooded mountains of Pennsylvania and New York, and who see that it is cut properly.

An average ash tree may be 13 inches in diameter and 60 years old. A probable 25 to 30 bats will come from such a tree.

☆

THE TRUNKS of the trees are cut into bolts 42-inches long and hauled to mills in the timber-producing areas.

Here, the bolts of large trees are rip-sawn into three-inch "squares" and smaller trees split and turned in lathes to produce 3-inch "rounds."

Approximately 550 boxcars of timber are shipped to Louisville yearly from the mills.

On any day of the year, the yard is stacked with more than 3,000,000 pieces of bat timber.

Once properly seasoned, timber is brought to the plant to be turned into "rough-outs." Here, in a factory that has more turning lathes under one roof than any other in the world, billets are made that have the very rough outline of a bat.

Although all turned to the same size, the roughs may vary between 52 and 74 ounces.

It is at this point that the timber is graded, examined and weighed to determine the model for which it is best suited, for each rough-out, by virtue of its weight, grain or other characteristics, is destined to be a certain kind of bat and no other.

The combinations of length and weight, knob and grain are numbered in the thousands.

Rough-outs destined for professional play are turned into bats by highly skilled operators using hand chisels. When a professional order comes in, it is recorded and the bat model designated is secured from a fireproof vault where the thousands of models are kept.

A rough-out selected by previous weighing and grading is then turned in the lathe to the exact contours of the model, with measurements taken every inch along the way.

After turning, bats are rough-sanded and then branded with the tradesmark and the player's signature. Each bat is hand-branded so that the trademark will be on the face of the grain.

After this come fine sanding, lacquering, drying and buffing, with further inspections and weighings all along the line.

Hillerich & Bradsby's mass-produced commercial bats follow the length, weight and shape trends of the professional bats and are turned out with much the same care.

Two major differences, however, are that commercial bats are turned against a whirling cylinder of pre-set knife blades in a semi-automatic lathe and the tradesmarks are stamped on with metallic foil instead of being burned in.

Hillerich & Bradsby had its beginnings in 1884 when John A. "Bud" Hillerich turned out a bat—a veritable bludgeon of 37 inches and 49 ounces—for Pete Browning of Louisville in the Hillerich's newel post and butter churn shop.

Newel posts and butter churns soon went out of style, but the bat business prospered, until today Hillerich & Bradsby's yearly production is in excess of 4,000,000 bats.

Bud Hillerich was active into his 80th year and died in 1946 on his way to the annual Baseball Meeting.

The business, a standby in the sports world whose trasemark is known in every stadium, park and sandlot in the country, is now under the guidance of John A. Hillerich, Jr.

Buenos Tardes El' Mama, Papa

The first letter has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Dale Dean from their daughter, Linda, who is with the Michigan Chorale in Bogota, Colombia. We appreciate the Deans' kindness in allowing us to reprint it for our readers.

13:25 p.m.

Buenos tardes el' Mama and Papa, Tom, Cynthia, Jim and Bill,

Bogota is el' magnificio, fantastica and grandu. In other words it's fabulous.

Our flight was very good and relatively smooth. Kathy Harper and I got forward cabins. We got a wonderful view of the countryside from here. We stopped at Cleveland, Ft. Lauderdale and Miami. We flew over the Blue Ridge mountains and from this altitude it was really blue.

When we landed in Miami, I thought I'd keel over from the muggy heat, but Florida was Antarctica compared to Panama. It was about 8:30 in the evening but I know the temperature was in the high 90's. We all headed for the air conditioned gift shop.

When we landed in Bogota, Senor Foz was waiting at the landing ramp. He has a special pass that allowed him in, which is very unusual. He is Bogota's district manager for National Cash Registers.

So I was the first one through customs but I still had to wait for everyone else.

We lined up alphabetically and were introduced to our families.

Senor Foz has two daughters, Blanca 16, and Conception 20. Blanca is in her third year of high school and will graduate next winter. Conception is in Barcelona, Spain with Senor Foz's parents.

The entire Foz family is from Barcelona. He was transferred to Buenos Aires from Spain and then to Bogota. They've lived in Bogota about 11 years, two of these in Buneos Aires. Mari Senora Foz likes Buenos Aires much better. It's flatter and the climate is not so "loco".

Yesterday it was in the high 40's, today in the high 80's. This is due to the mountains which I can see from my bedroom window.

Yesterday we drove up the mountains and I saw the complete layout of the city. Only trouble — I got a terrific nose bleed from the high altitude. In your letter send some blood. Maria was so worried about me that she was close to tears.

Mr. Foz is in his 50's and Maria in her 47's. Senor Foz speaks excellent English and Maria speaks enough that we understand each other. Blanca is studying English in school.

She speaks very little because she is afraid she'll be wrong.

They have a beautiful home. "Ultra", super ultra modern. The study, laundry room and game room are on the first floor and the living area on the second. A patio surrounds th entire house. There is a tropical garden in the entrance way, done by their Japanese gardener, Akko. So I have not only Spanish but Japanese to contend with.

They have a cook and a cleaning maid. The cook's little girl (11 years) is my maid. The cleaning maid receives $13 a month and the cook about $20. Yesterday and today I breakfasted in bed. The milk, food and water are very good.

Senor Foz drives an Oldsmobile. His Buick was too big for dodging Bogota's heetic traffic. Last night we went to the night-club, Zambera, for dinner. It's styled after an old Spanish castle. There were three wandering guitarists going from table to table.

First I had sherry and a shrimp cocktail, then filet mignon and red wine with French bread. After dinner we were entertained by Flamenco dancers. What romance!

After Senor Foz received his check, the owner came up to him and cut off his tie. I expected Senor Foz to take a swing at him. He only smiled and said "Gracias."

He told me this is a great honor. They like your patronage and hope you'll come back soon (to get the severed tie).

This morning I went to the Country Club de Bogota with Jack. His family, the Pisanos, is the architect who designed Senor Foz's home. They had an indoor pool and tropical garden there.

I'm back at the Foz's now, awaiting dinner. Tonight Jack, Gwen, Russ, Dennis Stevens and Bonnie Shepherd and I are guests of Senors Foz and Pisana at the American Embassy for a ball. I'm going to borrow one of Blanca's ball gowns. We're the same size, I get all the luck.

Tomorrow evening I go to the Country Club for dinner and dancing with Jack. We'll be guests of the Pisano's and the Martinez's. We have a concert at four at the Sears Building. Tomorrow afternoon again with Jack I'll go to the bull fights with the Foz's.

Monday we'll go to a Senor Michael's hacienda in the country for horse back riding. I should have brought my white dress for the nightclub and my jodpurs for the hacienda.

Before the concert Blanca and I'll go to the Italian shoemakers for Blanca. The shoes here are $10 which would be the equivalent of $25 in the states and the people in Bogota have very narrow feet.

Blanca gave me seven silver wrist hoops for my seven days in Bogota and a beautiful blue and white llama wool ruhana (a shawl-like poncho.)

Today the country is beautiful. The sky is bright blue, studded with big fleecy white clouds. The mountains are misty with clouds around the peaks. I must go now to dinner and dress for the concert.

DAN HARVEY AND LINDA DEAN

Michigan Chorale Singing to Crowds in Colombia

Word has come from Bogota, Colombia, that the Michigan Chorale, with Tecumseh members Linda Dean and Dan Harvey, has had the first concert of its South American tour.

The Michigan Charole is a group of 67 teenagers from Michigan on a seven-week tour of South America.

This group is sponsored by the Youth of Understanding Teenage-Exchange Program under the Michigan Council of Churches. Many of the students in this program earned the money to participate themselves.

By living in the homes of families in South America and by singing to varied audiences these teenagers hope to build bridges of understanding.

A letter dated Bogota, Colombia, July 3, gives the schedule of concerts and comments about several of these concerts.

July 1 — 4:00 p.m. Outdoor concert at Sears Roebuck de Colombia. The Chorale stood on the roof to sing to a crowd of about 1000 people.

July 1 — 8:30 p.m. Television concert of thirty minutes.

July 2 — 12:30 p.m. Concert at Parque National. The audience consisted of all classes of people — peasants, factory workers, upper class people, etc. The hill above the Chorale was jammed with about 1500 people. Many people were in the park because the day was Sunday.

July 2 — 9:00 p.m. Television concert of thirty minutes.

July 3 — 2:00 p.m. Concert at Care Del Nino Orphan's Home When the Chorale first entered the orphanage a band composed of about 20 orphans played for them. The band had been in existence only two months. Most of the members had never played an instrument before. They played very well.

In return for the Chorale's performance, the orphans played and sang some of their own national songs. After this, each of the Chorale girls was presented with a flower. Many of the members of the Chorale were near tears. Before the Chorale left the orphanage it spontaneously took up a collection — 150 pesos ($20).

July 3 — 6:30 p.m. Concert at Barrio Quiroga, a workers' comunity development center.

July 4 — 4:30 p.m. Concert at Colombian military school.

July 5 — 6:30 p.m. Public concert at Radio Sutatenza.

July 6 — 3:30 p.m. Concert at Institute de La Salle. This is a private boys' school. It was almost wholly destroyed in the last revolution in Colombia. It is swiftly being rebuilt and is almost completed. Here an auditorium is used before it is completed, and the people sit in an impressive, partially completed main floor and balcony.

All of the Chorale members but three are staying with Colombian families and are being treated royally. Most of the Chorale have been up to the top of Monserratte — a mountain practically in the city of Bogota — to see the cathedral on its summit.

This stone cathedral, now reached by a lift, was built by the Colombian Indians, who carried each stone by hand up the side of the mountain. The majority of Chorale members have also been to see the famous Cadetral De Sol — a cathedral carved out of a section of a salt mine two miles beneath a mountain. The cathedral was carved by the workers in their spare time.

Many of the Chorale have been to the bullfights. Many have bought ruanas, the typical blanket-coats of Colombia.

The Michigan Chorale will close its tour with a concert September 10, at 3 p.m. in Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor. This concert will be co-sponsored by the Youth for Understanding program and the University Musical Society of Ann Arbor.

MSU Received Special Driver Education Grant

Michigan State University is one of the 40 colleges and universities that have received grants from the Allstate Foundation to train high school teachers in driver education.

This is the ninth year the Foundation has issued the grants.

With youngsters now reaching driving age at a startling pace, the need for more and better high school driver education is greater than ever.

"A qualified school teacher can best impart the necessary skills and attitudes to new drivers, especially to young ones," President Branch said.

"But since the instruction is only as good as the instructor, every effort should be made to provide significant training for as many teachers as possible."

Nowhere else than in the atmosphere of the classroom can youngsters learn these sound driving techniques as well.

Parents and friends, regardless of their good intentions and how good they may be at driving, are not as good at teaching when compared to well trained driver teachers.

Most amateur teachers cover only the rudiments of handling a car and then pass on their own bad driving habits to the youngsters they are trying to teach.

It's free pancakes from 6 until 9 p.m. on Friday at the fire station.

Of Just What Are We Sure?

From every direction and source comes the request to try the salesman's product.

We are told to try it and prove to ourselves that the product is indispensible to our way of life.

"Be sure" is the selling slogan of every product that we consider.

"Are You Sure?" is the topic of the Rev. Allen Wittrup's sermon next Sunday, July 16, at the Tecumseh Methodist Church at 10 a.m.

Just what are we sure of, and how can we try or test what we have taken as truth?

The Church School will meet during the Church hour. This will continue during the months of July and August.

The children will go to the sanctuary for the first part of the worship service and then meet in their class rooms for the balance of the hour.

Frost in Freezer Cuts Efficiency for Housewives

Frost on home freezer walls or shelves cuts down on storage space and makes the freezer inconvenient to use. Frost may also cause storage temperature to rise several degrees.

Thin layers of frost can be scraped off as they form, and this will cut down on the number of complete defrostings necessary.

Packages of frozen food can be shifted to another shelf or side of the freezer as the frost is scraped from each surface.

Complete defrosting should be done before the frost reaches a depth of one-half inch over a large area of the refrigerated surface.

Another defrosting clue appears when frost begins to accumulate on packages that have been stored in the freezer only a few hours.

Manufacturer's directions for defrosting should be followed.

Grass on Fire

Firemen of the Tecumseh Department answered a call for a grass fire at the Jim Johnson residence on the Tecumseh-Macon Rd. Sunday. There was no damage to property.

Girls Camp Out

The second of seven Girl Scout Day Camps conducted by the Irish Hills Girl Scout Council will be the Clinton-Tecumseh Camp which opened Monday, July 10, and will run through Friday, July 14.

The Tecumseh Conservation Club is donating the use of its Club Grounds at Carson Highway and Taylor Road in Lenawee County.

The Camp will be self-sustaining from the small fees paid by each girl with her registration.

The Junior Jaycees of Clinton pitched the tents and set up camp, after the Tecumseh Girl Scout fathers transported the Day Camp Equipment from the previous Day Camp Site near Onsted.

The Clinton-Tecumseh Camp is divided into four Units, according to the ages and grades of the girls. Each Unit of girls meets with their Unit leaders every day to choose the activities they wish to do at camp, based on suggestions in their handbooks and those given by their leaders.

Intermediates may work on badges pertaining to Nature and the Out-of-Doors.

The goal of all Units is to learn to live comfortably in the out-of-doors.

'Leaping Larry' Faces 'Brute'

Five big matches, including a mixed Australian tag-team bout, will headline the all-star professional wrestling card at the Tecumseh High School Thursday night, July 13.

Sponsored by the Tecumseh Rotary Club, the program will feature such top-caliber matmen as Leaping Larry Chene, Gentleman Jim Hady, and Jim "Brute" Bernard.

Chene "The People's Choice," will oppose Bernard in a battle between two of matdom's most violent antagonists.

Although both men rank with the truly great wrestlers of modern times, they rose to stardom by painfully diverse paths.

Up until his early teens, it appeared that Chene was destined to become a concert pianist. He studied for twelve years at the Detroit Conservatory of Music, and his instructors predicted a brilliant future for him in the arts.

The lure of the ring, however, was too great, and Larry placed himself under the tutelage of Bert Ruby, a former master of the mat who has taught many of the nation's finest young wrestlers.

Following his first professional match, Larry's rise to the top was meteoric, and ring buffs were soon hailing him as the most talented wrestler of the decade.

In contrast, Bernard's rise to his present position was by no means painless or meteoric. Orphaned as an infant, he raised himself in the parks of his native Montreal from the time he was 14 years old.

Following his attainment of the Canadian Amateur Wrestling Championship, Bernard decided to turn pro. He was "taught" by a cruel old-timer who administered to his pupil some fearful beatings under the guise of instruction.

'LEAPING LARRY'

When The Brute found out that he had been deceived, he broke both the man's arms and split his scalp open. From then on, he taught himself.

Though the way was long, his innate ability and competitiveness carried him to the very top of the wrestling world.

A co-featured attraction will pit Gentleman Jim Hady against Joe Smith in a bout for the World's Junior Heavyweight Championship.

Luis Martinez will go against Dynamite Johnny Gates in the other heavyweight single match.

A Mighty Midget clash will complete the slate of single encounters.

The winners of the first two matches will return against the losers in the mixed tag-bout. Midgets will be in the ring with heavyweights.

He Is Member of Submarine Hunting Crew

Serving aboard the anti-submarine aircraft carrier USS Randolph is commissaryman second class Richard A. Weyher, son of L. Weyher of Route 2, Tecumseh.

The Randolph operates out of Norfolk, Va. and is a member of a hunter-killer task group trained to hunt submarines. The carried is currently participating in intensive training exercises in the Caribbean area.

Makes Plans for Big Family Outing

The June meeting of the Raisin Cane 4-H Club was held at Jeff Baker's home when members reported on their projects.

A family picnic will be held at the Lawrence Cote home on Comfort Rd. July 18 at 5 p.m.

Each family will bring hot dogs, buns, a dish to pass and their own table service.

A white elephant sale is planned to follow the picnic and a demonstration on food will be presented by Jane Jenkins. Christine Finnegan will talk on home improvement.

Gilbert Relyea and Carl Bowers will have charge of the entertainment.

Members will answer the roll call with three initials to describe themselves.

June 27 the group made 4th of July favors for the hospital.

TOM RIORDAN'S Long AND Short

This is proving a hectic week.

Partner Jim Lincoln is on vacation and there has been some switching of regular duties.

Everything rolled smoothly, with all advertising and stories —I thought—in about the usual time.

But at mid-morning on press day, I discovered that this little corner hadn't been written.

So, zoom, here goes.

From all reports, Friday's Moonlight Sale was a tremendous success.

Streets were jammed from well before the time stores opened for the annual late-late sales effort until almost midnight.

This led some of the merchants to suggest that next summer, opening hour should be about 8 p.m. instead of 9.

Many sale items were quickly exhausted.

There was almost unanimous agreement by storemen Monday, via a questionnaire passed out by Chamber Secretary Don Murphy, that the combination of the free pancake supper and the Moonlight Sale was perfect.

If you as a guest at the event —and you are the ones the promotion is planned for — have some specific comments or recommendations, please send them to Mr. Murphy or The Herald.

Next on the retail division's calendar: the annual Sidewalk Sale for Friday, Aug. 18. This should be another lulu.

☆

In closing, may I advance a personal observation regarding the July 25 Con-Con primary?

This is addressed to folks who ballot on the Republican ticket.

If you're undecided for whom to vote, please consider Royal Welch and Charles Figy.

Royal hopes to be named GOP candidate in the final runoff this fall representing Lenawee County.

Charlie seeks the seat which goes to a candidate from Lenawee and Monroe Counties.

Royal's chief talent is an ability to size-up a problem and then do something about it.

He is hard-working and would spend full-time at the job if chosen.

In any event—GOP or Democrat—be sure to vote.

Dutch Elm Disease Hits 219

Dutch elm disease is taking a heavy toll in Tecumseh.

A state forestry inspector, K. Fisher, has been checking elms here since June 30.

He has been assisted by Philip Zabawa of Petersburg.

So far, 219 trees have been tagged with red markers, meaning they will have to be removed. Of these, 16 are on city property, the remainder belong to private citizens.

Another 109 are suspected of the disease and bear yellow tags. Portions of these trees have been sent to a lab in Lansing for analysis.

Every elm within city limits will be examined before the summer is over.

Council discussed removal of the diseased trees at Monday's session. It apparently will cost between $75 to $100 for each one, depending upon size. This does not include the stump.

No action was taken to contract for the work.

Back from Lake

Neil DePuy returned from Gray Lake near Clare where he spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Hearold Coates.

Farewell Party Given by Class for Kilbourns

The Welcome Class of the Friends Church held a farewell party for the George Kilbourn family Saturday evening in the church basement.

Mr. Kilbourn is now employed as sexton for the Hillsdale cemetery and the family will move there soon.

Since 1954 the Kilbourns have been taking pictures of the church activities and showed slides of the various functions for about an hour.

Mrs. Maynard Harsh had charge of the program and Mrs. John Kelly, the devotions.

Melvin Muhn, teacher of the class, gave tribute to the family who have been faithful and active in the church.

A gift was presented to the Kilbourns from the class. About 40 attended the event.

☆

ABOUT 45 YOUNG people and counselors attended a "Destination Unknown" party at Walter Weimer home Sunday evening honoring Keith Kilbourn.

The parties are announced by one of the counselor's wearing a red string tie at the evening service.

Refreshments and a social hour were enjoyed.

2 Local Boatmen Travel 350 Miles in 16-foot Boat

Bob Houston and R. H. Moore accomplished the crossing of Lake Erie in a 16-foot boat with a 75 horse-power Scott motor last week, the first time to their knowledge that this has been done.

They put their boat in north of Monroe at Stony Creek and traveled a course to Middle Sister Island to Put-in-Bay, then took the south passage waterway to Huron, O.

From there, they went to Cleveland, to Conneaut, to Erie, Pa. to Dunkirk, N.Y. and to their final destination at Buffalo.

They traveled approximately 350 miles in 13½ hours.

Swimmers Performed for Parents

The largest audience ever to attend a demonstration at the city's swimming pool was on hand Monday evening to witness the show by the swimming students.

An estimated 200 parents and friends watched the demonstration as all students of the first session took part, from beginners to life saving.

The program was under the direction of Ted Todd.

Instructors assisting with the program were Greg Mason, Mary Seager, Mike Walters and Jerry Woodward.

The second session of lessons began Monday and will continue through August 11. Over 200 are now receiving instructions from Vic Lawson's staff.

There are still openings for the third session that will begin August 14.

Father Powell Is Honored by His Family

Mr. and Mrs. Raynor Van Valkenburg and family entertained 35 members of the family and friends Monday morning the 70th birthday anniversary of her father, Mac Powell.

Mr. Powell received several nice gifts. Home made ice cream and cakes were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stevens nee Heidenreich and family of Trenton were guests present.

The families of Mr. and Mrs. John Powell, Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas of Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. William Osburn and Mr. and Mrs. William Powell were all present besides Mr. and Mrs. Mac Powell.

HAPPY PANCAKE RACE WINNER—Mrs. Bonnie Kellogg was all smiles as she posed for her "official winner's" picture. She holds two items, both emblematic of her victory—a nine-inch griddle which she carried in the 415-yard sprint and boxes of Aunt Jemima mix, made by Quaker Oats, the firm which donated most of the ingredients for Friday evening's free pancake supper.

Oh How She Ran

Bare-footed Mrs. Bonnie Kellogg, 423 W. Cummins St., sprinted the 415-yard pancake race course Friday as if she had been in such events all her life.

Mrs. Kellogg's official time of 1:37.6 gave her first place by a comfortable margin.

Second place went to Mrs. Max Skinner, 807 River Acres Dr., who posted a 1:56.

The race, first of its kind in Michigan, highlighted the annual free pancake supper staged at the fire hall by local merchants.

More than 2,500 were fed. Members of St. Peter's Church flipped the pancakes and served.

In the race, run over a course identical to the one in Olney, England, where similar events have been held for over 500 years, contestants carried nine-inch griddles each of which contained a pancake.

☆

AT FOUR places along the track, which started at the library on W. Chicago Blvd. and ended at the fire station, there were ribbons stretched eight feet overhead.

Racers flipped their pancakes over the wires and caught them coming down the other side. This maneuver proved to be quite a chore.

Others in the race were: Lottie McCarty, rural Britton

☆

AFTER MRS. KELLOGG had been crowned champion and claimed her $25 in free dry cleaning from Welch's Cleaners, a special bit of competition was announced.

In it, four Republican candidates for the coming Con-Con primary sprinted from the city's four corners to the fire station, a distance of about 40 yards. Each carried a griddle and pancake, which was flipped over a ribbon at the finished line.

Ted Durst, an Adrian attorney, won this bit or nonsense. Howard Foust finished as runner-up, followed by Dick Hoben and Royal Welch.

10 Homes Get Sewer, Water

Ten homes along Occidental Hwy., between Sunset Dr. and Shady Lane, will finally get city sewer and water service.

An 11th property holder, Raymond Winzler, who owns a farm on the west side of Occidental, will "pass" for the present.

It took some King Solomon-like justice by City Council Monday evening to resolve the situation.

Occidental property owners on the east side of the road petitioned three years ago for service.

But they didn't get it and were forced to continue with well water and septic tanks when Mr. Winzler, the biggest land owner, opposed the idea.

This summer some of their wells showed signs of going dry and a petition was passed once more.

At a public hearing Monday, in conjunction with the regular Council session, city fathers worked out a plan which has satisfied all concerned.

☆

THE SEWER and water lines will go in during the next few weeks and the 10 home owners will start to assume their share of the assessments—$4,335.40—or an average of $433.20 per family.

This will be paid to the city over a five-year period at 5% interest.

Mr. Winzler told Council he wanted to wait until the services would benefit him, then he'd pay his share, which is $3,465.86 for his 1,946 feet of frontage along Occidental.

Right now it is "quite a little burden."

Councilmen agreed with Mr. Winzler and at the same time explained that sewers and water for others on the street couldn't be delayed any longer.

They offered to work out a special plan for the farm owner, whereby he will be required to pay only interest on his assessment for the next three years, then start on the principal.

He expressed the thought that at some time he might be able to subdivide the land.

☆

THE NEW Occidental sewer line will be eight-inch vitrified clay pipe. The water main, also eight-inch, will be cast iron.

Homeowners soon to get service include Clyde Cook, Loran Forrester, Royce Durkee, Stan Rentschler, Frank Marsh, Alexander Poskarbiewicz, Wendell Myers, Lyle Bidwell, Roger Harsh and Peter Michajlenko.

Land for Library

A 25-year lease from the city for the use of Monument Park, across from Tecumseh Junior High, by the Board of Education is being drawn up by City Attorney James Beardsley.

To be renewable, the lease gives the right to erect the new library there by the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation, Inc.

City Sends $28 to State League for Con-Con Aid

A check for $28 is being sent the Michigan Municipal League by Tecumseh.

Councilmen agreed Monday that the community should help support League committees now working in preparation for the coming Constitutional Convention.

This well help the League "in presenting the views of cities and village to the Convention."

League Trustees are asking each municipality among its membership to give 10% of current membership dues.

PHOTOS BY HERALD

Ed Nelson, Tecumseh city manager, will undergo surgery in Herrick Memorial Hospital Friday. During an expected short absence from his job, Mr. Nelson's duties will temporarily be handled by Cal Zorn, city engineer. Mr. Zorn will also be acting state highway maintenance superintendent.

Con-Con Vote To Be Tuesday

Three Tecumseh men are among the 13 candidates who will be vieing for the four delegate nominations to the state's constitutional convention Tuesday.

The local men are John H. Hamilton and Royal E. Welch on the Republican ticket and Marvin L. Barber on the Democratic ticket.

The primary election will be held Tuesday, July 25, with the polls open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. Voting in Tecumseh will be at the fire hall and city hall.

In the running for the delegate nomination from the Lenawee Representative District on the Republican ticket, the top man to oppose the Democratic winner, are:

► Clyne W. Durst, Jr. of Adrian

► Howard Foust of Adrian

► John H. Hamilton, 413 E. Shawnee St., Tecumseh

► Richard H. Hoben of Adrian

► Royal E. Welch, 500 Red Mill Dr., Tecumseh

Republicans vieing for the delegate spot from the 19th Senatorial District are:

► Charles Figy of Morenci

► Ervin George Yoas of Monroe

☆

DEMOCRATIC candidates from the Lenawee Representative District are:

► Marvin L. Barber, 306 W. Logan St., Tecumseh

► Doyle J. Bell of Morenci

► Leland Brighton of rural Brooklyn

► Neol B. Osborne of Adrian

Seeking the Democratic nomination from the 19th Senatorial District are:

► Joseph Gasiorawski of Temperance

► Richard A. Marino of Monroe

The vote is expected to be light in this primary election with Secretary of State James M. Hare estimated that as few as 20% of the voters will cast their votes.

People are confused about the Con-Con primary election and there seems to be much apathy throughout the state.

Many local residents do not realize that they are to vote for two nominees, one a Senatorial area delegate — from Lenawee and Monroe Counties — and a Representative district delegate from Lenawee County.

Voters may not split their ticket in the primary election.

Two Clinton Post Men Transferred

Detective Leslie J. Wykes of the Clinton State Police Post is being transferred to the Fourth District Headquarters at Jackson effective August 1.

He and his family have been living in Tecumseh for the past four years.

Another Tecumseh resident, Trooper Donald Schummer, of the Clinton Post since 1955 is also being transferred to Marquette.

Coming to the Clinton Post will be Trooper Anthony G. Sawielski from Centerline and Trooper William W. Scott from the post at L'Anse. Their transfer is effective August 22.

The orders were issued Monday from the East Lansing headquarters.

Brenda Porter Holds Art Show in New York

Brenda Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis G. Porter of 802 W. Pottawatamie St. presented a one man gallery show at Mukerji Gallery, New York, from July 1-9.

Miss Porter has previously shown in the Greenwich Village area.

A graduate of University of Michigan, she is currently preparing for another gallery showing.

License To Build Is Renewed

Wes Haeussler Construction Company's license to build sidewalk was renewed by Council Monday.

City fathers also agreed to furnish fire protection to Teco, Inc., a new Tecumseh business which is located in the former Joel Building on N. Evans St.

Farm Safety Week To Be July 23-29

Farm accidents annually bring injuries requiring medical attention to a fourth of all Michigan farm families.

Michigan accident statistics for last July bear out Michigan's 1961 Farm Safety Week theme, "Safe use of farm equipment is a family affair."

President Kennedy has set aside July 23 to 29 as the eighteenth annual National Farm Safety Week.

The observance calls attention to the seriousness of farm accidents. The farm operator isn't the only one with a stake in farm safety.

The 21-to 65-age group includes a great majority of all farm owners. Yet people in this group suffered only one-fourth of the serious farm-work accidents reported in Michigan newspapers last July.

In contrast, one-third of the July accidents involved children 15 and under.

Mental lapses cause most farm accidents. Farm families are urged to talk about safety on ther farm each day during National Farm Safety Week.

Late July requires special care with farm machinery because it's the peak of the farm-work season.

Farm Safety Week has often brought a rash of accidents. It's up to all farmers to make this year's observance safe.

You Told Us

BY DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Moving. What a multitude of effort that little six-letter word entails.

But the house the Grigg family is going to inhabit in a week or two is nearly ready.

The whole clan from Grandmas down to the littlest Jane have had a hand in the scrubbing, scouring, painting and papering.

Without them we would have been lost, so here's to you, family. In fact, here's to all families. How we do need each other.

Summer is, of course, a happy time for families. The time when many families get together for a reunion and this week at least two were held.

The Mead Reunion held a second annual affair in some years at the Tecumseh Grange Hall Sunday with about 100 attending. Following a bountiful pot-luck dinner, Oscar Mead was elected president and his daughter, Mrs. Clarence Randolph, secretary and treasurer.

Charles Randolph played the accordian and Larry Mead, the flute. Mrs. John Riggs of Wyandotte played the portable organ and sang before playing accompaniment for group singing.

√

Fifty-nine out of a possible 76 attended the Albert Comfort Reunion held Sunday at Swain Lake, south of Concord. Those from here were the families of Russell and Ralph Comfort and Mrs. Perry Hayden. Parker Comfort of Tryon, N. C. was unable to attend. Paul Comfort with the US Army in Seattle, Wash. and Mrs. William Hayden and family and Ronald Wells were those not present.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hebb entertained her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Felton, and her sister, Mrs. Louis Maniscaro, and son, Ricky, of Parson, W. Va. the past week. They were also visitors in the Richard Cangley and the James Felton homes. Pamela Felton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Felton returned home with them for a visit.

√

Kathy Wykes has returned home following a weeks stay in St. Clair, Michigan visiting Laurel McCullough. Miss McCullough is currently visiting in Tecumseh.

√

Mary Lou McConnell and her roommate, Judy Ringle and David Miller of Chicago were weekend guests of Harley and Jane McConnell.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Spreeman, Mrs. Albert Filter, and daughter, Alice, attended the funeral Thursday in Lansing of their cousin, Arthur Spreman.

Mr. and Mrs. John Surratt and family entertained his sister, Mrs. Joe Andrus, and daughter, Marvina, of Laguna Beach, Cal. last week. Sunday visitors at the Surratt home were Mr. and Mrs. Roland Neese of Franklin, Ind. who were enroute home from the Kiwanis convention in Toronto.

√

Emily Manwaring, Kathy Carter, Marilyn Beland and Pamela Brooks attended the Baptist Camp at Lake Louise recently. They were accompanied there by Vern Manwaring and Mrs. Thomas Brooks brought them back.

√

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Goodacre are grandparents of a grandson, Daniel Clark, born June 30 to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Miller of Defiance, O. Mrs. Miller was formerly Jeanette Goodacre. The other Miller children, Nancy, Douglas, Margie and Julie Ann have returned to their home after spending two weeks at the Goodacre farm.

√

of Alexandria, O. were in De-

Julia Boyce and Marilyn Terry troit Friday afternoon to visit the Merrill-Palmer School of Human Development. Miss Terry was a house guest of Miss Boyce over the weekend.

Chamber To Hold Outing

The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce will hold their second annual picnic Thursday, July 27 beginning at 3 p.m.

The outing—for men only—will be held in the woods at the end of Munger Rd.

Activities will include blooper ball, tug-of-war, rope climb and chicken barbecue.

Tickets may be secured from Bob Moore or Don Murphy for $1.50.

Co-chairmen of the event are Al Snyder, Karl Schneider and Jack Osburn.

PAMELA MUSCH

Pamela Musch Is Attending Floral School

Pamela Musch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Musch of Tecumseh Greenhouse & Floral Shop is in Chicago taking a special course of instruction at the American Floral Art School, famous training center for florists.

This school, the outstanding one of its kind, has graduates in leading flower shops in all parts of the United States and in many foreign countries.

Student florists learn how to arrange cut flowers for all occasions whether for a birthday gift, a party centerpiece, flowers for the hospital or for any other purpose.

Special instruction is received in making wedding bouquets, especially the newer and more unusual types.

Students learn to style corsages and other flowers for personal adornment to suit the personality and costume of the wearer.

Curb and Gutter To Be Installed

Curb and gutter will soon be installed along a four-block stretch of Pearl St.

City workers have prepared the area from Logan and Iroquois St. for the contractor, who'll start concrete pouring shortly.

While getting the roadway ready, the city removed and replaced all water services, except those which were copper.

Fighters End Bout in Cooler

A family fracas Sunday afternoon ended with a 55-year-old Adrian man slashing his Tecumseh son-in-law with a linoleum knife.

Both were arraigned Monday before Justice Ernie Oliver on simple assault and drew fines and jail sentences.

Lloyd Mann, 32, got the worst of the battle in all respects.

The resident of 415 S. Pearl St. received eight-inch cuts in his back and smaller ones in his legs.

He also drew the biggest fine, $54.90, and 45 days in Lenawee County jail.

His father-in-law, Ranzie Frederick of Adrian, told police that Mann pulled a .22 rifle on him during their heated conversation and that's when he produced the knife.

Mann contended it was the other way around.

Frederick, who came to the Mann home when his daughter said her husband had beaten her Saturday, was fined $29.90 and given five days in jail.

Storm Sewer for S. Evans

An 18-inch storm sewer line along S. Evans St., from Hiawatha St. to the old Quaker Oats plant, will be installed starting next week.

The line will be 500 feet in length.

As part of this same work project, city crews will construct a 16-inch concrete wall around the home of Mrs. Harry V. Tuckey, 119 N. Ottawa St. where it adjoins the off-street parking lot behind the northeast downtown business block.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Preston are spending a few days in Lansing called by the sudden death of her brother, Arthur Spreeman.

Hilda Wietenhagen played a prelude of nuptial music and accompanied Noel Papsdorf who sang.

The guests were seated by Ronald Creger, Daniel Zimmerman and Marvin Reaume.

The lovely bride approached the altar on the arm of her father. She wore a chapel length hooped skirted gown of white organza and Chantilly lace over taffeta fashioned with fitted bodice, sabrina neckline and sleeves which ended in points over the hands.

Her veil of pure silk illusion was attached to a dainty crown. She wore a single strand of cultured pearls and matching earrings, gift of the groom.

Her bridal bouquet was a cascade arrangement of white sweetheart roses, stephanotis and white orchids accented with green foliage and tufts of white nylon tulle and lovers knots of narrow satin streamers.

The bride's attendants were Mrs. Maurice Simpkins of Morenci, matron of honor, and the Misses Teresa Ciak of Hazerville, Conn., Stephanie Clark of Conneaut, O. and Krista McKenzie of Bellvue, O. as bridesmaids.

The latter were all classmates of the bride when she attened school at Hartford, Conn. and they lived together in Washington, D.C.

Their street length frocks were identical in a shade of romance blue. They were designed with fitted bodices and skirts of taffeta draped with chiffon.

All wore matching accessories and pearl earrings, the gift of the bride.

Karen Crawford of Brooklyn was flower girl in a white sheer frock with over blouse effect appliqued with flowers.

She carried a white lace umbrella filled with pink sweetheart roses and blue delphinium.

The ringbearer, Mark Zimmerman, of Sylvania carried the rings on a white satin pillow.

James Adams served as his brother's best man.

The wedding party and parents formed a receiving line at the rear of the sanctuary following the ceremony.

A reception was held at the United Products Workers Union Hall with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hinsdale of Sand Crek as hosts.

A five-tiered cake made by the bride's cousin, Mrs. Daniel Crawford of Brooklyn was served by Mrs. Jack Ketchum.

The punch bowl, a gift made by Mrs. John Holzer, was of ice embedded with sweet peas.

The bridegroom's cake was made and served by Mrs. Raymond Service.

Others assisting were Mrs. Donald Graff, Mary Merritt, Joan Reichhardt, Shirley Creger, Mrs. Terry Foster, Mrs. Howard Zimmerman and Mrs. Howard Brinley.

Members of the North Franklin Maidens 4-H Club, wearing blue dotted swiss aprons, gifts of the bride, also assisted with the refreshments.

Mrs. Bernice Williams, Mrs. John Norcross, Mrs. James Robinson, Mrs. Violet Fisher and Mrs. Roy M. Brisbane assisted too.

Janice Graff registered the guests and the Misses Marilyn Meeks, Lassie Slusher, Jan Rasmusen and Mrs. David Helmerdinger were in charge of the gifts.

The couple will make their home in Deerfield following a trip to the Smokey Mountains.

The new Mrs. Adams is a graduate of Clinton High School, 1960. She completed a course in February at the Hartford Airline Personnel school and then went to Washington, D.C. where she was employed by the bureau of ships, US Navy, until coming home for her wedding.

Mr. Adams is a 1954 graduate of Deerfield High School and is associated with his father in the excavating business.

Friday evening a rehearsal dinner was given by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Adams.

Second Floor Is Completed for $10,981

Disbursements of $50,430.54 were made by the Herrick Memorial Hospital board at its recent meeting.

The payments covered payroll, refunds and general accounts.

A check for $10,981 went to Krieghoff-Lenawee Construction Co., Adrian, for work done in finishing off the second floor of the south wing.

Trustees accepted a gift of bedroom furniture from Neil DePuy in memory of his wife, Lucile.

The board agreed to purchase a Collimator cone and a Telescopic Extension for the radiology department. This equipment will reduce secondary effects to patients undergoing radiation treatments.

Pay Invoices of $10,814.90

Council OKed the payment of $10,814.90 in bills at its Monday session. Included was a $2,000 certificate of deposit, purchased from the United Savings Bank, for the fire department fund.

Multiple Screening May Find It

Lansing—"He was never sick a day in his life."

Yet he died suddenly and unexpectedly. He had had a serious disease but never knew it.

Many such deaths—and many more serious disabilities—could be prevented by public health's newest weapon in the fight against disease—multiple screening.

Widespread use of screening programs in communities in Michigan can sharply reduce the unnecessary disabilities and premature deaths which result from many chronic diseases found too late for successful treatment.

Multiple screening is simply a cluster of the latest laboratory and other technical health tests given at the same place at about the same time. Such tests are today capable of finding many suspected diseases including diabetes, high blood pressure, tuberculosis, several forms of cancer, certain kinds of heart disease, anemia, glaucoma, veneral disease and kidney disease.

"Since I bought my REFRIGERATOR-FREEZER, I can stock up on food bargains when the prices are low"

Says: MRS. LYLE BEZILE
4200 Dartmoor Lane
Jackson, Michigan

It's Just Like Having a Supermarket in Your Home

If you are budget-conscious—and who isn't these days—you take advantage of every opportunity to save food money. If you have a Refrigerator-Freezer, like Mrs. Bezile, you buy when food prices are low—eat when prices are high. You take advantage of bargains by buying meat, frozen food and other foods in quantity and in season—you keep these food-values 'til needed, in your Refrigerator-Freezer. Not only does a Refrigerator-Freezer help you save money, it's a time and work saver, too.

NOW'S THE TIME to save more truck dollars on the more-for-your-dollar trucks!

Your truck dollars are worth a whole lot more at your Chevrolet dealer's right now! First off, you get a head start on saving because summer's the saving season. Then, with a harder working, easier riding Chevy truck, you're set to save every mile you haul. And, finally, at trade-in time, you can expect an extra dividend because of Chevy's traditionally higher resale value. What could be better?

Summer's the season to get extra mileage from your dollars on the trucks built to give you extra miles of hauling. With Independent Front Suspension, Chevrolet trucks keep going thousands of miles longer because far less destructive jar and shake are transmitted through the truck. Chevy I.F.S. trucks work harder, too, in areas where other trucks have to be pampered. And, with Chevy's wide choice of thrifty 6 and hardy V8 power, you can tailor your truck exactly to your job. So how can you miss—especially now during the summer saving season?

Interlochen To Welcome Van Cliburn

Interlochen—Van Cliburn, the Texas boy wonder who became the idol of millions by conquering the Russians with Tschaikowsky's B Flat Minor Concerto, will give a benefit performance at the world famed National Music Camp at Interlochen, Michigan, Saturday, July 29 at 8 p.m.

Young Cliburn, now on a concert tour of 38 American cities, has said that he would rather play for teenagers than any other kind of audiences.

His Interlochen engagement is a coup for Michigan's northwoods summer arts colony where some 1,600 talented teenagers from 41 states and five foreign countries are currently launched on their 34th concert season.

Cliburn will do a repeat performance of the Tschaikowsky concerto which bowled over the Russians in 1958, won him the Tschaikowsky International Piano Competition in Moscow, and catapulted him to global fame. He first performed the concerto in his orchestral debut with the Houston Symphony at the age of 12.

Funds raised by the Cliburn benefit performance at Interlochen will be used for piano scholarships for National Music Camp students.

Demonstration To Show Best in Tile Drainage

One of the largest tiling demonstrations and airtours that have been held in Michigan is planned for July 25 in Washtenaw County on the Robert Bevier farm located five miles northeast of Milan, Michigan.

The Bevier farm is located at 7028 Judd Road, near the Talladay farms.

This big event is being sponsored jointly by the Michigan Farm Trenchers Association, the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University and the Washtenaw and Lenawee County Soil Conservation Districts.

In case of bad weather July 25, the airtours and demonstrations will be held July 26 as a rain date.

The demonstrations and airtours will start at 10 a.m. and duplicate demonstrations will be given on the morning and afternoon programs. The event will conclude at about 3:30 p.m.

The Michigan Farm Trenchers Association, which is an organization of Farm Drainage Contractors in Michigan, is sponsoring the ground demonstrations showing tile installation practices with production trenching equipment.

Since tile drainage is required on heavy soil areas in Michigan for maximum crop production, this event has been set up to show farmers and other interested landowners the latest in equipment and engineering practices with respect to the installation of agricultural drain tile. All interested farmers, contractors, and agencies interested in agricultural drainage are invited to attend.

Polio Season Nears Peak

"There's lots of polio vaccine available but little time to become at least partially protected against polio before the peak of the season arrives in mid-August," Dr. E. Skufis, director of the Lenawee County Health Department reminds residents.

If you receive your first shot now and the second a month later, you'll be a lot better off than without any protection at all.

A third injection is given about seven months after the second and a booster a year later to assure maximum protection against a disease which overnight can cripple a person for life.

"The time is short," Doctor Skufis emphasized, "but there is time left to get two injections into the arms of those who have no protection and to solidify the immunity of those with an incomplete series before the peak of the season.

It isn't known what the 1961 polio season holds for Michigan people but it is known that those with adequate protection (at least three properly spaced shots of polio vaccine) are a great deal less likely to contract this disease. With four shots, the possibilities are practically nil.

Even though polio strikes more commonly among the young, it is no respector of age. For this reason everyone, regardless of age, should protect himself against polio by getting vaccinated.

Miss Waggoner Was Honored Guest at Shower

Mrs. Carl Barnes entertained guests for a miscellaneous shower honoring Frances Waggoner whose marriage to James McDowell will be an event of July 20.

Arrangements of pink roses and white chrysanthemums were used in decorating the home of Mrs. Earl Wickwire last Wednesday evening for the party.

Pink rosebuds centered the small tables when dessert was served as the guests arrived.

Games were played with prizes awarded. The bride-elect opened beautiful gifts from beneath a pink and white parasol.

Mrs. Al Weldon of Alexandria, Va. and Mrs. Robert Thomas of Cleviand, O. were among the guests.

HOGS WILL CONTINUE TO RETURN A PROFIT to the better producers through this winter. Heavy sow marketings this spring and summer helped to trim the potential numbers of sows farrowing this summer and fall to a new expected moderate increase of 2% over a year ago. Sow slaughter has offset the heavy demand for gilts and sows this spring to brighten hog price prospects into 1962. But profits won't be enough to warrant considering expansion at this time.

BETTER FLY CONTROL ON DAIRY FARMS is usually obtained when a residual barn spray is used along with a stock spray or repellent, rather than using one or the other alone. Normally those farms having the fewest flies use a residual spray. For best results, select a spray which retains its killing properties for several weeks. Diazinon, for instance, will control flies for about a month.

HENS NEED TO BE COMFORTABLE if you expect top performance during hot weather. Otherwise, you'll not only get fewer but smaller eggs. Provide plenty of ventilation and use fans where necessary. Temperature in the laying house can also be reduced by painting the roof of the laying house with a light-colored paint to help reflect the heat. During summer hens drink twice as much water, so you will want to use a few more drinking fountains than ordinarily.

WATCH CROP GROWTH CLOSELY THIS SEASON. It may give you some clues for next year's fertilizer program. Crop notes can help supplement the information contained in soil tests. Plants can sometimes show deficiencies of an element which appeared adequate in a soil test. Have your county agent help you identify deficiency symptoms.

How to swallow a bitter pill

First, find a bitter pill. There are so few nowadays. It all started because children, bless 'em, are so good at resisting bad-tasting medicine. You can medicate their chins or hair, but getting the stuff in them is beyond the ken of science. Kids can spit a country mile. So pharmacists began sugar-coating pills, putting medication in capsules, or mixing with sweet syrup. And we soon found that adults, too, like medicine the easy way. So now, most of our prescriptions are quite pleasant to take. If you should run into one of the few bitter ones, believe us, there are good medical reasons for it.

Rules for Safe Driving

Safe driving skills, those which promote accident-free motoring, can only be perfected by utilizing good techniques acquired by others, then practicing them.

Here are a series of good driving practices that can be used to everyone's advantage:

1. Use good timing when passing, changing lanes, determining following distances and turning. Be neither too fast nor too slow, and you will be successful every time.

2. Proper signaling is a must. Both Michigan law and good thinking dictate that you signal your intentions to other drivers before you move into another lane of traffic, when pulling onto the highway from the roadside or a curb parking spot and when you turn or stop. Either hand or mechanical signals are proper.

3. Use your eyes properly. Be aware of everything before, behind and beside you. You will then be able to anticipate situations and avoid danger. Practice moving your eyes without moving your head when in heavy traffic.

4. Practice acts of courtesy. Sometimes you will find this a little hard, but every time you are courteous to someone, you make them a little happier. If you are discourteous, both of you are unhappier. You will find that as your courteous acts grow, motoring becomes more fun.

5. Drive smoothly. Start, stop, turn, pass others and generally drive in a smooth, flowing manner. It is not only more comfortable for everyone in the car, but it is easier on the nerves, prolongs car life, adds gasoline mileage and shows you to be a "pro."

6. Drive in a relaxed manner, not overconfident, but not sitting on the edge of the seat fighting the car either. A good barometer for determining how relaxed you are behind the wheel can be found in whether or not your passengers feel at ease.

7. Use a smooth, even speed, and by all means keep it legal. If your driving speed is erratic, better check your other habits behind the wheel to see if they are also erratic.

8. Remember that speed limits are, in effect, the top speed recommended for safe driving on a given street or highway under the best weather and traffic conditions.

CITY YOUNGSTERS SOAK IN THE SUN AND ENJOY THE COOLING WATER AT THE PIT

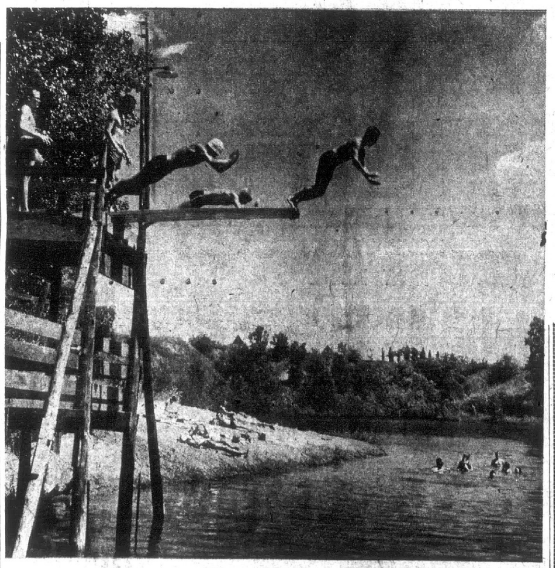
Summertime Fun at the Pit

Completely surrounded by Tecumseh's expanding subdivisions, The Pit seems almost out of place.

But it is not out of place to the youngsters and teenagers and even some "oldsters" who find it an ideal place to escape from the warm summer air.

The Pit, located behind the Protane Gas Co. west of Adrian St., is Tecumseh's oldest swimming area.

On the warmest of days, as many as 100 swimmers can be found enjoying the cool waters — jumping from the white raft in the center of the area, diving from the board along the shoreline or just soaking up the sun on the beach.



The Pit is supplied by 17 natural springs. The water was once tested 99% pure.

The seven acres of land and water are owned by Mrs. Luigi Gallo. She and her husband purchased the land in 1940. They cleaned out The Pit and made repairs within the area before Mr. Gallo's death in 1949.

Since then, Mrs. Gallo has operated The Pit by herself.

Lifeguarding the swimming area is Don Smith.

Swimming lessons from beginners to Sr. Lifesaving are currently being offered at The Pit by Duane K. Furbush, water safety instructor, American Red Cross.

Beneath the diving area, the water is at least 15 feet deep and in some places, it is over 25 feet deep.

There is a special area marked out for children in shallow water along the shoreline.

There are some small fish in the water and Mrs. Gallo allows fishing there.

Along the shores, there are picnic tables which swimmers may use free of charge.

To Entertain Garden Club

Mrs. Robert Sage will open her home Friday, July 21, for the meeting of the Tecumseh Garden Club.

The Little Garden Club will present the program.

Mrs. Ed. Boss, Mrs. Paul Mayes, Mrs. R. H. Moore, Mrs. Joe Rice and Mary McWilliams will be assisting hostesses.

Conservation School Is Held

LANSING — More than 200 Michigan teachers and school administrators are going back to school this summer to learn about conservation education and how it can fit in with the three R's and other subjects in their own classrooms.

Their campus is the Higgins Lake conservation school where the first of four week-long sessions began July 16. A record 244 teachers and their administrators are attending the 15th annual scholarship school.

Scholarship teachers again represent all grade levels and areas of study, pointing up the broad field of interest that conservation is drawing throughout many school systems.

As in past years, these "pupils" of conservation are guided on field trips; listen to lectures, and take part in group discussions conducted by Conservation Department personnel and resource and curriculum specialists from colleges and universities.

In one change from other years, each of the week-long schools are devoting a half day to boating and water safety, archery and firearm safety, forest fire safety and other skills which are becoming increasingly important with more and more youngsters using the out-of-doors.

The new course is designed to help teachers train their students on how to enjoy the out-of-doors in a wide variety of ways within the bounds of wise use.

The Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, the Womans National Farm and Garden Association, Michigan United Conservation Clubs, and Daughters of the American Revolution are again major sponsors of the scholarship school.

TOM RIORDAN'S Long AND Short

The navy commander was telling me about a six-week seminar he had taken in Norfolk, Va. this summer.

Fellow students were top-ranking officers from all branches of our srvices, plus Canadian, British, Australian brass.

The joint military problems they had to solve sounded fascinating.

One thing that struck me though had little to do with the navy, army and air force.

"For five days," my navy friend said, "we discussed the United States foreign policy."

"What is it?" I asked hopefully.

He grinned sheepishly, "We never could determine."

And so it is, a great nation with a pitiful almost non-existent plan for foreign affairs.

No wonder we're messed up.

They call this the "beat" generation. Our government's slant on dealing with nations outside our domain is about as "beat" as you can get.

The naval officer explained that Russia has been busy placing men, in the 35-year-old age bracket, in South America, where they can convert the natives to communism.

These fellows are trained reds, well-indoctrinated, men who know the business of swaying people to their line of thinking.

What do we do?

We get a Peace Corps, college people (who are sincere, we admit), give them eight months training and then pit them against the hardened pros of communism.

Make sense?

Another thing, this foreign aid foul-up has got a lot of people boiling mad, this writer included.

Why do we HAVE TO send billions into lands which apparently refuse to help themselves?

Why is it our money runs their countries and their own taxpayers take a holiday?

This nation's foreign policy should get a serious shakeup before we all go down the drain.

HAPPY HERRICKS — Mr. and Mrs. Ray Herrick posed holding his birthday book for Holland Evening Sentinel photographer Roger Snow shortly after presentation had been made by city officials at Herrick summer home.

'This Is Fantastic'

Ray Herrick is a man with many wonderful memories.

But it's a good bet few will top his 71st birthday, which took place July 21.

Here is what happened.

Mr. Herrick was relaxing in his summer home at Holland, close beside beautiful Lake Michigan.

He had received several mystery books earlier in the day and was deeply engrossed in them. Mrs. Herrick was playing cards with some neighbors a few doors away.

Bad weather had canceled a baseball game in Chicago that Mr. Herrick had wanted to watch on television, but the mysteries were filling the void nicely.

MORE PICTURES ON PAGE THREE

Then the excitement started.

Suddenly Mr. Herrick's son, Kenneth, came striding into the living room, followed by a group of smiling Tecumseh folks.

Mayor Harold Easton casually announced that the group was representing Mr. Herrick's fellow Tecumseh citizens and wanted to present him with several gifts.

First there was a birthday book, bound in dark leather, filled with several hundred sheets, containing 3,000 signatures of local citizens. Many added personal greetings.

The mayor told Mr. Herrick that members of local service clubs and several Tecumseh Products Co. retirees had volunteered to collect the signatures, beginning shortly after noon on Wednesday and wrapping up the effort Thursday evening.

☆

BOLTED TO the front cover of the book was a bronze plaque which said, "July 21, 1961. Happy birthday to Ray W. Herrick. Commemorating 71 years of distinguished service to God and Country from the people of the City of Tecumseh."

A letter from the mayor and reproduced on the first page of the book, read:

"Dear Ray:

"On the occasion of your 71st Birthday, the people of the City of Tecumseh extend to you their very best wishes.

"The accompanying Birthday Book has been personally signed by many of them. Each, in his own way, says, 'Happy Birthday, Ray, God Bless You.' Many have included their personal remarks to you.

"The oil painting by Russell Steinke of Tecumseh is a gift from the entire city. It is the hope of all the people that you will find a place for it in your home where it may be enjoyed by your family and friends.

"On closing, I will take this opportunity to add my personal congratulations and express my gratitude for the splendid example you have set for all of us."

Then the group produced the oil painting of Mr. Herrick.

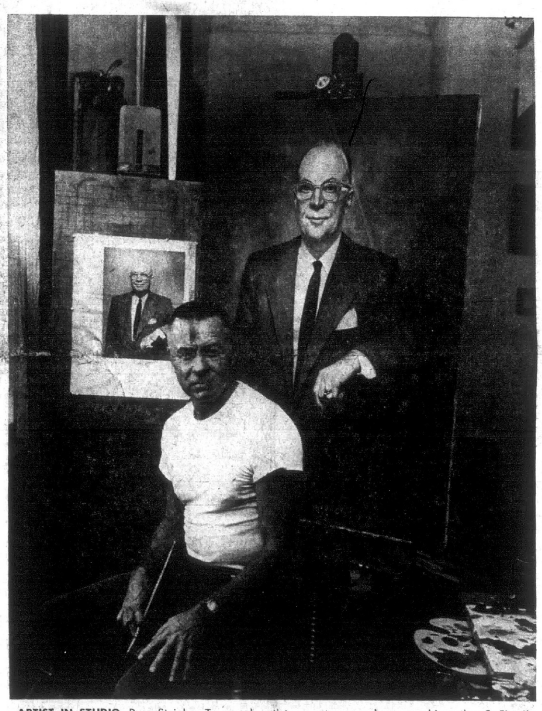
In brilliant life-like colors, the oil had been done by Mr. Steinke, who used a photo taken by Tom Riordan as the model.

Mr. Herrick was floored.

"This is fantastic," were his first words. "I won't be able to express myself for a day or two.

"Thanks, thanks to everyone," he continued.

Later in the afternoon he confided to the group that the surprise from his fellow townspeople was the "nicest honor I have ever had."



ARTIST IN STUDIO—Russ Steinke, Tecumseh artist, spent many hours making the 3x5' oil painting of Ray Herrick. The subject knew nothing of the work until it was given to him Friday. For a model, Mr. Steinke used a picture taken by The Herald. Mr. Steinke got a chance to study Mr. Herrick's coloring during lunch at Don's Grill a month ago when they were brought together "by accident."

Local Sailor Participated in Recovery

CAPE CANAVERAL — Participating in recovery operations for Air Force Captain Virgil I. (Gus) Grissom, second U.S. astronaut, while serving aboard the anti-submarine warfare support aircraft carrier USS Randolph operating off the Coast of Florida, was Richard A. The Navy recovery force was deployed down the flight path from Cape Canaveral to the touchdown area northeast of the Grand Bahamas Island.

Actual recovery was made by a Marine Corps helicopter which lifted Capt. Grissom out of the water before the untimely sinking of the "Liberty Bell 7" space craft and transported him to the deck of the aircraft carrier USS Randolph.

Elevator Operator, Dalton Walper, Dies

Services were held Monday at Collins-Corkery Funeral Home for Dalton Walper, operator of the J. J. Walper and Son Grain Elevator at Britton, who died Thursday morning at Herrick Memorial Hospital.

Mr. Walper owned considerable farm land in the northeastern section of Lenawee County.

The elevator, one of the largest in the area, includes a corn cob processing plant and fertilizer business.

Mr. Walper was a 32nd degree Mason, a member of the Lenawee Shrine Club and a director of the United Savings Bank here.

He was a life member of the Britton chapter of the Future Farmers of America and held memberships in both the Lenawee and Tecumseh Country Clubs.

The son of John J. and Caroline Walper, he was born in Riga Jan. 20, 1906, and attended grade school there.

He was graduated from Scott high school in Toledo and from the University of Michigan in 1929.

Mr. Walper was a member of Alpha Delta Phi fraternity at Ann Arbor.

Mr. Walper was married to Adele LeDuc in 1936.

In addition to his wife he is survived by a son, John J. Walper, and a daughter, Nanette at home.

Mr. Walper had been a patient only a few days. He was 55 years of age.

The Rev. Lazio Gero of the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church officiated and burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Local Artist Does Portrait

It was only natural that Russell Steinke be commissioned by City Council to do the oil painting of Ray Herrick.

Mr. Steinke, 48, a resident of Tecumseh for the past 10 years, is fast becoming one of the state's most talented brushmen.

And he didn't start to paint until a dozen years ago.

Born in Ann Arbor, he attended the University of Michigan School of Music.

Following a five-year army stint during World War II, he was teaching piano in Oklahoma when he became interested in art.

He re-enrolled at the U of M, this time in the School of Architecture and Design. At the time he purchased a home here at 31 W. Brown St., overlooking Red Mill Pond, and has called Tecumseh home ever since.

Folowing a year at Michigan, he studied for three more at the New York Art League.

At the League he was a student of Louis Bouche, who is known for his mural work at the Eisenhower Museum in Kansas, and Robert B. Hale, curator of American Art at the Metropolitan Museum in New York.

In recent years, while teaching art here, his work has enjoyed considerable acclaim in various shows. In the 1959 Toledo Area Artists competition, his striking oil of a weather vane captured second prize.

The Herrick painting cost $1,000, actually a real bargain considering its size and the vast amount of work involved. Smaller works by Mr. Steinke have netted him commissions up to $3,250.

Donations, from 5c to $1 are being made by area residents to pay for the oil of Mr. Herrick.

NEWCOMERS

Who Have Moved to Tecumseh

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Gray are new residents in Tecumseh. They moved Friday to the home at 111 W. Brown St. recently vacated by the Marvin Nelson family who have moved to Occidental Highway.

Mr. Gray is a process engineer with the Clinton Engines Co. They lived in Saline until 1951 when they were transferred to Clinton Engines plant in Maquoketa, Iowa.

Mrs. Gray worked as a gear shaper in that plant but does not intend to work here.

The Grays have two grown children; a daughter, Mrs. Phyllis Hinz of Maquoketa and a son, Edmund, with the US Marines stationed at Oceanside, Cal. He is expected home for a visit next month.

FFA Boys Seeking Corn Yield Grown

The Tecumseh FFA boys have entered the Funk's 304 Bushel corn contest again this year. The object of the contest is to obtain the highest possible yield of corn on a measured acre.

Up to the present time Lamar Ratliff of Baldwyn, Miss. has the world's record in corn production. His yield of 304 bushels per acre in an irrigated field, was made in 1957.

Since then FFA boys all over the nation have been trying to beat the record. The high yield in Michigan last year was made by the Chesaning chapter with a yield of 166.7 bushel.

Tecumseh's unofficial yield was 134 bushels on a measured acre.

The FFA boys are trying to do a little better this year. The corn will be picked by hand to prevent as much loss as possible, then gone over with a machine.

The Tecumseh FFA boys have used the following practices up to the present time on their project: in preparing the seedbed they disked, plowed, disked, spike toothed, then planted.

The boys plowed down 150 pounds actual potash and 216 pounds of nitrogen. When planting the corn they used 350 pounds of 6-24-24 fertilizer per acre.

The corn was side dressed with 100 pounds actual nitrogen when knee high. It was rotary hoed once, cultivated twice, and then the weeds were hand pulled in the rows by the boys.

The plant population is about 22,000 plants per acre and looks good at the present time according to several interested farmers.

This plot is located between the utility poles at the city's disposal plant.

In addition to farming 10 additional acres, managing nine sows, and a purebred Dorset sheep chain, the boys are now busy making plans to start a commercial sheep flock of 20 western ewes and a registered Hampshire ram.

The FFA boys hope that this sheep project which was started in co-operation with the Sears-Roebuck Foundation will help stimulate interest in sheep and help to improve the sheep enterprise in the community.

'Haystacks' Is Little Fellow

"KILLER" KOWALSKI

Area wrestling fans are in for another treat.

The grapplers are coming back to Tecumseh, this time from the stable which owns Dick the Bruiser.

The Bruiser won't be here, but some of his well-known fellow matmen are going to perform Saturday, Aug. 5 at Tecumseh High gym.

Sponsoring the five-bout show will be the Sacred Heart Society of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church, with benefits going to the church.

Headlining the act will be "Killer" Kowalski, a 6'7" giant and former heavyweight champion who'll take on "Haystacks" Calhoun.

"Haystacks" is just a youngster, who weighs a mere 601 pounds. He hails from Morgans Corners, Ark.

He is called the Gentle Giant because of his great love for children. He calls them his little neighbors.

Wrestling for five years, he was approached by a promoter who saw him wrestling several of his cousins on the grass by the farm house where he lived.

He said, "Wrestling, I'm not wrestling, I'm scufflin". He still calls it scufflin. When asked to wrestle professionally, he said, "Get paid for scuffin? Now I get to do what I love most, scuffle, and get paid for it, too."

"HAYSTACKS" CALHOUN

An interesting story on how he developed the "big splash", which he is famous for in defeating his opponents, is, as a boy of 16 he weighed 400 pounds. His Mother would ask him to break up kindling wood to cook his supper with.

He found by jumping on small trees and long boards with his stomach he could break them with ease. He still uses jumping on planks 2 x 12, 10 feet long and breaking them as an abdominal exercise to keep his stomach hard for the "big splash."

He has a long bushy beard and has never shaved. He also has never had anything to wear except overalls, which his mother makes for him.

He is a tremendous eater. A typical breakfast, one dozen eggs, two pounds of bacon or sausage, 18 hot biscuits and a half gallon of milk.

For dinner he eats four or five pounds of meat, steak or roast prefered and a "water bucket full of vegetables, followed by another half gallon of milk.

AT CLARK LAKE PLAYHOUSE

5 Perform in Comedy

The Tecumseh Players are really scoring these days as the current attraction at the Clark Lake Players theatre, "The Matchmaker," finds five members in the cast.

Richard Kureth of 209 Adrian St. is appearing in the male lead of Vandergelder, the merchant. Opposite him in the title role is Bertha Vallelunga of 307 Adrian St.

The cast also includes Gloria Jadwin, 207 W. Brown St., as Flora Van Huysen; Ralph Dabe, 502 Stacy St., as Malachi Stack; and Richard Boyd, 417 N. Evans St., as Joe the cabman.

"The Matchmakers" will open Thursday, July 27 and continue July 28-29. It will also be showing August 4, 5 and 6.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

All five Tecumsehites are experienced members of the Tecumseh Players, having appeared in "The Golden Fleecing" or "Charlie's Aunt."

This production of "The Matchmaker" promises to be a barrel of laughs. The slapstick comedy is set in New York in 1880. It is the farcical tale of Horace Vandergelder, a rich old merchant who wants a wife. He hires a professional matchmaker, Mrs. Levi, but her penchant for playing Cupid also involves her in the affairs of three other couples.

Romantic complications snowball to a rollicking climax. The merchant gets a wife, Mrs. Levi gets the merchant and everyone is properly affianced.

Thorton Wilder's highly styled farce emphasizes the importance of having "just the right amount of adventure" in one's life.

Tickets may be reserved by calling LA 9-9141 between 4-8 p.m. daily except Sunday.

Two more productions will be forthcoming from this theatre group before the summer is over. "The Hasty Heart" and "Kiss Me, Kate" will be produced during August.

☆

ROBERT TOLAN, a member of the speech department at Adrian College, has invited members of the Tecumseh Players to help fill the cast of "The Silver Whistle" which will be presented at Adrian College August 10-11-12.

The Tecumseh Players are gaining prestige as an outstanding group. They have received several calls to do small skits for various club groups as well as working on their own shows.

The next one coming up will be "Blithe Spirit". Casting will be done late in September and the show will be presented in November.

President of the Tecumseh Players is Dr. Robert Murray.

Greatly Pleased

Ray Herrick, left, was deeply moved and greatly pleased Friday as he chatted with city officials following the presentation of the birthday book and portrait. The gifts were given by Tecumseh citizens in appreciation of Mr. Herrick's benevolence to the community. The officials traveled to Holland and Mr. Herrick's summer home to make the presentation on his 71-st birthday.

Work of Toledo Area Artists in Collection

A retrospective view of work by Toledo area artists comprises a special summer exhibition just installed in Gallery 8 of The Toledo Museum of Art.

The exhibition, which features paintings, prints, drawing, sculpture, watercolors and ceramics, is made up of items from the Toledo Federation of Art Societies' lending collection.

The show will continue through September when Gallery 8 again will be devoted to one-man shows by Toledo area artists.

Incorporated as a non-profit organization, the Federation began collecting art in 1948 with the purchase of several items from the area artists' show staged annually at The Toledo Museum.

Additional purchases are made each year from that exhibition. These purchases, plus gifts from others, have brought the Federations' collection to some 60 pieces.

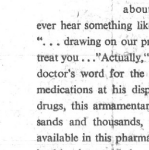
What do you mean, "armamentarium?"



Sometimes physicians forget and talk their own language. Greek to most people. Now, about the mouthful above, ever hear something like this from your doctor? ". . . drawing on our present armamentarium to treat you . . ." Actually, "armamentarium" is just a doctor's word for the array of treatments and medications at his disposal. When it comes to drugs, this armamentarium is something. Thousands and thousands, literally. All are readily available in this pharmacy to help preserve your health when needed—a public service which we are pleased to render.

Hey, That 'Boy' Is Really a Girl

There's a little girl in Tecumseh who likes to play ball.

Teams are organized for boys of all ages and for older girls—now what is she to do?

Seven-year-old Mary Jo Rosacrans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Rosacrans of 216 N. Oneida, has found the solution — Join the Boys!

With a red cap covering her short brown hair, it's really difficult to distinguish her from her male teammates on the field.

Mary Jo plays for the Orioles team in the Peewee League. The youngsters play various positions during the season, but she says she likes first base the best. There's more action there.

Does she like to be the only girl on the team? "Yes," she said, "I like boys more than girls."

Mary Jo has three older brothers — Craig, 16, Ned, 14 and Kim, 12 who all like to play ball. She is just following a family tradition.

When she can't get her brothers to play with her, she plays ball with Linda Baxter, who lives across the street.

She also likes to swim and play records. Mary Jo will be a second-grader at Herrick Park School in the fall.

Although Mary Jo was not picked to play in Friday's Pee-Wee All-Star game, she showed up at the field and found a job bein "bat-girl."

Looks as if Carol Kapnick is going to have a player all experienced when Mary Jo joins the Jr. Girls League.

Bible School Program Held Last Friday

Twenty-seven students at the Vacation Bible School of the Presbyterian church received perfect attendance mementos Friday afternoon during the closing session.

Forty children attended the school with Mrs. Robert Anderson in charge.

"Jesus Christ" was the theme of the school with lessons based on stories of Jesus, his teachings and miracles.

A humorous bird story, a bible story and singing was included in each day's curriculum. Joan Kempf was the pianist.

Mrs. Carlton Cook provided milk and cookies and a lovely centerpiece for the festivities Friday.

The staff included:

Kindergarten — Mrs. Gerald Baker, Bonnie and Joan Kempf and Mrs. Henry Karl Smith.

Primary — Mrs. Charles B. O'Neill, Mrs. Richard Gartee and Alice Titley.

Juniors — Mrs. Jack Hanna, Mrs. Robert Williamson and Harriett Blanden.

Junior High — Mrs. Fred F. Dickinson and Janice Saling.

Cub League's Union Still Undefeated

As the Cub League program nears completion, the Union team in the major division finds itself still undefeated with a 5-0 record.

In their game with Hodges this week, Union just came out on top 4-3 in a game canceled after seven innings.

Rain also stopped the other game Friday afternoon with a tie score between the Exchange and the Jaycees, 3-3.

The Tecumseh Police team finally came through with their first win of the season with a decided 9-2 victory over the Jaycees July 19. Jim Verhage was the winning hurler and the team was lead by the hitting of second baseman Robert Young.

The Kiwanis-Union game July 19 was rained out.

The two games July 17 saw the Exchange defeat Credit Union 21-9 and the Hodges out-slug the Rotary 32-20.

☆

IN MINOR LEAGUE action, the Giants lost their first game of the season, July 18, to the second place Tigers 23-13. The two are now tied for first place in the standings.

The Bears defeated the Braves 22-17 in the other game July 18.

Lee Cheevers and Bruce Costigan pitched the Tiger team to a victory July 20 over the Yankees 33-7. Leading the hitting attack were Kelly Fero, Bruce Costigan, Lee Cheever and Steve Dalton.

The other game July 20 saw the Giants overcome the Indians 16-12. The winning battery was John Saling and Tom Marine.

Warn Drivers To Yield the Right-of-Way

Perhaps more drivers have been killed or injured trying to assert their right-of-way on the highway than from any other cause.

The fact that they actually had the right-of-way is cold comfort to drivers who are injured permanently or hospitalized for long periods, yet up to the moment of impact they fought for this right stubbornly.

A good general rule to follow under any circumstance is to yield the right-of-way willingly and quickly whenever the question arises.

Generally, a driver must yield the right-of-way to the vehicle on his right if both vehicles are entering an unmarked intersection at the same time.

But when approaching an intersection, look in both directions so that you won't fail to see a vehicle coming from the left while you are concentrating on traffic from the right.

Assume that every other motorist will automatically make the wrong move in an emergency. That way you'll be ready to yield the right-of-way and give the other driver plenty of room.

Charlynn Fairbanks and Vere Hart Exchange Nuptial Vows

BRITTON—Charlynn Fairbanks and Vere L. Hart were united in marriage Sunday afternoon at 3:30 p.m. by the Rev. David VanWinkle before the altar of the First Presbyterian Church in Tecumseh.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fairbanks of 408 N. Main St. and her husband the son of Mr. and Mrs. LaRue Hart of 706 River Acres Dr., Tecumseh.

Miss Fairbanks chose a white silk chiffon ballerina-length gown with a silk illusion veil falling gracefully from a seed pearl and crystal crown. She carried a bouquet of red and white roses entwined with ivy.

Mrs. Charlene Dickerson was at the organ playing a prelude of music before the ceremony and the traditional wedding marches.

Judi Glore of Maumee was the maid of honor, dressed in a ballerina-length aqua gown accented with sashes at the back. She wore a white veil.

Tammee Fairbanks was her sister's flower girl, dressed in a white lace dress and veil.

John Cadmus of Adrian served as best man with Albert Hart of Toledo, Larry Hart of Tecumseh and Duane Bihlmyer of Tecumseh as ushers.

Scott Hart, nephew of the bridegroom, carried the rings on a satin pillow.

A reception was held in the church parlors immediately after the service for 250 guests.

For her wedding trip to the Upper Peninsula, Mrs. Hart chose a mint green embroidered eyelet dress.

Mrs. Hart is a 1960 graduate of Britton High School and is attending Stautzenberger Business College.

Mr. Hart graduated from Tecumseh High School in 1956 and is an accountant with the Pura Corp. of Toledo.

The couple will make their home in Toledo.

Plan Indian Dance

BRITTON — Once again, the Tom-Tom will beat and out of the sky will fall a fire arrow. All will be silent as the Medicine Man prepares for the Indian Ceremony.

Warriors will come by canoe to dance, to hear the singing and to see the magic of the fire lighting.

This drama will unfold July 29 and again August 5 at the Tecumseh Pit as the Britton Boy Scout Indian Dancers present their "tribute to the American Indian."

The boys are members of Boy Scout Troop 23.

The public is cordially invited to attend the program which will begin at 8 p.m. Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children.

The proceeds will be used in the summer program next year.

During the past two years, this group has made numerous appearance throughout the state and last summer enjoyed a 2000 mile trip.

This year's highlight was a week at summer camp. Next summer another trip is being planned.

Each boy has made his own costume, with some taking as long as four weeks to complete.

Scoutmaster is Robert Auten of Britton.

Fertilizer and Seed Should Not Be in Contact

Fertilizer should not be placed in direct contact with oat or wheat seed.

Research has shown that fertilizer placed in contact with oat seed slows emergence of the plant and in some cases reduces germination rate.

Wheat is more susceptible to damage from contact-placed fertilizer than oats. Yield reduction of as much as 22 bushels an acre have resulted from placing fertilizer in contact with wheat seed as compared to banding it an inch to the side and one inch below the seed.

In oats, also, fertilizer should be side-branded one inch to the side and one inch below seed level. Fertilizer that is broadcast and plowed down is ineffective unless planting-time fertilizer is also used.

When planting wheat, contact-placed fertilizer is more harmful on wide-row wheat than on conventionally-spaced rows. Approximately half of the time in experiments, wheat in rows wider than seven inches yielded less than wheat in seven inch rows.

2 More Winners In 'Flora-Drama'

Mrs. John Hewlett of 7166 Pennington Rd. was awarded a blue ribbon for her arrangement of wheat with daisies in a small brown bean pot at the recent flower show given by the Little Garden Club.

Her name was inadvertently omitted from the list of winners. Her entry was in the "As You Like It" class for non-members.

Anne Carson was awarded a blue ribbon for her entry of white puff African violets. Her name was also omitted.

Moonlight Nets $100 for Kiwanis

The Tecumseh Kiwanis Club is grateful to the Chamber of Commerce members for affording them the opportunity for a fund raising project during the Moonlight Sale.

The Club netted approximately $100 which will be used to continue their community service project.

The Kiwanis is also gratful to the newly organized Park Committee for their help in the development of the Kiwanis Club' Evans Creek Park Project.

Members of the Kiwanis Club would like the general public to know that they cannot make money by any means of lottery or gambling.

The bi-laws of Kiwanis International read in part:

"No chartered club shall sponsor or participate in any manner in a lottery, raffle, drawing or game of chance for the purpose of raising funds or shall employ a lottery, raffle, drawing or game of chance in connection with any fund raising activity or engage directly or indirectly in any activity which may impugn or reflect unfavorably on the good name of Kiwanis."

Outdoor Eating Should Include Nutritious Meals

Two courses are enough to serve at a backyard barbecue party.

Anita Dean, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State Univeristy, recommends some careful planning to make sure those two courses add up to a nutritious, as well as tasty meal.

There should be more than hot dogs, potato chips and pop.

Begin menu planning with a meat or main dish which can be cooked over the coals. With the meat, add a vegetable or salad or both, and bread.

Second course is dessert and this can be simple, such as fresh fruits in season. Beverage might be milk, fruit juices or tomato juice.

Before the guests arrive, complete all the jobs that can be done ahead of time, such as preparing the barbecue sauce, dessert, salad, beverage and bread.

List on-the-spot jobs and assign them to guests or other members of the family who want to help.

Be sure the barbecue equipment works, the serving tools are handy, and there is plenty of fuel. Plans must also include the clean-up.

Garden Clubs Will Host October District Meeting

The July meeting of the Tecumseh Garden Club was conducted by President Mrs. Joseph Rice at the home of Mrs. Robert Sage. Little Garden Club members were guests.

Mrs. Neil Pearson reported on the progress of the plans being made for the annual District 2A meeting.

This meeting will be in Tecumseh October 18, at the First Baptist Church. Mrs. Esther Wheeler of Roslyn, N.Y. will demonstrate and talk on "The Modern Trend—Flower Arranging". She is a nationally known author and arranger.

The Tecumseh Garden Club will be hostess for the registration and coffee hour. The Little Garden Club will provide the favors.

Mrs. Neil Pearson of the Tecumseh Garden Club and Mrs. Donald Purkey of the Little Garden Club are co-chairmen.

The Little Garden Club provided the program. "Flora-Drama", the recent flower show was reviewed with the use of beautiful color slides taken by William Schroer.

Mrs. Thomas Corkery, assisted by Mrs. Schroer, gave the commentary compiled from the notes written by the flower judges' clerks, Mrs. C. L. Cook, and Mrs. Robert Murray.

Minted iced tea, home made cookies and sage philosophy were served at the conclusion of the program.

A report of this meeting would not be complete without stating that sometimes people learn important life principles in unexpected places.

In the case of the garden clubs, the common interest of gardens and flowers is a bond between the groups. The older group was inspired with the younger group's show.

It was the giving of part of themselves in the program and not just entertainment that made the program worth while. This mutual exchange between the groups will continue.

Flies Can Be Controlled in the Home

Flies present a constant household insect control problem.

Some of the annoying insects overwinter in homes. Their disease-carrying habits should be well known and every possibility of ridding premises and homes of the pests should be explored.

A new folder on fly control, "House Flies and their Relatives", is now available in the Lenawee County Agricultural Extension Office or from the Bulletin Office, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

It contains control suggestions for house flies, blow flies, cluster or chamber flies, face flies, fruit, pomace or vinegar flies and wetwood flies.

The use of insecticides is explained and instructions given for using various types of application equipment.

Supt. McDowell Reports on 1960-61 School Year

In spite of the need to adhere to an austerity budget during the last year many progressive steps have been completed in the development of an improved curriculum and in superior staff relationships.

These advances have been made possible by a Board of Education each of whom is sincerely interested in and dedicated to providing for the educational development of the community which he serves.

It is interesting to note that although the business recession hit Tecumseh rather hard, 75 additional children were enrolled in school in September of last year.

Thirty-one of these were in the elementary schools and forty-six in the secondary schools.

A staff of 163 serves these 3041 children.

It is made up of a Superintendent of Schools, high school principal, junior high principal, elementary supervisor, two full time and five teaching elementary principals, 57 elementary and 46 secondary teachers, two public librarians, four secretaries, maintenance engineer, 10 custodians, bus supervisor, 14 bus drivers, electrician, grounds keeper, hot lunch manager, four assistant managers and 10 hot lunch workers.

Included in the teaching staff are two vocal music teachers, two instrumental music teachers, two art teachers, eight physical education teachers, two school librarians, a secondary guidance director, a teacher of the physically handicapped and two teachers of the mentally retarded.

THE ATTENDANCE record for our schools is always outstanding. Even in a year in which illness was unusually high we have an enviable and outstanding record of attendance for 1960-61. 96.1% in the elementary school and 92.2% in grades seven through 12.

The 1961 school census for our district shows that we have a total of 4989 children ages 0 through 19 years of age. This is a loss of 16 over last year or approximately .3%.

There was a total loss of 72 in ages 0 through 4 and a gain of 56 in ages 5 through 19, so an increased enrollment for the fall semester is indicated for 1961-62.

☆

A DIVERSIFIED music, art, and physical education program was available in the elementary as well as in the secondary schools as in the past.

Extra-curricular activities in the secondary schools consisted of football, basketball, intramural basketball in the upper grades and secondary schools, weight teams in football in the junior high, baseball, track, golf, Future Farmers of America, Varsity Club, Girls' Athletic Association, debate, forensics, student council, annual staff, school newspaper, professional writing for awards, Spanish Club, Future Teachers' Club, Future Nurses Club, and Future Homemakers Club.

This was our second year in the Huron League consisting of Milan, Dundee, Ypsilanti Lincoln, Flat Rock, Grosse Ile, Blissfield and Tecumseh.

We tied for first place in the league in football with Milan and Grosse Ile.. We did not fare as well in the other sports but did win the Good Sportsmans award for the League which is presented by the Student Councils.

Two semesters of adult education or evening school programs were offered under the direction of a night school principal and all were well attended.

The Public Library was operated by the Board of Education with the assistance of their appointed Library Board consisting of interested citizens.

Two full time librarians with student assistants provided outstanding service to the public.

Our M.E.A. District, in its second year, made valuable contributions to the general development of school policies. They also appointed a salary committee which presented an index plan of increments which was well received by the Board but tabled because of inadequate operational funds.

☆

SPECIAL SERVICES of a speech correctionist and a teacher for the physically handicapped were available to the children of our schools through cooperation with the county as in the past.

This program was augmented by the introduction of a room for mentally retarded children this fall, a helper teacher of the mentally handicapped, and a visiting teacher program as well.

The Board engaged the Bureau of School Services of the University of Michigan to survey completely the Tecumseh Public Schools and received a 159-page comprehensive report early in the spring.

The Board presented a 2-mill operations proposition on the ballot at their regular annual election in July which was defeated and again after a strenuous campaign placed a 4-mill operational proposition at a special election in May 1961 which was also defeated.

Cuts of over $91,000 in the school budget for 1961-62 were then authorized by the Board.

In the first year of operation as a ten-month school, the accomplishment has been great. For the first time teachers have been able to augment the program where needed and have also had time to finish their regular textbook work.

A shortening of the Christmas vacation time and rearrangement of examination schedules also enabled the Board to provide a five-day spring vacation instead of the usual two days.

As your Superintendent I have served on the Resolutions Committe of the Michigan Education Association and the Labor Industry Committee of the Michigan Association of School Administrators.

I appreciate the opportunity the Board has given me to serve this community and shall continue to endeavor to coordinate the activities of the Board, Staff, children, parents and citizens toward our common goal of superior education for all.

Your Superintendent

No Rating Change for Navy Veterans

Recent changes in regulations have made it possible for Navy and Coast Guard veterans to join the Naval Air Reserve in the rating held at time of discharge — regardless of time elapsed.

In an effort to recruit well qualified, experienced personnel, the Navy has relaxed its rules for rejoining the Naval Air Reserve. In the past, veterans released to inactive duty for periods of more than six months were required to take a reduction in rating to rejoin.

Veterans residing in this area are urged to contact the Recruiting Department, U. S. Naval Air Station, Grosse Ile, Michigan for further details.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

An Independent newspaper, published every Thursday morning at 117 S. Evans Street. Entered at the Post Office in Tecumseh, Michigan as second class matter.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Sincere Tribute

A grateful citizenry paid sincere tribute to Ray Herrick last week on his 71st birthday.

The whole idea was marvelous and the people who helped materialize it are to be congratulated.

A small group of city officials drove to Holland, where the Herricks have a summer home, to present the two birthday gifts from local folks to Mr. Herrick in an informal ceremony.

A birthday book, containing signatures of more than 3,000 Tecumsehites (and not as yet complete) and striking oil painting of Mr. Herrick nearly bowled him over with joy and excitement.

"This is fantastic," he gasped.

"All I can say is thanks, thanks to everybody," he added.

Mr. Herrick's concern for his home community and his continued generosity towards it are well known in Tecumseh. His fellow citizens certainly appreciate these things.

Sometimes, however, we have gotten blase and often taken for granted the kindnesses of Mr. Herrick.

But the birthday book and the oil painting helped to put the city's true feelings in proper perspective.

The personal comments by folks signing the book were heart-warming and we imagine Mr. Herrick will obtain genuine joy reading and re-reading them over the years to come.

Lenawee Cattle Feeders Study Beef Carcasses

Approximately forty cattle feeders from Lenawee County spent a day in Detroit recently studying beef carcasses to learn more about the type of beef they should be producing to meet more adequately the demands of consumers.

The carcass' demonstrational meeting was sponsored by District Extension Agents Don Hine and Russell McDonald, from Detroit and Lenawee Hillsdale counties respectively.

The total group of 94 attending was made up of Detroit beef packers and commission men and cattle feeders from nearby counties in Southwestern Michigan.

Also discussed were the seasonal variations in the quality and number of cattle being marketed in Detroit, the factors contributing to the assignment of a USDA carcass grade and the expressed willingness by most of the packers in Detroit to show cattle feeders how their beef carcasses fulfilled producer and packer grade expectations.

What type of beef does the consumer want? The answer to this question is found in a recent USDA study where 43 packers were asked — what is the breakdown by grades of the beef you are able to sell?

In the North Central Region of which Michigan is a part — 13% was prime graded beef, 54% was choice grade beef, 17% good and commercial graded beef and all other grades 16%.

Cattle feeders were told by packers that in the choice grade live animals weighing between 900-1100 pounds provided packers with the most ideal carcass weight.

This weight bracket gives the packer the size carcass in greatest demand by the big buyers of meat from the packers — the supermarket meat buyer.

The average size family in the United States is less than four. Housewives will not buy excessively heavy cuts of meat.

Packers also pointed out that receipts at Detroit were short in the choice grade during the last part and the first part of each year. Packers have to go outside of the state to fill their needs.

The dollars spent outside of the state for beef would be spent within Michigan if adequate kinds of cattle were produced in Michigan.

In Southern Michigan most counties have an excess of grain. The opportunity for cattle feeders to meet the challenge is real.

There is a market for all grades and numbers marketed can be met.

The expected year end fat cattle market at Detroit is expected to be near the $25 per hundred weight level.

The astute cattle feeder can make a profit at these prices and can help provide a more even supply of choice cattle going to town throughout the year.

Family Gathering

The Hebb-White Reunion was held at the Coon Hunters Lodge at Onsted July 16 with about 85 attending.

Wayne Hebb was elected president and John Harrison, secretary.

The families of Mr. Hebb and Mr. Harrison, Lynn Anderson and Hal Bates and Mrs. Zetta Hebb attended from Tecumseh.

Others were present from Blissfield, Palmyra, Adrian, Addison, Detroit and other parts of Lenawee County.

The group will meet at the same place next year.

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITORS:

To You Dear People of Tecumseh.

Why do you fret over such a good and just cause that should concern you greatly.

Of course you want music for your little ones in the elementary division. But why cut it out?

Don't you have a radio station in Adrian and Tecumseh? Are there not enough clubs that would sponsor a music program on those stations such as Mon., Wed. and Fri. for Primary Songs (Grade 1-2-3); Tues. and Thurs. for middle elementary singing.

There are many good music teachers who can select and compose a good class of songs for our entire county.

Never could be found any better set up than the county program that WUOM in Ann Arbor has carried on for years.

Well, let's be copy-cats.

Help our schools while they need it. Stop Booting. Get going! Be ready by Sept. 1.

TO THE EDITORS:

When you renew our subscription, we would like you to know our address is changed a little.

We have moved a mile out of New Holstein so have a rural route number.

One day when we were out driving, we saw and admired this little ranch-type house nestled in the woods and was able to acquire it this past spring.

So consequently we are on Rural Route 1 and have a box number 41B.

Ross rides the bus and they even bring him home after football, basketball and other sport practices. This is a case where two-thirds of the boys are from the rural area and unless they provide transportation both ways, there would be no teams.

This is Ross's last year in high school and Dick will go back to the University of Wisconsin for his second year.

The Lauson and Grafton Power Products plants are producing more engines each year, proving to be the wise investment that the planners of the Tecumseh Products dreamed they would be.

We are certainly well acclimated to Wisconsin but still have nostalgia when we read the Tecumseh Herald each week. It is such a wonderful paper, like a letter from all our friends, with pictures included.

Best wishes to all our friends in Tecumseh from the Stephensons in Wisconsin.

TOM RIORDAN'S Long AND Short

This year our family's vacation is going to be different.

As far as I'm concerned anyway.

I'm organized.

As you may gather, the Riordans are off and running on the annual 14 days of freedom.

In fact, this opus was tapped out late last week. When we all see it in print, we'll be way up in Northern Michigan.

But about this being organized.

For 11 months and two weeks of each year I clip items hither and yon, from all sorts of publications. These I store hopefully under the front cover of a bulgings crapbook, which I fully intend to "get at in a few days."

Besides the book, there are the color slides.

As the small boxes arrived back from the drug store, I stash them on the room divider and tell myself, "This weekend for sure — toss out the bad ones, get the rest neatly in chronological order in projector cartridges."

But nothing ever seems to happen.

Sound familiar?

A game of golf or a ride, a show or meeting always seem to interfere and the tiny tasks go begging.

But not in 1961.

No, sir.

Two cardboard cartons were neatly stashed on the deck of our station wagon as we left Tecumseh.

One had the book, clippings, as well as assorted unclipped, but to-be-clipped newspapers. Oh, yes, a jar of rubber cement and pair of office shears.

The other held a mass of color slides, projector and cartridges. Sorting and cataloging should prove a simple and enjoyable chore.

So, as you can see, I'm really organized.

Don't worry that I might get sidetracked.

That giant porch which runs around three sides of the Samson cottage on Douglas Lake isn't going to lull me away from the appointed jobs.

No, sir, not like last year, when I just sat there and gazed out at the water, read, napped and dangled my bare feet over the railing.

This year will be different.

I'm organized.

Visits Relatives

Russell Blanden, son of Dr. and Mrs. M. R. Blanden, was a house guest last week of Mrs. Blanden's sister's family, the Rev. and Mrs. William P. Price and children of High Point, N. C. who were vacationing at Lakeside, O.

Eggleston's Jewelry To Move

Eggleston's Jewelry will move to its new location at 107 E. Chicago Blvd., around the first of September.

Richard Eggleston, owner, purchased the building several weeks ago. He's been located in his present store for the past four years.

Two Chosen Alternates in Contest

Christine Finnegan and Onalee Cote of the Raisin Cane 4-H Club entered the "Share the Fun" and "Public Speaking" contest at Adrian High School July 28.

With a pantomine and dance routine, the young ladies were chosen alternates to Janet Perkins and Sylvia Upton of the Blue Ribbon Homemakers to go to Homer for district competition August 11.

5th Grade Boys Publish It

By DOROTHY GRIGG

The staff of the Tecumseh Herald enthusiastically hosted competition from Tipton Thursday morning.

Editor Robert Osburn and his staff of "The Tipton Reporter," a four page weekly publication, made an extensive tour of the Herald.

When the two publishers met, questions flew for a few minutes.

"What is your circulation, sir?" said smiling Jim Lincoln as he shook hands with the 11-year-old editor.

Then a more serious attitude claimed Mr. Lincoln as the little man replied, "One hundred families and we must increase our run this week as we nearly ran out."

The staff of "The Reporter" numbers six, Besides the editor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Osburn of Route 1, Tipton, who, by the way, does all the typing with one finger, there is an advertising manager, circulation manager, two reporters and a delivery man.

Nine-year-old Mike Murphy handles advertising, doing his own art work each week. In the current issue four quarter page ads appeared and one eighth page besides the classified section.

The rates are 75c for one half page, 50c for one quarter page and 25c for an eighth. Classified are printed for half a cent a word.

The papers are distributed free of charge by all members of the staff. Expenses are met by the ads and donations. The young men expect to break even by the end of the summer.

Mike Raymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Raymond of Wisner Highway, is circulation manager and reporter. News is gathered from all four directions out of the village.

Kenneth Eisenminger and Kirk Edwards are reporters. John Dewey supervises delivery of each issue.

Kenneth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eisenminger of Tipton Highway. Kirk is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dorman Edwards of Route 1, Tipton and John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Latham Dewey of rural Tipton.

Conversation with the staff of the miniature edition continually surprised Herald office employees. Their understanding of the operation of the linotype and the big press seemed far beyond their years, which average about 10½.

"What do you pay for a ton of paper?" said little Editor Osburn looking up into the surprised eyes of big Foreman Lonal Bishop who was conducting the tour of the back shop. Such were the queries of the group.

Leota Smith, linotype operator, enjoyed showing the boys, Mrs. Osburn and Mrs. Murphy how her machines operate.

Newspapering in Tipton began with the report of a fire which Robert Osburn typed up one day last winter. His parents said his report was good, so he took it to school where it was also well received.

From there the paper was born with the school helping some with the expense.

When school recessed the boys still wanted to publish their paper and continued to do so with the assistance of Typewriter Sales and Service Co. of Adrian who mimeograph copies each week.

Issues are sent through the mail as far as Grand Rapids as well as being distributed in the immediate area of Tipton. Each family with children attending the Tipton School receives an issue each week.

Residents in the area look forward to their paper and are generous in their response to the call for news. They are also quick to call staff members if for some reason they do not receive their issue.

Congratulations are certainly in order for these young newsmen who are serving their community so well and to their parents for fostering such a worthy enterprise.

Score in Clark Lake Players Production

The Clark Lake Players' production of "The Matchmakers" was well-received last weekend by reviewers, a play which included five members of the local Tecumseh Players.

The four act comedy by Thorton Wilder was presented July 27, 28 and 29 at their playhouse at Clark Lake.

It will be staged again this weekend, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, with curtain time 8:30 p.m.

In the title role of the Matchmaker, Mrs. Levi, is Bertha Valellunga, 307 Adrian St. Her portrayal showed good characterization and her change to a serious soliloquy in the final act showed her versitility as an actress.

The program cited her theatre experience as follows: "She studied at the American Theater Wing in New York City and has appeared in summer plays in Mt. Kisco and Fishkill, New York, and at Keene, New Hampshire In New York City, Bertha worked as a television make-up artist."

Opposite her, in the role of Horace Vandergelder, is Richard Kureth, 209 Adrian St. A rich old merchant who decided to get married, he vows to "risk a little bit of security for a little bit of adventure."

Both he and Bertha seem to feel their parts well and captured the audience with their acting. They were applauded several times for outstanding lines.

The theme of the Wilder comedy was summarized by Barnaby Tucker, well-played by Michael Cantine, as finding a happy medium in the amount of adventure in life. There are many, he said, who sit at home all the time and dream of adventure. And there are those who, constantly seeking adventure, wish for the more quiet life.

The play ends with a compromise solution to this dilemma.

Ralph Dabe, 502 Stacy St., appears in the role of Malachi Stack, and received an ovation for his soliloquy in the third act.

Appearing in the final act, as Flora Van Huysen, is Gloria Jadwin, 207 W. Brown St.

The cabman is played by Richard Boyd of 417 N. Evans St. He will appear as the British Colonel in the next Clark Lake production, "The Hasty Heart."

The final production of the season for this theater group will be "Kiss Me, Kate" which will open August 24.

Catch Vandals Breaking Glass

Six youths, all in their teens, were involved in downtown vandalism about 1:30 Wednesday morning, doing damages estimated at under $500.

A large 8x9-foot plate glass window at Adrian Federal Savings and Loan Association was broken when one of the youths threw a pop bottle.

Several ornamental lights at Bancroft Cleaners were ripped down.

Police Chief Murel Clark questioned three of the youths Wednesday morning and then released them. He says it's doubtful that they will be prosecuted since full restitution for damages has been offered.

A downtown businessman witnessed the destruction and reported it to the police. The boys left the scene by car but were later picked up.

A couple of the youths have been in trouble in the past.

You Told Us

BY DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

The golden wheat is fast becoming a rich burnt orange and farm people are beside themselves trying to get the combining done.

Many, like the Murray Day family, have been planning to have a few days vacation in the month of August and it would appear that the wheat harvest will run smack into the oat harvest if weather does not change soon. Certainly all crops have had all the rain they need by now.

City residents are aware of their farm neighbor's problem just now, but there doesn't seem to be a thing they can do, except to be sympathetic.

Friendships Never Die

How quickly the span of years may be bridged with a few hours conversation with someone you love or have loved in the past?

Mrs. Albert Tonneberger of 212 E. Logan St. was surprised Wednesday evening by a visit from three roommates of hers that she had not seen in 43 years.

About 6:30 p.m. three lovely white haired ladies came to her door inquiring if this were where Doris Welch lived.

After affirming that it was, she said "Why, Elsie, I'd know you anywhere."

At first glance she had thought that she had never seen any of them.

Time has made changes since the ladies were girls together in a rooming house in Ypsilanti while they attended classes at Michigan Normal College, now Eastern Michigan University.

Viola Neveaux, employed by the Bankers Insurance Co. in Chicago, was visiting in Detroit when she discovered that her neighbor two doors away was her friend, Elsie Orr now Mrs. Earl Westlake.

After a visit, one mentioned Doris Welch and wondered where she might be. The other looked up her old diary, yellowed by the years, and discovered that Britton was Doris Welch's home town. The diary also provided the information that she expected to move to Tecumseh in a few weeks.

Mrs. Westlake's husband suggested a drive here, so they found themselves on the Tonneberger steps Wednesday evening.

Carrie Winborn, the third visitor, is a teacher of French in the Port Huron schools. She has been in that system some 38 years.

The fifth girl in the group is Ann Weston of Schoolcraft, Michigan. They had not been able to reach her.

For two years after living together, the ladies kept up a round-robin letter, but after that the "robin must have flown away" said Mrs. T. and they lost track of each other.

No wonder there was nostalgia mingled with tears when the four reminisced.

Plans were made for a reunion next year.

Historic US-112 To Become New US-12 in January

Michigan's oldest highway will get a new number next year.

The State Highway Department reports that US-112 between Detroit and New Buffalo will become US-12 in January.

Existing US-12 in Michigan is being replaced by Interstate 94 Freeway.

Highway Department officials said the change in numbering from US-112 to US-12 will permit continued uniform numbering of the US12 route between Detroit and Yellowstone National Park.

The change is being announced now so businessmen along US-112 can make plans to revise their literature, promotion and advertising.

The US-112 route has played a prominent role in Michigan history.

Historians believe the route was in use centuries before the discovery of America. Known as the Great Sauk Trail, the route was later used by Indians in attacks on Detroit during the American Revolution and the War of 1812.

The route has been known as US-112 since 1925.

Chicken Barbecue To Be Served

Plans for the 4th Annual 4-H Chicken Barbecue have been announced by the Project Mothers Club and Junior Livestock Association, the two groups who cooperatively sponsor this event.

The barbecue will be Sunday, August 13 at the Project building on the Lenawee County fairgrounds. This is the opening day of County Fair.

Serving will begin at noon and continue to 6 p.m.

The cost of tickets are $1.50 for adults and $.75 for children. These prices include drinks and dessert and can be obtained from 4-H community club leaders.

Proceeds of this year's barbecue will be used to sponsor trips to the Citizenship Short Course in Washington, D.C. for leaders and older members. Part of the proceeds will also be used to pay for improvements in 4-H facilities that are now being made at the fairgrounds.

Every 4-H club in Lenawee County will be contributing to the success of this event by providing pies, tomatoes or cabbage and arranging for help in the barbecue and preparation of food.

Mrs. Leon Brugger, Adrian, President of the Project Mothers Club will be in charge of preparation and serving all food except the chicken.

The important task of barbecueing the chicken will be handled by the Junior Livestock Association with Jay Gould, Morenci, in charge.

Stairway Fall Claims Life

The body of Mrs. Anna S. Hoffman, 85, was found early Wednesday morning at the foot of the basement stairs at the home of her son, Harry Hoffman, of 206 S. Democratic St.

Her death was due to a fractured skull she apparently received in a fall down the stairs sometime during the night.

The body was found by her grandson, Bud Hoffman, who with his wife, is living at the residence.

Mrs. Hoffman's son and wife are traveling in upper Michigan on vacation.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete until they are located.

THE HERALD joins in offering congratulations to Mrs. Donald Wright.

An interesting story of Mrs. Wright's life was unfolded when reporter and photographer visited her lovely home at 104 E. Pottawatamie St. Monday.

Mrs. Wright was born in Ridgeway township in 1884. Her parents were Albert and Isabelle Willis Palmer.

When she was quite young her family moved to Adrian where she attended public school and graduated from high school. Later she taught in the old North Branch on Broad St. for four years.

She graduated from Michigan Normal College with honors in the Training School where she was a member of the Alpha Sigma Tau sorority. She attended the National Convention at Roanoke, Va. just three years ago.

Mrs. Wright also studied at the University of Michigan and the University of Colorado.

She taught nine years in the Highland Park school system before coming to Tecumseh in 1923 as the bride of the late Donald F. Wright.

She has served as president of the local PTA and the Tecumseh Welfare Service, is a life member of the OES, a member of the Monday Club and the Lenawee County Historical Society.

Mrs. Wright is a member of the Presbyterian Church, a past regent of the local chapter DAR and an associate member of the Lucy Wolcott Barnum Chapter in Adrian.

Several summers ago she attended the Passion Play in Oberammergau, Germany with Anton Lang in the role of Christ.

For many seasons, Mrs. Wright has attended concerts, lectures and dramas in Ann Arbor. She is also interested in baseball and politics. She said quite emphatically, "I am a Republican." Her hobby is hand work and she has many needle point pieces in her home.

Mrs. Wright said, "I have four wonderful grandchildren, Sarah and Laura Wright of Tecumseh and Patricia and Warren Steurer, Jr. of Fullerton, Cal." She spends the winters in California.

She also said, "Many thanks to the members of the Country Club who arranged a day I will always remember and to those present who extended their good wishes; also thanks to the friends who sent cards."

Averages Indicate Wednesday Is Safe Day on Highways

If you live your life with an eye on the averages and have an earnest desire to stay alive, you'll do most of your driving on Wednesdays.

According to James M. Hare, Chairman of the Michigan State Safety Commission, Wednesday is the "safest" day of the week on American highways.

A recent evaluation of 1960 fatalities showed that 10.5 percent of the year's traffic deaths occurred on Wednesday.

The deadliest day of the week continues to be Saturday.

The 1960 figures show that 21.5 percent of highway fatalities occurred on Saturday, up by two tenths percent above the 1959 averages.

Less deadly is Sunday, with 17.7 percent of the week's deaths, followed by Friday with 16, Tuesday with 11.6, Monday with 11.5, and Thursday with 11.2 percent.

BALDWIN HARDWARE

Should Farmers Store or Market Harvested Wheat

Historically the average monthly price of wheat has been lowest at harvest time. Wheat growers selling their crop at this period of time during the previous two years have received less than market price as compared with storing the crop and marketing sometime during the first few months of the next year.

However, the open market price is near support level.

The support price tends to establish the general price level for the wheat crop year. Additional factors which affect this price level are anticipated yields of the wheat crop, the export demand, USDA export policies, and this year—the 1962 federal legislation prospects.

For all classes of wheat produced in the United States, the July first estimate of total bushels produced is about 7.8 per cent under last year's total wheat supply.

Growers who complied with wheat planting allotment quotes last fall are eligible for $1.81 per bushel support price for number two grades of wheat this year.

Should the grower store or sell now? If growers decide to store the harvested wheat, then the support price to be received on the take over date of March 31 should be high enough to cover cost of storage.

Costs of storage and handling will vary from area to area, but a fairly representative figure of 15 cents per bushel will cover these costs in most instances. This means that the "effective" support rate is $1.66 per bushel.

The market prices at harvest time becomes an important consideration. Minimum selling price then should be $1.66. Whether you store on the farm or use commercial storage facilities a cost of storage charge must be considered.

Scouts at Philmont

Tom Dickinson, Larry Ruhl and William Kukral are among 21 boys and two leaders are currently spending 10 days at the Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico.

Tom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred F. Dickinson, 514 W. Pottawatamie St., and Larry is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ruhl, 302 Kilbuck St.

The boys left Tecumseh about 3 a.m. July 28 to board their train at the Union Station in Toledo by 5:15.

They arrived at the ranch near Cimarron, New Mexico Saturday where 10 days are being filled with excitement.

The Scouts are riding horses on the numerous trails, day long trips with mules, firing on the target range, fishing and mountain climbing. They even were slated for a three day survival camp-out.

The boys and their leaders had several meetings to plan what their schedule would be so that they would best take advantage of all the activities offered.

Cost of the trip is $150 and each of these young men earned his own fare. Tom worked at Behring's Standard Station, Larry at the A. & W. Root Beer Stand and William doing lawn work and tractor work for his father.

Here's the Proper Way To Back Up

One of the most neglected facets of the art of driving is the proper way to drive backwards.

Most drivers assume they automatically know how to back up, but driver training instructors say this isn't so.

Here's the right way to back up—twist to your right, lay your right arm on the back of the front seat, put your left hand at the top of the steering wheel and look back through the rear window.

If you use the rear-view mirror for backing, you are one of the mistaken ones.

Rear-view mirrors were never intended to be used for this purpose, but merely to tell a driver going forward what is coming behind. When used, a driver only sees reflected images in which everything is reversed.

And a motorist who sticks his head out the window and looks back is also flirting with danger.

A Sign with a Personality

One of the most fascinating and interesting professions is one claimed by Richard Kureth, 209 Adrian St.

Since last fall, Mr. Kureth has been working full-time as a sign painter, filling the demand for original signs throughout this area.

Mr. Kureth feels that he has a different approach to sign painting than most others in the profession. He tries, to make each sign unique in its own way and one that will serve the needs of the client. Mr. Kureth puts much study into each sign, regardless of the size, and feels especially concerned about its color balance.

He regards his work as a responsibility to his clients and the community to create signs so that "no one steals value from anyone else."

His interest in sign painting began as an eighth-grader in Flat Rock. He tackled a 30 by 10 foot sign for nine dollars, but did not enter the profession full-time until last October.

☆

MR. KURETH STUDIED fine art at Michigan Normal College, now Eastern Michigan University, during the early thirties.

He served in the army in World War II and was recalled during the Korean conflict. Sent to Germany, he served there 11 months.

Mr. Kureth worked for a German Insurance firm and spent some time in advertising and sales for several German companies. He also served for a time as sales manager in Germany for United Mobile Homes of New York.

During this European stay, he studied stained glass work and also did some painting in his spare moments. It was here that he feels he produced his finest work, an old peasant woman which now hangs in the Kureth living room.

Mr. Kureth is a private pilot and his interest in the aircraft industry and the Meyers "200" brought him to Tecumseh in 1959.

He was employed at Meyers as purchasing agent and, for a short time, production manager until he decided to enter the sign-painting business last fall.

☆

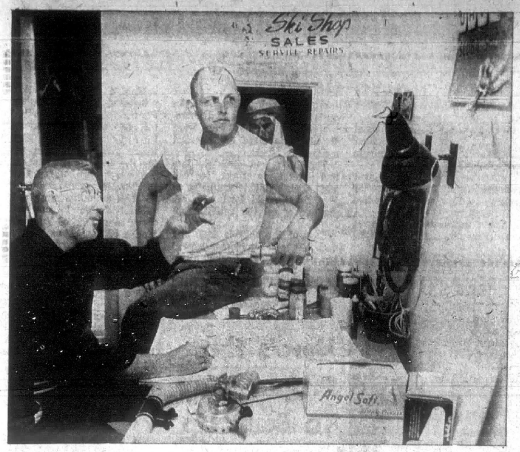
MR. KURETH'S LOVE of the arts goes beyond painting to the theatre where he has quite a bit of amateur experience.

He is currently playing the male lead in the Clark Lake theatre's "The Matchmaker," and appeared in the Tecumseh Player's production of "The Golden Fleecing" this spring. Mr. Kureth is vice-president of the local Players.

While in college, he minored in speech and dramatic and has had experience in Detroit, in summer stock in northern New York, and with a traveling summer stock company.

His wife, Patricia, is also interested in the arts. She is currently working toward her degree at Eastern and has just finished the sound effects for "Rain," a summer production at Eastern. Her interest in art centers more around three-dimensional work than her husband's.

The Kureths have three daughters, Martha, 8, Cassandra, 6, and Stephanie, 18 mos.



AID TO ADVERTISING—Richard Kureth and Jim Gouldsberry talk over plans for another sign painting assignment. His work includes lettering, posters, displays and bulletins. Mr. Gouldsberry does all the wood work for the signs.

Hi-Steppers Win Judging

Diane Mitzner, Gary Stretch and Sheila Beaty of the Country Hi-Steppers 4-H Club placed in the County horse judging contest held recently.

Gary and Sheila placed in the junior division and Diane in the senior division. They all entered the district competition in Coldwater.

Diane placed in the top 14 to represent Lenawee County at East Lansing July 31 and August 1.

Gary and Sheila were both selected at Blissfield to enter state competition July 25 in the livestock judging, also on July 31 and August 1 at East Lansing.

Sixteen from Lenawee attended schooling Monday and did the actual judging Tuesday during the State 4-H Dairy and Livestock Judging program.

Sharie Osburn, Diane Mitzner, Susan Relyea, Garna Gove, Betty Lou and Sandra Sterling, Yvonne Sweet and Karen Hendricks participated in the Share the Fun Contest Friday evening. Sharie and Diane were elected alternates.

Members of the Country Hi-Steppers have been attending horse sessions at the home of Diane Mitzner, junior leader, who has been directing the group.

They have been working their horses under saddle and halter and also judging.

Those participating in the entomology and conservation judging were, Ronald Jones, Tom and Frank Creger and Richard Sweet

Tommy Creger and Richard Sweet were chosen to represent Lenawee county in entomology at the State Show in East Lansing August 28 and 31.

Frank Creger attended Club Week at East Lansing recently and also Conservation Camp Shaw. He was eligible for camp due to his efforts with projects such as entomology and gun safety.

Union on Top

The Major League standings show the Union team still on top even though they did not play a game this past week. Their game with Credit Union was rained out July 14 as was the Rotary-Kiwanis game.

Previously unbeaten Hodges lost two games during the week. Wednesday, they Jaycees scored 22 runs against them behind Jaycees pitcher Dean Hebb, who allowed only one run. In a make-up game Saturday, John Goodman hit a round-tripper for Hodges, but it was not enough to win and the Exchange team came out on top 13-3.

In action July 10, Rotary defeated the Tecumseh Police team 7-5 and Jaycees walloped Credit Union 22-10 behind two home runs by Dean Hebb and D. Beamer.

Despite a grand slam home run by R. Young, the Tecumseh Police were defeated by Exchange 7-6. The police team has yet to win a game.

☆

THE BATS were swinging last week in the Minor League as every game found at least one team reach two digits in the run column.

In games played July 11, the Giants defeated the Indians 22-8 to remain on top of the standings. The Braves also scored 22 runs to defeat the Yankees who crossed the plate 15 times.

Two days later, the Braves again won their game, this time over the Indians 20-5. The Tigers suffered their first defeat of the season as they lost to the Bears 19-17.

MICHIGAN IS INDUSTRY

What has developed a multi-billion dollar automobile industry in Michigan? The very same advantages that have attracted many other industries to this state—abundant sources of raw materials, a limitless supply of water, unmatched transportation facilities, and a labor force with an average employee productivity that is 18.3 percent above the national average.

Michigan has manufacturing operations in over 80 per cent of the 453 separate industry groups recognized by the U. S. Bureau of Census. A good percentage of these are only remotely related to the auto industry, such as the manufacture of concrete products, office furniture, food products, machinery, transmission equipment, cereal breakfast foods, refrigeration machinery and pharmaceutical preparations. Michigan is Industry—truly diversified Industry.

Help carry Michigan's message to the nation. Clip this ad and mail it to someone in another state with your comment. Let's talk up Michigan and its advantages for industry. Together we can assure a greater future for all of us.

5 Matches Set for Saturday

There will be five big events Saturday evening at the high school gymnasium as the professional wrestlers return again to Tecumseh.

The event is being sponsored by the Sacred Heart Society for the benefit of the St. Elizabeth Catholic School.

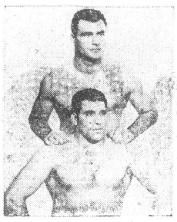
Highlighting the show will be a match between Killer Kowalski and Haystacks Calhoun.

Kowalski is a former world heavyweight ---- champion who lost his title in a controversial decision in Montreal. The current title holder, Pat O'Conner, refuses to give him a bout.

When Kowalski held the title, he was a fighting champion. He met all comers and estimates he put his title in jeopardy against major contenders at least once a week.

His opponent Saturday night, Haystacks Calhoun, is a 601 pound wrestler. Last year he completely sold out Madison Square Garden in New York 15 times. He has proven in the past two years to be the biggest attraction in the United States.

Wrestling fans named him Hay-



BRAVO BROTHERS

JOHNNY WEAVER

stacks because of his tremendous size, but his phenominal success has been achieved by his amazing speed and agility.

The evening's program will also match Johnny Weaver and Rip Hawk. Weaver, a former stock car racer, is famous for his "atomic drop." He believes that he has won most of his victories with this thrust. Few grapplers can approach Weaver's skill and speed in applying the drop.

He is indexed as one of the best young mat men in the trade.

Other bouts Saturday evening will pit Dino Bravo against Masked Gaucho, Dom Bravo against Herb Gerwig and Jack Terry against Tony Angelo.

One of the most popular tag teams appearing in the U.S. at the present time, Dominick and Dino Bravo, from Venice, Italy, have made it known that they are ready to oppose the best teams in this country in their quest for tag team fame.

In college, both boys were proficient in all sports, and were stars in soccer.

After their college days, they took up amateur wrestling and remained in the Simon Pure ranks for 7 years.

In action the Bravos have proven that they have the equipment to oppose any team in this country.

Dino is 25 years old, 6' 6" and tips the Fairbanks at 246 pounds.

Brother Dominick is 27 years old, 6' 4½" and weighs 250 pounds.

Dino bears a remarkable resemblance to Jim Garner who starred in the television program, "Maverick."

The program will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Tickets are one sale at the Rocket Tavern, Wrights Drug Store, Hodges Drug Store and Western Auto in Tecumseh and Griffin's Barber Shop in Britton.

Ringside seats are $2.50 and general admission $1.50.

Tiger Team Captures Minor Crown

The Minor League playoffs were run last week with an important game between the Tigers and Giants Thursday. Both teams boasted a 5-1 record and had been battling for the choice spot all season. The final game was decisive, however, with the Tigers scoring 22 runs and defeating their opponents 22-4.

The Yankees won their first game of the season over the fifth place Indians July 25. The score was 22-20.

In the other game July 25, the third place Bears defeated the Braves 15-12.

Below are the final standings for the 1961 season:

	W	L
Tigers	6	1
Giants	5	2
Bears	5	2
Braves	2	5
Indians	2	5
Yankees	1	6

Pony League Teams Move into Elimination Play

The Pony League completed its season play last week and moved into a one-game elimination tournament for the league championship this week.

The Products boys exploded in the eighth inning for 13 runs against Clinton to win 23-12 in their game July 25. Dennis Beemer pitched for the winners and had four for six at the plate including a home run. Tommy Richardson also hit a round tripper for his team. First baseman Gary Peterson had a perfect day at the plate.

VFW defeated the Indians 5-2 with Dick Moon chalking up the win. His battery mate was Don Baird. Larry Whelan suffered the loss for the Indians.

July 26 the Eagles, behind the pitching of David Dziachan, defeated the Indians 15 to 6. Larry Whelan was again the loser. Doug Goldsberry slammed a home run for the winners.

In a game highlighted by four home runs, the Eagles defeated Clinton 21-4. Doug Goldsberry, winning pitcher, hit two round trippers, one with the bases loaded. Jeff Osburn and Charles Randolph also hit four-baggers. The losing hurler was Greenfield.

Gary Peterson had a perfect day at the plate and pitched his team to victory over Deerfield 5-3. Randy Dotson hit a four-bagger for the Products. Clair Maynard was the receiver.

The Eagles captured their third win of the week with a 6-3 victory over the Products. Greg Allen and King Dunn were the winning battery. Bill Bartenslager had a triple for the winners and Doug Wilcox a double. Tom Richardson and John Davies led the losing attack.

The VFW boys defeated Clinton 15-7 with Don Baird pitching his team to victory. Catcher Harold Butler was the leading hitter. Buddy Woodward pitched for the losers.

In the final game of the week, the Indians barely overcome the Deerfield nine, winning 9-8. Randy Work had a ground rule double for the winners. Larry Whelan and Jim Green were the winning Indians battery.

TECUMSEH LUMBER CO.

2800 E. Monroe Rd. HA 3-2090

To The Honorable Mayor and Councilmen
Service Clubs and Friends

Dear friends,

Words alone can not convey the deep and sincere appreciation, that I have for you in making my 71st birthday the happiest of all. I wish that it were possible for me to thank everyone personally, for the kindness and thoughtfulness so kindly expressed in the birthday book and portrait.

Nothing else could have made me happier, and the day a more memorable one, than what the people of Tecumseh did for me on July 21. You have given me the greatest honor—recognition from the hometown—that I never hoped to attain, or even expect. I've been rewarded many times with pleasant and touching experiences; however, yours surpassed all others and is by far the most cherished one.

The birthday book is most enjoyable. I find it difficult to lay down. I've read it many times and especially enjoy the remarks and comments that many added after their names. It's comforting to know that so many signed and wished me well. It's tremendous!

In some cases, the names and families and comments were like receiving a letter from an old friend—an old friend nearly forgotten but one with whom you shared many pleasantries.

My portrait, and exceptionally well done, flatters me in thinking that my friends here would be so thoughtful as to honor me in such a way that my family could share in my good fortune. I am very pleased.

You have given me something I could not have acquired, unless given. You have shown me, I believe, that my efforts in helping and contributing to Tecumseh are appreciated. Numerous worthy projects have been attempted and completed with the thought to benefit many people. No selfishness, whatsoever, has been connected with them. Knowing that you have helped people is one of the greatest satisfactions and achievements man can attain.

I've gained considerable satisfaction in helping Tecumseh. In living here 27 years, I've thanked Almighty God many times for His bountiful blessings which have enabled me to help others. It's doubly important to me, and indeed comforting, that all of us can be so grateful and kindly for that which we work and achieve.

May God bless all of you, for the gifts and for the happiest day of my life.

Sincerely,
Ray W. Herrick

THE SETTLING TANKS AND TRICKLE FILTER ARE LOCATED AT REAR OF THE BUILDING

It Purifies in 40 Minutes

For eight and one-half years, Tecumseh's sewage disposal plant has been in operation, purifying the city's sewage before it flows into the River Raisin.

Processing over 700,000 gallons a day, the plant is one of the most efficient of its kind.

It has a capacity of double the present intake.

Located near the east city limits on former Ford property, the disposal plant protects the river from pollution.

The plant was built by the city in 1952 following approval of a 20-year bond financing program by the voters. The grand opening was held January 17, 1953.

With bids ranging from $285-310,000, the city undertook the project for $235,000. By saving this money, the city was able to install additional lines in the west end of the city and in parts of the north section.

The last main area in the city to have sewage installed, Occidental Road and Orchard Lane, is presently under hearing. Extension of lines to the few homes near Blood Road and Mill Hwy. are in the planning stage.

☆

THE SEWAGE PLANT is maintained by a levy on the city householders at a rate of 12c per 1000 gals. of water consumed. The average cost is around $3 a year.

The plant budget is over $14,-000. Leftover from the levy is placed in a special expansion fund which now totals $43,000. This will be available for any future expansion to the plant with no extra burden on the city's taxpayers.

When the plant began operation, it was designated that the levy would not be use to retire the 20-year bond program.

Now at the halfway mark, the bond program will be payed off in 1971. The city currently pays from its general fund $19,-000 yearly on the bond. $135,-000 remains to be paid.

☆

THE PURIFICATION process takes about 4 minutes.

Here's a sketch of the main route through the plant:

The sewage enters the plant and a comminutor cuts up the larger solid particles. It then moves to a tank 40' x 12' x 12'.

From here, the sewage moves to a trickle filter, 60 feet in diameter and filled six feet with stone.

After this process, the sewage moves to another settling tank.

Chlorine is added to the water before it flows into the river.

The solids (sludge) removed are heated and then placed in a digester where they decompose at 95 degrees, giving off a gas which operates the heater.

The office and laboratory facilities are located on the main floor of the plant. The basement houses the sludge pumps and the chlorine equipment.

Ken Zarns is the plant superintendent.

Simple Menu Is the Best while Boating

It's boating time and that means time to plan those picnic meals to eat aboard.

Dietitians at The University of Michigan Medical Center advise to use items which will not spoil easily in frequently opened "iceboxes" or insulated bags.

Keep the menu simple with most of the preparation done at home. Remember, too, that this meal will be served on a rocking and slanting table.

Plan to serve with disposable plates, cups and tableware. This eliminates the chore of washing and insures good sanitation.

A sample menu might include: Cheese or corned beef sandwiches with mustard (no mayonnaise), individually wrapped dill pickles, carrots, and celery, small bags of potato chips, apples, bananas, peaches, plums, canned soft drinks or fruit juices.

Dairy Herds Should Be Fed Grain

More grain is necessary for the adequate feeding of dairy cattle.

Grain-feeding recommendations in recent years have generally emphasized minimum grain with high quality hay but have failed to recognize that most hay on farms is not high quality.

Because cattle do not get enough dry matter from high moisture hay-crop silage, the lack of adequate nutrients must be made up by increased grain feeding.

Also, feeding grain in milking parlors does not allow enough time for high-producing cows to eat adequate amounts of grain.

Feeding strictly to a grain milk ratio, such as one pound of grain for each 3.5 or 4 pounds of milk produced, does not allow for changes in roughage quality and individual cow differences. Modern recommendations should read "feed for production" rather than "feed according to production."

When a dairy herd is underfed, the underfeeding is most obvious on the better cows because they require more energy to maintain high milk production.

There is a close relationship between the amount of milk produced and the amount of grain fed to the highest producing herds are fed the most grain.

Now, while higher level grain feeding is both practical and economical, a dairyman will do well to take advantage of the situation.

Experts Suggest High Fiber Feeds To Poultrymen

The cost of a poultry growing ration depends somewhat on the amount of fiber the poultryman wants to feed.

A higher fiber content during the 10-week period before the start of egg production can cut the cost of feed.

In Michigan State Agricultural Experiment Station tests with the Jackson Prison flock, some growing, layer-type birds were fed a ration of 25 per cent ground corn cobs from the tenth week of age to the start of egg production.

This ration was balanced in all nutrients but contained a high fiber content.

Other birds were fed a normal growing ration containing about 30 per cent oats. The corn cob fed birds were 1/10 pound lighter at 18 weeks of age than were the birds fed the normal grower ration. But the cost of raising the corn cob birds was 1½ cent less per bird than the oat-fed birds.

Both groups of birds came into production within a week of each other and both have been laying at about the same rate the last five months.

The corn cob ration was about 18 per cent fiber and cost about $7 a ton less to feed. This type of ration is not widely used by poultrymen as yet.

More research work needs to be done on the relative costs and effectiveness of high fiber feeds.

Lodge Sent Three Boys to Burt Lake

The Tecumseh Lodge No. 190 of the Knights of Pythians have had the privilege of sending three boys, Keith Schmidt, 13, Billy Lambes, 11½, and Duane Nicholas, 11½, to the Burt Lake Recreation Center. Children's Camp for one week each from July 9 to 29.

The camp has been built by the Knights of Phythians and Phythian sisters of Michigan in the last three years. New motels have been built in the past year that house from three to six boys.

The boys enjoy swimming, baseball and other games and a visit to the Mackinac bridge.

Expert counselors are on hand at all times.

The camp is for children, 10-14, from large families and underprivileged children. There is no charge for the boys chosen to go.

Each Knights of Phythian lodge in Michigan has the privilege of sending one boy each year. Since some do not take advantage of this opportunity, Tecumseh was able to send three this year.

Could you guess what's good about a headache?

If you happen to have one right now, probably all you need is an aspirin. But the fact is: a headache sometimes is a signal. It may be telling you something is wrong . . . perhaps something quite remote from the pain. In this event it's a symptom—valuable information for your physician. So if you have a persistent or recurring headache and don't know why, see your doctor. Don't take a chance. Your physician can probably clear up your problem in short order. Of course, he may say all you need is aspirin—but even that's worth knowing.

MILKING EQUIPMENT MUST BE KEPT CLEAN. Use of the new type chlorinated detergents, along with good cleaning procedures, will do a good job of keeping the bacterial count down — so long as the wash water is kept hot. However, it's advisable to reduce wash water temperature to 110 to 120 degrees where it's extremly hard. Otherwise, you may have problems with milkstone collecting in your lank and other equipment. Use a detergent that's high in water softening agents.

SILOS TO BE USED FOR STORING HIGH MOISTURE GRAIN need to be reinforced if they were originally constructed for silage. This means adding extra reinforcing rods. Need for reinforcement is especially great on the bottom one-third to one-half of the silo. Check with the manufacturer on the number and spacing of extra rods needed. This varies depending on diameter and height of the silo.

BROADCAST SUPERPHOSPHATE before seeding alfalfa this summer or fall to increase root development and top growth of young seedlings. Seedlings with vigorous growth going into cold weather will pull through with a lot less winter killing. Broadcasting and disking the phosphorous into the soil will make it more available for plant use during dry weather. Apply according to soil tests and fertilizer used on previous crops.

EXHIBITING ANY CATTLE AT THE FAIR THIS YEAR? If you are, vaccinate them against shipping fever before you leave. Keep exhibited cattle away from the rest of the herd after returning home. Observe them for any signs of disease outbreak for about 30 days and have a brucellosis test run before you turn them with the other cattle.

TOM RIORDAN'S Long AND Short

DOUGLAS LAKE—On the way up to this lovely section of northern Michigan for the Riordan's annual two-week vacation, we stopped at the Interlochen Music Camp.

It was a fascinating experience.

The musically-inclined youngster can find little to beat a week at Interlochen.

We wandered about, sitting in on two rehearsals in outdoor bowls. One was in orchestra of about 125 and the other a small choral group of maybe 30.

Obviously the men conducting these sessions were well versed in their fields and highly-regarded by the youngsters, who listened attentively to instructions and accepted a couple of jibes with adult-like reactions.

These were top-flight teen-age artists, coming from nearly every state in the Union for this concentrated training.

It would be nice if Tecumseh could be represented in the ranks of those chosen for Interlochen.

☆

John Gillett, who'll be a senior next fall at nearby Pellston High School, is the general handyman around our cottage and several others nearby, all owned by Paul Samson.

John was telling me about local prep sports.

One of his comments provoked a chuckle—at the same time showed how lucky THS athletes are in sports facilities.

Said John, "Our home football field is just a pasture. We don't flip a coin at the start of the game to find out what goal we'll defend, but rather to see which team will run downhill."

★

Out golfing the other day, I played with Harold Scarlett of Allen Park.

Harold's wife, Helen, is spending the summer as a member of the Petoskey Players. She has taken various courses in several shows and in another week, she'll have the lead in "A Majority of One."

Right now the Petoskey group is doing "The Drunkard", which we hope to see.

The Scarletts are both members of the Wyandotte Community Theatre organization. Harold and I talked about it and the Tecumseh Players.

Harold passed along one thought, which might be worthwhile to the Tecumseh Guild. In Wyandotte there are more than 600 members—about 100 taking active parts in productions.

But the big membership plan has a specific benefit. In joining one buys a season ticket to all little theatre offerings, thus giving a guarantee of all "in-the-black" shows.

Another thought which comes to mind is that amateur groups, such as Tecumseh and Wyandotte, might work out an exchange of shows, the ones produced by our Players being given there the next evening after the local performance and vise versa.

☆

A new section about 20 miles long of the four-lane, divided highway, Interstate 75, passes a few miles from here, from north of Indian River to the Mackinaw Bridge.

Drivers who have long groaned the winding, weaving and narrow old 31 and 27 in these parts, will deeply appreciate I-75.

Eventually, of course, this will go south all the way to Ohio.

We slipped over to I-75 the other night and buzzed up to the Big Mac in a matter of minutes.

Our objective was to see the lights of the bridge.

It was almost dusk when we took up positions with many other tourists and campers on the banks of the Straits.

After a short wait, there was an "Ohhhhh" from one of the watchers as the first lights went on.

The whole panorama was a vast theatre, backdropped by a glowing red and blue sky.

A few at a time, the lights flicked on, each set adding more breath-taking beauty to the giant tableau. Last of all were the mercury-vapor driving lamps, all of which began with a dim glow and gradually got brighter and brighter.

As night crept over the great north, the bridge glowed in brilliance.

Driving home and several miles from the bridge, Cherie said to the children, "Now look at the lights."

Frenchmen Like U. S.

Tecumseh and Tipton are fortunate to have several of the French agricultural students residing here during their three week stay in Lenawee County.

Of the 47 who arrived last week, eight were contacted by the Herald for pictures and a short story.

Hosts for the students are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Platt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bale, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Munger and Mr. and Mrs. Wilhelm Spycher, all of Tipton; and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Feight, Mr. and Mrs. William Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Calhoun, of Tecumseh.

Students in the French school apply for the program and receive assistance with half of their expenses from this school.

The students are very appreciative of their reception in this country and the kindness extended by their host families.

August 4 they all attended a planned tour of MSU.

The French students will leave the county August 25 and travel to Canada. They will be in Toronto from August 26-30 and in Montreal from September 1-4. Before their return to New York City and France they will stop at Cornell University in Ithaca, New York.

► Staying with the William Brown family on Hendershot Rd. is Michel Megrin, 24, whose home is in Cloyes, south of the famous cathedral, Chartres.

His field of study is Beef Cattle Breeding Research and he plans to go to Western Africa for research of the crosses between beef and dairy cattle-breeds after his army duty.

His hobbies include sports and music.

The American people, he said, seem very relaxed and relations are very simple with them. However, he finds it very difficult to guess the social standard by the appearance of the people.

► Bernard Delacour, 23, is visiting with the Fred Feight family. He is from Compiegne in the department of Oise.

An Agricultural Engineer, he may work on his father's 525 acre farm or work in the technical department of an agricultural machine company.

On his return to France, he will serve in the French army to complete his compulsory service.

Mr. Delacour speaks a little Spanish and his favorite hobby is hunting.

He is very happy with his reception in the American home.

► Playing host to Francois Biadi are Mr. and Mrs. William Spycher. Mr. Biadi, 23, is from Broglie, Eure.

He is also an Agricultural Engineer and plans to work in a research department for two or three years and later work on a big farm in France.

He enjoys reading, music, swimming and movies.

Of America, he says that there are many of the same things that there are in France, but bigger. The people are very "relaxed" which he likes very much.

But, he said, "I cannot understand your language. Perhaps I can make that one day."

What he has seen of the country so far he has not found picturesque, much to his regret.

► Jean Louis Vrillon is staying at the Walter Bale residence. He is 23 and from Crovy sur Cosson in Sologne.

FRANCOIS COURTIER DRIVES AN AMERICAN TRACTOR

Wheat Crop Is Damaged

This year's wheat harvest appears to be the latest since the arrival of the modern combine, according to William Mukensturn, manager at the J. J. Walper grain elevator in Britton.

"I've been working in the business 24 years," he said, "and this is the latest harvest I can remember."

The harvest normally begins the first or second week in July, but inclement weather conditions this summer have halted the progress. Only about 55% of the wheat crop is estimated out of the fields.

The farmers are also suffering monetary loss due to the sprouting of the crop. Nearly all of the white wheat and part of the red wheat is showing some sprouting when brought into the mills.

This wheat, if badly sprouted, must be sold as feeding wheat rather than milling wheat, and the change involves a considerable drop in price.

According to Chet Baker at the Hayden Milling Co., the best wheat should have a test weight of 60. Wheat showing 57-58 is considered good, but much of the wheat is coming into the mills at 53-55. And each rain after the crop has ripened lowers this number and necessitates a greater discount.

Despite the weather problems, the yield per acre is considered above average, but what is left in the field may be below average due to the tardiness.

Wind damage to the grain is spotted in the area.

The oat crop is now ripe and shows little damage yet, although it is darker colored than usual. The crop yield of oats is low due to the adverse spring weather.

Clark Calls for Clean-Up at Council

A "clean up or close up" suggestion to Council Monday night by police chief Murel Clark led to a rejection on a beer and wine license transfer, involving the Rocket Tavern.

The Tecumseh police officer described deplorable conditions at the tavern and said that a transfer of the license to an inexperienced operator would not be fair to the new operator, and probably would not improve conditions there.

Clark also cited unsatisfactory conditions at others taverns.

He said that action is being taken, including scheduling an inspection of the places by a county health officer and the local fire department head.

Councilmen verbally agreed to enforce tavern regulations, and though similar action was taken last spring, requests to abide by standards will again be demanded next spring, when all tavern SDM licenses will come up for renewal.

Several Councilmen voiced opinions that the taverns had improved their establishments as requested last spring.

Chief Clark reported that several improvements were evident but additional clean up work was needed.

Byron Wilkens, prospective owner of The Rocket Tavern, recommended the license transfer be denied saying that he was not aware of the conditions reported by the police chief.

Three Boys Admit Entry

Three small boys have admitted entering Bruce Foundry over the weekend, breaking glass on a candy machine and taking several small tools, valued at $15.

The three juveniles entered through an open window. All doors were locked.

No restitution will be made as parents of all three boys are on welfare.

2 Exchange Students Arriving August 25

Two foreign students who will be spending a year in Tecumseh will be arriving in Detroit by plane August 25.

Adolf Petrus from Jugenheim, Hessen, Germany, is being sponsored by the high school Student Council through the Youth for Understanding Program.

He will be staying with the James Barton family at 515 W. Pottawatamie St.

The other student, Muriels Lugard is from Deventer, Holland. She is a member of the family playing host to Jane Hodges this summer.

She is being sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Hodges and will live with them during her stay here.

Adolf is 17 years old and has been living in a boarding school in Germany. His father passed away in 1951 and his mother in 1959.

His interests include languages, traveling, magic tricks and music He plays the flute and guitar.

He and his 21-year-old brother are currently on a bicycle trip in Europe. Mrs. Barton recently received a card from him postmarked Switzerland.

Muriels will be 18 in September and is also coming to this country on the Youth for Understanding program.

Muriels applied for the exchange visit the day the family met Jane in Amsterdam. As Mrs. Hodges commented, this is truly an exchange between the two families.

Both students will be seniors at Tecumseh High School this fall.

Sidewalk Sale Set for Aug. 18

The fourth annual Sidewalk Sale will be held Friday, August 18 from 9 to 9 in downtown Tecumseh.

Highlights of this year's sale, according to Chamber Secretary Don Murphy, will be the "Mystery Shopper."

Several times during each hour of the day, there will be a Mystery Shopper picked by the Mystery Shopper Hunter.

This Hunter will be in plain sight all day long. At different times the hunter will touch some lucky shopper on the shoulder and inform him that he is the Mystery Shopper, give him a name of a store and the prize to be awarded.

The hunter will be marked so that everyone will know who he is and will have the opportunity to follow him, waiting for another Mystery Shopper selection.

At least 25 prizes are in the making and once you win, you are not disqualified from winning again.

All you have to do is be "in the right place at the right time."

IN ADDITION to the Mystery Shopper, there will be a pet parade at 4 p.m. Regardless of what kind of pet you have or how unique it may be, enter it in the parade. Prizes will be awarded to the winner or winners.

Shoppers have commented in past years that they didn't know who was working or who was shopping. Arrangements are now being made for all clerks to wear a headband telling who they are and for whom they work.

The annual event is being sponsored by the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce.

More details will appear in next week's Herald.

Received OK

Harry Beland, owner of Tecumseh Woodworking Company, was granted permission Monday night at the Council session to connect into the sewer now under construction near his plant.

Downtown To Receive Decorations

Downtown Tecumseh will soon take on a gayer look, thanks to the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Jerry Barton, representing the Jaycees, told Council Monday night that floral arrangements would be placed on the electric poles if approved.

Council unanimosuly approved the Jaycees' offering.

Barton said artifical flowers would be used in plastic containers, similar to ones used in Chicago. He said there would be three plantings during the year.

The Jaycees will buy arrangements for six poles and then plan to decorate every pole as funds become available. First installation is expected within a few weeks.

Boats Collide

Two small boats collided on Globe Pond Monday with minor damage inflicted on the craft owned by Delbert Marsh.

Clark R. Pearson was having motor trouble when Marsh started over to see if he could help. As Pearson reached Marsh, Marsh started his motor and collided with Pearson.

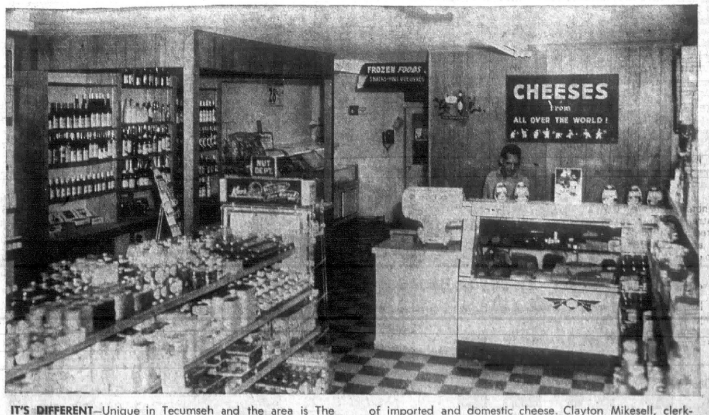
Open Self-Serve Gas, Oil Station

An experimental, self-serve gasoline and oil station was opened last Thursday on US-112, west of Clinton, by Jack Osburn, Tecumseh real estate agent, and James McKenna, attorney.

If it works, Mr. Osburn says, we'll set up a chain of self-serve stations in the immediate area.

Motorists will have to pump their own gas and check their oil. An attendant will be on duty merely to make change.

The objective of self-serve stations is lower gasoline and oil costs.



IT'S DIFFERENT—Unique in Tecumseh and the area is The Party Shop on S. Maumee St. Featured on the shelves are numerous foreign and imported foods and a big selection of imported and domestic cheese. Clayton Mikesell, clerking for owners Jim Spooner and Del King, is here working in cheese department.

Bu—zz, Bu—zz, all over the city the sound of chain saws at work are evidence that diseased elm trees are coming down.

No amount of "woodman, spare that tree" sentimentality will halt the cutting of a good many beloved old and young elm trees, dying from the contagious Dutch elm disease. The State inspector insists that they come down.

Tecumseh residents can be happy that so great a number of Maples and other fine trees are growing bountifully here.

Raisin Cane Club Makes Plans for Fair Projects

The Raisin Cane 4-H Club held their annual tour recently.

Following the tour a business meeting was held at the home of Jane, Larry and Susan Jenkins.

Fair projects were discussed and final reports partially completed.

Kristine Finnegan and Onalee Cote volunteered to work at the chicken barbecue to be held at the County Fair Sunday, August 13.

Indian Origin

Have you ever wondered how the River Raisin received its name?

In the old days, wild grapes grew along its banks in such profusion that the Indians named the stream Showae-caemette, "River of Grapes."

Later when the French came to the territory they adopted the Indian sobriquet translated into their own tongue, in which "raisin" is the word for "grape."

FRENCHMEN

An Agricultural Engineer, he would like to work in a commercial department of an agricultural machines company. He has to serve his term in the French army upon his return to France. He also has plans for marriage.

Mr. Vrillon speaks German and his hobbies include music and painting.

"We have much appreciated the welcome and the kindness of the American people," he said.

► Visiting in the Richard Platt home is Guy Fauvel, 22, from Nantes.

Following his stay in the army, he hopes to work in a scientific research center for studying insecticides.

He enjoys reading and swimming.

"My first impressions are that the American people do all that they do as big as they can," he said. "They have great qualities. They are very kind and are more ordered than the French people."

► Also an Agricultural Engineer, Daniel Rodinson plans to go to Africa as a research scientist for six or seven years after he has completed his military service. Then he may buy a farm at his birthplace and follow political management.

Politics is one of his hobbies, as are botany, photography, painting and music.

Mr. Rodinson, 23, was born in St. Laurent d'Onay.

His hosts are the C. J. Lewises.

"The American people are very friendly and they tell us all about their life and family in the first few minutes," he said.

But, he added," they don't know very much about world and European politics. And that, they have to learn."

► Bruno re Ruff de Pontees, a resident of Paris, is staying with the Lester Mungers.

His father is the director of a fertilizer industry.

Upon his return, he will go to the Hague, Netherlands, where he will study at the Social Institute on a scholarship. Then he will complete his national service.

His interests include sports, chiefly mountain climbing and skiing, and music.

There is a great uniformity of the way of life and in the expression of sentiments in America, he said.

But he agreed with Daniel Rodinson — Americans seem to know very little of what happens in other countries.

There's another topic of agreement among the boys—they appreciated the long shorts of of American women.

► Our visit with Francois Courtier at the Leslie Calhoun farm produced a little more detail about the French farms.

Mr Courtier, 25, is an Agriculture Engineer, having just completed his studies at the National School of Agriculture at Grignon, France.

During his three-week stay on the farm, he will be helping Mr. Calhoun and becoming more acquainted with American farming.

He says he likes American farms very much. Although able to speak only a little English, he carries a dictionary around and manages to communicate with the Calhoun family.

Mr. Courtier lives on a 500 acre farm in Crepy-en-Valois, located northeast of Paris. His parents and two older brothers run the farm.

It is primarily a crop farm, as the Courtiers raise wheat, oats, barley, sugar beets and potatoes. They also buy about 40 two-year-old beef cattle in the spring. They are fed about 5 months and then sold.

There are six tractors on the farm—three French, one German, one Swedish and one American International Harvester.

Their machinery also includes two combines, a beet harvester, and a potato digger.

Six Italians are employed from April to June to work in the beets.

Mr. Courtier has had a total of 14 years of schooling in France. He attended primary school for eight years, and spent three years at preparatory school and three years at the university.

When he returns to France, he will work in the Coop (Cooperative Agriculture) located about 80 miles from Paris.

Auxiliary Expands Hospital Program

At the VFW Auxiliary meeting August 2, members voted to support another indigent patient, bring the total to two for the organization.

This program provides canteen books for patients who have no means of support in the hospitals. The stamps may be used to buy candy, magazines and smoking supplies.

The Auxiliary has supported the program for several years.

Fifteen dollars were voted toward the Foreign Exchange Program of the Student Council.

There will be no second meeting in September due to the hospital party at the VA hospital in Ann Arbor that week.

New members recently initiated were Irene Merx and Eva O'Connell.

Three Adrian young people were admitted and three others treated at Herrick Memorial Hospital Sunday afternoon after their car rolled over on Tipton Hwy. south of M-50.

Operetta Highlights Schedule

Two hundred Natioanl Music Camp students will take part in the staging of Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta "The Gondoliers" Friday and Saturday, August 11 and 12.

Maynard Klein, nationally known choral conductor, will direct a chorus and cast of 120 and the 80-piece High School Philharmonic Orchestra each evening at 8 o'clock.

The operetta productions, presented annually, have become a crowd drawing event and hundreds travel to the camp to view the tops in choral staging.

The National Music Camp features not only the high school operetta workshop but also a workshop for intermediate students.

This year the intermediate students, age 11 to 4, presented Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pirates of Penzance."

Following camp tradition, this experience gives the students skill and understanding in music and the fine arts at an early age.

Next year, an opera division will be added to the choral department. Through the efforts of Van Cliburn and the R. D. Musser Foundation, this new department has been made possible. Cliburn made the announcement during his visit to the camp for a benefit concert this summer.

Betty Henry and James Brantingham Exchanged Nuptial Vows Saturday

The Gilead Friends Church in Mt. Gilead, O. was the scene of a lovely wedding Saturday evening, August 5, when Betty Ann Henry of Canton, O. became the bride of James M. Brantingham of Tecumseh.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Henry of Cardington, O. and the groom the son of the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Brantingham of Tecumseh.

The Rev. Amos Henry, uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with palms, candelabra and white gladioli.

Rachel Hobles of Greensboro, N. C. was the organist, accompanying soloist Joe Hayden of Tecumseh.

The bride, given away by her father, chose a nylon lace and tulle gown with fitted lace bodice and lace paneled skirt featuring pleated tulle insets.

She wore a single strand of pearls.

A pearl and sequined hat held in place her imported French illusion veil.

She carried two cimbideum orchids with featured carnations on a white bible.

Hazel Henry served as her sister's maid of honor, dressed in a blue and white checked gingham street-length dress with a white organdy overskirt. She carried a blue daisy cascade bouquet.

Bridesmaids were Maxine Henry, Cardington, O., Sandra Ewing, Salem, O., and Linda Kelley, Tecumseh. They were dressed identically to the maid of honor and carried white daisy cascade bouquets.

Ben Brantingham served as his brother's best man and the 200 guests were seated by David Brantingham, Canton, O.; Bob Brantingham, Columbus, O. John Brantingham, Norwalk, O. and Bob Henry, Cardington, O.

Richard Henry, Cardington, O. and Philip Brantingham, Salem, O. lit the candles and Bruce Banker, Mt. Gilead, O., served as the ring bearer.

The flower girls were Paula Brantingham, Tecumseh and Carol Henry, Medina, O.

The bride's mother chose a beige dress with matching accessories and Mrs. Brantingham was dressed in a plum-colored lace dress with white accessories. Their corsages were white carnations.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Esther Henry, who was in charge of the reception. Assisting her were Barbara Brantingham and Verda Borchess.

For her wedding trip to Michigan, the bride chose an orchid linen two-piece dress with white accessories.

The new Mrs. Brantingham is a graduate of Cardington High School and a senior at Malone College in Canton, O. The groom graduated from Cardington High School and Malone College. The couple will make their home in Adrian.

Guests were present from Greensboro, N. C., Canton, Salem, Marion, Galion, Medina, Alliance, Winona, Columbus, Norwalk and Akron, Ohio and from Tecumseh.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's mother at the brides home Friday night.

Boyd To Perform in 'Hasty Heart'

Richard Boyd, 417 N. Evans St., is a member of the cast in the next Clark Lake Players production of "The Hasty Heart" which opens Thursday, August 10.

"The Hasty Heart" tells the story of a man doomed to die in six weeks and his reaction to his fate.

Lachlen is the proud Scotchman whose inevitable death is revealed to him only after he has fallen in love with Margaret, the nurse in the temporary, wartime hospital where he is sent.

How he copes with his fear that pity rather than love constitutes the friendships he has made is the central theme of the plot.

Bill Sneden and Gayle Soderbeck have the starring roles. Dick Silcher, Dick Allen, Don Finlay, Ron McClumpha and Roger Copsey, are also in the cast.

The play also runs that Friday and Saturday, August 11-12, and the Thursday, Friday and Saturday of the next week, August 17-19.

All seats are reserved. For reservations call LA 9-9141 between 4 and 8 p.m. daily except Sunday.

Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

William J. McAnallen is the director of the Clark Lake Players. Don Finlay, assisted by Gary Robinson, is the technical director. Anne Olsen is the box office manager.

The last show of the Players' schedule this season is the musical "Kiss Me Kate" with Anne Olsen and Jerry Dixon of "Pajama Game" in the lead roles.

Friendship Club Holding Gypsy Night August 11

A potluck supper will be served at 6:30 p.m. at the Superior Township hall, located at the corner of N. Prospect St. and Cherry Hill Rd., Ypsilanti.

All unmarried persons, age 39 through 64 are invited to attend by the committee. They are asked to bring their own table service, a dish to pass and fifty cents.

Since this is "Gypsy Night" they are also invited to doll up like a gypsy and come with a gypsy story.

Transportation will be provided if a call to Hazel 2-8417 or Hazel 9-7374 is made.

One parting shot from the "It's a small world department."

The other evening our landlord, Mr. Samson, and I went to a movie in Cheboygan. At the conclusion, as I stood to go, a feminine voice arose from the row behind us,

"Why, Tom!"

Turned out to be the former Judy Seidel of Tecumseh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Seidel.

Judy and her brand-new husband, Doug McDowell, are spending the summer in Indian River, where Doug is working at a local marina.

The couple lives at the cottage on Burt Lake owned by Doug's dad, school superintendent James McDowell.

OFF THE TEE — One of the Peewee League's ball players takes a heafty swing in a recent league game. The boys hit from the tee rather than at a pitched ball. An additional fielder is placed at the pitcher's position of the field and the catcher covers home plate for scoring plays. Over 50 boys and one girl participated in the program this summer.

Youngsters Learn the Trade

One of the city's earliest training grounds for good baseball players is the Peewee League in the city's recreation program.

Boys seven to nine played three afternoons a week under the direction of four high school boys, Tim Sisson, Kim Rosacrans, John Oberlin and Dave Blanden.

There were approximately 13 boys on each of the four teams and they participated in over 12 games this summer.

A feature of the league is the tee from which the boys hit the ball. It is composed of a metal shaft and base with a six inch rubber piece on top where the ball is placed.

The boys hit the ball resting on the tee rather than a pitched one. This set-up provides for a faster game and eliminates a lot of wild pitching from the little players.

The tee is adjustable to the height of the boys.

A regular sized baseball is used and they play normal baseball rules except for the pitching.

And for such small players, their throwing accuracy to first or home is remarkable.

The boys are drafted into each team rather than taken from a geographical area of the city as was done several years ago.

The Peewee program has been in session for about six years, but the employment of the tee is only two years old.

Boys graduate from this league into the Cub and Minor leagues where games are organized for boys 10-12.

These youngsters seem to be learning a lot about baseball and having fun too.

Fall Kills Young Boy

Services were held Saturday afternoon at Collins-Corkery Funeral Home for Kevin M. Baaske, two and a half-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Baaske, Herrick Park.

The young boy fell from an overstuffed living room chair at his home last Thursday morning and suffered a fracture of cervical vertebrae, or broken neck.

Tecumseh firemen were first summoned to the home, and discoverine the injured boy, called the Collins-Corkery ambulance which took him to Herrick Memorial hospital.

He died about 15 or 20 minutes after being admitted. A physician performed a tracheotomy in an attempt to save his life.

Survivors, besides the parents, are two sisters, Linda and Susan; brother, Bruce; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs Otto Baaske, Tecumseh, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Meyer, of Blissfield.

The Rev. Laszlo Gero of Gloria dei Lutheran Church officiated. Burial was in Brookside cemetery.

Pallbearers were Sam Brooks, Lynn George, Barry Lamkin, and Brad Sanford.

Brother Dies In Ironwood

Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Dickinson were called to Ironwood in the Upper Peninsula this past week because of the death of Mrs. Dickinson's brother, Dr. John R. Fraser.

The Dickinsons are spending the summer at Douglas Lake in Otsego County.

Burial services were conducted by Rev. C. L. Harris of Hurley, Wis. Thursday, August 10. The Masonic order gave the ritual at the grave.

He is survived by his wife and a son, John McLain Fraser.

Two infant sons preceded him in death.

Both Received Traffic Summons

Franklin McKenzie, 34, of Tecumseh, was issued a summons for unsafe driving when involved in an accident Thursday, Aug. 3 at 2:20 p.m.

The accident occurred when Mr. McKenzie drove from a filling station into the path of a car driven by Hazel Samuel, 42, of Detroit, east of the intersection of US 112 and M-52 in Clinton.

Mrs. Samuel also received a summons for leaving the scene of a property damage accident when she left her name and journeyed on.

Costs High for Sewer

A storm sewer to handle all of Tecumseh Acres and Sunset Meadows was discussed Monday night at Council meeting with costs estimated by city manager Ed Nelson in excess of $26,000.

The $26,000 is just for sewer and installation and does not include a $4,000 hole owned by Charles Ireland.

The hole, a former gravel pit, is located just west of Occidental, about halfway between Russell Rd. and W. Chicago Blvd.

Local Cattle Feeder Featured on Cover

Appearing on the cover of the current issue of "Successful Farming," national farm magazine, is Bill Brown of the Kitty Kurtis Farms of Tecumseh.

The story inside, entitled "Silo Filling Around the Clock," tells of the twelve hour-a-day task performed in late summer by two separate crews on the farm to chop 250 acres of corn to fill four silos.

Two of the silos measure 30' x 70' and the other two 20' x 70'.

The silage is fed to over 1,000 head of cattle that Mr. Brown keeps on the farm. The silage is mixed with dry feed in a drive-through feed house. A self-unloading wagon distributes the rations in fence-line bunks.

The cattle herd includes both Angus and Herford breeds. Some of the herd are bought as 400 pound calves and fed until they reach an approximate weight of 1000 lbs. Mr. Brown raises his own angus cattle.

The Kitty Kurtis farms located on Hendershot Rd. east of Tecumseh, encompass 1100 acres for the raising of corn, oats and wheat.

Dry grain is stored in two smaller silos on the farm, although the wheat crop is sold from the fields.

The Kitty Kurtis farms, formerly located in Ridgeway, have been raising feeder cattle for about six years. Previous to this, they owned dairy herds.

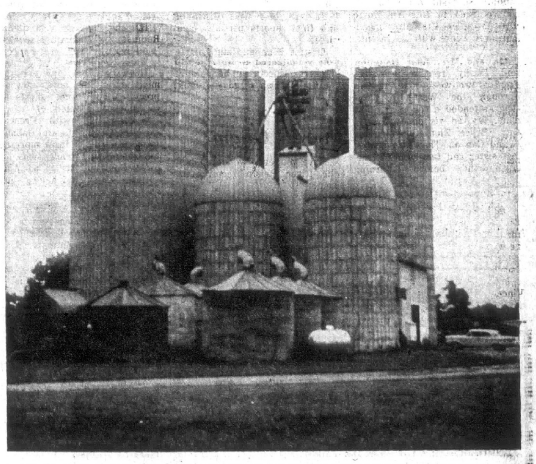
Mr. Brown, a graduate of MSU, has conducted experimental work in connection with the university for the past 3 years. Included in the program are feeding tests and shipping fever tests.

There are three men employed on the farms year round and additional help is secured during the summer months.

Mr. Brown runs his farm as a business. Commenting on this aspect of farming, the magazine article reads: "His corn production program is based on soil tests, soil type and crop history. With these guides, he fertilizes for 100-bushel corn.

"He realizes city industry is stiff competition for good hired help. He knows the importance of keeping informed; of planning ahead, and then getting things done on time.

"He knows you don't stand still in today's changing agricultural picture, if you're staying in business."



Hand Made Tablecloth Presented to Parents

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Champanois, 403 Outer Drive, was beautifully decorated for their 25th wedding anniversary celebration Sunday, August 6.

The dining room table was the center of attraction. Covering the table was a beautiful, pineapple design, hand crocheted tablecloth made and presented to the couple for this occasion by their daughter, Mrs. Edwin Lewis.

In the center of the table was a large spray of 25 red roses in a unique silver vase. To the left was a four-tiered wedding cake, all in white.

For greeting the guests, Mrs. Champanois wore a pink and turquoise print jersey dress. Her corsage was of pink roses and her husband's boutonniere was a single pink rose.

Approximately 100 guests attended the open house to congratulate the couple.

Out-of-town guests attending were from Clinton, Iron Creek, Adrian and Petersburg.

The couple received many lovely cards and gifts.

Profitable Pigs Need Minerals

Pigs that spend a lifetime on concrete must have trace mineral supplements in their feed, states swine nutrition specialists.

Essential trace minerals normally added to the pig ration are iron, copper, cobalt, manganese, zinc and iodine.

Mineral deficiency apparently became a common threat only recently.

When pigs farrowed on pasture they rooted around early enough to get their mineral diet out of the soil, unless it was unusually deficient soil.

Tests reveal the greatest return from mineral additives is in pre-starter and starter rations. These pigs required one pound of feed less per pig and showed 3.2 pounds extra gain.

The next most profitable period is from the time sows are bred till their pigs are weaned. Results were increases of 14.5 percent in litter size, and of 23.4 percent in the weight of the litter at weaning.

Total value of the gains is $14.-23 per litter, or $74.89 per dollar invested.

Even so, trace mineral additives should not be depended on for doing a job by themselves.

They aren't a substitute for good management and a producer shouldn't let down his guard simply because he puts additives in the hog ration.

A NICE COOL DIP—Summer is fast drawing to a close and the swimming season shortens day by day. Probably the most popular spots in the city are the two swimming areas, the pool and the Pit. The city youngsters find them both a wonderful place for a refreshing swim to escape from the summer's humid weather.

Pre-Schoolers Must Have Immunization Protection

If you haven't made sure that your child has the required protective immunizations so that he can enter school this fall, you'd better call your doctor as soon as possible.

This reminder is to parents who have children entering school for the first time this fall.

This is the second year that all children enrolling for the first time in any school, public, private, parochial, or denominational, will have to bring in a statement signed by a physician that they have been immunized against smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, and polio.

This immunization check-point was set up to accomplish two things:

First of all, it is to find any children whose vital protection against these diseases has been neglected and, secondly, to focus attention on the importance of immunization of everyone, particularly younger brothers and sisters, and younger parents, too.

This check-point plan assures us in Michigan that in a few years we'll have all school children completely immunized and will be able to concentrate our efforts toward reaching preschool children and those adults who still haven't taken the necessary steps to guard themselves against these communicable diseases.

☆

HERE ARE the diseases of concern in the school check-point:

Smallpox is a disease that most practicing physicians today have never seen thanks to the familiar smallpox vaccination that has removed smallpox from consideration as a killer.

Diphtheria is a disease still occasionally reported in Michigan, but one that vaccination, too, has pretty well disarmed.

Whooping cough, the disease we sometimes call pertussis, still kills too many children in Michigan. In order to guard a child effectively against whooping cough, immunization must begin while he is still a tiny baby because the disease rarely strikes children much over six years of age.

Crippling polio is a disease that immunization can pretty well wipe out. Unfortunately, we are still fighting an up-hill battle to get children and adults 100 percent protected against this crippler and killer.

Tetanus, the fifth of the diseases for which there is required immunization of school children, is caused by lock-jaw germs which enter cuts and other wounds. These germs usually enter through the kind of injuries a child gets at play or in automobile accidents.

It's a disease that is difficult to treat successfully but a disease for which we have the most effective vaccination known. Getting your child immunized against tetanus just makes good sense.

☆

IT TAKES more than one shot of these protective medicines to give maximum benefits. Fortunately, your child doesn't have to get these shots separately. Diptheria, whooping cough and tetanus are ordinarily given together — four doses spaced a month apart for the baby, followed by booster doses at the ages of two and five years of age.

Smallpox vaccination is usually given at the same time as one of the other injections, usually during the first year of life. Revaccination against smallpox is recommended at age five.

Polio shots can be given along with the other shots and some private physicians have a vaccine that combines polio with the diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus vaccines.

Interlochen To Begin FM Program

INTERLOCHEN — A gift of a 450-foot radio-television tower from Fetzer Television, Inc., of Cadillac, Mich., has been announced by Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, founder and president of the National Music Camp.

The tower will make possible the opening of a stereo FM educational broadcasting station at the music camp, and will make Interlochen the FM link between east and west in a national network of some 260 educational radio stations.

The Interlochen station will be operated year round for broadcasting programs from both the summer music camp and the Interlochen Arts Academy, the new winter Fine Arts school which opens in the fall of 1962.

Estimated present cost of a tower structure of this size to support a television antenna is about $30,000.

The tower donated to the music camp is one used by Fetzer Television, Inc., for their WWTV station in Cadillac until they erected a higher one recently.

Among other gifts that have come following the announcement of the new Interlochen Arts Academy is a $7,000 grant from the McGregor Foundation of Detroit for the purchase of books for the academy library.

The McGregor Foundation is a philanthropic organization specializing in student aid and libraries for Americana collections.

Personal Touch

Your living room shouldn't be decorated to fit the pages of a magazine, unless it also fits the way you live.

Patricia Klobe, homefurnishings specialist at MSU, says rooms should be furnished to make the home more livable and attractive.

Interior design should consider the living habits of your family and satisfy your ideas of comfort, beauty, economy and ease of maintenance, as well as using general standards of good design.

Benjamin Franklin (1706-1790) said:

"HE THAT WON'T BE COUNSELLED CAN'T BE HELPED"

There are many elderly people suffering from aches, pains and other discomforts unnecessarily. They think they cannot be helped.

It is true, old age is still an incurable disease. But, we now have many new drugs and treatments to overcome its accompanying problems. You can be helped greatly if you regularly visit your physician for counsel. He can prescribe medicines to help your body to live more comfortably.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

IT'S APROPOS — What could be more appropriate for the Baer family on Wellwood Rd., 8 miles west of Clinton, than a mailbox held by a life-size bear? Another in the Herald series of unusual mailboxes, this one stands about four feet tall, is carved of wood with the shirt painted red and trousers blue. We doubt the mailman has any uncertainty about the right mailbox for the Baer mail. If you have seen an unusual box recently, call the Herald and we'll include it in our series.

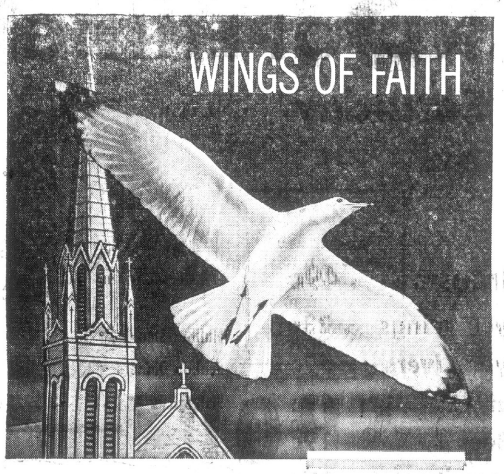
FOR ALL WE HOLD SACRED
. . . ATTEND CHURCH !



WHO does not marvel at the flight of a bird? The soaring jet does not seem such a miracle. It cannot fly with the same grace and beauty and ease.

Every bird must learn to fly. The mother bird pushes her fledgling out of the nest. The young bird falls helplessly until its wings discover the invisible support of the air.

If our lives are to rise beyond frail human nature, we too must learn to fly . . . on wings of faith. We must discover the invisible support of God's presence and power.

Come to Church next Sunday. You can find there the invisible support of God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Reading Is Child's Key To Knowledge

Education's first "R" is a subject about which parents today are deeply concerned.

They know that reading is a basic tool their child will need for success throughout his entire school and college career.

They know that a youngster with reading disabilities is seriously handicapped in keeping up with class work, textbook study and supplementary reading.

One of the questions most frequently asked by parents is "Should I help my child learn to read—and if so, how can I go about it?"

Here are some suggestions given by the National Education Association for parents of preschoolers.

If your child is curious and is making comments about letters, let him play with alphabet blocks to let him become acquainted with letters. You need not drill him or otherwise "force" learning.

Make books an important part of his life. Read to him and let him talk about the stories and ask him questions about the pictures.

Give your child a variety of experiences. Take him to the zoo, the park or the airport. Tell him names of animals and flowers.

From time to time, give your child simple, consecutive instructions. Such activities will help your child develop memory skills and follow directions accurately.

☆

IF YOUR CHILD is in the primary grades, here are some ways to help.

When your child reads aloud to you, don't try to use teaching techniques, such as having him "sound out" words. Instead, enjoy the story together, discuss the plot and praise him for reading well.

Introduce him to the public library. Get a library card for him. Let him choose the books he wants, rather than the books you feel he should read.

Let your child see you reading frequently.

Provide your child with a reliable home dictionary and encyclopedia. Encourage him to look up subjects that interest or puzzle him.

If your child is a television fan, see which programs he prefers and give him books on the same subject.

If he's an avid comic-book reader, don't make a big issue out of it. Also provide him with other, more worthwhile, books that offer him lively adventure in an easy-to-read format.

☆

IF YOUR CHILD is having trouble reading:

Don't become irritated and disgusted with him. Your anxiety will make him so resentful and discouraged that his reading difficulties will increase.

Don't compare his reading with other, more successful, young readers in his family.

Don't try to solve his reading problems yourself. Have a conference with his teacher. If she thinks he needs remedial reading help, take her advice.

Give him opportunities to do things at which he excels. Praise him for his skills at baseball or drawing. When he knows he is good at something, he will not feel inferior because he can't read as well as others of his age.

Michigan Cattle Feeders To Meet August 17 at MSU

Cattle feeders of Michigan will meet for the 38th annual Michigan Cattle Feeders Day program at Michigan State University in East Lansing Thursday, August 17.

Registration opens in Anthony Hall on the MSU south campus at 9:30 a.m., according to R. H. Nelson, head of the Department of Animal Husbandry.

Topics for discussion during the morning session, starting at 10:00 a.m., include high energy corn silage for fattening beef heifer calves; supplementing a corn silage no-hay ration with vitamin A for fattening steer calves; comparative value of stilbestrol, progesterone - estradiol and progesterone - testosterone implants; and urea and energy levels, lysine supplementation and hormones for fattening steer calves.

At 11:30, Cattle Feeders Day visitors will tour the experimental steer barn. Lunch will be served at noon in Anthony Hall.

Discussion sessions during the afternoon will include the beef cattle outlook, looking ahead in Michigan beef cattle research and "Are We Producing Beef for Greatest Consumer Acceptance?"

Green-Dunn Funeral Home Has New Siding, Porch

Douglas E. Dunn, manager of the Green-Dunn Funeral Home, is happy to announce that remodeling on the Funeral Home, begun in early April, is nearly completed.

A new concrete porch has been built at the front with the porch roof extending past the building at both ends.

Steps and ramps now lead down from both ends of the porch and future plans call for a drive going entirely around the building which will allow for off street parking.

Mr. Dunn said that these plans should be completed in about three years.

White cast iron columns in grape design support the porch roof and a new colonial entrance, in keeping with the style of the building, has been added. Aluminum shutters were used to give width.

The building has been covered with white aluminum siding with the exception of the front beneath the porch which is now brick.

New white aluminum eavestroughing was also used.

In the last five years, air conditioning, new carpeting and all new furniture have been installed.

Mr. Dunn said that with the completion of this work, the facilities at Green-Dunn are as modern and beautiful as can be found anywhere.

Steer Clear of Referrals

Fake employment offers are often encountered by the State Attorney Generals' Staff in investigating consumer frauds.

These offer the sharp operator the double advantage of getting his work done by innocent dupes, and providing a strong incentive for the victim to buy an expensive machine.

Vacuum cleaners, floor waxers and magazine sales are among those mentioned.

At present, there is a run on operators in several parts of the state who offer expensive tape recorders, stereophonic equipment, or other audio-visual paraphernalia, on the old "referral" technique—where the sharp operator asks the victim to buy one just to prove his sincerity, so the salesman can be sure the victim will really put his heart into his own interviews.

It won't cost him anything, the operator assures him, because if he sets up his friends, he will get a rebate, or premium, or bonus of so much for each completed sale.

It sounds so good that many fall for it. The catch is that the victim signs a contract, containing a note, which obligates him to make installment payments on his purchase.

The note is sold to a bank, the salesman disappears, and the victim is stuck with the payments. What happens to the referrals?

They become victims in their own turn. If you don't want to become a victim yourself, watch out for the referral promises.

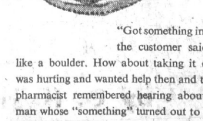
About that boulder in your eye



"Got something in my eye," the customer said. "Feels like a boulder. How about taking it out?" He was hurting and wanted help then and there. The pharmacist remembered hearing about another man whose "something" turned out to be a steel splinter embedded in his eyeball. He advised him to see his physician. Prompt surgery saved his sight. So, we're careful. And if we seem overly cautious sometimes, remember—we're pharmacists, not physicians. We work with doctors, dispensing the drugs and medications they prescribe. But we don't practice medicine.

WISE ADVICE — This car, driven by Deputy Sheriff Thomas C. Rook of Monroe, picked a choice spot to overturn Friday, July 28. Mr. Rook, 73, was traveling west on M-50 when he slowed down for traffic ahead of him. His brakes apparently locked, throwing the car off the road, and landing it topside in the ditch. The car had been righted before Herald photographer reached the scene of the accident, three miles east of Tecumseh near Billmyer Rd. Mr. Rook suffered no injuries.

Food Needs Home Care As Well As Grocery Care

Americans sometimes fail to appreciate the constant care and effort which goes into making their food supply the safest and most wholesome in the world.

We are no longer amazed at the quantity, variety, and cleanliness of fine foods available at moderate cost in our modern grocery stores.

When we take food home, we may neglect to give it the same care that the processors and the grocer have taken to keep it delicious and safe to eat.

For example, there is a need to keep a canned ham refrigerated, rather than storing it in a cupboard.

Housewives are also warned not to stuff a turkey to freeze for a special occasion. Freezing equipment in the home does not make it possible to stuff and freeze the turkey under the strict conditions of sanitation and timing which are available to poultry processors.

To keep frozen meat and poultry as safe and good as it is when you buy it, follow the directions on the package for defrosting and cooking.

Following these directions gives a kind of 'insurance policy' for the tastiest and safest food which can be prepared."

THE GREAT CIRCLE AROUND SUPERIOR

The Sault Ste. Marie newspaper headlined fog which closed the Locks and caused an ore carrier to run aground. Certainly, what did they expect — the Duncans were vacationing in the area.

Our trip this year divided into two parts, the first half being devoted to circling Lake Superior.

As usual we had our own kind of weather, a little sunshine, some rain, and more fog that we knew existed.

Even so, it was a wonderful trip and to save space and constant repetition, everything was beautiful, lovely, gorgeous, breathtaking, etc., etc., etc.

Sunday our first sight of the bridge was as thrilling as ever. Driving north on Interstate 75 the towers of Mighty Mac suddenly loom up ahead — what a sight!

Monday's highlight was Tahquamenon Falls. There is an attractive Tourist Bureau in Mackinaw City but who needs to ask questions about their own state — we looked at a map, picked out the most logical route, crossed the bridge, headed for 'our road' and immediately ran into road construction and detours.

After driving all over the eastern half of the Upper Penninsula we finally reached Newberry. Our time at the falls was cut short but, by way of making up a little, the sun shown for the first time that day.

Thanks to the kindness of a park attendant several guard rails were lifted and we drove over a service drive to an overlook affording an excellent view of the lower falls. Wonderful!

Tuesday our destination was Ironwood. Part of the way, between Munising and Marquette, the road runs close to the Lake. The long sandy beaches were in contrast to what we were to see on the north shore.

Superior was calm and there were many bathers but, from experience of years and years ago, I know such swimming is cold, cold business.

Coming home last year we had noticed several scenic drives around Ironwood. A severe winter, however, had washed out the road to Mt. Zion so just the Black River Drive was accessible.

Along this, Dad got his second bit of hiking, the first was into the upper Tahquamenon Falls and this, a quarter mile into Great Conglomerate Falls. From the pictures he took, both treks were well worth while.

At Ashland, Wisc., interesting log operations are easily viewed from the car — huge rafts of pulp-wood are floated across Lake Superior and when 'in harbor' tug-boats maneuver them into position to be conveyed to a giant crane which so easily loads them onto railroad cars. East of the city is another beach — an excellent picnicing spot for the Duncans.

Our memories of Duluth, Minnesota, are "wet and foggy." We had planned to sight-see along the famous 20 or 25 mile Skyline Drive, which overlooks the city and harbor, but it was so dark and foggy we went directly to our motel. Even there the weather interfered. Our beautiful picture window view of Superior and the busy lake traffic was nothing but gray drippy fog.

Next day the weather almost broke our hearts. North of Duluth, through Twin Harbors, Grand Morais, etc., the road runs right along the lake and one drive-out, scenic overlook or state park follows another. All, in decent weather, would have been just beautiful but when one drives with windowshield wipers going and headlights on, such spots offer little. What a shame to miss so much!

When finally the road swung inland toward the U.S.-Canadian border crossing at Pigeon River, we left the dense fog behind. It was still gray but, at least, we could see something and what a lot of something there was to see.

We drove through stands of white birches and pine trees which were, well, the only word is unbelievable. Never had we seen pines so dense nor imagined that birches could be so tall, so big around, so white. They surpassed the Shelburne Birches of New Hampshire and never did I think that would be said.

After a routine border crossing we headed for the Twin Cities, Port Arthur and Fort William. Heading back towards the lake we picked up our old friend fog.

But I see space is running out so next week we will continue on The Great Circle.

Don't Throw Away Those Shirtboards

Many homemakers are in the habit of throwing away the shirtboards from their husbands freshly laundered shirts, without realizing that they can be very useful in the home.

Here are some hints from the American Institute of Laundering, research and education center for the professional laundry industry, on how to make use of these versatile shirtboards.

Homemakers will find shirtboards convenient when preparing food for the family. Fruits or vegetables for salads can be cut or peeled without mess on these boards. Besides making a nice cutting surface, the board absorbs juices lost in cutting, and makes a sturdy wrapping when folded around the peelings for disposal.

Shirtboards are stiff enough to hold sweepings when no dust pan is available and, if you're building a home, save those shirtboards to pick up wood shavings, plaster, as well as dirt and mud tracked into the house.

Another variety of uses, the Institute says, occurs when there is painting to be done in the home. When painting windows the shirtboards can be held over the glass so it will receive the excess paint. Boards can also be used as guides or straight edges and as "splatter boards" under paint cans.

Shirtboards can be used under potted plants to protect the painted or varnished window sill, on newly scrubbed or waxed floors to prevent tracks or scuff marks, as picture backing when mounting photographs or paintings, or as protection from sleet or snow when held in place by the windshield wiper on the family car.

Shirtboards will come in handy on days when you'd like to keep the children quietly busy in the house. The children can use them for coloring, making puzzles and stencils, or for building houses or boats.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

An Independent newspaper, published every Thursday morning at 117 S. Evans Street. Entered at the Post Office in Tecumseh, Michigan as second class matter.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Making the Best Better

One of the finest educational programs that exists today outside the school system is the 4-H program.

With the county fair in session next week, residents have a wonderful opportunity to view the accomplishments of this organization that claims the motto: "To Make the Best Better."

The 4-H program is steadily expanding, not only in membership, but also in the variety of projects undertaken. There are as many as 20 broad categories from which to select. Among the projects are handicraft, electrical, foods, clothing, junior leadership, livestock, conservation, home improvement, tractor, crops, gardening, safety, child care, entomology and landscaping.

The range of these projects indicates what an important educational program this is. Where else outside the schools is there such an opportunity to receive supervised instruction and training in these areas.

Young folks, 10-21, are eligible for membership in the 4-H.

And the program is not limited to rural members. Many urban young people find the 4-H projects both informative and enjoyable.

The 4-H pledge is one that all might heed:

I pledge
My head to clearer thinking,
My heart to greater loyalty,
My hands to larger service and
My health to better living
For My Club
My Community
My Country

Tecumseh has many active clubs in the surrounding area and should be appreciative of their contribution to the country's educational program.

If you wonder at the quality of their work, stop at the various 4-H exhibits at the county fair. See for yourself how they are making "the best better."

The banner boys are Clark Griffin, Tim Irelan and Richard Roost. Sandra Beal, leader is at the right.

'Aowakiyas' Is Indian Term

The Aowakiyas, a colorful marching and twirling group from Tecumseh and Britton, under the direction of Sandra Beal of Britton and John Perry of Tecumseh, took part in the Monroe County Fair Parade, Sunday afternoon in Monroe.

This group was organized five months ago, under the direction of Mrs. Milton Appel of Tecumseh, assisted by Mrs. Clare Griffin of Britton.

The group has participated in the Tecumseh Memorial Day Parade, the Tecumseh Moonlight Sale, the Britton Homecoming Parade and put on a stage performance one evening of the Britton Homecoming.

They are now in steady practice for future engagements this year.

At present, there are 25 active members of the marching unit. New members are now practicing so as to double the size of the group by next marching season.

Practice will continue through the winter to prepare new and interesting routines and performances for next season.

The success of the Aowakiyas is primarily due to the close cooperation of the girls, parents and countless others.

The group's name, "Aowakiyas," is an Indian name meaning "band together for a purpose."

The emblem is made up of two symbols: A musical note to march by and a hand for twirling.

State Peach Crop Will Be Lighter and Later in '61

Later and lighter than last year, Michigan's 1961 peach crop is expected to amount to 3,200,000 bushels or enough to make 58 trains of 100 cars each.

This should assure homemakers of ample tree-ripened peaches for dessert use or home processing, although expected volume is down 100,000 bushels from 1960.

Because of the late spring the peak of the harvest, usually around Labor Day, will be somewhat behind schedule depending on weather.

All through August Michigan peaches will be available in food outlets throughout the state with volume increasing until the peak is reached possibly in the second week in September.

The state's principal peach producing county is Berrien, which also is prominent in national peach production as are Van Buren, Allegan and Oceana counties. Other important Michigan peach counties are Kent, Mason, Macomb, Oakland and Monroe.

Dr. Skufis Lists Accomplishments of Glaucoma Test

Doctor Eleanor Skufis, of the Lenawee County Health Department, reports the following results of the Glaucoma Screening Program.

One thousand nine hundred and one persons registered and 42 persons were referred to their doctor as possible glaucoma victims.

Twelve of the 42 persons have glaucoma and are being treated. Five persons are still undergoing further diagnostic tests, three could not be reached for follow up, and 23 persons did not have glaucoma.

The most important accomplishment of the screening program is that of preventing blindness in 12 adult people, but equally important is that of educating people over 40 to the necessity of regular eye examinations for the early detection of glaucoma.

Our Readers Write

To the Editors:

It is Thursday evening, July 27, 7 p.m. It's been an extremely hot day and the air is still much too warm for comfortable sleeping.

I have just returned from our community swimming pool with my young sons. They had been looking forward eagerly to a cooling swim until 7:45, and then to bed.

Unfortunately I had forgotten Tuesday and Thursday are now "family nights", as decreed by our city council.

We were there at 6:30, the usual opening time, and already there were some 15 children waiting to swim. But the pool was closed to these youngsters who were not accompanied by their parents.

I waited until five minutes to seven. There was still not a family in sight, an empty pool, and 30 or more hot children yearning to swim in our pool. I'm glad I didn't wait to see their faces as other youngsters were admitted with their parents.

I was told before I left, and very rudely, that if my boys wanted to wait until 7:30 or so they would probably be allowed to enter the pool. This was not practical, as my children observe a reasonable bed-time appropriate for their ages.

For years, I have been under the impression that the chief reason the Joyce Andrews Memorial Pool was constructed was so our children would have a safe, supervised place to swim.

It seems a shame that some of these children are now denied this privilege, if their parents are unable to accompany them into the pool.

I too, heartily concur that swimming is one of the most pleasurable leisure time activities which a family can share, and lest I be misinterpreted, I fully realize the pool is a community project, and is for the pleasure of adults at anytime.

However, it then follows that some of our children should not be discriminated against and prohibited the enjoyment of a refreshing swim on a hot evening.

May I suggest that if there are some adults who do not care to share the pool with unaccompanied children, there are many other places they can go with their families to enjoy a swim.

Unfortunately we other parents cannot let our younger children swim in these places without close supervision, and this is not always possible.

I am quite sure that what really touched off my anger was the sight of that big, beautiful, cool, blue, and empty pool on one side of a fence, and on the other side all those hot, sticky, disappointed children, simply because a small group of adults have arbitrarily decided that this shall be family night, and therefore some children are excluded from our community pool at a time when it would be the most appreciated, and should be used to capacity.

New Lake Added to Scenic Irish Hills Location

Latest addition to Michigan's water wonderland attractions will be a man-made lake which by next spring will cover more than 800 acres of Jackson county farmland on the edge of the state's scenic Irish Hills.

It will rise behind a 950-foot long dam and be known as Lake Columbia. Fed by a wandering stream known as Goose Creek, and hundreds of natural springs, it will stretch 2½ miles north from Cement City to the village of Jefferson, 10 miles south of Jackson.

It will be 1¾ miles wide at its widest point and will have an average depth of 15 feet.

Total development will cover some 1,600 acres — 2½ sections of land.

This will be the largest man-made lake ever built for residential use, according to Don Foote, president of Central Realty Company of Lansing.

"There have been gigantic projects developed across the nation for power and flood control," he said, "but residential development of these power-source lakes is difficult because of the tremendous daily fluctuation of water levels."

In spite of Michigan's 11,000-plus natural lakes, Michiganians are so oriented to water that the supply of good lake property never has filled the demand.

High School Dropouts Create Social Problem

Nearly one million boys and girls 16 and 17 years of age, who should be in high school, are not.

Surveys show that young people who drop out of high school have many characteristics in common.

The student is often unsuccessful in his school work, does not take part in the school's extracurricular activities and doesn't have friends in school. He doesn't think education is important in his future or his family does not place a high value on education.

The dropout is usually a boy, with 55-56% of all dropouts being males.

Intelligence is not a primary factor, but, the majority are either average or below in ability.

The dropout frequently comes from a family with a modest income and the desire for his own spending money is a strong inducement to leave school.

If the dropout is a girl, her reason for leaving school is probably to get married.

The high school dropout ultimately becomes a problem to himself and to society. Employers report that youngsters who quit school do not make very good workers. They usually have no skills, are too young, and cannot command a wage that will support an acceptable standard of living.

Among those youths failing to finish high school, the unemployment rate is almost double that of those who do finish and more than three times that of those who have had some college education. This means that the high school dropout is likely to join the most disgruntled, disillusioned and dissatisfied group of workers in America.

August Skies Offer Many Shooting Stars

August is the month of shooting stars with as many as one meteor per minute seen at the peak period.

Shooting stars, most of them no longer than a grain of sand, will be seen darting and flitting across the night skies at a higher rate than at any other time of the year.

They will reach their peak in the early morning hours of Aug. 12.

On an ordinary night about one shooting star per hour may be seen.

A meteor, which flashes into our sky and appears as bright as the North Star, is probably no larger than the head of a pin. Its brilliancy lies in the speed at which it enters our earth's atmosphere.

Few will appear before midnight, the number increasing sharply toward dawn.

They have often been called the "tears of St. Lawrence," because his feast falls on Aug. 10.

TOM RIORDAN'S Long AND Short

Jon Aho, one of Tecumseh High School's fine football products, is going to Michigan State University.

He'll be trying his luck at Western Conference gridiron fun

If Jon makes the grade, you'll know he has reached the top because nothing surpasses Big 10 football on the collegiate level.

While on the subject, Coach Dunc Lectka has been again named to the Detroit Free Press All-State selection board.

It won't be long before Dunc will be issuing that first call for candidates.

Can summer really be drawing to a close?

It just doesn't seem possible that school will open in another three weeks.

Even so, there is still going to be plenty of warm weather, as was indicated by Monday afternoon's blazing sun and high thermometer reading.

My thoughts that day were projected about 275 miles north to the front porch of our two-weeks-a-year home.

Man, how I miss that spacious front porch.

As to questions from several readers, particularly the persistent RM, I would like to report on my carefully scheduled vacation projects.

You may recall I stated before departure that there would be a complete updating of my scrapbook and a flurry of activity in the indexing of color slides.

Well, you'll be surprised at the results. (Or will you.)

As of the Thursday afternoon,

Nancy Beland Reports on Junket to Berlin

The most crucial spot in the world today is Berlin, where tension continues to mount following the closing of the border between East and West zones.

Of interest to Tecumseh readers is a letter received from Nancy Beland, who is living in Germany this summer under the student exchange program.

Her hostess, Heide, recently accompanied her on a trip to both West and East Berlin.

Her account of the trip appears on page six of the second section.

New Teachers To Number 26

By JIM LINCOLN

Resignations by teachers during the past few months have incurred the greatest number of replacements in the Tecumseh schools in a number of years.

Supt. James McDowell reported to the school board Monday night that two more teachers have resigned, and another hired only a few weeks ago has also decided not to teach here.

Janet Keller, elementary physical education instructor, has resigned. She will be replaced by Mickey Hardcastle, substitute in the school system last year.

Roger Koenke, junior high science teacher, will not be back next year. The superintendent is hopeful of replacing him within the next few days.

Mr. McDowell says there will be 26 new teachers in the system this year, compared to nine or 10 in previous years.

Condition Is Theme of Camp

Twenty-five high school athletes will take part in a conditioning camp at Silver Lake next week.

The boys, candidates for this fall's football squad, will run, swim and exercise—but play no football. Not even a single football is being taken to the camp to avoid any infractions against state prep codes.

The state athletic commissioner was notified of the camp and approved it, providing there was no football practice and suggested not one football be taken to the camp.

Jack Osburn will host the group at his cottage. The boys will be under supervision of head coach Dunc Lectka, Vic Lawson, Carl Hale and Charles Gross.

A fee of $12 is being charged each boy.

New Well Hits Gas at Britton

After six weeks of drilling at the Joseph Smetka farm, north of Britton, oil and gas were finally discovered early Tuesday morning.

Drillers of the McClure Oil Co. of Alma made the strike, taking four hours to close it and bring it under control.

Capacity is estimated from one million to five million cubic feet.

The discovery on the Smetka farm at 11323 Smith Rd. is only 40 rods southwest of the Milburn Preston well.

The hole was 2,824 feet deep and 25 feet into the Trenton formation when the gas started to blow.

Pan American Oil Co., a subsidiary of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana, hold extensive lease rights in the area.

A GRINNING MAN STOPped by the office Tuesday morning to shake hands and thank The Herald for selling him a full-page ad three years ago.

These are the kind of customers we love.

Doing the hand-shaking was Max Elliott, who is soon to leave for Alaska.

Max recently answered an ad in an Anchorage daily regarding a construction engineer's position.

The firm said he was a man with just the qualifications they needed. Now would he please send substantiating evidence of his accomplishments, the company asked.

Max thought of Herald stories and pictures about his jobs in building the city hall and the Products Credit Union building —and his full-page ad which ran in our city hall supplement in 1958.

He arrived with a question, "Do you have a morgue?"

We assured Max there were past copies available and he whisked through our bound volume to pick the issues he wanted.

Office gal, Mrs. Robert Hunt, dug deep in the old files and provided Max with everything he needed.

So now all the clips are in the mail, winging their way to our 49th state, soon to be followed by the Elliott clan, all expenses paid by Max's new employer.

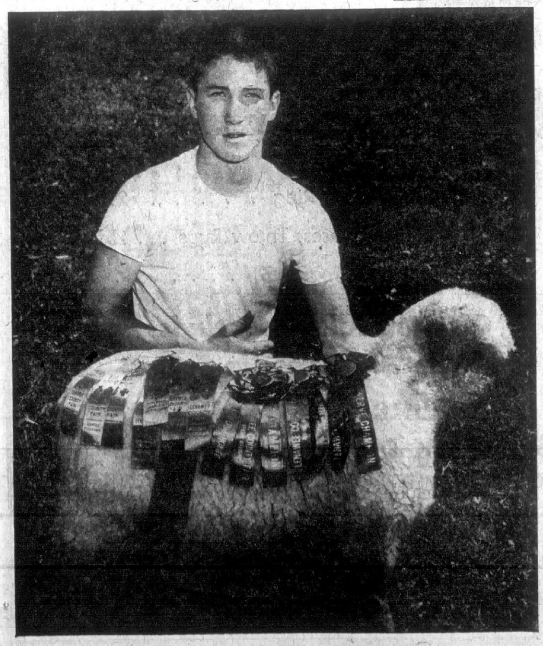
Come to the FAIR

For the young folks, who had more than 1,100 head of livestock entered in this year's Lenawee County 4-H competition, Tuesday was a mighty important day. That was when judging started. Youngsters from this area did real well, netting a flock of ribbons. Pictured on this page are some of the big winners. The Herald camera will be at the Fair again Friday afternoon. Winners in other catagories are asked to meet at the 4-H headquarters booth promptly at 2 p.m. to have their photos taken.

ABOVE — Roger Bortel is an annual winner at the County Fair and this time was no exception. Roger took first in senior showmanship (for entrants over 14), had the championship Dorset ewe, as well as a hatfull of ribbons in other classifications.

BELOW—Dennis Avery, owner of the grand champion Shropshire ewe, had so many ribbons he found himself with a real problem keeping them all on the back of his prize-winning animal for the picture-taking session.

ABOVE — Brothers Tim and Terry Johnston did real well in the sheep competition, faking many ribbons. Tim's ewe and yearling, shown with the boys, were chosen to compete in the state 4-H show, which will be in East Lansing.



ABOVE — Danny Meyers is talented in swinemanship at 12 years of age and he proved his skill in the junior showmanship competition, taking first place. Danny's cane played an important part. He used it to keep his porker moving at the pace and in the direction Danny wanted. Showing swine is one of the most difficult tasks in livestock exhibitioning.

Need Scientific Skills

Agriculture is a scientific, progressive ever-changing industry and if one is to be successful in it, he must be prepared with the necessary technical and scientific knowledge, skills and abilities.

So says Richard M. Swenson, director of resident instruction of the Michigan State University College of Agriculture.

Agriculture, which is the inclusive term for both farming and agribusiness, offers positions in research, education, public relations, management, production, communications, administration, sales, processing, engineering and law, Swenson says.

To prepare for these opportunities, a person needs a foundation in the sciences in high school.

Chemistry, biology, mathematics and physics should be taken along with agricultural courses.

After high school, it is essential to continue education if possible, he says.

For those interested in practical training for a nonprofessional career in agriculture, Michigan State University offers several short-course programs which will prepare them for farming and for certain jobs in agribusiness.

These include short courses in general agriculture, which young farmers will find useful immediately, Swenson says. Opportunity is given to specialize in general agriculture, commercial fruit production or commercial vegetable production.

FOUR SPECIALIZED courses, offered to prepare the student for certain jobs in agricultural industries, are commercial floriculture, farm equipment service and sales, elevator and farm supply and nursery and landscape management.

Agriculture will continue to become more scientific, Swenson says. A college education in agriculture must, therefore, be based upon lasting principles in contrast to changing arts.

The MSU College of Agriculture offers 12 majors in four broad areas of study—agricultural science, agricultural business, general agriculture and conservation.

Specializations available in these four broad majors include: agricultural economics, agricultural engineering, animal husbandry, dairy, farm crops, food science, horticulture, poultry, soil science, forestry, forest products, fisheries and wildlife and resource development.

Tuttle Firm Will Exhibit New Heating Elements

LOS ANGELES—An important phase of Tecumseh's growing manufacturing complex will be highlighted on the West Coast Feb. 12-15.

H. W. Tuttle & Co. will exhibit several of its distinctive heating elements at the 12th National Exposition of the Air-Conditioning, Heating and Refrigeration Industry in Los Angeles.

The industry-wide ARI show, the first to be held west of Chicago, will take place in Los Angeles' Great Western Exhibit Center.

Tuttle Co. representation will comprise an Underwriters Laboratory approved, fully-controlled supplemental heating element of duct type, applicable to both existing and new installations; forms of the so-called "strip heaters" used in conjunction with supplemental heat for heat pump, air-conditioning and electric furnaces, etc., and a line of convection-type heating elements for baseboard applications.

Top company officials, including Mrs. Madeline K. Tuttle, president H. W. Tuttle, Jr., vice-president and J. A. Swain of the western district office will attend the four-day exhibit and technical discussions, it was announced.

Expressing satisfaction at Tuttle & Company participation, and predicting "tremendous success" for the Exposition, Show Chairman Jarvis reported that more than 70% of the total available exhibit space of 67,000 square feet already has been sold to 147 exhibitors.

"Tuttle & Co. is delighted to take part in the February Exposition on the Coast", said H. W. Tuttle, Jr.

"The vast majority of the purchasing power of this widespread market will be brought together on the one spot to evaluate new developments in the field."

An attendance of more than 15,000 is anticipated at the event, according to present estimate.

Auto Owners May Claim Credit Cards

Michigan motor vehicle owners may apply for a credit card which will allow them a 35c reduction on next year's license plate.

The refund is for last year's reflectoration fee, a service the owners did not receive.

Canary-colored cards may be filled out in any of the Department of State branch offices in the state.

The cards require the license plate number of the vehicle, the amount claimed and the name of the registered owner.

Each card will be checked with records in Lansing, and if the information is correct, it will be validated and returned to the vehicle owner.

This refund card will then be good for 35c on a set of 1962 plates. No cash refunds are authorized.

The Secretary of State's office considers this the most simple and practical means to refund the money.

Secretary of State James M. Hare urges auto owners to fill out a card now so that the work may be absorbed by the present staff and not require additional workers in January or February.

Farm Bureau Holds Meeting

Tecumseh Trailer Was on TV August 10th

A filmed tour of the world's second largest mobile home, owned by Don Maves of Tecumseh, was one of the highlights of a U of M television program on modern trailer living presented last week.

"Be it Ever So Mobile" was shown on the Understanding Our World series at 7 Thursday, August 10 on WJBK.

In addition to the tour of the giant trailer, a custom-built giant measuring 12 by 60 feet, the program took viewers into Michigan trailer parks and into several of the more typical trailer homes.

Among those presented to the television audience were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hands of N. Union St. who told why they have chosen to live in a mobile home.

Dr. Robert McCleary, U of M psychologist, gave his opinions on the psychological reasons why more than three million Americans have chosen to live in mobile homes.

Beyond economic and occupational factors, McCleary suggests that the mobile home owners may be less inclined to sink deep roots than are home buyers.

MRS. RICHARD SCHWARTZ

Mary Manchester Weds Richard Schwartz Sunday

Mary Katherine Manchester and Airman Second Class Richard Allen Schwartz were united in marriage August 13 at 3 p.m. in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Alvin Brazee at the Iron Creek United Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Manchester of 1005 Red Mill Drive and the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman C. Schwartz of Palmyra.

The altar of the church was decorated with vases of white gladioli and white pom pons.

The bride, entering on the arm of her father, wore a Maude Bell gown with bodice of lace over satin and a tulle, nylon net and satin skirt with a chapel train. The lace scalloped neckline was edged with pallets and seed pearls and the long sleeves ended in points over the wrists.

Her fingertip veil was held by a crystal crown accented by teardrop crystals from points in the crown. She carried a cascade of white stephanotis centered with an orchid.

Her only jewelry was a rhinestone cross, a gift of the bridegroom.

Serving as the matron of honor was Mrs. Donna Hewitt of Tecumseh. She wore a floor length dress of lace over taffeta with a dropped waistline and flowered appliques on the tulle skirt. She carried cascades of lilac and white mums.

Lou Ann Hewitt of Tecumseh was the flower-girl, dressed in a white floor length dress with puffed sleeves and a tulle over taffeta skirt. She carried a miniature basket filled with mums.

Ellsworth Stout of Alpena served as the best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride for members of the immediate family, featuring a three-tiered wedding cake trimmed in pink.

For her going-away outfit, the bride chose a pink and white sheath dress with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The groom is stationed at Dover Air Force Base in Delaware and the bride will join him at a future date.

The new Mrs. Schwartz is a 1959 graduate of Tecumseh High School and graduated from Stautzenberger Business College, Toledo, last year. She is employed as a receptionist at Martin Bros. Container and Timber Products Corp. in Toledo.

The groom graduated from Blissfield High School in 1958.

Guests were present from Adrian, Alpena, Manchester, Ogden Center, Macon, Tecumseh and Toledo, O.

Tecumseh merchants have many nice bargains waiting for you at the Sidewalk Sale Friday, August 18.

Moon Eclipse To Be Visible on August 25

ANN ARBOR — A near total eclipse of the moon will be seen Friday, Aug. 25. The moon will slip into the earth's shadow at 8:36 p.m. and get completely out of it at 11:42 p.m.

Soon after the eclipse begins, there will be noticable dimming of the eastern edge of the disk. The darkened area will gradually increase until mid-eclipse at 10:09 p.m. when only less than one per cent of the moon's diameter will remain outside this dark inner shadow.

A narrow sliver of the moon's surface will remain illuminated by the direct rays of the sun.

The moon will be located a few degrees above the southeast horizon at the beginning of the eclipse.

It will be plainly visible throughout the three-hour period, shining in a dull, copperyred glow, for it will be illuminated by sun light which filters through the earth's atmosphere, being bent and refracted into the shadow and on the moon.

For such an eclipse to take place, the moon must be in full phase and in direct line with the earth and sun. The reason we do not have an eclipse every month is because of the five-degree tilt of the moon's orbit to that of the earth.

The moon in its monthly path usually misses the earth's shadow, passing above or below it.

Milk and Cheese Needed in Daily Diet for Calcium

Perhaps as many as two of every five adult Americans are steadily losing their reserves of body calcium because they do not drink enough milk or eat enough cheese, says an MSU nutrition specialist.

Surveys show that three in 10 households provide less calcium than is recommended by the National Research Council.

Unless milk or cheese are used generously every day, calcium is almost certain to be lacking.

Calcium is needed for efficient heart and muscle action and for proper functioning of the nerves. It is also necessary for the structure and maintenance of bone and vital for blood clotting.

Milk consumption is sometimes blamed for weight gains. But, it could be other foods that are adding up the calories. One cup of skimmed milk counts up to only 85 calories, but contains all the proteins, B vitamins, calcium and other minerals of whole milk.

By contrast, the average soft drink "costs" 80 to 107 of the day's calorie allowance and furnishes no other nutrients.

Chess Is Their Game

Six Tecumseh boys have gone "ghung ho" over chess this summer.

They play the game at all hours of the day and night.

John Hayden, 512 W. Logan St., is the one most responsible for getting the group started.

But it has taken no urging to keep them going.

John received a set of chess for Christmas and his cousin, Robert Comfort, taught him how to play the game that day.

John got several friends interested and pretty soon two boards were in action, side by side.

Others in the group are:

Steve Derby, George Surratt, Jerry Palmer, Bob Williamson and Doug Beasley.

Phil Brantingham of Salem, O., a summer visitor in town, has also joined in the fun.

Most of the games take place on the Hayden picnic table, situated under two shady trees.

But many also are going 'way after midnight in the Hayden front room when the fellows camp out in a backyard tent and suddenly get the urge for a game or two.

When asked if they might wish to drum up some matches with other young people around Tecumseh, the lads chorused, "No."

But they probably would — if someone asked.

POLICE BLOTTER

Tecumseh police are holding Thomas Kahley, 21, of Dundee after he admitted taking a truck in Colorado.

He was arrested early Friday morning and later admitted taking a truck in Granby, Colo. He abandoned the truck at Berthond Pass, Colo. after sighting a police roadblock. He escaped into the hills and returned to this area.

Colorado authorities have been notified of the arrest.

The Police Department picked up two youths Sunday for the Lenawee County Sheriff's Department and turned them over to the deputies. They were Kenneth Roger Marshall, 17 and Eric Ford Roby, 19, both of Detroit.

Dolly Walker, 302 S. Maumee St., was arrested Saturday and charged with being drunk and disorderly. She was arraigned Monday and ordered to pay a fine of $20.70 and costs of $4.30.

Assembly To Be Held Sept. 8-10

Milan High School will be the site of the semi-annual assembly of Michigan Circuit No. 8 of Jehovah's Witnesses, September 8-10, announces Kenneth Ball, presiding minister of the Tecumseh congregation.

Attendance is expected to exceed 1,100.

Although plans have not been finalized as to detail, more than 15 speakers will be on hand to carry out the convention theme, "Walk in the Name of Jehovah Forever".

The lecture subjects stressing the theme will include, "Government of the Early Congregation", "Activities of Jesus", "Reaching Out for a More Complete Ministry" and "Study with Right Goal in Mind".

The keynote discourse, as well as the principal lecture, "The Twentieth Century in Bible Prophecy", will be delivered by district minister, Nicholas Kovalak, Jr. of Brooklyn, N. Y., who has oversight of Witness' activity in Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois. He will appear on each days program.

Michigan Circuit Number 8 was recently reorganized to include but 18 congregations, nine having been removed and added to a new Michigan Circuit to care for the rapid growth of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Included in the 18 are Tecumseh, Ann Arbor, Belleville, Dundee, Adrian, Monroe, Plymouth, Ypsilanti and Milan.

Brotherhood

Brotherhood will be a theme dealt with at the Christian Science service Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon on "Mind."

He Plays Basketball in Africa's Ethiopia

Who would ever think of playing basketball in Ethiopia?

Jim Poley, one of Tecumseh's outstanding '59-60 basketball players, is now playing on a navy team in Ethiopia where he is currently stationed.

When he arrived in Africa in July, a spot was waiting for him on the team. An officer from Norfolk, where Jim had previously played, was in Ethiopia and arranged for Jim to play on the team.

He is playing center and really enjoys the opportunity to play. The boys are currently leading the league.

In one of their recent games, Jim scored 21 points but missed being high man as a teammate totaled 22. However, Jim is leading the team in rebounds and assists.

The five other teams in the league are from nearby army bases and the boys play a 20-game schedule.

The players call themselves the "Sparks" because of the patches they wear which look like three streaks of lightning.

Jim, who entered the navy in August, 1960, was an outstanding player at Tecumseh High and participated in the sport all four years.

He also expects to play some softball and football during his 18-month stay in Africa.

AVERAGE SIZE — This 18½ pound Musky is just a average-sized fish to be caught in Canada's Rice Lake. Policeman Gene Skinner made the catch while vacationing there, 60 miles east of Toronto, August 1. Rice Lake, he claims, is one of the best lakes in Canada to fish Muskies. He used a Silver Creek Chub bait purchased at Baldwin Hardware.

Police Shoot To Be Held in Jackson

The 24th annual Michigan police shoot, the largest all-police event in the country, will be held Thursday, September 7, on the 60-target police department range at Jackson.

Competition will be in five classes for perpetual governor trophies and a feature event will be the chief's match.

In addition to team trophies, members of the top three teams in each class will get individual awards with gold, silver or bronze monograms signifying first, second or third place.

Awards also will be made to the three highest individuals in aggregate score, in rapid, timed and slow fire and in the chief's match.

A State Police commissioner's award likewise is to be presented.

Open to all police departments in the state, the shoot is sponsored by the Michigan State Police in co-operation with the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police and the Michigan Sheriffs Association.

The annual State Police departmental match for the Fletcher trophy will be held at Jackson on the preceding day, Wednesday, September 6.

Peggy Jo Pocklington Weds William Raeburn

BRITTON—In an impressive candlelight service Saturday evening in the Britton Congregational Christian Church, Peggy Jo Pocklington of Britton, daughter of Mrs. Roy Hicks of Tecumseh, became the bride of William M. Raeburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Raeburn of Ann Arbor.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Gustav O. Hannevik at 8 o'clock before an altar enhanced by the glow of many cathedral candelabra. The gold altar vases held arrangements of white fuji mums and pom-pons. Similar flowers fronted the candelabras on either side of the white prie-dieu.

The family pews were marked with white mums, emerald foliage, and white bows.

As ushers, Thomas Bailey and Thomas Schairer, both of Ann Arbor, were seating the guests. Mrs. Donald Bush of Britton played a prelude of nuptial music.

Preceeding the entrance of the wedding party, Gary Fairbanks of Britton, cousin of the bride, lighted the candelabra, and the ushers placed the white aisle carpet.

Escorted to the altar by her stepfather, Roy C. Hicks of Tecumseh, the bride was attractive in floor length gown of silk organza.

She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, centered with dainty Georgianna white orchids and edged with strands of ivy.

The bride's gown was designed with a full skirt ending in a chapel train, a fitted bodice with tufted Swiss organdy flowers outlining the rounded neckline, and long sleeves ending in points on the hands.

Swiss embroidery also accented the front of the skirt and the sweeping back panel, which was gathered into a butterfly bustle for the reception.

The bouffant, elbow length veil of illusion was attached to a half-hat of silk organza embroidered with Swiss organdy and outlined with seed pearls.

She wore a single pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom.

A friend of the bride, Mrs. Mary Swain of Adrian, was the matron-of-honor and was gowned in a bouffant dress of orchid embroidered silk organza over polished cotton. It was designed with a rounded neckline, short cap sleeves, and full skirt.

She wore a flat double bow of matching organza as her headpiece. Her bouquet was a crescent arrangement of deep purple pom-pons centered with lavender fuji mums, outlined with variegated green and white foliage.

MRS. WILLIAM RAEBURN

The bridesmaids, Marilyn Beagle, college roommate of the bride, and Dianne Raeburn, sister of the bridegroom, wore gowns fashioned like that of the matron-of-honor's, but of a darker lilac shade.

Their bouquets were also of orchid pom-pons centered with purple fuji mums.

James Mullison of Ann Arbor attended the bridegroom as best man.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Hicks, wore a nile green and white bouffant dress with white accessories and a corsage of white butterfly roses.

Mrs. Raeburn, the groom's mother, wore beige lace, yellow accessories, and a shoulder corsage of yellow rosettes.

After the wedding party had approached the chancel, the church choir of which the bride is choir director and organist sang "The Wedding Prayer."

As the couple knelt at the altar later in the ceremony, the Rev. Hannevik sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Berkley of Tecumseh and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Eberhardt of Britton greeted 400 guests as they arrived at the Britton school cafeteria and library which was the setting for the reception.

The wall back of the cake table was draped with light orchid taffeta, outlined with swags of purple net. At the top, center and corners were clusters of wedding bells and flowers in orchid and purple.

The cake table in the center was beautiful with a flounced skirting of net and taffeta, draped with greens and orchid and purple bows. Double branched crystal candelabra, holding lighted tapers and based with orchid and purple flowers were placed on either side of the four-tiered wedding cakes.

A miniature Bible showing the names of the bridal couple topped the cake, baked by Mrs. Clarence Randolph of Tecumseh.

Mary Lou Fairbanks, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

Others assisting at the reception were Mrs. Alice Benedict, Mrs. Karen Arft, Pat Eberhardt, Mrs. Ann Squires and Mrs. Kathryn Wagner of Britton; Mrs. Mary Ann Hill and Virginia Wanty of Ann Arbor; and Mrs. Polly Judd, Mrs. Dolores Lawhead, and Mrs. Barbara Prill of Tecumseh.

When the newlyweds left on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Canada, and northern Michigan, Mrs. Raeburn was wearing a yellow knit suit with matching accessories and an orchid corsage.

On their return they will live at their new home at 181 Rose Street, Britton.

The bride, a graduate of Britton-Macon High School and Eastern Michigan University, is a teacher at the Tecumseh Junior High School.

Mr. Raeburn is a graduate of Ann Arbor High School and Eastern Michigan University and is a teacher in the Homer Public Schools.

20,000 Pledges Needed for U of M Eye Bank Program

ANN ARBOR—The University of Michigan "eye bank" has set a goal of 20,000 pledges to help insure a containing supply of eyes for persons with corneal blindness.

"The Michigan Eye Collection Center", established at the University in September, 1957 has received donations of 166 eyes. Of these, 103 were used for corneal transplants performed at University Hospital. The remainder were used for operations in Detroit, Flint and Owosso, and for research in perfecting the techniques of transplantation.

The eye bank is a joint lay-medical organization to help restore eyesight for a specific kind of blindness.

In making a pledge, individuals agree to donate their eyes to the center when they die. It is estimated that 30,000 people in the United States today are blind because of defective corneas, the tiny anterior layer of the eye, and it is only this part which is transplanted.

Doctors explain that eyes can be used regardless of the donor's sex or color. Even persons who are blind from other causes can often donate a healthy cornea that will help another patient see.

The goal of 20,000 pledges is the minimum needed for the growing service of the eye bank to sightless persons. At present those who could be aided sometimes wait several months before a cornea is available.

Freedom School

DETROIT — "Apathy on the matter of Communism can lead only to disaster," says William W. Neubecker, Jr., "And that's one main reason why we're sponsoring the Counterattack Freedom School."

Neubecker of Wyandotte is president of Education For American Freedom, Inc., which is sponsoring the Counterattack Freedom School.

The school will be held in the Memorial Building at the University of Detroit, from Monday, Aug. 28 through Friday, Sept. 1.

"We feel that there is a strong need in the Detroit area for a pro-American, anti-Communist program such as the one we are presenting," Neubecker says.

Authorities such as J. Edgar Hoover have pointed out that the leaders of international Communism have vowed to achieve world domination—and that this cannot be done without taking over the United States.

The Counterattack Freedom School has 20 speakers for its five-day program.

Herbert Philbrick, Dr. Gerhart Niemeyer and William J. Edwards will speak on the first day of the program, Monday, August 28.

☆

TOPICS OF Philbrick's talks will be "Communism and Youth" and "I Led Three Lives." He is the author of the widely-publicized "I Led Three Lives," which detailed his experiences as an FBI-informant member of a Communist cell.

Philbrick is currently a New Hampshire businessman.

Dr. Gerhart Niemeyer, Professor of Political Science at the University of Notre Dame, will speak on both "The Philosophy of Communism" and "Foundations of American Government".

He is the author of Handbook on Communism and An Inquiry Into Soviet Mentality.

William J. Edwards is president and general manager of the Lake Huron Broadcasting Corp.

He visited the Soviet Union, East Berlin and Prague in 1959, and has addressed numerous groups throughout Michigan since then. His topic is "Soviet Russia Today."

Tickets for Counterattack Freedom School can be obtained through Grinnell's, the University of Detroit ticket office or from Post Office Box 4602, Detroit 34, Michigan.

Tickets for the full five-day program are $10; other tickets are $3 per day or $1 per two-lecture session.

Parents Can Help with Art, Music

With the reduction of the special music and art programs in our school system next year, parents might heed some suggestions made by the National Education Association for providing children with opportunities for expression in these areas.

Educators feel the more opportunity a child has to express himself, the happier he will be.

Here's what you may do to heighten a child's creativity and interest in art and music:

Give the youngsters materials to work with at home. Suggestions include coloring materials, paste, paint, clay, crayons, wood and nails, bells and drums.

Reproductions of good prints are plentiful and inexpensive. You don't need to frame the pictures—stick them to the walls with tape and change them frequently. Display the child's work, too.

On gift wrapping occasions, let young children finger-paint gay designs on shiny shelf paper for wrappings or crayon pictures on index cards for name tags.

At Christmas time, let older youngsters make impressive mobiles using thin wire hangers, bent and hung with small tree ornaments and shapes cut from aluminum foil.

Have music in the home. Play your own fine records when your child is around.

Take him to concerts such as Christmas carol festivals or band concerts.

Let the child be his own music-maker as well as a listener. Bells, mouth organ and drums can help him learn rhythm.

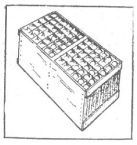
BREED FOR A LARGER LAMB CROP. Start by selecting good rams. One ram in five may be a poor breeder. Pick healthy rams having good conformation and free of physical defects. To make sure of rams, it's a good idea to have their semen tested before turning them in with the ewes. About two weeks before breeding begins, start feeding ewes one-half pound of grain per head per day. Also shear the rams and trim the ewes around their docks.

MOW OR GRAZE NEW SEEDINGS DURING LATE SUMMER if growth has been good this season and it's likely to bloom before cold weather sets in. New seedings stand a better chance of surviving through the winter if they are not allowed to bloom the first season, especially red clover. But clip and remove growth in plenty of time so seedlings will go into winter with plenty of top growth and root reserves.

PAY STRICT ATTENTION TO EGG HANDLING during this time of year. Unless you do, the portion you sell as Grade A's is likely to slip off. Gather eggs at least four or five times a day and get them cool as soon as possible. Keep the egg room as near to 50 to 60 degrees and 70% to 80% humidity as conditions allow. Cool egg cases, fillers and flats before packing eggs in them. Eggs may lose up to a pound of moisture when packed in a dry, warm, 30-dozen case.



WATCH CONDITION AND PASTURE OF DRY COWS. Normally dry cows won't require heavy grain feeding if they're in a good fleshy condition and are fed plenty of high quality roughage. But if their condition is poor or pastures are drying up, you'd better include some grain in the ration.

Specialist Advises Careful Cleaning of Waffle Baker

Don't wash the waffle baker after supper. Let it cool, then clean the grids with a stiff brush. If the grids have a special silicone treatment, skip the brush and use a damp cloth.

Georgianne Baker, home management specialist at Michigan State University, says a brown film may form on the grids when waffles bake. This will not harm the food, and it may prevent sticking.

When the baker needs a special cleaning, soak a paper napkin in household ammonia and place it between the grids. Leave it overnight so the ammonia can loosen the brown, cooked-on grease. Rub the grids with fine steel wool, then wash them with a cloth. Don't immerse the baker in water, and don't get the electrical connections wet.

After a special cleaning, reseason the baker. Brush the grids with unsalted shortening. Close the baker, and heat it to baking temperature. Then let it cool with the cover open.

When you're ready to bake waffles, proceed as usual, but throw away the first one which will be very greasy.

A colleague of our's "le this one. On Saturdays he sells dimes (10c each). Seems the neighborhood movie is next door. The kids stop in before the show for dimes—for the vending machines in the theatre. A lot of our business is like this—service to the community. Glad to do it. Because we're conveniently located and open long hours, we're a handy place to pick up change or a bottle of aspirin. But a pharmacist's true service to his community is to be a quick, reliable source of the drugs and medications your physician prescribes. That's the real reason we're here. THROUGH MY WINDOW

THE GREAT CIRCLE AROUND SUPERIOR—PART II

Let's see, last week we interrupted our trip at Port Arthur and Fort William, right?

Well, before continuing on around the lake, we took a short side trip, 20-some miles due West to Kakabeka Falls.

Some 128 feet high, the amount of water going over the falls is regulated and, of course, it was our luck to be there when the dam was closed.

Even so, the Quarter River we saw was exciting, and I can imagine that on weekends, when "the stopper" is let out, it would be a tremendous sight.

Back in Port Arthur it was our good fortune to be driving along the water front just after a large group of Royal Canadian Mounties had disembarked from an excursion boat. They were milling about and, oh my, those brilliant red coats!

At the tip of the long, narrow peninsula east of the Twin Cities is Sibley Provincial Park. This was our next major stop and what a lovely place.

Up and down over steep hills, the road twisted and turned but always we were driving through beautiful forests of white birch or pine.

As if the trees and the breath-taking views of Lake Superior which were always popping up weren't enough, here we saw our first and only deer of the trip.

A good-sized doe, we came upon her nibbling tender grass at the roadside and instead of bounding away in fright, she looked us over and then merely trotted away.

Now, how can I describe the next two and a half days—they were tremendous and one breath-taking scene followed another.

The northern shore of Lake Superior is unforgetable. The country is rugged but so beautiful! It is a land of tall dark forests ,rivers and streams which must abound in fish and huge, mammoth rocks rounded and grooved by the ancient glaciers which once covered the area.

Lakes are everywhere. Superior, of course, dominates but when the road cuts in-land there are still lakes, all sizes and shapes, all inviting.

It is impossible to list all the wonderful sights, but south of Wawa the great circle route runs thru Lake Superior Provincial Park and what a spot. The big lake's rock shore is wild and lonely.

Fog plagued our whole trip. Whenever we neared the lake we ran into the stuff and here in the park it was doubly maddening. With cameras loaded and ready to go, oh, how we longed for blue skies and some sunshine.

I still get goose-bumps of excitement thinking about them—in this park, we saw two moose. They were not far away, as in Yellowstone, but grazing right along the roadside.

We had hardly recovered from the first one when we rounded the curve and there was the second. Both were about the same size, and showed the same lack of concern at being looked at and photographed.

Actually, they were completely oblivious and only when fairly good traffic jams built up did they nonchalantly wander away —the first just turned and ambled into the woods but the second actually rambled across the road. Imagine—moose!

So it is that a week after leaving home, the first phase of our vacation ended at Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario.

We should have had double that time to really see and appreciate the Great Circle Route Around Lake Superior.

Before closing let's try to set the records straight. Many articles have been written and rumors are more than plentiful about this trip.

Much of it does run thru "wilderness" but with due preparation and careful planning, one need have no trouble.

We know that good motel accomodations are available in Duluth, Minn., Fort Wm. and Port Arthur, Terrace Bay, Wawa and Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. We had our reservations made ahead, accomodations are available but not overly plentiful.

Undoubtedly anyone driving until late at night and then looking for a place to stay might have trouble, but a simple telephone call in the morning, or better still, the night before, eliminates this.

As for the road, it is blacktopped all the way except for a few spots of road construction, especially between Nipagon and Terrace Bay.

Even the detours offer no trouble—they are short and very well managed. We actually enjoyed them. They were interesting to see because everything was done on such a huge scale. The longest stretch between gas stations is 57-miles.

So it is that we drove the Great Circle, had no trouble at all, just much good looking and lots of fun.

US-27 To End at Cheboygan

LANSING — The State Highway Department announced recently that highway US-27 will end at Cheboygan after Sept. 1.

The highway now extends from the Michigan-Indiana line south of Coldwater to Mackinaw City, a distance of 314 miles.

The section from Cheboygan to Mackinaw City has two route numbers—US-27 and US-23. It will continue to be designated as US-23.

The Highway Department said US-27 is being terminated at Cheboygan because Interstate 75 Freeway has replaced it as the prime north-south route in the northern tip of Michigan's Lower Peninsula.

I-75 has been open to traffic from Indian River to Mackinaw City since last November.

Personality Clash Should Not Block Learning Process

ANN ARBOR — High school and college students should gradually acquire the skill of learning under teachers they don't particularly like, maintains a University of Michigan assistant professor of education.

High school and college students, who are so strongly influenced by the personality of teachers that they must go to great lengths to avoid one they may not like, need clinical help, he said.

The student's skill in learning should come under his personal control as much as possible. Teachers, machines, and other aids are only temporary boosters to help him learn the proper habits efficiently.

Certainly one great advantage the teacher has over the machine lies in his personality.

He should not try to make it neutral or pretend he doesn't have a personality. But his strategy should be to use his personality as an instrument to influence the learner to find his real reward in the process of learning.

Teachers could use some training in acting to learn how to 'play down' their own personalities when the message they want to get over to their students is informative and has nothing to do with the person who delivers it.

For children in kindregarten and the lower grades it is right that the teacher's personality should not clash with the learner. We can't expect strong frustration tolerance in the very young.

But sooner or later each student must learn how to continue his education under less than ideal circumstances.

Handle Garden Products Quickly

Freezing does not sterilize food, but simply retards bacterial action, say MSU home economist specialists.

To insure safe products, handle foods quickly.

Cooked foods should be cooled rapidly and packaged immediately for freezing.

The shorter the time between the garden and the canning jar or freezer carton, the better the product.

Field Tile Lines Best on Poorly Drained Soils

Field tile lines work better than either mole drains or bedding on poorly-drained Michigan agricultural soils.

Research studies on Pitkford clay soils near Sault Ste. Marie have shown highest crop yields on tiled plots and lowest yields on conventionally-treated land.

Four-year rotations of wheat, oats and hay were set up on the drainage plots. Seven drainage treatments were used in the experimental work.

The customary practice of bedding for poorly-drained soils in that area gave little or no yield increase of grain, but a moderate increase of hay.

The 40-foot beds have been more effective than 60-foot beds on which yields were about the same as on conventional lands.

Tiling resulted in an average of 11 bushels an acre of winter wheat over the conventional treatment. Oats showed a 19-bushel-an-acre increase; first-year hay, 600-pounds-per-acre more, and second-year hay, 1,000 pounds-an-acre more.

NANCY BELAND VISITED TROUBLESOME BERLIN

Visited Communist East Berlin

Editor's Note: The following is a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Beland from their daughter Nancy telling of her visit to Berlin.

The Herald appreciates the opportunity to print it for our readers.

GUTEN, MEIN MUTTER UND FATTI UND BUZ.

We left Comar, July 20 at 9:30 a.m. We drove for two hours before we reached the check point.

At one point just beyond Oker, a small town about 10 or 12 KM from here a large cross stands on the crest of a hill. (Of course the "hill" is really one of the Harz mountains.)

This cross is called "the cross of Germany East" and marks the border between the two zones.

At another point just before Braunschewig, you can look from a hill (and this time only a hill because the Harz begin at Oker and Goslar) and see a river which also serves as a divider.

When we arrived at the border point where we were to cross, I found two separate check stations.

Needless to say, one was the Allies check station—they didn't check anything going in, but they had a restaurant and rest rooms—and the other was the D.D.R. check point. We breezed through the Allied check point but we had to stop at the D.D.R. point.

Incidentally, D.D.R. stands for "Deutschland Democratic Republic" and is always written (by us) in quotation marks or preceded by "the so-called."

The West Germans do not recognize this government as Deutsch which means German. They call all Germans, East and West, Deutsch and not East or West Deutsch.

☆

THE VERY buildings would have told you at which point you were.

The Allies had restrooms, restaurants and gift shops. The D.D.R. has buildings for business and that's all.

Being an "auslander" or outsider, I received the extreme honor of filling out three sheets of questions, presenting my passport to be stamped by an enormous stamp that filled one whole page, plus the five smaller stamps they entered with it, and paying 10 marks or approximately $2.50 to go into their zone. Everyone but the Deutsch must do this.

Even Heide and the rest of the West Germans have to have an identity card to get into the zone.

I don't know by what authority they can tax us for using that road but they do. And they have a pretty swell system going too.

The East German "mark" is worth about as much as one-fourth of a West German mark in West Germany, but in East Germany they keep the ratio at one-to-one. So I paid about 40 East German marks to get in.

When I returned from the building to the bus, there was a lady leaving newspapers for anyone who wanted them. Heide got one for me and translated some of it to me.

This "newspaper" told about all of the West German students who were trying to get into East Germany to obtain the "better life."

It even went so far as to state that the border patrol had had to stop the flow of people. If anything, exactly the opposite is true.

Another story told how an eight-year-old West German boy had written a note to his parents, after running away, that he had been kidnapped and would be returned if they paid a certain number of marks to someone.

Upon his return home, after being asked why he had done this, he is supposed to have said, "I have to work so hard after school and I needed a vacation."

I knew this was wrong because I had lived in Western Germany for over a month by this time.

But I also knew that if I had never seen Western Germany, a certain amount of this propaganda would have remained in my mind.

Therefore, I don't feel we can blame the low individuals who reside under Communism. They are only ignorant to the truth because they can not hear the truth or read the truth.

But this kind of a government run "newspaper" certainly makes me glad I'm from a country where one of the basic principles is freedom of the press.

☆

AS THE BUS left the buildings, I noticed the first sign boards I'd seen in Europe, but I didn't have a chance to look at them carefully or for Heide to tell me what they said.

Here, also, I saw for the first time the plain red banner of Communism.

As the big bus started rolling along the Autobahn (East German zone), I noticed that we were using only two lanes of the four-lane highway.

But just as I was about to pounce on this first defect of Communism, we passed the construction zone and went over onto the other two lanes.

The only thing I can say about it is I've never seen women working on road construction before. There were five workers—three men and two women.

As we rode further and further, Heide told me to pick out some differences between West and East Germany.

The first I pointed out was the lack of traffic, but she countered with the fact that only Berlin traffic used the road so naturally there was less.

But I finally got her to concede that there wasn't as much traffic in the village either.

The villages themselves were my next point. There weren't as many as in Western Germany. I think we only saw six or seven in three hours.

In one I noticed a church, so I asked her about religion in Eastern Germany. She informed me that there are some churches and that villagers are free to go to them.

However, anyone who goes to or belongs to a church (even if he doesn't go) has a hard time finding work and if he has a small farm, he loses it.

Heide brought out the next difference. The fields were large but carelessly kept. She said this was because the farmers have no pride in them and this because they don't own them.

They work a certain number of hours a day and when the time comes to stop, they go home and don't even think about the fields.

I also noticed the lack of parks along the autobahn. In Western Germany, there are many roadside parks where you can eat lunch and rest for a while. I think we saw six parks all the way to Berlin.

Each vehicle is timed on the road and it isn't allowed time to stop and possibly take pictures.

I was warned in Goslar that the D.D.R. authorities might open my camera to make sure I didn't have a film in it. I was glad they didn't, however, because I did have a film in the movie camera.

☆

AS WE CONTINUED our drive through the East German zone, we were stopped by some policemen standing in the middle of the road.

I was absolutely numb with fright! I don't know what they could have found out, but I was convinced they had stopped our bus so they could seize me.

What they really wanted to tell us was about a detour we would have to take because there had been an accident on the autobahn.

The rest of our trip was rather uneventful except for seeing part of the Berliner Ring which was built for the Olympic games in 1932 and a small statute of a Berlin bear.

I say a bear because this is the symbol of Berlin and everywhere you look there are Berlin bears.

After we had passed through more check points—where I saw my first real Russian soldiers—we passed a cannon mounted as a Russian memorial.

It wasn't until two weeks later that I realized that this Russian monument is in the American sector.

When we arrived at four o'clock, Tante Hilda greeted us and hurried us home to have cake and tea. Then I went to sleep until seven o'clock and supper.

Friday Heide and I obtained special cards for ten marks which enabled us to ride on any subway, tram or bus for one week.

☆

SATURDAY, WE began our sightseeing.

First we saw the new houses in Berlin. This particular colony of apartment houses are unique, for each house was designed by a different designer, each representing a country.

One house had, at its base, enough stores, etc. so that a person would never have to leave the apartment house for his entire life time.

After leaving the Neuhousen (new houses), we went to die Siegessaule or Victory Monument. This monument was started in 1869 and completed in 1873. It has 293 steps and we know because we counted them and because one of the plaques said so.

On the top of this very high column is a great lady adorned with gold-and golden wings and holding the golden wreath of victory in one hand while in the other she carries a golden scepter.

From the top we could see the Kongressshalle, the neuhousen, the Brandenburger-Tor, and beyond it into Eastern Germany.

Also below is the Tiergarten, a wonderful park right in the city. Berlin has so many parks. At one, the Victoria Park near the Templekof (airport), is an egormous waterfall, at the top of which is a huge Gothic memorial. It's really beautiful.

The next stop on our tour was the Russian monument in the British sector. Those Russians have a knack for building their monuments where they aren't supposed to be!

This one was built before the boundary was decided. Perhaps, they (the Russians) thought if they had a monument there, it would be included in their sector. That isn't the way it worked though, and now they have to bring Russian soldiers into West Berlin every day to guard it.

It is composed of several high pillers and at the top is a man, whose figure resembles good ole' Nicky, holding a gun. The inscription, which is written in German, English, Russian and a few other languages, reads something like this:

"To the eternal glory of the brave men who fought against and turned back the German fascist invaders to defend the Soviet Union."

That's it—more or less! And the Russians had the nerve to put that in German in West Berlin.

Another day we rode to the top of the Telefunken. The top is 150 M. in the air. You can imagine the movies I took from there.

After descending from the heights, we took a short ride on the U-Bahn and arrived at the Olympic Stadium. Here I saw the field for field events and track and the two swimming pools. We also saw the enormous bell that rang during the Olympics in 1936.

And we saw where the Eternal fire had burned after being brought to Berlin from the Stadium of Olympia by 3075 runners.

On the sides of the walls the names of the winners of each event were written. I was really surprised at the number of Americans. There were quite a few listed.

☆

TUESDAY WAS tops in my book. Tante Hilda escorted Heide and me into East Berlin. I was quite concerned, but we simply rode in on the U-Bahn with no questions asked.

Once we were inside the border, Tante Hilda asked a policeman if I would need any special permission to "visit the museum." He said I didn't so we started to the museum. Naturally, we took the long way around.

Tante Hilda was very familiar with Berlin and was able to tell us many things about the buildings. I noticed the many parks in the downtown district, and asked about it.

She replied (through Heide, of course) that the biggest buildings of Berlin had stood there, but the East Germans had replaced them with only grass for grass seed is cheaper than reconstruction.

The ruins inside East Berlin were terrific. The downtown section of all greater Berlin is now a large park. Off the main street many destroyed homes haven't been cleaned up at all.

From the Brandenburger-Tor you can't see much but walking around inside the sector you learn a great deal.

Many of the small shops were "closed for inventory." Heide said that this was because they couldn't get any products to sell.

Many of the larger stores were labeled HO. I wondered about this because they weren't just one kind of store, but all different kinds. Heide said that this was the government label and that the stores were owned by the government.

In the book store were very few different books. I could only recognize a few titles, but those I could make out were about the Catholic church, NATO, and Adenaur. These subjects (in East Berlin) lead me to believe that the books couldn't have been very complimentary.

Even in the subways the differences were very noticable. In West Berlin, every station has a candy shop and magazine shop. Most of the stations are quite new and painted in pretty colors—orange, light green, yellow and light blue.

In East Berlin the candy shops were all closed and the magazine shops carried only two or three newspapers. And every station we went through was dimly lit and painted a depressing shade of gray.

☆

WE FINALLY did get to the museum. The Pergamon museum is one of five on Museum Island.

This museum receives its name from the most famous part of its collection, the ancient Pergamon Altar. This was reconstructed in 1959 and is absolutely fabulous. I have a picture of it that I'll bring home with me.

Also in East Berlin we saw a travel bureau. One of the signs read, "Spend a glorious summer in the U.S.S.R."

The people seem to be like people anywhere. They can't talk about everything they want to, but their lives go on.

The young people date, fall in love, marry and raise their children here.

The East Berliners are just as courageous as the West Berliners and I think the Russians don't have a very tight grip on these wonderful people.

Student Council Organized Stay of German Boy

One of the two Foreign Exchange students, who will be entering Tecumseh High School this fall, is being sponsored by the Student Council, a 14-member governing body at Tecumseh High School.

Final decesion to sponsor such a student came in March when the council voted to pledge $300 toward the travel expenses of an exchange student.

Members are taking $150 from their treasury and asking various clubs in the community to contribute the remainder.

The recent exchange student at Britton, plus a Regional Student Council Meeting, influenced the decision by the council.

Many of the high school students were familiar with the program at Britton which brought Joost Jan Braam from Holland during the 1959-60 school year.

In addition, four council members heard several exchange students speak and answer questions at a regional meeting last year.

"Why not for Tecumseh" they asked.

So after talking it over at council meeting, the group decided to sponsor a student.

Just 10 years ago, two German students, Joachim Clausnitzer and Alfred Born, spent a year here in connection with the Youth for Understanding program.

COUNCIL PRESIDENT MIKE ROHRER

The boys were sponsored by the Rotary organization.

Adolf Petrus, a 17-year-old German student, will be arriving in Detroit's Metropolitan Airport next week.

During his Tecumseh stay, he will be living with Mr. and Mrs. James Barton.

President of the council is Mike Rohrer, son of Mr. an Mrs. James Rohrer of 604 Center Dr.

James Howard, high school math teacher, is the adviser.

Tourist Group Asks for Later School Opening

The Michigan Tourist Council has submitted a proposal to Lynn M. Bartlett, Michigan Superintendent of Public Instruction, recommending a school opening date the Monday following Labor Day.

Citing highway safety factors and generally favorable September vacation weather as motivation for the move, the Council resolution urges Dr. Bartlett to advocate establishment of the later school opening by local school districts.

Copies of the resolution were forwarded to Governor Otto Kerner of Illinois, Matthew Welsh of Indiana and Michael DiSalle of Ohio with a letter which stressed the common interests shared by these states in the matters of highway safety and promotion of tourist travel.

Elimination of the need for a "back-to-school" rush by late summer vacationers is seen as a means of separating these travelers from the crowds returning after the Labor Day weekend holiday.

Extension of the valuable summer tourist season will give a boost to the states' economies and, in Michigan, provide a windfall of sales tax revenues to the local school districts.

Swine Conference to Emphasize Best Type Hogs

A Swine Type Conference is to be held Friday, August 18 in the livestock pavilion at MSU to aid swine producers in selecting and planning a breeding program to meet today's market demand.

The event will include activities on how to recognize a true meat hog on the hoof and how to select breeding animals that will reproduce market-topping, consumer-approved, meat hogs.

The conference will begin at 10 a.m. with six classes presented for judging and discussion.

For the benefit of 4-H and FFA members, a junior judging contest will be conducted. Trophies will be awarded to the winning individuals and teams.

The event will be sponsored by the MSU Department of Animal Husbandry with the cooperation of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Applaud Exchange Program

Students of human relations claim that personal contact with a particular situation is one of the best means of overcoming ignorance and misunderstanding.

With the presence of constant world tension, especially in the European field, an opportunity for other people to know Americans better and we them is indeed not to be taken lightly.

And where is there a better place to begin than in the everyday experiences of work, play and study.

Such an opportunity is being provided for this community and its youth by the Student Council and the Dwight Hodges family as two foreign students, Adolf Petrus of Germany and Muriels Lugard of Holland, come to spend a year here.

Not since 1951 has there been an exchange student attending our schools.

Worth noting is a comment made by one of the French agricultural students visiting in this area. Americans, he said, seem to know very little of what happens in other countries.

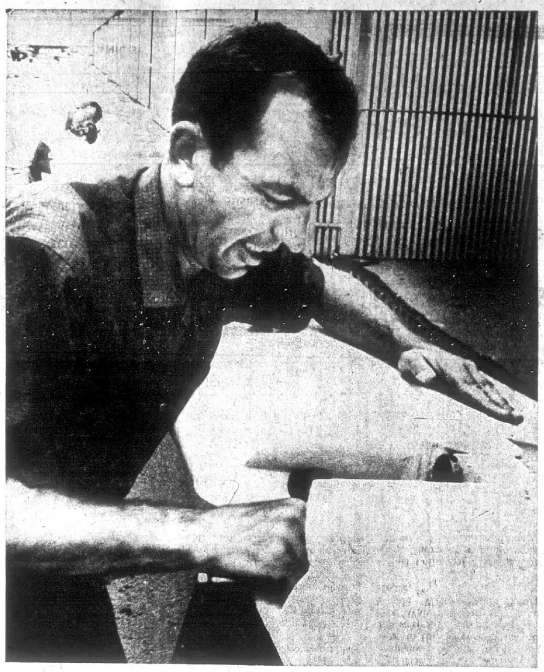
The foreign exchange program is one way to help us all.

How little do we really know of the life, the difficulties and the aspirations of the European people? What better way is there to learn than by talking with and questioning a European student?

What better opportunity is there to foster greater understanding among young people of the world than by their attending school together?

What better way is there for a foreign student to gain an understanding of the American way of life than by spending several months living with an American family?

We applaud the Student Council, the Dwight Hodges, with whom Muriels will be living, the Jim Bartons, with whom Adolf will be living, and other contributing groups for undertaking such a worthwhile project.



NATIONAL CHAMP — With a total of 4564 points, A. J. Smith, Tecumseh architect, captured the National Soaring Championship August 10. His victory in the final 80-mile speed run, in which he averaged 42.2 m.p.h., captured him the title over second place William S. Ivans Jr. of San Diego, Calif. Mr. Smith is shown with his assistant Mike Walters as he readies his glider for another flight.

Health Department Raises X-Ray Age from 21 to 30

By this fall, the Michigan Department of Health expects to be x-raying only persons 30 years old and over with their traveling mobile x-ray units.

The minimum age is being raised from 21 because it has been found that better than 90 percent of persons discovered to have active TB by use of the mobile x-ray are over 30 years old.

Plans are being developed so that persons under 30 will be skin tested for TB at the same time older persons are being x-rayed by mobile units.

Those with positive skin tests will be notified to report for a chest x-ray and other tests necessary to confirm or rule out active tuberculosis.

A positive skin test indicates only that TB germs are in a person's body. This does not necessarily mean that the disease is active.

But it does mean the person has been exposed to an active case and gives us the opportunity to check all those in close contact with him.

About 2½ percent of the school children and 20 percent of the state's adult population are TB reactors.

It is from these persons that most of the future TB cases will come so it is important to keep a close check on their health over the years.

Other mobile x-ray unit findings show that 98 percent of the heart abnormalities and 91 percent of suspected lung tumors discovered occurred in persons over 30 years of age.

The 30-years-old limit will be effective at once in areas where mobile x-ray unit appearances have not yet been announced. Where they have already been scheduled and publicity materials printed, persons 21 or over will be x-rayed.

Bill Holmes, new pharmacist at Hodges Drug Store, chided me that folks were not very friendly in my neighborhood.

Bill will move to the north end of town from Adrian next week and has been busy painting and preparing his place at 706 Seneca St.

"Nobody even brought me a cup of coffee or a ham sandwich," Bill told me in mock dejection.

"Well, I can certainly remedy that," was my reply. "I'll bring the Nokomis St. gang over the next time you're there working and have the kids bounce baseballs off the side of your place, crack a window or two, tear up some shrubs and make you feel right at home."

Bill allowed as how he might prefer solitude after all.

It never fails to amaze how much interest there is in a stack of old photographs.

Each Sidewalk Sale The Herald will fill cardboard boxes with several hundred prints of pictures run in our weekly over past months. Price is 10c each, regardless of size or condition.

Before the booth had been open many minutes Friday, the pictures were scattered all over the table tops, which served as counters, and the people begin buying.

Folks purchased more than 300 pix. Receipts, as usual, go into The Herald's employee coffee fund.

So, speaking for folks here, thank you nice people, for providing for our java breaks.

The Helena, First Fleet flagship, is scheduled to participate in a "fleet sail" August 26, when it will join 20 sister ships steaming for Hawaii to relieve ships operating in the Far East with the Seventh Fleet.

The two fleets have the responsibility of maintaining Free World control of the 85 million square mile Pacific Ocean area—the First Fleet in the eastern and Mid-Pacific, the Seventh in the West.

While Some Gripe, City Is Saved $800

Uniforms for Civil Defense auxiliary police got an airing at Monday's City Council session.

So far, 10 members of the 30-man CD force have been outfitted at $30 each.

There has been some criticism from private citizens regarding the uniforms City Manager Ed Nelson explained.

However, this was because folks didn't understand what the auxiliary policemen are doing for Tecumseh, he added.

Police Chief Murell Clark said they have made invaluable contributions to his operation.

"We have saved $800 since I came here in June as a result of the auxiliary police working with us," he told Council.

CD men are donating their services in eight-hour shifts, teaming with regular city police.

They do special assignment work, traffic control, help on the desk and have served in two police blockades.

The auxiliary force is under direction of Steve Illeck, Tecumseh Civil Defense head.

Cooperation between the CD group and regular police has been excellent, according to the chief.

Mr. Nelson told Council he would like to get uniforms for more of the CD men, so that they also could receive practical training in police work, as the first 10 are getting.

In addition, several others of the 30-man auxiliary group will be formed into a hospital unit, to be organized by Dr. Carlton Cook and later trained by government experts.

Their responsibility will be to handle equipment which makes up the mobile Civil Defense hospital that is now stored on the second floor of the fire station.

50% Addition Set for A&P

Plans for a major remodel and expansion program in Tecumseh's A & P super market were revealed this week by Vice-President R. R. Betz.

The super market, located at 107 Herrick Park Dr., was erected in 1958, highlighting nearly 40 years of A & P business in Tecumseh.

Vice-President Betz, who is in charge of A & P stores in this area, said the remodeling program will provide approximately 50% more floor space and an additional seven-ton air conditioning unit to make shopping more comfortable.

"Many changes will be made in the interior to make shopping more pleasant and convenient for consumers," he stated. "Aisles will be widened, departments relocated and enlarged, and the store will be decorated throughout and given special color treatment," the executive reported.

The remodeled store will be engineered for quick, convenient shopping. Six checkout stands, including one express, is expected to keep traffic flowing smoothly even during peak periods of operation.

☆

ONE OF THE highlights of the super market is the self-service meat department with refrigerated production line for the preparation of meat items.

Nearly 70 feet of refrigerated cases will be used to display a full line of fresh and smoked meats, poultry and fish.

The addition, to measure 30'x-139', will run the entire length of the store's eastern side.

Wes Haeussler Construction Co. will start work on the project next week. He anticipates the work will be completed within three months.

Operations in the store will continue as usual, according to local manager Al Snyder.

POINT OF DISCUSSION—Vice president, R. R. Betz of the Toledo Division of the A&P points out the location of the new addition to local Store Manager, Al Snyder, and Toledo division Sales Manager, Cliff Smith. Located between the present store and Jack Osburn's Real Estate, the addition will be finished in three months.

Workmen Show Good Progress

The community's new civic center is progressing very rapidly, according to City Manager Ed Nelson.

If there is no interrupting delays, workers hope to have the building ready for use by the first of October.

Here is an account of the progress:

► The steel beams are all in place on the second floor ceiling to replace the support of the wooden posts. These beams were slid across the building from the north to the south side and constituted the most difficult task of the entire project.

► The elevator shaft has been removed from the center of the floor and cement will be laid soon at its location on the first floor.

► The holes left by the elevator on the third and second floors and the small holes from the wooden posts on the second floor will be covered soon.

► Four windows have been removed from the second floor because of the installation of the steel beams.

► The truck pit has been filled in and the cement will be poured in a few days.

► The outside of the building is being scraped and the first coat of paint applied.

► Inside painting on the third floor will be started soon.

► Much of the equipment in the boiler room is being removed. One boiler is being retained for heating the building in the future.

Kreighoff-Lenawee's construction superintendent stated that most of the heaviest work is about completed and subcontractors will begin their work very soon.

What are they planning to do with the old water wheel? Plans show that the wheel will be painted and remain to enhance the architectural beauty of the building and in addition will serve as a reminder of the rich history of its past.

Chief Clark Proposes New Plan

Who will guard children crossing busy Adrian St. going to and from Tecumseh Acres School this year?

The problem came up at Monday's Council gathering.

City fathers were told by Police Chief Murell Clark that the force couldn't spare men for this duty.

He suggested that a retiree or PTA mothers be hired for this work.

Councilman Terry Mackin inquired as to the cost of a sky walk and City Manager Ed Nelson said when the school was constructed this was looked into and such a structure would have run $12,000.

He suggested sending letters to firms which do such work and get up-to-date costs on various types of sky walks available.

Other city fathers mentioned that at least four more crossings should also be considered if the chief's plan be accepted.

They included intersections of:

► Ottawa St. and Chicago Blvd.

► Logan St. and N. Evans St.

► Van Buren St. and Chicago Blvd.

► N. Evans St. and Herrick Park Dr.

HE WAS KNOCKED OUT OF HIS SHOE

Bike Rider, Mark Ries, Hit by Car

Nine-year-old Mark Ries was taken to Herrick Memorial Hospital Thursday after he was hit on his bicycle by a car driven by Mrs. Harry Derr, 44, of 701 S. Evans St. at 12:50 p.m.

He suffered a possible concussion and skin abrasions and was released from the hospital Sunday.

Mark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Ries of 310 E. Kilbuck.

The car and bike collided at the corner of Kilbuck and Evans Sts., the bike popping into the air just above the top of the green Chevy driven by Mrs. Derr, who traveled nearly half a block before stopping.

The boy was thrown to the east side of the curb. His left shoe lay about 18 feet from the point of impact.

The boy was dazed for several moments and did not move. Then he told witnesses he was all right and wanted to go home.

He was bleeding from lacerations about the face and from the mouth before the ambulance arrived.

Mrs. Derr received a summons for defective brakes.

TOP HORSEWOMAN — She's got her hands full, but there's still a big smile. Jane Mobley captured the top award in the horse competition at last week's county fair. Her trophy indicates that hers was the best all around horse among the 4-H'ers.

Brenda Heeman and Gary Crawford Wed

White and tangerine were the wedding colors for the ceremony uniting Brenda Heeman and Gary J. Crawford in marriage Saturday evening at the Grace English Lutheran Church.

A candlelight background was the setting for the impressive service performed by the Rev. K. F. Koeplin. Gold altar vases held arrangements of white gladioli and tangerine carnations.

The prie dieu was flanked with large spiral candelabra faced with the same lovely blossoms.

The ushers placed a white aisle carpet down the center aisle lighted with tall single candelabra tied with tangerine flowers and white satin bows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Heeman of 735 N. Union St. and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Crawford of E. Monroe Road.

Mrs. Hazel Coller accompanied the church choir as they sang, "O Perfect Love", "In Thee O Lord I Trust" and "The Lord's Prayer" as the couple knelt.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ferguson were hosts for the 300 guests seated by George Heeman, Robert Younglove and Jerry Medler of E. Lansing.

The bride chose a gown of peau de soie in princess style with rounded neckline and cap sleeves appliqued with imported Alencon lace. The lace also trimmed the front of the floor length skirt and the full circular train.

The back fullness of unpressed pleats was topped with handmade roses. A single rose formed the headpiece that held the bouffant illusion veil in place.

She carried a white lace covered Bible topped with a crescent arrangement of white Eucharist lilies and stephanotis with cascading strands of miniature ivy.

Mrs. Robert Younglove was the matron of honor and Kaye Iott of Deerfield, Jean Roe and Mary Alice Rockwell of Adrian were the bridesmaids.

The attendants were all gowned alike in Spanish sun chiffon over tangerine taffeta with rounded necklines and cap sleeves, full deep hemmed skirts with taffeta sashes topped with roses.

Their headpieces were single roses with circular veils and their shoes matched their gowns.

Cindy and Connie Younglove, flower girls, wore short white organdie dresses with sashes and headbands matching the attendants gowns.

The mothers' dresses were lace over peau de soie. All gowns were styled and made by Maude Bell.

Gerald Christy was best man and Jeffery Heeman of Deerfield was the ringbearer.

Cal Damon's Combo played for the reception for 300 at the United Product Workers Union Hall which was gaily decorated with the wedding colors.

Mrs. Ellis Fairbanks was serving hostess at the reception. Others assisting were Ann Hodges, Mrs. Russell Heeman, Mrs. Fred Feldman, Mrs. Harold Olds, Sandra Olds, Mrs. John Olds, Mrs. Kenneth Ringman, Mrs. R. C. Limes and Mrs. Louis Allegrina.

Vacation, ah—But it's over for many families in the area. The annual two week shut-down at the Tecumseh Products ended Monday, and from near and far the residents return to resume their regular duties.

Many paths crossed as the vacationers sought relaxation and entertainment. The Art Holdridge family camped at Silver Lake near Mears, Mich. They found the Kenneth Hinkleman's at Waters near Lake Margery and the Ken Wise family on the Jordon River. The Holdridges also spent some time on Jones Lake near Frederic.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Filter and family and her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Slick, and family have returned from a camping trip through the upper peninsula as far as Copper Harbor.

At Baraga they encountered Joe Bartenslager with his son and some friends who were camped next to them. They also saw Mr. and Mrs. Frazier Tubbs of Adrian at Miners Falls.

Friday the Filters attended the Detroit Boston baseball game, visited the children's grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Gold fine, and went to the zoo on Belle Isle.

During the telephone conversation to get the news a young voice was heard to remark, "And the Tigers won too." Little and big they are routin' for their favorites.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Bishop and family have returned from Baldwin, Sturgis and New Albany, Miss. where they visited relatives for 10 days.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Boyd were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Griffus in Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Blanchard and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Blanchard of Jackson have returned from a weeks tour of West Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky. Glass factories and the coal mines were highlights of their trip.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tomorsky and Kathy spent a week vacationing at Oscoda, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rutherford and son, Jack, and Craig Rosacrans have returned from Hollywood, Calif. where they spent a month visiting David Rutherford and Mrs. Rutherford's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Coscarellie.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert King, Jr. and family have returned from two weeks vacation at Cedarville. One son, Gregg, remained in Cedarville where he is employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hoffman and son, Eric, vacationed in Traverse City and Tecumseh with Mr. and Mrs. William Hodges.

1st Lt. Richard Santer and his wife, Ruth, and daughter, Carolyn, arrived Monday from Fort Carson, Colo. to spend a couple of weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Boyce, before they go to Fort Lee, Va. where Lt. Santer will attend school for five weeks and then return to Fort Carson.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer House and son, Steve, have returned from Ridgecrest, N.C. where they attended the WMU Conference at the Ridgecrest Baptist Assembly. They also visited the Rev. and Mrs. Seal Janeway at Middlesboro, Ky. and Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Heltsley at Owensboro, Ky.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hope of South Lyon were visitors Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer House.

Johnson Maduewesi, graduate student from Nigeria at the University of Wisconsin, was a guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton for several days last week.

Mrs. William Beardsley and daughter, Barbara, have returned to Tecumseh from California where they have been living since February. Miss Beardsley graduated from high school there in June.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Brock and son, David, entertained Mrs. Brock's brother, James J. Good, and his wife and three children from Hamilton, Ontario over a long weekend.

Catherine and Greg Gresham spent the week as guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton while their parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Julian Gresham, were attending summer conference in Alma.

Seaman James H. Palmer has been spending a 20-day leave here with his wife after graduating from a special sonar course at the Naval Base at Key West, Fla.

He left Toledo by plane last Tuesday for Cape Canaveral where he boarded a government plane Tuesday for the Naval Base at Barbados Island for two years shore duty close to South America.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Day and David have returned after ten days at their Hubbard Lake home.

Scenic Shoreline Highway Study Proposed for State

LANSING — A study of 11 possible Great Lakes shoreline scenic highways for Michigan has been proposed by the State Highway Department.

The report calls for "serious public discussion" on the establishment of 650 miles of scenic shoreline routes in Northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula.

Total cost of the 11 scenic routes is estimated at $97.1 million.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie said the Highway Department has long expressed an interest in the development of shoreline scenic routes to make more available to the public the beauty and natural wonders with which our state is so richly endowed.

These scenic highways would rank with the Mackinac Bridge in terms of tourist interest and provide Michigan with new shoreline routes of national reputation and importance.

Mackie said the 11 possible routes would stimulate Michigan's tourist industry.

The tourist industry is one of Michigan's major industries, providing employment for thousands and bringing over $650 million into the state each year, he said. Scenic highways can play an important part in the further development of the tourist industry.

The 11 possible routes, with their length include:

DeTour Village to Sault Ste. Marie to Munising, 187 miles.

Along the east shore of Keweenaw Peninsula on Lake Superior from Hancock to the Fort Wilkins area, 96 miles.

Marquette to L'Anse along Lake Superior, 83 miles.

Around Garden Peninsula on Lake Michigan and Big Bay De Noc west of Manistique, 65 miles.

Houghton to Ontonagon along Lake Superior, 49 miles.

Alpena north along Lake Huron to a point near Thompsons Harbor in Presque Isle county, 40 miles.

Along Lake Michigan from the vicinity of Gulliver in Schoolcraft county to Naubinway in Mackinac county, 38 miles.

Five sections of M-22 along the shore of Lake Michigan from Manistee to Empire in Leelanau county, 30 miles.

M-131 from Cross Village to Mackinaw City along Lake Michigan, 22 miles.

Ludington to Manistee along Lake Michigan, 22 miles.

Charleyoix to Eastport along Lake Michigan, 18 miles.

Eagles Auxiliary Plans Rummage and Bake Sale

Plans were completed for a rummage and bake sale at the meeting of the Eagles Auxiliary held recently.

The sale will be held August 25 and 26 and members are asked by the committee to have all rummage at the hall by Thursday evening and baked goods there by 10 a.m. Saturday.

Mrs. Verdi Skinner was named chairman.

Plans were also completed for the preparation of dinners for the Exchange Club beginning in September.

Members concluded the evening with a social time.

Euchre Party

A public euchre party will be held at the Tecumseh Grange Hall Friday, August 25, at 8 p.m.

Those attending may bring cookies or doughnuts for refreshments.

Young People Sponsor New York City Girl at Summer Conference

Barbara Mims from the Church of the Master, New York City, was a guest last weekend in the Douglas Hall home.

She arrived Friday morning at the Willow Run Airport where she was greeted by Janice Hall, Carol Bilby, Carl Wilt, Joe Hanna, and Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton.

Other members of the Senior High Fellowship of the Presbyterian Church joined them at the Donald Parrett cottage at Wamplers Lake for a picnic and afternoon of swimming and boating.

In the evening some of the young people escorted Miss Mims to the Sidewalk Sale and to the Lenawee County Fair.

Sunday Barbara, Janice Hall, Terry Clark and Carol Bilby were driven to Alma College by the Halls to attend the Senior High Summer Conference of the Lansing Presbytery.

The Rev. and Mrs. Julian Gresham and Carl Wilt preceded them there Saturday.

The 20 members of the Fellowship donated Barbara's travel expenses and the church family who gave her the Conference Scholarship are happy in the knowldge that the 125 young people at Summer Conference will have a richer experience because Barbara is there.

A group of 18 from Tecumseh visited her in church last April.

35 Shoppers Given Prizes

Although the crowd was smaller than in previous years, Friday's Sidewalk Sale was reasonably successful.

Results were varied among the shopkeepers. Some reported as good a business as last year while others reported sales volume down.

Several commented that the small crowd might have been due to the competition of the County Fair and the Products vacation.

Highlighting the annual sale were the Mystery Shoppers, chosen by the 15 Mystery Shopper Hunters.

The Hunters worked in three-hour shifts, under the direction of Mrs. Ralph Dabe. Prizes were awarded on the average of every 20 minutes.

City Survey of Traffic To Be Made

A complete survey of Tecumseh's traffic flow will be started shortly by police.

Chief Murell Clark told Council Monday that he estimates there is a 6 to 8% increase of vehicular flow through town.

Some of this is a result of motorists coming off the new US-23 near Dundee and using M-50.

The survey will help determine plans for future city traffic control.

City Manager Ed Nelson is working with the chief on local driving habits and has ordered 10 new "stop" signs at $3.95 each and 10 "yield-right-of-way" signs at $4.26 each.

These were purchased from Michigan Industries at Jackson Prison.

A "street narrows" sign has also been ordered for S. Maumee St. near Kilbuck St.

A "dead end" sign will also be coming for use at the foot of E. Logan St., where it enters the parking area at the new civic center, the former Talon, Inc. building.

Pigeons Being Raised in City

Council was told Monday that pigeons were being raised at three homes on Russell Rd.

City Attorney James Beardsley said that this is a violation of the zoning ordinance.

If a compfaint is signed with the police, the city will take action.

TEACHERS

teaching staff in the history of the schools. The normal turnover is around 10.

Many who have left, said Mr. McDowell, have taken positions in other schools at salary increases of from $750 to $1250 per year.

Others have left simply because they felt that the attitude of the community concerning millage for operation indicates a lack of interest in good schools for the future.

The remainder, he said, have left for purely personal reasons, such as not wanting to have their first grade children go half days.

Those who have resigned are: Ina Bailey, Sally Baker, Leslie Bennett, Wayne Berridge, Arlene Bierley, Tony Bronzo, Kay Fitzpatrick, Sally Gibson, Joan Greenler, Dale Harvey, Suzanne Kane, Janet Keller and Marian Kime.

Also leaving are Roger Koenke, Phyllis Kohr, Ann Kureth, N. Morse, Wright Sawyer, Ray Sommers, Susan Sory, Jack Trudeau, Worth Tyler, Frances Waggoner, Louis Whitton and Virginia Zink.

Mr. McDowell stated that it has been difficult to obtain adequate replacements for these people for the Tecumseh salary schedule is no longer an inducement to come to our schools.

$535 Paint Job Becomes $5,000 Task

What started as a $535 paint job for the city's water standpipe on Adams Park has turned into a major repair project that will cost over $5,000.

When water was drained from the storage pipe and painters went inside to do the interior they found trouble.

The standpipe, built in 1902, cleaned and painted in 1953, showed serious signs of wear Areas around rivets were deteriorating and many rivet heads missing. There were large gaps where sections of the standpipe join.

The constant up-and-down movement of the water within the tower, which has a 2½-million gallon capacity, caused the trouble, City Manager Ed Nelson explained.

Mr. Nelson told councilmen that he conferred with Mayor Harold Easton as soon as the trouble was discovered last week, and they agreed repair work should start immediately. A bid from the Continental Fremond Tank Co. for $5,160 was accepted.

Continental will do the painting and Mr. Nelson said its quotation was in line with others previously received.

Major part of the repair will include replacement of all rivet heads with electric welds.

The lower 10 sections are the ones being repaired. The tank's upper 10 sections, which are used only part of the time, were in good condition.

New Line Work Nearly Completed

Water and sewer installations along Russell Rd. and Occidental Hwy., are nearly complete, Ed Nelson, city manager, told Council Monday.

Seal coating was done on Shady Lane, from Adrian St. to Cairns St., on Sunset St., from Cairns to Occidental St., and Willow St., from Park St. to Maple St.

A single coat was applied to the new Maumee St. bridge, just north of the high school.

Mr. Nelson also reported that preparation for the city's off-street parking lot behind the northeast business block was progressing.

He explained that the Consumers Power Co. is relocating several utility poles and that regrading, followed by bituminous paving will come this fall.

The city manager recommended to Council that the city share with the county in the cost of the Cook drain, which crosses Russell Rd. about 3,000 feet west of Occidental St.

The city's share would be in excess of $200.

This would protect Tecumseh's right to dump storm water coming down Russell Rd. into this county storm sewer.

Sanitation Expert Speaks at Rotary

Don Harper of the DuBois Chemical Co. of Cincinnati showed pictures and talked about restaurant and hotel sanitation at Tuesday's Rotary Club gathering in Tecumseh Country Club.

RIBBONS, RIBBONS — Dianne Spycher of Tipton seems to have fared quite well at the county fair this year. Her junior heifer calf and her winter senior heifer both captured top honors and these ribbons are her evidence. She shows them to a friend, Paula Moller, also of Tipton.

YOUNG WINNERS—These young ladies entered the open class competition at the county fair in the floral arrangement and foods classes. Cathleen Babcock, 8, won a second place with her white bread and her sister, Melissa, 5, placed third in floral arrangements. Both are daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John Babcock.

PICNIC TIME — Another State Show winner at last week's county fair was Carol Bird whose picnic basket ranked a blue ribbon. Her award was based on a planned menu and a properly packed basket for her Outdoor Meals project. Carol is 15 and a member of the Ridgeway Sunny Rays.

TV Will Carry Biology Course

Sister Miriam Michael, O.P., PhD, director of Siena Heights research laboratories, has been named local coordinator of COLLEGE OF THE AIR: THE NEW BIOLOGY, TV program to begin Monday, Sept. 25 over CBS network. It is sponsored by Learning Resources Institute.

Detrojt WJBK—TV will present the program from 6:30-7 a.m. Toledo WTOL-TV will also, the time to be announced later.

The course will consist of five 25-minute lecture demonstrations per week for 32 weeks for a total of 160 lessons.

This together with quiz sections and additional recitations will be offered for credit value.

Siena Heights has determined the credit value as three semester hours per semester for students who successfully fulfill the requisites.

The work is to be offered for graduate credit in science education and for undergraduate credit in Biology.

Two major factors contribute to the teacher education value of the course. The material presented is in considerable measure new material and is consequently an important supplement to the knowledge of already prepared science teachers.

★

ALTHOUGH the course will not make a formal distinction between content and method, it will, as an integral part of the presentation demonstrate techniques for presenting the new material effectively.

The undergraduate credit work may serve as the basic course for perspective biology majors.

Earlier in the year Dr. John W. Taylor, acting president of IRC announced the choice of Dr. Ray Koopelman, assistant professor of Bio-chemistry at the University of Chicago as the national teacher of THE NEW BIOLOGY.

Those interested in taking the COLLEGE OF THE AIR: THE NEW BIOLOGY TV program course for credit will kindly contact the graduate division office at Siena Heights College on or before Sept. 5.

'Kiss Me Kate' Ends Season at Clark Lake

The musical comedy, "Kiss Me, Kate," is the concluding production at Clark Lake.

It's a show-within-a-show, all about a present-day theater group ready to open in a revival of "The Taming of the Shrew".

The stars cast as Petruchio and Kate are an ex-husband and wife, still in love with each other, but stymied by the presence of the ex-hubsand's current girl friend, who plays Bianca.

Besides romatic complications, two gangsters menace the production by trying to collect a large IOU from one of the actors.

Meanwhile, "The Taming of the Shrew" proceeds in true "on with the show" tradition. Cole Porter's music effectivly weds the play's interaction, devised by writers Bella and Samuel Spewack—and the Bard.

Starring in "Kiss Me, Kate" are Elaine Miller as Lilli Vanessi (Kate), Jerry Dixon as Fred Graham (Petruchio), Anne Olsen as Lois Lane (Bianca), and Bill Reed as Bill Calhoun (Lucentio).

Dick Winfrey and Don Finlay are the gangsters.

Show dates are Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, Aug. 23, 24, 25 and August 30, 31, and Sept. 1.

Call LA 9-9141 for reservations. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Disease Killing City's Elms

THE END IS NEAR—Another of Tecumseh's stately elms has reached its doom and must be removed. Ready to begin the topping operation is Phil Zabawa, 32, of Petersburg. Mr. Zabawa, has been in the tree cutting business for 11 years, 10 of which have been spent working with diseased elms. He is being assisted this summer by city employees Tom O'Hara and Phil Surratt.

Tecumseh's beloved elm trees are doomed to die.

Throughout the city, red and yellow tags have been placed on diseased elms and tree-cutting crews fall the magnificant trees rich in beauty and color.

Scientists tell us that there is no cure to the Dutch elm epidemic and every elm tree in America may eventually fall victim to this killing disease.

Tecumseh was first hit by disease in 1954, but this year the number of trees contacting the disease out numbered any previous year. The city's maples will soon be standing alone.

The elm is one of the most common trees in this area and as a shade tree, it has no equal.

Most trees are densely foliaged and branch close to the ground, but the shade they give is dark and heavy.

The arching elm spaces its leaves widely, forming a dapple of airy light.

Grass grows to perfection underneath an elm whereas it must be nurtured constantly to grow beneath a maple.

☆

"WHAT MAKES a first class elm?" Oliver Wendell Holmes asked in "The Autocraft of the Breakfast Table."

"Why, size in the first place, and chiefly. Anything over twenty feet of clear girth five feet above the ground, and with a spread of branches a hundred feet across, may claim that title, according to my scale."

He then describes with ardor the impact that a first-class speciman can have:

"All at once—I declare to you it makes my flesh creep when I think of it now—all at once, I saw a great green cloud swelling in the horizon, so vast, so symmetrical, of such Olympian majesty and imperial supremacy among the lesser forest growths, that my heart stopped short, then jumped at my ribs as a bunter springs at a five-barred gate."

Recently, Berton Roueche wrote in New Yorker Magazine, "The American elm is a perennially beautiful tree. The beauty of the elm—its buttressed bole, its arches and soaring branches, its wineglass silhouette—transcends the seasons.

It owes nothing to flower and little to leaves, and everything to structure.

It is an architectural beauty, a splendor of line and form."

☆

ALTHOUGH ONE of the most beautiful trees, the elm is not the most valuable. . . .

It warps and twists when made into lumber. It is difficult to work. It shrinks. It is knotty and its knots are large and unsightly. It holds paint poorly.

Of some 20 qualities that the US Forest Service lists as commercially desirable in work, just four are characteristic of the elm.

It is free from pitch, it holds nails well, it can be bent without breaking and it is extremely tough.

Today elm wood is used mostly in industrial pallets and timbers and for rough lumber on the farm.

The elm grows almost everywhere in the eastern half of the United States. It is a tree of farmyards and fence rows, of forests and of cities and towns.

Its roots are so shallow it can flourish in the meager earth of parks built over underground garages. It can live in almost any filth of smoke and soot and noxious fumes that man himself can tolerate.

DUTCH ELM disease made its first recorded appearance in Holland in 1919, striking the Dutch elm, a relative of the American elm.

By 1921 it was identified as a fungus infection of the water-conducting arteries of the tree.

The carrier is the otherwise harmless elm bark beetle.

By 1928 the disease had spread through most of Europe and by 1930 it had reached the United States through shipments of elm logs.

It reached Michigan in 1953. A couple of years later it had invaded the entire range of the elm in America.

In 1960, the National Shade Tree Conference was told, "There is no hope now that the disease can ever be eradicated".

☆

TECUMSEH HAS been trying to combat the disease by spraying the elms since the disease appeared. The spraying process costs $1.05 per tree and according to the city manager, the results are not much to brag about.

This year 85 elms on city property were tagged or nearly 15% of the city's trees. Previous years, the loss was only about 2% of the total number.

The state recommends that the city continue to spray, but Mr. Nelson said he has suggested to the council that the money be spent rather to plant new trees on city property.

In addition to the city-owned trees, over 300 trees on private property have contacted the disease this year.

The elm will be with us for a few years yet, but if the present pace continues, the species will eventually be lost.

Cheap paints don't cover as well . . . and you use more paint. Also, cheap paints often crack, peel, and fade within a short period of time. You'll most certainly be ahead in time, effort and money when you use quality PITTSBURGH PAINTS.

Chorale Returns from Tour

Home at last. Linda Dean and Dan Harvey arrived at Metropolitan Airport Sunday after their tour with the Michigan Chorale to South American countries and Mexico.

It was an especially happy day for the Harvey family since they had received none of Dan's letters while he had been away. The letters had been delayed in the mails.

Friday evening Dan phoned from Mexico City to assure his family that all was well with him and that he would be home Sunday.

After 54 concerts presented in 51 days, not including a great number less than 45 minutes long and not including the 12 TV shows and five radio appearances and rehearsals, the group of young "good will ambassadors" returned to the United States.

Dan said that everything was fine and the singers arrived across the border feeling as though they had been afforded the red carpet treatment fit for kings and queens until one small incident dampened the spirits of the whole crew.

In Dallas, Texas one of the Chorale members, a colored boy from Ann Arbor, was refused service in a restaurant.

He simply said, "Boy, I wish I were back in South America."

Dan remarked that he enjoyed Bogota and Mexico better than the other countries they toured, but he said that Lima, Peru is an extremely modern city.

Profit from the various concerts was given to South American causes which pleased the people and they responded with loud cries of "Bravo USA" as the Chorale performed for them.

A concert, the final one for the group, will be presented Sunday, Sept. 10 at Hill Auditorium in Ann Arbor with profit to go to the Michigan Council of Churches as a grateful acknowledgement of their assistance.

When asked about his chess game, Dan replied, "Well, I beat most everyone except my 'father' in Mexico."

The Harvey family are moving to Bourbonnais, Ill. Thursday where Dan will be a freshman at Olivet College and his sister, Judy, a sophomore. Their address is Box 103.

This reporter extends best wishes to this fine family from their many Tecumseh friends.

Make Plans for Annual Beef Dinner

The eighth Annual Roast Beef Dinner, sponsored by the St. Elizabeth Church parish, will be held Sunday, Sept. 17, in the school auditorium.

The general committee will meet at eight p.m. Monday, Aug. 28, with Father Thomas J. Collins, pastor of the church, when he will make final chairman appointments.

At the first dinner meeting Kenneth Kitson was named general chairman and Mrs. Benjamin McWilliams co-chairman.

They are assisted by Mrs. Lawrence Cote, Joseph Tressler, Mrs. Dora Pearson and Joseph Davila.

This year seating capacity will be increased to 200 persons at one time during the annual parish event which last year provided dinners for over 1100 persons.

A list of food for which St. Elizabeth parishioners may sign will be posted in the church until the dinner, according to the chairman.

Her Longtime Hobby Is African Violets

"African Violet Gardening Through the Years" by Mrs. Al Helzerman was the Little Garden Club's August program.

Hostess for the evening was Mrs. Vern Manwaring.

Mrs. Helzerman gave the highlights of the history of African Violets — how they were first found in Africa and then hybridized to produce the violet we know today.

She reviewed many varieties and named those which she raises. To start new plants from a leaf, it is necessary to treat them much like a baby. A sterilized formula is used.

She also collects rain water to water her beautiful plants.

See Mrs. Helzerman for African Violet plants or problems and questions about them. She is an authority on them according to Little Garden Club members.

President Mrs. Wm. Schroer conducted the business meeting. Selling of Flower Arrangement Calendars and the coming District Meeting were discussed.

Mrs. Donald Purkey announced the Favor and Table Arrangement Committee as: Mrs. Orrie Gilbert, Mrs. Fred Randall and Mrs. Richard Colson. Publicity, Mrs. Paul Burns and Registration, Mrs. Douglas Dunn and Mrs. Burns.

More members will be contacted in the near future to help on the October 18, 1961 District Meeting.

Mrs. Morgan Ford is a new member. Mrs. William Clausen was a guest.

Home made pie and coffee were served by Mrs. Manwaring and Mrs. Glenn Kohler.

Color slides from the Flower Show were shown later to those who had not previously viewed them.

VERL SANCH TRIES ONE OF HIS LARGER ANTIQUES

Antiques and Dairy Cattle

BRITTON—Verl Sanch, veteran technician for the Lenawee-Britton and Washtenaw-South Artificial Breeding Associations can discuss with ease antiques or artificial breeding of dairy cattle.

Youngest 4-H Club member to win the state dairy judging contest at the time, a Ford Motor Company plant superintendent and an outstanding MABC technician are a few of the accomplishments of Verl Sanch.

Both Verl and his wife, Leota, have dairy farm background.

Verl took the technician training course October, 1951. He serves a large area, driving 65,000 miles each year and servicing over 3500 cows.

Two of their sons have taken the training course and have substituted for their father. However, Melvin is the full-time technician for the Livingston-Brighton local. Merl lives at Ida and subs when he can. Verl, Jr. is a sophomore at the Britton High School.

Mrs. Sanch takes the service calls on the two private phones that they have in their home. All calls received by noon are taken care of that day.

Verl starts out at about 8 a.m. on the job and picks up the remainder of the day's calls at noon.

☆

VERL AND LEOTA have been very gratified by the response to their venture in the antique field and have had collectors in from as far as California, Washington State and Florida.

Their shop features glass china and furniture. Leota favors lamps, cruets and toothpick holders while Verl's private collection includes glass, paperweights and old glass swirl and sulfide figured glass marbles.

The shop is open whenever they are at home and visitors are always welcome.

Tail End Charlie Campaign Begins Friday, Aug. 25

You can't be in two places at the same time! That truth is why "Tail End Charlie" is running about on Michigan highways.

"Tail End Charlie" is the guy who got a crick in his neck trying to stand on the brake pedal to see if his stop light was working.

No matter how he craned and stretched, he couldn't see a thing—so he gave up, and he hasn't tried it since.

"Tail End Charlie" is the car ahead of you on the expressway whose tail and stop lights didn't work when he suddenly stopped.

He is responsible for many rear end collisions simply because he doesn't know his lights are faulty.

Right now, every motorist in the State of Michigan can get his light checked—free.

From Friday, August 25, through the Labor Day weekend, as a part of Secretary of State James M. Hare's "Tail End Charlie" road safety campaign, every service station in the state will give all motorists a free tail and stop light inspection.

All major oil companies are participating.

Mr. Hare urges motorists to get their lights checked before Labor Day if possible, but do it during their trip too.

Williams Receives Prison Sentence

Joe Williams, 17, of Tecumseh received from 1½ to 14 years in prison for forging a $20 check with the name of Charles Heimerdinger. The check was drawn on the State Savings Bank of Clinton.

Jerry Cole, 22 of Tecumseh and Jerry Karpo, 18 of Tipton were arrested with Williams in July in connection with several breakings and enterings.

Karpo was on probation for breaking and entering in California when he was arrested and Cole was sentenced to two years probation for aiding and abetting a breaking and entering.

Membership Session Set

Members have been asked to "come prepared to give your opinions of the Chamber and its efforts in Tecumseh."

"50¢ a tablet can be cheap!"

No one likes to pay 50c for a single tablet—including us. Nevertheless, some of the newer drugs cost that much. They seem expensive—yes, only seem. Consider this: Pneumonia used to mean 4 to 6 bedridden weeks. Loss of pay. Often hospitalization. Often death. Now, a few dollars' worth of one antibiotic will generally cure pneumonia in days. And this is only one example . . . there are many others. When you consider what a few 50c pills will do for you, they seem downright cheap.

State Police Get Ready for Holiday

With hundreds of thousands of motorists taking final summer holiday trips, the Michigan State Police will operate increased traffic patrols over the Labor Day weekend.

The troopers will be assisted by 106 members of the National Guard, who will ride as second men on two-man patrols or serve on point control.

State Police patrol shifts will be lengthened to 10 hours from noon Friday to midnight Monday.

"Michigan motorists and pedestrians demonstrated during the recent 102-hour July fourth weekend, when accidents claimed 12 lives, that the road toll can be held down," said Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

"The Labor Day period can have a record just as good, or even better, if drivers and pedestrians pay strict attention to the rules for their safety."

Memorial Service

The 2nd District American Legion and Auxiliary will hold a memorial service and installation of new officers at the Hose City Post No. 324 in Jackson at 2 p.m. Sunday, August 27.

Youngsters Can Take Jump at State Fair

The U. S. Army has come up with what may be the biggest free attraction ever at the Michigan State Fair which begins September 1.

It's a mock parachute jump for the kiddies with real, live Army Airborne Division personnel supervising the activities.

Four youngsters simultaneously will go to the top of a 16-foot platform, get fitted with "parachutes" and then zip down in each of four directions on 150 foot long cables.

The "parachutes" will be harnesses attached to the cables with pulleys.

State Fair and Army officials calculate that eight such drops can be made in a minute or 57-600 operating from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily for the 10 days.

Army paratroopers will be at each end of the cables to catch the "Junior Paratroopers" as they hit the ground.

And that's what they will be — "Junior Paratroopers" — for each will get a certificate from the Army to prove that he has made his first jump.

A space over a block long has been set aside for the "Junior Paratroopers" in an area near the Kiddie Barnyard.

Needless to say, the Army hopes that many of the youngsters will talk so much about their experiences that older brothers may get the bug to join up with the Airborne Division.

Underwood Completes Additions

George Underwood of Clinton has just completed two additions to his showroom on the Clinton-Tecumseh Rd.

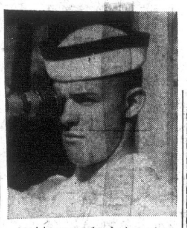
At the south end of the building is located a new Parts Department covering 1900 square feet. Mr. Underwood now carries an inventory of around $40,0000 in parts for all Ford Company automobiles and trucks.

Work on the parts addition began in June.

A new body shop has been constructed in back of the building, an addition of 2,500 square feet. The shop includes a complete paint booth.

This addition was begun early this year.

Mr. Underwood now owns the dealership for all Ford Company automobiles: Ford, Falcon, Thunderbird, Lincoln, Comet and Mercury.



Midshipman third class Jon D. Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cook of 717 N. Union St., recently completed the first phase of annual summer training aboard the destroyer USS Forrest Sherman. The second phase of the eight-week training period is being spent aboard the anti-submarine warfare support aircraft carrier USS Lake Champlain. Midn. Cook is a student at the University of Michigan.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

AUBREY FALLS AND MANITOULIN ISLAND

This should probably be subtitled "With Thanks to George Pierrot and Dennis Glen Cooper," for they are responsible for the second phase of our trip.

At least without the Pierrot program we might never have thought of visiting Manitoulin Island nor even known about Aubrey Falls.

Leaving Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., we headed east and arrived in Thessalon, a drive of about 60 miles, shortly after noon.

Checking into the motel, a lovely spot but more about this later, we had a quick lunch and then headed for the Chapleau Road.

A gravel road twisting and winding thru' rugged hilly country which is full of clear, deep lakes, rivers just begging to be canoed upon and dense woods— the Chapleau Road was every bit as wild and as beautiful and as exciting as we had expected.

About 86 miles from Thessalon we saw a small sign saying "Aubrey Falls". The arrow pointed toward a rather rough, bumpy side-road.

Well, to make a long story short, it was a very rough, terribly bumpy, narrow road and the rain, which before had only showered, now started coming down in earnest.

Finally, and almost surprisingly, we reached the parking lot at the foot of the falls.

While Dad started for the top to get pictures, Mom and I stayed in the car trying to decide whether it was better to smother with the windows closed or have them open and play host to every flying, biting thing in the whole Province.

It was with sighs of relief that we saw Dad returning and, believe me, the sighs were even deeper when we reached good old Chapleau Road.

Dad said the falls were beautiful, well worth every bump and mosquito bite and after seeing the pictures, Mom and I agree.

Three tired but very happy people tumbled into their beds that night at Thessalon's Carolyn Beach Motel.

And what a good sleep—the motel is right on the beach and all night the waves lapped against the shore, a wonderful lullaby.

Big picture windows overlook Lake Huron and the first thing Mom and Dad saw after getting up next morning was a pair of loons.

This had not been an especially good bird trip and we hadn't expected it to be.

Gulls and terns were, of course, everywhere, we saw a few ducks, a bittern in northern Michigan, a surprising number of Baltimore Orioles and loons at Carolyn Beach—not bad.

Later we were to see Cedar waxwings. In fact, we had been seeing them all the time but, until we had a good close-up look, we just couldn't believe the birds that had been as plentiful as our sparrows, were waxwings.

Destination—Manitoulin Island. Thru' Iron Bridge, Blind River, to Espanola the drive was pretty but when we turned south toward the Island—Wow!

The country was entirely different, the very high hills were rounded-over mounds of white rock and every dip, depression or pot-hole was full of bright blue water.

Truly a photographer's paradise and, imagine, we even had a little sunshine.

Manitoulin Island is one of those places uniquely itself. Quiet, peaceful, it has an unhurried feeling which is so relaxing.

We had planned to spend a day driving around this largest fresh water island in the world but the urge to just sit still and enjoy 'looking' was too great— we stayed put, watched the haze and fishing-boats on the big lake and just simply did nothing.

Before going back to the mainland we did a wee-bit of exploring and found that, in addition to fishing and tourists, there is much agriculture on the Island.

The western part is a series of railfence, criss-crossed plateaus, where as the eastern shore is the steep up and down white hills. We were sorry to leave but vacation time goes so quickly.

Another pleasure filled stay at Carolyn Beach, but no loons this time, and it was on to Sault Ste. Marie.

They are building a bridge to connect the Soos and in a way we are sorry. It will be faster and, for some, more convenient but it is sad to think that the little open car-ferries will soon be a thing of the past.

Just as with Mighty Mac, progress has added speed but taken away charm.

Back in Michigan again, nice to be home, but oh, my, how bad and glaring are two of our faults. The Canadian parks are clean and unlittered, their road-sides are not cluttered with bill-boards and advertising.

It is a national disgrace how littered and trashy our parks and roads have become. As for bill-boards, there is actually a long stretch in the upper part of the lower peninsula where big signs are so close together that looking down the road one sees nothing but bill-boards on both sides. It's cheapening and degrading.

I understand a bill is now under consideration by the State Legislature which would regulate, or even eliminate, roadside advertising along the new Inter-State Highways.

Perhaps we should bombard Lansing with pleas to resist the pressure of the bill-board groups and thus save some of our pretty Michigan scenery.

Maybe it would even encourage tourists to visit our State if they would see something other than junky signs. But enough of that, Marda.

Our vacation this year was wonderful, 'the best ever.'

We thoroughly enjoyed The Circle Route Around Lake Superior and we say thanks to Messrs. Pierrot and Cooper for introducing us to Aubrey Falls and Mountain Island.

NEXT WEEK— NIGHT VISITORS

2 Correctionists Added to Staff

Mrs. Jean Balakovich and James L. Peters have been hired by the county to serve as speech correctionists for the coming school year.

They will bring the speech correction staff to seven. Other members are Mrs. Bonnie Berkley, Mrs. Maralyn Wight, Mrs. Betty Jo Hancock, Mrs. Carole Lewandowski and Sylvia Wendrow.

Mrs. Balakovich, who worked in the county during the second semester last year, attended Flint Junior College and the University of Michigan where she graduated in January, 1961.

She was director of the Michigan Crippled Children's Day Camp, "Camp Easter Seal" in Flint during the summer of 1960.

Mr. Peters is a June graduate of Purdue University in speech correction. He attended Adrian High School and graduated from Des Arc High School in Des Arc, Missouri.

He served as a radio operator with the Air Force from 1951-55.

Matron-of-Honor

In last week's account of the Harriott-Shiels' wedding, the matron-of-honor should have been Mrs. Margaret Maschino, not Mrs. Ernest Maschino as reported.

High Scorer Was Mrs. L. Hubbard

Mrs. Leland Hubbard was high scorer at the bridge tables August 16 at the Country Club. Second highest score was played by Mrs. M. W. Wilson.

Table prizes were won by Mrs. O. W. Laidlaw, Mrs. Charles Hanna, Mrs. L .B. Milheim and Mrs. Ed Boss.

Mrs. Paul Maves and Mrs. Earl Wickwire were hostesses.

Vote for Your Favorite Hymn

What is America's favorite hymn?

The Tecumseh Herald is joining Christian Herald, the nation's largest interdenominational Protestant magazine, and newspapers throughout the country, in a survey to determine the hymns America loves best.

Every reader is invited to write the name of his favorite hymn or gospel song on the ballot printed here. In appreciation, he will receive the inspiring miniature book, "Hymn Thoughts for the Day," by Bill McVay, the Christian Herald Singer.

Last year Mr. McVay and the Christian Herald conducted a survey of more than 30,000 people to determine their favorite hymns.

The results showed these five hymns on top:

1. The Old Rugged Cross
2. What a Friend We Have in Jesus
3. In the Garden
4. How Great Thou Art
5. Sweet Hour of Prayer

A controversary arose shortly after the results were printed. Many felt the old hymns best expressed their faith and directly portrayed the great stories of the Bible. Others believed the newer gospel songs with their strong melodies had greater appeal to modern American churchgoers.

The National Newspapers Hymn Roll, as well as finding America's favorite hymns, is also attempting to stimulate more interest in hymn singing.

All hymns, old and new, help to bring people closer together and have brought comfort and inspiration to millions.

Both local and national results will be tabulated by Audience analysts and published after the August 28 deadline.

TOM RIORDAN'S Long AND Short

Can lightning really strike twice in the same place?

Some of our readers may recall an incident that took place in the spring of 1958 on the pages of this newspaper.

There are several who have never forgotten, I know for sure. They recall the happening with glee every once in a while.

This, of course, was our rather unique coverage of a wedding, which united Jane E. Smith and William N. Fischer.

There was a lovely picture of the bride and a long story going into great detail of 400 attending the ceremony, what the brides-maids wore, all about the re-ception.

There was just one slight flaw.

The coverage appeared three days before the wedding took place.

It would be an understatement to say that the families were up-set. Likewise The Herald staff.

Well, everyone somehow man-aged to survive that one.

Now, about lightning striking a second time in the same vital spot.

Last week's edition of The Herald was on the press, all set to roll.

Neatly in place on page two was a wedding story and picture. This one told of Ilene Finkbein-er and Philip Young exchanging their vows. Sounded like it had been a lovely ceremony.

One of the office gals was thumbing through Wednesday's Adrian Telegram when she spied the wedding license column. She idly read the names "Finkbeiner and Young."

"Stop the presses" was no TV or movie cry at this criti-cal juncture.

Sure enough, a quick check proved that the ceremony would be taking place several days hence and we had pushed the copy a little too zealously.

This one we were able to cor-rect before any papers went out and don't think the relief wasn't genuine when the edition finally rolled.

But the atmosphere wasn't all joy. In our early-week first run (the inside section of The Her-ald is printed Tuesday) a cap-tion under Bobby Murray's Coun-ty Fair horse picture identified the owner as Greg Smith.

To both Greg, who took top awards at the Fair, and Bobby, another winner, we apologize.

Giant Head of Cabbage

Mrs. Blanche Halberstadt, 410 S. Ottawa St., brought a picture to The Herald office of an im-mense head of cabbage.

It dwarfed her grandson, Nor-man Hopkins, who posed with the leafy vegetable.

The cabbage measured 34½ inches around and 12 inches in diameter and weighed 17 pounds.

Mrs. Halberstadt said the cab-bage was raised by her son-in-law, Joseph Bonini, along with another nearly the same size and a number of normal heads

Mrs. Halberstadt held a fam-ily dinner Friday evening for 10 at her home and served the mon-ster in a one dish meal called "pigs in blankets."

SUMMER IN HOLLAND

It's Loads of Fun

(Editor's note: Jane Hodges spent the summer as a guest at the Lugard home in Hol-land. In a series of two arti-cles she will tell of her ex-periences there and the happy surprise she discovered soon before returning to America. In the first article, she tells of it.)

By JANE HODGES

It's good to be home, but I don't have to worry about hav-ing left all of Holland behind me.

Marielle Lugard, my Dutch sister in Deventer, Holland, ar-rived at Detroit Metropolitan Airport just 14 hours after I came Saturday morning ready to spend a year with me in Tecum-seh.

Marielle comes from an old Netherlands city, which had its beginning in 600 A.D.

Even today, parts of the wall which surrounded Deventer dur-ing the Middle Ages can be seen, making a sharp contrast with the modern stores and the little European cars roaring down the streets.

Marielle's father has contribut-ed his share to Deventer's hist-ory.

As director of a fine and in-teresting museum called De Waag, which displays everything from 17th, 18th, and 19th cen-tury costumes to prehistoric tools and cooking utensils, he is one of the best authorities and sources of his city's long history.

The Lugard family, in addi-tion to Marielle, includes an eight-year old boy and two girls, aged 15 and 20.

Marielle's oldest sister, Trix, lives at The Hague where she has been studying art for the past two years.

Timolien, the youngest sister, is in her fourth year of her five years of high school and will start school in Denventer the same day that Marielle starts her senior year at Tecumseh High School.

My Dutch mother, Mrs. Lu-gard, was a nurse before she married, but now she is kept pretty busy just taking care of her active family.

Marielle has come to America to live with an American fam-ily and to try and understand a few of the "hows" and "whys" of the American people and their way of living.

Many new experiences are ahead of her. Some will be strange and difficult. Others will be fun.

175 Work on Dinner

Some 175 parishioners of St. Elizabeth Catholic Church will work on the eighth Annual Roast Beef Dinner, it was announced by the general committee at a recent meeting to make final chairmen and worker appoint-ments.

At the annual event, which will be held in the school audit-orium from 11:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Sept. 17, the following will act as co-chairmen:

Mrs. Morgan Ford and Mrs. Theodore Golat, kitchen;

Mrs. Robert Koffron and Mrs. Carlos Knisely, buffet table

Mrs. Jack Osburn and Mrs. Donald Murphy, dining room service

Mrs. Ford Mudgett and Mrs. James McKenna, hostesses.

Edward O'Neill and Donald Young, dishwashing.

☆

MRS. JOHN McVAY is in charge of decorating and Mrs. Terrence Mackin, advertising.

Roasting of the meat the morn-ing of the dinner will be handl-ed by Thomas Corkery, Paul Clauda, William Cairns, Jose and Jesse Castorena, Manuel Devila and Melvin Getz.

Two shifts of workers will serve in each section during the dining hours where waitresses, dishwashers and dryers will com-prise the largest work groups.

This year seating capacity will be enlarged.

Over 1,100 persons are ex-pected to be served.

Door prizes, vegetables and home-made pies will be donated by the parishioners, according to the co-chairman Ken Kitson and Mrs. Benjamin McWilliams.

Kids Are Invited To Swim in Meet

Vic Lawson has announced that another demon-stration night will be held in the city swimming pool Friday at 7 p.m.

All parents and friends are invited.

He would like to suggest that all boys and girls in the area, regardless of age, come to the pool to par-ticipate in the races following the demonstration.

No fee will be charged and any swimmer is eligible. There will be contests for all ages.

Hot Lunch Cost Is Up Nickle

The price of hot lunches for the children of the Tecumseh Public Schools will be increased 5c per lunch for 1961-'62, reports Supt. James McDowell.

This increase has been made necessary by cuts in State and Federal Aid for the coming year and the lack of local tax funds to support such a program at a loss.

Hot lunches for elementary children will be 35c and second-ary children 40c. Funds received from State and Federal Aid last year were cut from 7c per lunch to 4c per lunch in the last month and a half of operation.

This caused the schools to lose money on the operation of the program since the fees charged are only enough to cover actual operation cost as estimated when reimbursement is set in the fall.

Crossing Plan Is Worked Out

A plan has been worked out by the city to guard children crossing Adrian St. to and from Tecumseh Acres School.

City Manager Ed Nelson ex-plains that regular policemen will temporarily be on duty at the start of the year.

They'll handle the job until several local retired men are trained and uniformed.

Uniforms will not be elabor-ate, reports Police Chief Murell Clark. They'll include used items which can be picked up among the force as surplus.

The chief is interviewing sev-eral retirees.

D&C Store Manager Resigns

Richard Hicks, manager of the D&C Store for the past six years, has resigned his position to ac-cept one with Consumers Power Co.

Mr. Hicks will work in appli-ance sales out of the firm's Hud-son office.

His resignation with D&C be-comes effective Sept. 1, but he will remain on for several weeks to break in his successor, who has not yet been named.

Mr. Hicks and his family, who have resided here at 509 Nokom-is St., will move to a home in the Hudson area.

First Grade Operating Half Days

All elementary school grades will open Tuesday, except kin-dergarten, which starts Wednes-day.

First grades will operate on a half-day basis, morning session will be 9 to 12 and afternoon, 1 to 4.

Hours for city schools, grades two, three, four, five, and six will be 9 to 12 and 1 to 3.

Ridgeway and Tipton Schools, grades two, three, four, five, and six will be 9 to 12 and 12:45 to 2:45.

Kindergarten opens Wednes-day and the parents of kinder-garten children are requested to pin a note on the child, giv-ing child's name and address.

These parents are requested to meet the child's teacher Tues-day and pay the book fees at this time.

The milk program in the grades will be discontinued this year for many reasons, but prim-arily because of shortened school days and parental requests.

You Told Us

BY DOROTHY GRIGG

Monday, Labor Day, not only organized labor, but all the rest of we laborers will enjoy one last fling before sweet summer ends.

Labor Day is one set apart in the United States, Alaska and Canada in honor of organized labor. In reading the encyclopedia one might assume that this was a recent proclamation, but such is not true.

The custom of observing such a day originated in 1882 when the Knights of Labor first held a celebration.

Labor Day is legalized by Congressional action only in the District of Columbia. Most of the states have taken action to make it a legal holiday, others observe it by proclamation.

The Fair actually will extend for 10 days plus the night previous, Thursday, Aug. 31, when there will be dazzling three mile long parade through the Downtown Detroit business section along with the official ribbon cutting ceremonies at the Fairgrounds.

The parade, which will include floats, marching units, bands, beauty queens, championship livestock, clowns, radio and television personalities, is scheduled to start at 8 p.m.

School Bus Service Cut

Bus services to Tecumseh Public School pupils will be reduced this fall.

There are two reasons for this:

► Local austerity budget.

► The state no longer provides for the purchase of busses and only approximately 70% of the actual operating expenses.

State law requires that pupils in kindergarten through—sixth grade may be required to walk up to one-half mile to scheduled bus routes and pupils in grades seven through 12 up to one mile.

This minimum will allow the Tecumseh board to reduce the length of bus routes as well as to group pupils so that fewer stops must be made.

Back-tracking will be eliminated unless absolutely necessary.

Parents of pupils requested to join groups at pick-up points are asked to cooperate fully so that the money saved in this program can be used for educational purposes or reducing the school debt.

All bus runs, as far as opening morning pickups are concerned, will remain the same as last year.

Changes to be made regarding children walking to scheduled bus routes will be made the second morning.

There will be a few changes in regards to the night bus routes, but the bus drivers will explain these changes to the riders as they get on or off their morning run.

Drivers this year are:
Jack Hallenbeck
Agnes Wood
Harold Anderson
Calvin Dixon
Fay Kempf
Ray Jackson
Doug Aylesworth
Don VanCamp

Halloween Planning

The Tri-Town Extension Club is a group concerned about the good things of life for Tecumseh citizens, large and small.

The members suggested some changes to the Chamber of Commerce concerning the Halloween entertainment for local children and were offered the opportunity to have charge of the project.

Members gladly accepted and they are now offering parents and interested persons an opportunity to help make the coming Halloween an especially nice one.

Anyone who has suggestions is invited by the Tri-Towners to write to the club in care of The Herald and give their ideas for a better Halloween for all.

LONG & SHORT

this week, George wrote something that matches my thinking 100%.

Said George:

"Having been in the newspaper game since high school days, we have made a few observations about communities large and small and have come to have great admiration for people who give of their time for community service and betterment.

"Two groups of people stand out in front in our thinking.

"They are those who serve as elected village officials and those who serve as school board members.

"Serving in either capacity, the jobs are not easy ones and in a smaller community it is a harder job because everyone knows everyone else.

"We think people who accept those positions should receive a vote of thanks from the other citizens of the community.

"In the same class are people who serve youth and civic organizations. Their hours are long and their pay comes only in seeing youth develop into good citizens.

"All of them have the satisfaction of seeing their community become a better place to live in," Mr. Dickman concludes.

More than 500,000 people have been helped by the electronic miracle: Puritron! They feel better, work better, breathe cleaner purer air.

Ask your family doctor or allergist about Puritron. More than half-a-million people swear by it. They say it helps. How? Electronically: without window, vent or fan. It pulls in air heavy with pollen (smoke, dust, grease and odors, too). Filters it. Passes it over special electronic tubes. Then out into the room: with these irritants removed. You breathe cleaner, purer, fresher air. You sleep better, feel better with a Puritron around. Portable: plug it in. Get it for a 10-day trial. $39.95

Old Gas Refrigerators May Be A Real Hazard

LANSING—State Health Commissioner, Dr. Albert E. Heustis, today cautioned tourists and others using overnight lodging places of the potential hazard of improperly maintained gas refrigerators.

Dr. Heustis' comments were prompted by the death recently of four children in a cottage near Oscoda from carbon monoxide given off by an 11-year-old bottled gas refrigerator which had been neglected.

The tragedy could have been averted by proper maintenance of the refrigerator.

Dr. Heustis stated any refrigerators subject to seasonal operation should be thoroughly inspected at the beginning of each season by a trained service man.

Anyone renting or using a cabin with a gas refrigerator should obtain assurance from the owner that such an inspection has been made.

There are several signs of poor combustion that one using a gas refrigerator or any other gas appliance in a home or cabin should be alert to :

1. Any odor originating from the appliance that continues after the initial warming up period.

2. Any discomfort, such as burning sensation in nose, throat, or eyes.

3. Any feeling of nausea.

4. Any yellow color in the flame of the main burner or flame burning outside of the combustion chamber.

If any of these signs are noticed, the gas appliance should be turned off and not put back into operation until it has been serviced by a trained service man.

70 Gridders Report for Drills

By JIM LINCOLN

Tecumseh High football candidates opened fall practice Monday with over 70 prospects, including 12 lettermen, reports Coach Dunc Lectka.

Three-a-day practices were held Monday and Tuesday, including a scrimage Monday night under the lights. Practices twice a day were planned for the balance of the week and until school starts, when the gridders will then don their togs just once daily.

One of the biggest jobs facing the coaching staff is the backfield, which was riddled in June by graduation. Gone are Mike Green, Jon Aho, Bob Koffron, Denny Bryan and Clarence Champanois.

This group was one of the flashiest ever to wear the orange and black.

Who will step into their shoes probably won't be determined until just shortly before the season's opener at Willow Run on Sept. 22.

☆

UNLESS THERE are some pleasant surprises, the backfield will be the slowest in a number of years and may result in some variations in the team's offense used for the past three years under Lectka.

Tim Sisson is the only backfield hold-over and with a year's experience is a favorite to continue as quarterback. John Britton is the only other returning back with any varsity experience.

If this year's team has a chance to equal last year's 7-1-1 mark, a strong offensive and defensive line must shoulder the load.

In '60, Coach Lectka had a wealth of backfield material. This fall it's just the opposite.

★

TEN LETTERMEN for the line have reported and only four are seniors. From tackle to tackle, especially on defense, the Indians should be the strongest in two years.

The offensive line could shape up and be better than last year's formed wall, depending on the development of several juniors who gained a lot of experience last year.

Capt. Tom Simmons will lead the Indians and could be one of the best linemen in the area.

Lettermen back are Kent Naugle, Chuck Osburn, Mike Rohrer, Danny Greene, Norm Tucker, Phil Radant, Dave Blanden, Mike Osburn and Jerry Forsyth.

Top backfield prospects due for consideration are, besides Sisson and Britton, Dick Golat, Jack Rutherford, John Oberlin, Craig Rosacrans and Jim Simmons, who has been moved to the fullback post.

Church News

Regular Schedule Starts Sunday

Services at the St. Peter's Episcopal Church will be changed to the usual schedule for the fall and winter starting Sunday, Sept. 3.

The Rev. Frank W. Hawthorne, back from England and graduate work at the University of Wisconsin, will officiate at the 8 a.m. and the 11 a.m. morning worship services.

Church school including nursery and kindergarten classes will not begin, however, until Sunday, Sept. 10, at the regular hour of 11 a.m.

Congregation Minister To Speak

The Rev. Kenneth Ball, presiding minister of the Tecumseh congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, has received an invitation to speak at the semi-annual circuit assembly of 18 congregations of Witnesses to be held at the Milan High School September 8 through 10.

Mr. Ball, speaking on the subject, "Attending to the Needs of Others", and speakers from 10 other congregations will provide counsel and information on being true Christians as they stress the convention theme, "Walk in the Name of Jehovah Forever."

Other participants will be from New Boston, Jonesville, Belleville, Plymouth, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Dundee, Monroe, South Lyon and New York.

The principal speaker will be Nicholas Kovalak, Jr., of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Assurance

Strong assurance of man's God-given right to conquer every form of evil will be given Sunday in the Christian Science Lesson- Sermon entitled "Man."

Change Sunday Service Time

Sunday school will be held at 9:15 a.m. beginning Sunday, Sept. 3, at the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church.

The time of the worship service has also been changed to the usual winter schedule of 10:30 a.m.

Circle Session Is Postponed

The meeting of Circle 4 of the Presbyterian Church, originally scheduled for Sept. 5, has been postponed until Sept. 12.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m., not preceded by a potluck supper.

Two Young People Place in Roller Skating Contests

Larry Flowers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Flowers of 1107 Russell Road, placed fourth in the National Roller Skating Championship contest held at Fort Worth, Texas July 22-29.

Larry placed third in the state contest held at the Adrian Skate Arena and third in the regional contest at Chicago.

The contests consist of 440 yards, 880 yards, a one mile and two mile race.

Larry placed first in the 2 mile race at Fort Worth giving him fourth in the nations speed skaters. This is his first year of racing.

His coach, Paul Timberman, and two others, Howard Ladd and Bill Clegg, all of Adrian, attended the competition with Larry.

He was awarded medals in both the state and regional intermediate men's speed skating contests.

Ruth Ann Frost, another Tecumseh skater, placed third in an invitational contest at Lackawana, New York August 19.

She and her mother, Mrs. Ruth Frost, of 9103 N. Union St. drove to Lackawana so that Ruth Ann might compete in the senior ladies division of the one mile race.

They returned to Tecumseh immediately following the contest.

Lectka Explains Summer Program

Dunc Lectka, head football coach and Tecumseh recreation director, discussed the city's summer recreation program at the Rotary Club meeting Tuesday night.

The club, meeting for the past month at the Tecumseh Country Club, will once again hold sessions at the Methodist church, starting next week.

Merchants Nine Plays in Tourney

Manager Earl Yoakum will take his Tecumseh Merchants baseball team to the state class B recreation tournament in Detroit Sept. 1 through 4.

The crew, which finished second in the Adrian Twilight League, qualified for the honor Monday by beating third-place Palmer's, 2-1.

Merrillat's, which took league honors, was eliminated because of its Class AA status, thus giving Tecumseh a place in the tourney.

Manager Yoakum's nine is paced in the hitting department by shortstop Bob Kiebler of Clinton.

His mound corps is headed by Ken Moon, who sports a 3-0 record and Chuck Koman, 2-0.

Charles Bakus of Blissfield, a pitcher, was added to the roster for the tournament.

Toys To Be Collected by Jaycees

The Jaycees of Tecumseh have proved to be an extremely helpful organization in the city, alert to the needs of the citizens.

This time its the housewives and the needy children they are concerned about.

The many homemakers in the process of house cleaning will be glad to know that the Jaycees are again collecting toys and games to be used at Christmas time.

A truckload of toys were painted and repaired by the group last year and it would appear that the need for these items will be just as great for Christmas 1961.

The air show entitled, "AVIation DAYS", which is being sponsored by the Toledo Area Chamber of Commerce, is being presented to promote aviation in this area.

The colorful Thunderbirds, proclaimed the world's first supersonic aerobatic team, operate a four-airplane, wing-tip formation through such a series of split-second maneuvers that audiences receive an illusion of one airplane performing.

Their flying skill will be demonstrated at both high and low altitudes in North American F-100 Super Sabres, capable of speeds of more than 1,000 miles per hour.

Also included in the show will be a "sky parade" of military and civilian aircraft, sky diving parachute jumpers, airplane and helicopter rides, aircraft displays and military band music.

DEBEAK PULLETS BEFORE THEY START TO LAY. By doing this you may avoid some possible loss in production. Debeaking does put a certain amount of stress on laying hens which may lead to some loss of weight and drops in egg output. This is especially true for the heavier breeds. But regardless of when you debeak, the resulting losses are slight as compared with heavy death losses due to cannibalism.

DON'T NEGLECT YEARLING HEIFERS. The way you feed heifers from six months of age to freshening can make a big difference in size of the cow and her potential as a milker. Supplement declining pastures with plenty of your best quality hay. If hay contains no legume, provide a 16% to 18% protein in the grain mixture. If hay is high in quality, heifers do satisfactorily on roughage alone from one year of age to four months within calving.

BE SELECTIVE IN CHOOSING A WHEAT VARIETY to plant this fall. Study how various adapted varieties have performed in varietal trials. Then pick one which is resistant to the diseases most common in your area and produces well under average conditions. Other things to look for are good milling quality and resistance to shattering. If you plan to plant early, select a variety that is resistant to Hessian fly.

PRE-INOCULATED LEGUME SEED is now available from a number of seed companies. This seed is treated with nitrogen-fixing bacteria at the factory. Most tests show it's as effective as inoculating by hand a few hours before seeding. Your decision is primarily one of whether the convenience warrants the extra cost of the seed.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

EARLY MORNING VISITORS

Vacations are great, but my, how far one gets behind. For example, this happened way back on July 27 and only now am I getting a chance to share it with you.

About 4:30, it was beginning to get light when after a rather restless night full of odd dreams I was suddenly wide awake.

This was a most unusual state because waking up is definitely not one of the easiest things I do. In fact, I have been accused of being one of the "oh, how I hate to get up."

That morning, however, there was something going on outside my window. It was not a loud noise, more just a commotion. Claws scratching, sharp teeth biting corn and finally a soft sort of purring.

This did it—at such a ridiculous hour I hated to call Mom, but I had to know what was whimpering.

As it turned out she was awake and wondering too. With a little hesitance, because after all, neither of us had any idea what was there, she tiptoed to the window, opened the drapes a crack and peeked out.

For several minutes the only answer to my "What is it?" was a whispered "Oh, ah, oh, my!"

What do they say about being surprised speechless? She lifted the drape for me to see but, in such a dim light and without glasses I could make out nothing.

☆

SUDDENLY SHE rushed to the front window, grabbing the flashlight on her way. At least I found out who were our visitors—a mother racoon and four or five babies.

I learned later that the sight which first greeted Mom was a feeder jammed, packed and piled high. It was mounded up, but she couldn't tell with what—it, or they, were moving or crawling about and several times she saw little bright eyes shining.

When our visitors started leaving the feeder Mom rushed to the front window and there, with the aid of the flashlight and the street light, disclosed what she had been watching. She also regained her voice and told me what was going on.

Racoons! Mrs. R. and the children came around the corner of the house and headed for the walnut tree. For several minutes they played at the bottom of the tree and one of the more daring ones even scrambled halfway up the trunk.

The walnut tree investigation over, the family left and what a procession, Mama in the lead and kids trailing behind.

Across the street they went, affording Mom a good look at them as they passed near the street light, and then, believe it or not, they turned to the left and marched single file down the middle of the side walk.

☆

ONCE, ABOUT a week after their first visit, we heard the 'coons again. Mom looked but couldn't see them.

The morning that they were on the feeder the camera, of course, was not ready to go. Since then it has been ready—aimed, focused, turned on and the switch handy—but wouldn't you just know we have had no occasion to use it.

We are still hoping, though. The family unit has probably broken up by now, but maybe one of the bunch will have an urge to visit the "haunts of his childhood".

"Wouldn't it be something to get a picture of a racoon eating corn on the feeder. Wow!

So it is that we have had one adventure and are hoping for another one with our early morning visitors.

Water Safety Rules Urged over Holiday

Shocking increases of 40 per cent in water accidents and deaths and 80 per cent in swimming and wading fatalities so far this year, compared with the same seven-and-a-half-month period in 1960, have prompted the State Police to reemphasize the safety rules during the remainder of the summer season, especially over the Labor Day holiday.

The provisional totals to mid-August, compiled by the State Police from reports submitted by sheriff, state and local police departments, show 153 persons drowned and 175 injured in 372 water accidents, compared with 110 deaths and 152 injured in 267 mishaps in the same period last year.

There were 136 fatal accidents, 122 personal injury and 114 property damage only. The respective 1960 figures were 105, 98 and 64.

Of the drowning the biggest increase was in swimming and wading, 60 as against 33, a rise of 80 per cent.

Swimmers are advised not to swim alone or in unfamiliar or unauthorized waters and to avoid over-exertion or horseplay.

Boaters are cautioned to avoid negligent or reckless operation and not overload or overpower their craft.

Boat passengers and water skiers should wear life jackets or belts.

Total	$ 67,857.58	$135,472.47
Net Amount Owed by School District	$ 93,866.10	$164,527.53

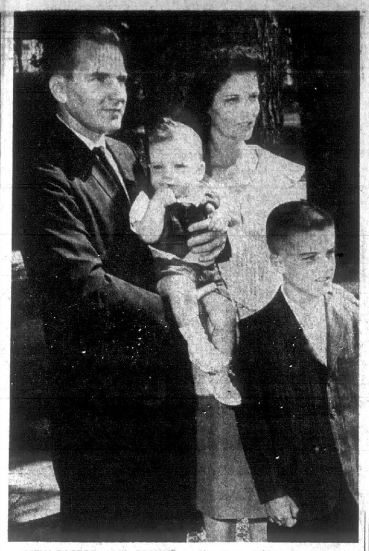
*Including net summer payroll, withholding tax and retirement in the amount of $100,435.92, which checks were issued at June 30, 1961 but will not be released until July and August.

The original budget for 1960-61 made in February of 1960 showed that expenses for the year would be $36,726 more than anticipated income and the Board authorized a millage vote to cover this deficit which was defeated at the annual meeting in July despite cuts of teachers, supplies, and other expenses. Subsequently alterations ordered by the State Fire Marshall at Central and the wearing out of the stoker at that building necessitated capital outlay far in excess of anticipated needs. This coupled with the cut back by the State beyond anticipated revenue for bus operation has left the District with a total debt of $70,661.43 more than in 1960-61. Some of this is recoverable from the N.D.E.A. and State for equipment, and transportation since the payments in aid are always based upon the expenses of the previous years rather than expenses of the current year.

Actual transportation expenses which until the last few years have been bourne entirely by the State have become so much greater than the State Aid sent to the Board for this purpose that transportation has become a real burden on the local community in local taxes. The actual amount spent this year for transportation including down payments and yearly payments on the busses was $78,908.84. The District received $27,089.19 from the State, therefore the Board paid $41,819.65 of local tax money to operate the busses in the current year. This tremendous deficit has had to be made up in local taxes and each year as State Aid is cut back either local tax rates must be increased or services must be cut.

The Board has again provided maximum educational advantages for the community at one of the lowest operational rates in the County as well as in the State due to efficient control, deficit financing, and the cooperation of the teachers and other personnel who have accepted exceptionally heavy loads during the year. Actually the per capita cost for 1960-61 school year was $5.16 more than in 1959-60 but due to the fact that the school year was increased by seven actual school days, the cost per day per pupil was $1.71 or 4c per day less than the previous year. This means that the actual cost per pupil per hour was about 28.5c. However, due to the failure of millage issued to pass in July of 1960 and again in May of 1961, cut backs of over $90,000 are being made for 1961-62 and therefore many services have been reduced or eliminated entirely for the 1961-62 school year.

In the future unless additional State Aid or Federal Aid is secured for the District, more local support will be necessary if the Tecumseh Schools are to ever again serve the community with high standards since continued reductions in services and standards must come to balance the budget.



NEW PASTOR AND FAMILY — The Rev. Johnie Jones and his wife and two sons, David, and baby, Ronald, have moved to Tecumseh from Monroe. The Rev. Jones has accepted the pastorate of the Church of God at 603 S. Pearl St.

BEST IN YEARS—This year's Lenawee County Fair was really a success with 43,300 paying to enter the grounds in Adrian. There were many fine exhibits, outstanding grandstand shows and lots of fun for the whole family. The midway section, sparsely populated during the early hours of the day, was crowded throughout the late afternoon and evenings the entire week.

Downing Attends Banking School Wisconsin

MADISON—Merlyn H. Downing, of the United Saving Bank, Tecumseh, is among the 1,241 students from 43 states, District of Columbia, Puerto Rico, and Honduras who are now attending the annual two-week residence session of the School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin.

The school, sponsored by the Central States Conference consisting of the bankers associations of 16 states, requires residence attendance for two weeks each year for three years for graduation.

A total of 401 seniors will receive their diplomas at the school's 1961 graduation exercises Friday night, Aug. 25.

The School of Banking is one of the many schools, short courses, and conferences sponsored annually at the University of Wisconsin as educational services for all citizens.

Attendance at the 1961 School of Banking enables its students at Wisconsin's State University not only to meet a large number of bankers from all over the country, but they also have the opportunity of hearing the school's distinguished lecturers, over 100 experts from all parts of the nation, who are recognized authorities in banking, economics, government, law and industrial, and agricultural and financial problems.

Now Has 102 Beds

To those who have lived in Tecumseh for the past 20 years the growth of the small hospital on Pottawatamie St. is but one of the signs of Tecumseh's progress.

With the expansion of the community and of the surrounding area, the demand for hospital services continues to rise.

To the small hospital built in 1938, addition after addition has been erected until it will reach a capacity of 102 beds by the end of this year.

The newest addition, now under construction, is located on the south wing of the second floor.

MOST OF the new floor space will house the pediatrics section and will provide an additional 16 beds. There will be two private rooms, one four-room ward and five semi-private rooms in addition to the nursery.

A recovery room is also under construction along the north side of the second floor with ample room for eight beds. The Hospital Auxiliary is undertaking this project.

Even though the present doctor's lounge is comparatively new, it is much too crowded for the size of the hospital staff. Therefore, contractors are also working on an addition to this lounge, located on the south side of the second floor.

☆

KRIEGHOFF CO. of Adrian began in April to fill in the shell on the second floor that was partially constructed as a part of the south wing addition several years ago.

The new addition fifth in number, will be finished sometime this fall.

Cost of the project will be over $980,000 with the cost of equipment bringing the total to nearly $100,000.

The present pediatrics section will be remodeled and used for surgery and medical patients. The children's ward probably will probably be located in this remodeled section.

MSU Organizing English Center

EAST LANSING—The 44,536 foreign students who studied in the United States last year far outnumbered the 9,000 foreign students in the USSR.

But while the Soviet Union has created special facilities and even special institutions for foreign students, a report from Homer Higbee, assistant dean of International Programs at Michigan State University, indicates that the Soviet effort nowhere approaches what is being done in the United States.

Higbee's study, made for the National Associaiton of Foreign Student Advisers under a grant from the Dean Langmuir Foundation, covered 1,365 institutions of higher learning.

He found that the major problems facing foreign students at American colleges and universities are too little knowledge of the English language and insufficient funds.

"There is urgent need for the establishment of additional English language centers in the U.S.," he reports.

Such a center will be opened this fall at Michigan State University. Under the new procedure, foreign students will be tested in English ability.

If their command of English is found to be inadequate for classroom work, the students will receive instruction in the English training center.

The center will have an ongoing research program in methods and materials, for little or no materials are available for teaching students from some Asian and new African nations.

What do you mean, "armamentarium?"

Sometimes physicians forget and talk their own language. Greek to most people. Now, about the mouthful above, ever hear something like this from your doctor? ". . . drawing on our present armamentarium to treat you . . ." Actually, "armamentarium" is just a doctor's word for the array of treatments and medications at his disposal. When it comes to drugs, this armamentarium is something. Thousands and thousands, literally. All are ready available in this pharmacy to help preserve your health when needed—a public service which we are pleased to render.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

An Independent newspaper, published every Thursday morning at 117 S. Evans Street. Entered at the Post Office in Tecumseh, Michigan as second class matter.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Expansion Is Good News

When a major retail outlet announces —as A&P did last week—that its store capacity is to be enlarged by 50%, that's good news for the community.

First of all, this indicates that the firm likes to do business in our town.

Another likely conclusion is that the food chain has surmised, no doubt after careful study, that Tecumseh will continue to grow and prosper in future years.

We have long admired the operations of our two major food outlets, A&P and Kroger.

Both have beautiful, well-managed stores, both are recognized as tops when it comes to merchandizing and promotion.

Among our own more pleasant chores each week in publishing this newspaper is to work with Kroger and A&P on these stores regular ads.

A person can learn a great deal about food advertising by observing the efficient and timely manner in which each of these chains handle theirs.

Although the ads are prepared well in advance, the firms often make last-minute changes in items or prices due to an unexpected boon in the purchase of perishable items.

We must admit to a few good-natured grumbles over this because it means a change in our press schedule, but at the same time we readily realize that such alterations are vital to A&P and Kroger and will mean much to that weekend's business.

A&P and Kroger know how to take care of these things with perfection and the winner is always the shoppers around the community who are striving to get the most for their food dollars.

Return to the Books

Classroom doors in area school swing open next Tuesday.

The freedom of summer vacation is over, the time to get back to "hard work" (as the kids call it) has arrived.

We suspect that many youngsters, whether they'll admit it or not, are secretly happy that school bells are ringing once again.

This is an age when more and more formal education is required by young people in their quest for success and security in later life.

We feel that the kids returning to high school classes and many in junior high are beginning to realize this fact. They also are cognizant of the emphasis now being placed on science and outer space in world events.

Learning to live and work in the space age will take considerable knowledge, much of which starts right in the grades and during high school. Certainly the preparations for college-level work begins here. If the foundation is good, the end results of formal education will probably also be good.

Much of the success in a student's work comes as a direct result of encouragement and help at home—in fact, probably to a greater extent than one would realize.

So as we enter the 1961-'62 school year, we wish good luck to all our scholars and encourage them to get off on the right foot.

Shorty Made No "Bones" About It

Folks thought it was a big joke when Shorty Johnson came back from Center City with a new St. Bernard for his kids.

And the truth was, Shorty did look kind of funny. The pooch practically filled the whole back seat of Shorty's car, and, when he let it out, it stood darn near as high as Shorty did!

But Shorty didn't mind the ribbing. As he explained, "I know I look pretty silly with a dog like this. But when you've got eight kids like I do, and you get 'em a dog, you get one big enough so they can all play with it at once!"

From where I sit, folks should "size up" a situation before jumping to conclusions. For example, because Shorty likes coffee, I used to feel he'd disapproved when I'd have a glass of beer. But after I got to know him, I realized he was a tolerant man—one who'd never think of challenging his neighbor's right to his own opinions. This attitude is typical of most of the folks in our town—one of the things that makes them so "dog-gone" wonderful!

Our Readers Write

TO THE EDITORS:

I am writing concerning the proposed fourth precinct for our city. Having worked on the election board, I find it difficult to understand the need for such action by the Council.

In the presidential election of last November, we found that more people turned out early in the day and few people had to wait any length of time.

So from the standpoint of convenience, I think there is little argument for needing a fourth precinct.

Aside from the initial expense of $1,900, it would be necessary to hire another precinct election board which would involve approximately $250 in wages per election.

The law limits precincts to 1,400 registered voters and it has been pointed out that our southwest precinct is now slightly more than 1,300.

However, because of the involved expenditures, it would seem unnecessary to create a fourth precinct until such time as it is required. It may very well be several years before 100 additional voters are registered in this precinct.

Also there is the possibility of absorbing portions of Precinct 3 into Precincts 1 and 2 by changing boundaries.

At any rate, I wonder what advantages this action would provide other than the possible advantage of more representation for Tecumseh at county political conventions. Does this warrant such an expense? I hope the council finds it does not.

TO THE EDITORS:

Browsing through last week's Tecumseh Herald, the first item that caught my eye was headed — "While some gripe — city is saved $800."

Further reading revealed the new uniforms purchased and good work achieved by the newly organized Civil Defense Auxiliary Police.

"Grand," I thought, "This is something for Mr. and Mrs. Tecumseh resident to really be proud of and support."

Scanning on down the front page, I came upon a smaller item, the first sentence reading: "Who will guard children crossing busy Adrian St. going to and from Tecumseh Acres School this year?"

This hits home—we have two small daughters who use this particular crossing four times a day.

The item so casually states that a policeman can no longer be spared for this duty.

WHY? That's all I would like to know!

Being just an uninformed taxpayer, I wonder—Has the police force been cut? Is this duty not listed under either "special assignment or traffic control", so the CD could give some assistance? Or the policewoman?

Could this duty not be worked in on her schedule If one could be found, who would pay the retiree — city—or maybe the school system?)

My husband and I have attended each PTA meeting since Tecumseh Acres School has been in operation.

We have heard numerous discussions on how a traffic light could not possibly serve the purpose, and how a skywalk was just plain out of the question, financially.

The PTA was informed the ONLY way that the traffic could be kept under control was to have a UNIFORMED POLICEMAN at the crossing, as the uniform does demand respect.

After observing the situation, I am convinced this IS the only way. I strongly feel this person MUST be a uniformed police man or woman, with authority to arrest.

I wonder if Chief Clark has ever observed this mess in a rainstorm? Or at a time when someone, other than a uniformed policeman, tried to direct the cars?

I for one, certainly give our new chief credit, where credit is due, but please, Tecumseh residents, let's get on this before its too late.

Let's somehow save that one little life that could so instantly be lost—before, not after.

New Industry Coming Here; Will Employ 300

Tecumseh's alert Industrial Development Corp. has landed this city another industry.

To employ about 300, Faraday, Inc. of Adrian agreed Thursday to move its entire operations here.

Faraday Vice-President Robert Barnard, who heads this wholly-owned subsidiary of Tele-Tronics Inc. signed the papers which gives Tecumseh another blue ribbon and growing industry.

Inking the agreement for the Tecumseh IDC were Jack Osburn, its president, and Karl Schneider, treasurer.

Establishd in 1875, Faraday was purchased by Teltronics six months ago. Although now a part of the eastern electronics company, headquartered in Philadelphia, Faraday operates independently under Mr. Barnard's direction.

Joining the Tele-Tronics family helped to prompt an expansion plan for Faraday, a firm already having approximately $3 millions in sales each year.

It has long been a national leader in the manufacture of signal equipment, such as fire alarm systems, doctor's in-and-out registers and sound paging devices.

All told, Faraday builds nearly 1,700 signal items.

Until now, emphasis has been on electrical, but with the move to a new, larger plant, Faraday is going into electronic systems.

PLEASE SEE STORY ON IDC, PAGE 3

The present Adrian setup includes two locations:

►Manufacturing is centered in an old, two-story brick building on the east side's Church St.

►General offices and distribution is located four miles across town on the west side's Beecher St.

Several months ago, company officials decided that what was needed would be a modern, one-story structure to house plant and offices in a consolidation of all operations.

They wanted to work out a plan whereby such a building would be constructed by an outside group, to Faraday specifications and for which they would sign a long-term lease with option to buy.

Such arrangements are standard practice in today's expansion of industry when a firm needs all its capital to invest in research, machinery, inventory and product development.

At the same time, Faraday officials had to dispose of the Church St. building, which they own. The Beecher St. layout is leased.

☆

FARADAY FIRST invited the Adrian Industrial Development Corp. to work out arrangements on the new building.

Operating quietly, Adrian's committee set out to raise $425,000, which was deemed the needed finances.

Adrian's IDC was able to get a $250,000 loan commitment from the Federal government's Small Business Administration and another $60,000 from an Adrian financial institution.

The balance was to be subscribed from Adrian businesses and citizens.

In chance conversation six weeks ago, Dr. Bob Laidlaw, a member of the Tecumseh IDC, learned that Faraday and Adrian were negotiating over the new plant arrangement.

The local dentist questioned Mr. Barnard to see if

Con-Con Vote Is Tuesday

Michigan voters will select 144 Constitutional Convention delegates Tuesday.

In this area, citizens will choose between:

► Charles Figy (Republican) and Richard Marino (Democrat), 19th Senatorial District.

► Clyne Durst (Republican) and Leland Brighton (Democrat), Lenawee Representative District.

Lenawee electors will also decide on one proposal, whereby all candidates wishing to run as delegates to county conventions must first file a nominating petition.

At present, such candidates have been mostly write-ins.

Mr. Figy, a farmer for 40 years, served seven years as Assistant to the Secretary of Agriculture in the Eisenhower administration. For 11 years, he was a commissioner-director of the state department of agriculture.

He is president of Patron's Mutual Insurance Co. and a director of the Bank of Lenawee.

His opponent, Mr. Marino, is a civil engineer in Monroe.

☆

IN THE Brighton-vs-Durst race, there has been crossing of party lines, with Mr. Brighton winning support from both sides.

He has been a dairy and general farmer for 30 years in the northern section of the county, is a former county supervisor and has also served on the Cambridge Township tax board.

Mr. Brighton has advocated that local, township and county government should not be decreased, but given broader scope. He feels, according to his campaign manager, that a compromise on reapportionment is a necessity.

He wants a thorough tax study, using as a basis the (Rollo) Conlin tax plan.

Mr. Durst is an Adrian attorney who has been active in civic affairs, ranging from the Adrian Jaycees, YMCA, Kiwanis Club to the Red Cross.

He is a graduate of the University of Michigan.

Polling places will be open from 7 a.m. until 9 p.m.

Long & Short

In keeping with the short work week, this will be an abbreviated column.

☆

Rumors and more rumors have been wending their way all across the county for the past month about an industry coming to Tecumseh.

Well, as you can see from our happy headline, it's true, Faraday of Adrian will soon be Faraday of Tecumseh.

Every citizen of this community can be proud of the tremendous job its Industrial Development Corp. has done.

These men are dedicated to the principle that this is a marvelous place and top-flight industries, such as Faraday, will like it as much as IDC members do when all the facts are known.

Don't kid Vern Manwaring about going to watch his favorite ball team play Monday.

Vern is a fervent Cleveland Indian fan and on Labor Day the entire family took a cruise on the Aquarama to the Ohio city.

Daughter Emily told me that her dad was all set for the Indian-Red Sox battle and the only thing that kept him from seeing it was that the teams happened to be meeting in Boston.

But it still was a nice holiday as the family toured the zoo.

After Mrs. Manwaring learned that Emily had informed me about the incident, she called to assure that Vern knew all the time the game was at Boston.

So be sure not to kid Vern.

Sewer, Water Lines Get City Approval

By JIM LINCOLN

A sewer and water installation, which will cost approximately $45,000, to the proposed 75-000-square-foot Faraday plant at S. Maumee St. and Russell Rd. was approved by Council Tuesday night.

City officials OKed the installation after Jack Osburn, president of the Tecumseh Industrial Development Corp., explained that a new plant was to be built here and readied for operation by February 1962.

City Manager Ed Nelson said work could be started by the middle of September and completed by Dec. 15.

A section of the sewer from the disposal plant was started about a year ago to the industrial site. It will now be completed to the intersection of S. Maumee and Russell Rd.

Nelson told councilmen and Mr. Osburn that a 12-inch water main could be installed within four days since the city could connect into the main at Patterson and S. Maumee.

Mr. Osburn, who was accompanied to the meeting by other members of IDC, said the plant's office would be nearly double the size ordinarily needed, because company officials already have tentatively planned an expansion for the near future with employment between 500 and 600.

Councilman Royal Welch was excused from voting on the sewer and water installation since he's also a member of the IDC.

'Seasons' Will Be Theme of Flower Show in Tipton

TIPTON — "The Seasons" will be presented by the Franklin Garden Club Tuesday, Sept. 12, when the group's annual flower show is staged at the K of P hall here.

The various tables and their chairmen are:

Childs — Mrs. Richard Eisenminger

Christmas — Mrs. Richard Platt

Fourth of July Mrs. Robert Roe

Easter — Mrs. Roy F. Willnow

Anniversary — Mrs. Glenn Kemp

These and other arrangements, which have been assigned, must be in place by 12 noon according to the committee.

The affair is open to the public from 2-4.

Plans for the show are in charge of the exhibit committee.

Refreshment committee will be Mrs. Dale Cook, Mrs. Kemp and Mrs. Eisenminger.

It's A Girl

A baby girl, Dawn Marie, was born Aug. 29 to Mr. and Mrs. David Champanois at the Bronson Hospital, Kalamazoo. Mrs. Clarence Champanois is spending a few days with her new granddaughter who weighed 6 lbs. 12 oz. at birth.

IS THIS MY ROOM?—David Gilbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Gilbert, 201 S. Maumee St., was a little confused opening day of school. Going into first grade, Donald was trying to locate his room, but didn't want to disturb the adults hurrying to and fro in the halls of Patterson School. Just in time, his teacher, Marvel Steinhoff, found Donald and escorted him into her class.

After THS, Three More Study Years

(Editor's note: One of Tecumseh's exchange students is Adolf Petros of Germany. This article tells about the school he attended and will return to after a year here.)

In Hessen, Germany, there is a high school known as the Aubeau Gymnasium. Aubeau means "to build up." All students of high school age must attend it for the required length of time.

Even though the total number of students is 1,500, the classes are small, averaging about 20 or 25 pupils in each one.

There is little emphasis on competitive sports. Instead, the classes themselves are considered of major importance. There are no "snap" courses here.

All students are required to take such subjects as English, Latin, math, chemistry and physics until they have passed the 10th grade.

Then they are allowed to specialize in either math, science or languages for the last three years of high school.

The students at Aubeau Gymnasium are not just from Germany alone. There are also students from Hong Kong, America and the Soviet Zone of Germany.

This is also Adolf Petros' school.

After his one-year stay here with the James Barton family, Adolf, at 17, will still have three years of high school ahead of him in Germany.

Back from Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lewis and son, Greg, returned from a weeks vacation at their cottage at Newberry. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Peterson spent the weekend in Meadville, Pa. visiting his relatives.

NEW INDUSTRY

Faraday might wish to investigate the possibility of moving the firm to Tecumseh, where the local IDC owns a plot of 12 acres, due south of Tecumseh Products Co. along Russell Rd.

The Faraday executive explained that Adrian had first crack at the deal and he wanted to wait at least another month to see if the committee there could complete arrangements.

Thirty days passed and Dr. Laidlaw phoned Mr. Barnard, who said his firm was still working with Adrian, but that he might call the Tecumseh dentist in a few days if the negotiation bogged down.

When that call from Adrian came through Aug. 7, Dr. Laidlaw asked for an appointment the next morning.

The dentist contacted Mr. Osburn and the pair hustled to Faraday for preliminary talks. The Tecumseh men brought Mr. Barnard back to the city to inspect the proposed plant location and at the same time got all Faraday specifications as to plant size and construction.

Within hours, the project was well in motion.

Before a week had passed, a formal proposal from Tecumseh's IDC was submitted to Faraday officials, who gave it their blessing.

Financial arrangements were made for the nearly half million dollars required to complete the full project, which includes not only construction of a new Faraday plant here, but also the purchase by the Tecumseh IDC of the two-story brick factory in Adrian for $110,000.

This latter structure, the city's IDC hopes to sell or lease.

Cash for the deal will be in the form of commitments from several lending agencies.

Faraday officials were greatly impressed with the efficiency and speed with which Tecumseh's IDC worked. The manufacturers tabbed as ideal the 12-acre site, which will allow not only for the new plant, but also future expansion.

All seven members of the Tecumseh Development Corp. were on hand for the signing session Thursday in Mr. Barnard's office. Besides Messers Osburn, Schneider and Dr. Laidlaw, they are Del King, Dr. Robert Murray, Bill Powell and Royal Welch.

Tecumseh attorney James McKenna handled all the legal papers, producing them at near record speed

Barley Growers Should Become Familiar with Law

Michigan barley growers who plan to participate in the 1962 feed grain program should become familiar with the new farm program before seeding winter barley.

Barley is included in the 1962 program, although it was excluded from the 1961 program for corn acreage reduction.

While compliance is voluntary, the producer must comply if he wishes support on either barley or corn in 1962.

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Celebrate

Mr. and Mrs. Hearold Coates will observe their 25th wedding anniversary Tuesday, Sept. 12.

There will not be a celebration since their son is overseas.

Hearold Coates and Lenore DePuy were wed Sept. 12, 1935 at the home of the bride's parents, Neil DePuy and the late Beatrice DePuy, by the Rev. Walter C. B. Saxman then pastor of the local First Methodist Church.

The family home is at 1301 E. Monroe Road.

The couple are the parents of two children, Ruth Ann, a teacher in the Grandville School and Larry Lee of the navy, now serving with the sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

Former Resident Velma J. Gamboe Married in West

Velma Jean Gamboe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice C. Gamboe of Grand Junction, Col. and formerly of Tecumseh, and Kenneth Robert Schmidt, Jr., son of the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Schmidt of Grand Junction were united in marriage August 24.

The bridegroom's father read the wedding vows in the Assembly of God Church in Grand Junction.

Following the wedding the young couple left immediately for California where they plan to make their home.

$9,800 Cost of Sky-Walk Over Street

Council delayed action Monday night on a proposed elevated walk-way over Adrian St. at the Tecumseh Acres school.

Two representatives of Sky-Walk Corp. of Mason, told Council that a steel overhead crossing could be erected for $9,800, excluding the reinforced concrete foundations.

Pictures of the sky-walk were shown. It would consist of steel supports, open-grid flooring and tops and sides enclosed with cyclone-type fencing to prevent children from falling out and throwing of debris onto passing vehicles.

A company representative said foundations could be installed for about $600 and the sky walk erected within 30 days.

Flint and Lansing are two Michigan cities who have adopted sky-walks to replace traffic supervisors at schools.

72 Pink Candles Tell This Story

Mrs. Rose Service was greatly surprised Sunday when 43 of her children, grandchildren and great grandchildren held a birthday party for her at the Odd Fellow Hall.

Since cake decorating is one of Mrs. Service's hobbies, it was not difficult to get her to agree to stop at the hall on the way to Ypsilanti to see a beautifully-decorated birthday cake.

She was told that she was going to Ypsilanti to have dinner at the home of one of her daughter's.

Great was her amazement when she saw her family as well as the lovely three-tiered cake topped with a miniature doll made by her daughter, Mrs. Ormand Socks.

The cake held 72 pink birthday candles and was flanked with pink and white tapers on either end of the table.

A potluck dinner was served to guests from Royal Oak, Ypsilanti, Clinton, Manchester, Adrian, Jackson, Holt, Leslie, Riga and Tecumseh.

A Mix Master was among her lovely gifts and cards. Colored pictures were shown during the afternoon.

Tourist Buy Klomper

(Editors note: This is the second in a series of articles by Jane Hodges, 312 S. Union St., who spent the summer in Holland as a Youth for Understanding, Teen-Age Exchange student.)

By JANE HODGES

The Netherlands has long ceased to be fairy-like country with many windmills and klompen, the traditional wooden shoes.

Now, only the tourists buy the klompen made in all sizes, colors and designs by machines. Only a few deserted windmills remain.

Instead, the Netherlands is a busy place with many cities full of the hustle and bustle so typical of American communities.

One such bustling city was Deventer where I spent my summer.

Deventer has a population of 55,000 and is located on the IJssel River. It is not a new city. As far back as 1200 Deventer was in existence, and at one time this old Hanse town could boast of several thousand inhabitants while Amsterdam was just a small fishing village.

☆

TODAY, HOWEVER, Amsterdam is many times larger than Deventer, and is a favorite city with the Dutch people.

It contains not only 50 canals, but also the Rijks Museum, world famous for its Rembrandt collection, the Pilgrim Church where our forefathers held their last meeting before sailing for the New World, and the Anne Frank House and Secret Annex.

A "must" in Amsterdam is an evening boat ride through the canals, complete with lighted bridges and illuminated house fronts.

It's a city reminiscent of the past with its narrow streets and quaint houses jammed together overlooking the canals.

In direct contrast to Amsterdam is the modern, skyscraper city of Rotterdam.

Because Rotterdam was almost entirely destroyed during World War II, it has been completely rebuilt in the past 14 years, making it one of the Netherlands' most up-to-date cities.

Scattered throughout the city are many impressive war memorials, a tragic reminder of what the Dutch people were suffering 20 years ago.

Rotterdam's harbor is the largest in Europe and is second only to New York. Also similar to New York are the ultra-modern shops and malls, making Rotterdam a shopper's paradise.

☆

NEAR Rotterdam are the Delta Works, a large hydraulic works aimed at protecting the Netherlands from the North Sea. Every Dutchman is proud of this land reclamation project that has made an artificial island in the middle of the sea.

Even though the Dutch enjoy visiting and sightseeing their great cities, they enjoy even more an opportunity to be in the outdoors.

At Apeldoorn, a small city not far from Deventer, is an enchanting park called Berg en Bos. In the evening, the woods and flowers are simply beautiful illuminated by red, green, and yellow floodlights.

A small lake complete with colored fountains and gondolas is just one of the many attractions.

In addition to the gardens, beautiful even at night, are an open air theater, a dance hall and a tea house with an outdoor patio overlooking the lake.

☆

ANOTHER OUTSIDE attraction is the Netherlands Open Air Museum near Arnhem. Here are old farm houses, paper mills, breweries and plenty of wind mills!

All of the buildings — 60 in number — are characteristic of some part of the Netherlands and have been carefully reconstructed.

Typical of the farm houses are cupboards about five-feet in length located in the kitchen which serve as beds. The early farm houses did not have barns.

Instead, the animals were kept in one part of the house and the family lived in another part. Some of the more primitive farm houses had just one large room with the stables surrounding the family living quarters.

It takes the better part of a day to see all the various houses and buildings in their lush green surroundings.

Ann Olsen and Tom Baldwin Exchange Vows

Ann Frances Olsen of Albany, Ore. became the bride of S/Sgt. Thomas B. Baldwin in a ceremony of simplicity at the Iron Creek Church Friday evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Muller of Albany and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Baldwin, 311 W. Chicago Blvd.

The Rev. Alvin Brazee, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony before a background of candelabra with white tapers, vases of gladioli, chrysanthemums and foliage.

The bride was radiant in a white sheath dress of textured nylon and a magenta circle hat. Her necklace was a magenta orchid and she carried white orchids and ivy.

Mrs. Earl Baldwin was matron-of-honor, wearing a navy ensemble and carrying orchid carnations, Fugi chrysanthemums and dicliendra leaves.

Earl Baldwin served as his brother's best man.

A buffet supper was held at the home of the groom's parents. A three-tiered cake flanked by crystal candelabra holding lighted tapers, featured the arrangements.

A background mural of pink, green and white was placed behind the buffet table.

Following a weekend trip, the couple will make their home near Fort Bragg, N.C. where Sgt. Baldwin will be stationed. He is a member of a special forces group paratroop division.

The groom is a graduate of Tecumseh High School. The bride attended Oregon State College and Northwestern U.

Hard-Working IDC Did the Job

Back in 1958, seven Tecumseh businessmen formed a non-profit Industrial Development Corp.

There was no Chamber of Commerce at the time and the group decided something positive should be done to promote the city as a possible site for industries looking for new locations.

Six of the original seven members — Jack Osburn, Drs. Robert Laidlaw and Robert Murray, Del King, Bill Powell and Karl Schneider — are still in the group.

The seventh charter member was Jack Shutt, a home building contractor now living in Bay City. His share was purchased by Royal Welch two years ago when Mr. Shutt sold his business interests here.

When the IDC started, the first order of business was to select and buy a plot of land where potential industry could settle. The group bought 12 acres on the south side, which has been zoned industrial on the city's Master Plan.

Each member initially invested $225 as a down payment on the land. Each month ever since, the fellows have added $20 apiece to meet installments on the balance.

What followed has been plain hard work. The members pursued every possible lead for plants that would add to Tecumseh's future growth.

When the Chamber of Commerce was re-organized three years ago, the Development Corp. was named enmass as the Chamber committee on luring new plants here.

This has been no easy task. Since being incorporated in 1956, the seven-man group has sent out more than 1,000 letters to firms which were actually going to move or might be thinking of it.

They have dealt with about two dozen "luke warm," "warm" and "red hot" prospects.

The success with Faraday is a giant stride ahead for the Development Corp.

As the papers were being signed last week, one of the group predicted, "When folks hear about Faraday they're going to ask us, 'How much of a killing did you make on this deal?' "

The fact is the fellows will make nothing. They just hope to get back the money they have invested in the 12-acre site — and with that go out and buy more property for "the next one."

In fact, the group's corporation papers limit any profits to not more than $1 per member.

Bob Barnard, who heads Faraday, was greatly impressed by the Tecumseh representatives.

"They're an aggressive group who accomplished a great deal in a short time," the Adrian executive said.

"We really admire them. When I was first contacted, I told them they were starting with two strikes against them since we were well along in our negotiations with Adrian.

"I said they'd be at a great disadvantage and that the cards were stacked against them.

"They realized all this, yet it didn't seem to bother them, they just kept right on trying," Mr. Barnard commented.

He added that he was looking forward to working with the people of Tecumseh on the completion of the plant and start of operation here — a frame of mind certainly engendered by his contact with local Development Corp. members.

☆

WHAT LIES ahead for the Tecumseh group?

Well, there are still many details on the Faraday deal to be worked out and these will get top priority.

At the same time, the members will continue to hold their informal sessions, kick in $20 each on purchase of new land and continue to write, telephone and make personal visits to corporations which might like to "go Tecumseh."

No matter what the odds are, the seven men can be depended upon to continue to exploit every advantage their city has over others.

This is youth and vigor at work.

12-Under Par Wins 36-Hole Tournament

Harvey Wilson, local auto dealer, teamed with pharmacist Bill Holmes to take the annual Tecumseh Country Club Hi-Lo tournament held Sunday and Monday.

The winners topped a best-ball field of 30 teams over a 36-hole route with players using three-quarters handicaps.

A 12-under par finish gave the Wilson-Holmes duo a narrow one-stroke margin over Walt Syzmanski and Bob Amori.

Third place went to Jack Hanna and Al Merz, who came in nine strokes under par.

Four teams were tied for fourth.

WIN TOURNAMENT—Annual Tecumseh Country Club Hi-Lo tournament was won by Bill Holmes and Harvey Wilson (right to left), with runner-up honors going to Bob Amori and Walt Szymanski (next two) and third place to Al Merz and Jack Hanna. The winners posted a best-ball 60, a torrid 12-under-par pace over the 36-hole event.

A Few Grid Surprises

Hot humid weather or just lack of spirit has dampened the outlook of Tecumseh head football Coach Dunc Lectka and staff.

"They're not coming around as we had hoped, and they're certainly not hitting," explains Mr. Lectka, who is in his fourth year here.

Disappointments have overshadowed some pleasant surprises. The line has not developed as planned and no speed has been uncovered.

A few surprises, however, have been Mike Rohrer at center and Jim Simmons at fullback. Simmons could be Tecumseh's best back this fall if he continues his improvement. Rohrer in practice has edged ahead of Dave Blanden for the center job.

Another surprise is Jack Rutherford at halfback. Rutherford, a junior, has looked well at times but also is somewhat spotty.

Capt. Tom Simmons injured his shoulder in Tuesday's practice and may miss next week's opener against Willow Run. Jim Tilton's injured hand is not expected to keep him out of the game.

A scrimmage with another school has been tentatively planned for Saturday morning at the local field. The public is invited.

Fellowship Honors Trio of Students

Each of the honored guests opened a gift from the group.

Miss Scott will return to Eastern Michigan University soon to begin her sophomore year.

Miss Schober will enter Michigan State University as a freshman and Sidney will go to Upland, Ind., where he will enter Taylor University as a freshman.

Champ Needs Skill, Strong Back

Being a champion sail plane pilot takes tremendous skill.

He must be a polished flyer and he has to know where to find warm fountains of air on which his sleek plane can gain altitude and more hours aloft.

But there's another side to his makeup.

He must be in excellent physical condition and have a constitution as rugged as a patron at a greasy spoon restaurant.

Flying is only part of winning a soaring crown. Tecumseh's Jim Smith, the 37-year-old architect who got "the big one" last month in Kansas, will attest to this.

Jim topped a field of 36 sail plane experts in the 28th annual national soaring championships at Wichita, a really rugged five-day stint of competition.

Planes had to be airborne about noon each day to catch the thermal blasts which reach their peak at mid-day over the steaming Kansas plain.

Then followed flights which lasted until almost dusk.

But that didn't end things on three of the five days. Planes had to be dismantled and secured aboard trailers, then hauled back to Wichita's municipal airport for the next day's test.

In one free distance flight, Jim soared 280 miles to Clarkson, Neb. His crew drove Jim's Chevy station wagon, with trailer attached, to the Nebraska community. They all helped load aboard the plane and then raced back to Wichita, arriving there at 5 a.m., only a few hours before the final race began.

A fellow has to be able to operate at top efficiency with little sleep under these conditions.

And Jim did, leading the field on the last day in the race to Saline and back—a total distance of 160 miles. Jim's ship, the LO-150, averaged 45 miles per hour.

☆

THE MEET opened with a 140-mile swing to Pratt, Ka. and back. Jim was in 11th position at the end of the trip.

On the second day a flight from Anthony, Ka. to Hutchinson—again 140 miles—he rose to 4th position.

He was in the air eight hours and three minutes the next day when the assignment was a flight to Greensburg, Ka. and then free distance as far as he could go. Jim made it to Pratt and gained more valuable points, enough to get him into third.

The free distance trip, in which Jim got into Nebraska, helped the local pilot keep his position in the race for national laurels.

On the final day, Jim's skill at getting to Saline and back the fastest, shot him into first position.

Out of a possible 5,000 points, Jim had a score of 4,650, nearly 250 more than the runner-up.

☆

THE COCKPIT in a sail plane is really compact—just enough room for the pilot, an instrument panel and the stick and petals.

After eight hours in this cramped position—with a little ice to chew and some fruit to munch on—a sail pilot is pretty stiff.

When the plane returns to earth, it's not uncommon to see the pilot practically fall out of the cockpit and roll around on the ground in an attempt to release taunt muscles.

But the purists in the sport don't seem to mind—in fact they love soaring with a fantastic zeal.

In the United States there are more than 2,500 devotees to soaring. Only the finest are allowed to participate in the nationals.

Oh, to fly like a bird.

Big Dipper Is Attraction

ANN ARBOR—The Big Dipper, the oldest and the most talked about constellation, will be seen during September nights, a University of Michigan astronomer says.

It is also the easiest of the constellations to find, according to Associate Prof. Hazel M. Losh.

"It may easily be traced in the northwestern sky just after dark, one of the first of the groups to make its appearance. Seven stars outline the dipper figure. The two at the end of the bowl are very important, for a line through these two 'Pointers' extended to about five times its length ends close to Polaris or The North Star," Prof. Losh says.

"The Big Dipper, however, is only a part of the time-honored figure of the Big Bear. He is really a huge bear with a long tail (handle of the Dipper). There are pairs of stars that mark three of his four paws with a faint semi-circle of stars ahead of the Pointer stars that outline his nose.

☆

"THE SECOND star from the end and at the bend of the Dipper handle is a naked eye double star, the brighter, Mizar, the fainter, Alcor. The Arabs referred to these two stars as the 'Horse and the Rider', and used them as a test for good eyesight," Prof. Losh explains.

Among the many stories and legends about the Big Bear are:

"One legend is that someone nailed a bear skin to the sky with seven nails, and later the nail heads became stars, and now they shine for us every night to show us where the bear hangs.

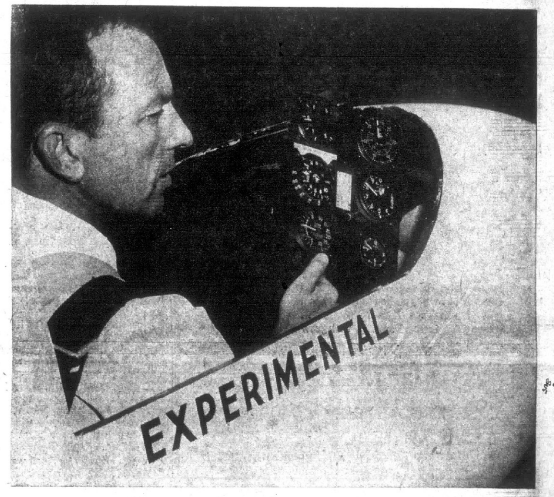
"An Indian story is that the three stars of the tail (handle of the Dipper) are hunters seeking to kill the Bear. The first hunter carries a bow, the second a kettle to cook him in, the kettle being represented by the little star, Alcor, and the third carries sticks to light a fire when the Bear has been killed. In the autumn, the first hunter hits the Bear, and the blood stains from the wound colors the foliage red.

"The seven bright stars that form the Dipper are often referred to as the 'Plough' or 'Wain', for to many this star picture looks like a plough or wagon," Prof. Losh says.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Musch, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Beach spent last week at Lehigh Acres, Fla. where the Musch family have purchased some property.

They visited the tropical gardens and nurseries where Mr. Musch gathered information for this radio broadcast entitled, "Garden Talks."

TIGHT FIT — The cockpit of Jim's ship is really compact. It has an instrument panel, stick and pedals. A fellow can get pretty cramped sitting here for more than seven hours at a time, which is about average for each flight. A plexiglass hood is slid over the opening when Jim is airborne. Without the noise of engines, the glider pilot operates in utter silence. It is so quiet he can often hear the soft whistle of trains running 8,000 feet below him.



Fall Schedule Begins on Sunday at Local Church

BRITTON—The Congregational Christian Church announced its fall schedule of Sunday morning services at 10:30 and Sunday School 10:30 to begin this week.

The Sunday School staff met this last week to make plans for Rally Day and fall activities.

The Women's Fellowship also met. Mrs. Will Exelby conducted devotions and Mrs. Gustav Hanevik talked about the Fellowship theme for this year, "Commitment to Christ in every area of our lives."

First Year Is Critical for Students in College

Freshman year of college is the most critical drop-out and flunk-out period, the Michigan and National Education Associations report.

Getting into college is only half the battle, according to the MEA and NEA. The other half is staying in.

Five booby-traps are most frequently identified by college deans and counselors as responsible for the high rate of freshman "fallout".

1. Lack of effective study habits and skills.

If you haven't learned how to take comprehensive, well-organized notes; if you are a slow reader; if you don't know how to track down research materials; if you lack ability to express your thoughts clearly in class, in themes, and in essay-type assignments-you may have great difficulty in coping with college.

What can you do about it?

If you do not read rapidly, with good comprehension, take a special reading course now.

If note-taking is one of your weaknesses, ask for help from your English or business education teacher. Then practice taking class notes. Use them for study and review.

If finding resources and study materials is hard for you, ask your librarian for help. If you have trouble expressing your ideas in speaking or in writing, ask your English teacher for advice.

2. Lack of incentives to become a competent student.

Teachers are familiar with the type of student who, although he has a high IQ, flunks out in his first college year.

They also have known freshmen who, while they exhibited no exceptional brain power in high school, complete college with distinction because of their concentration and determination.

What makes the difference? In most of these cases it is motivation—a powerful desire to achieve; to complete a college education.

What can you do about it?

If you are not sure that you are ready for the responsibilities of college, talk it over with your guidance counselor. You may decide to put off college entrance for a year or two.

If you are apprehensive that a delay will make you too old for college, stop worrying. A recent survey of hundreds of college graduates indicates that many of them believe they would have gotten more out of college if they had taken a year or two after high school to look around to "find themselves."

3. Unrealistic concepts of college life.

Do you have the idea that campus life will be all social adventure—a whirl of football dates and fraternity dances? Do you expect suddenly to be "the most popular person on the campus"?

Are you searching for a husband or wife?

When unexpectedly confronted by college regulations, heavy class assignments, and little time for dating in the freshman year you could easily develop feelings of defeat unless you know the real purposes of college and what to expect.

What can you do about it?

Expect strictly enforced college regulations, heavy class assignments, much related reading, and little time for dating.

College is a place to sink your roots into scholarship and to prepare for a career, so get ready to prove yourself as a student and as a mature, thoughtful campus citizen.

4. Unprepared for hard work.

Accustomed to less difficult textbooks, to shorter study hours, and to personal supervision by teachers, some students are swamped by freshman requirements and never quite catch up.

Those of you who "go away" to college no longer have parents at your elbow reminding you to study or helping you with homework.

Have you learned to study independently, to budget your time, to set up definite study schedules and to stick to them?

What can you do about it?

Start today to budget your time for study, school activities, and social life. Make a chart and stick to the schedule you set for yourself.

Efficient study habits will be one of your greatest assets in college. Choose "solid" subjects plus electives in your own field of interest. The harder you work to master your high school studies, the more confident you can be of success in college.

5 Inability to adjust to people.

Students who depend heavily upon their families for companionship, who are slow to make friends, and who wait for others to begin friendships can be so lonely in the first year of college that they may not return.

If you are too shy or too independent to warm up to new people—including your instructors—you may face a difficult adjustment period when you enter college.

What can you do about it?

Ask your teachers and guidance counselor for help; tell them your problem and ask for suggestions. If you are shy or have some personality handicaps, identify these and set out to overcome them. You may need the help of a psychologist in overcoming this hazard.

CRAZY CARROT — Gayle Fisher, 708 N. Evans St., points to a carrot which grew through a metal washer at a garden plot on Clark St. Mrs. Fisher harvested the carrots last Tuesday and could hardly believe it when she found this one with a girdle. The Fishers have grown garden "sass" on the plot on Clark St. for about five years. Previous to that time it was used for farming and the washer could have dropped from a cultivator or tractor.

Warning: Bricks Can't Replace Eyes

A local optometrist warns that bricks can't replace eyes.

Dr. George G. Burkhard of the Michigan Optometric Association said that great emphasis has been placed in recent years on the buildings and physical assets of schools, without noticing that schools also need children that are physically and mentally alert, in order to learn.

"The public often thinks that a new school is the answer to our great educational problems, but it goes beyond this", he said. "For instance, did you know that more than half the children who are slow learners or readers have vision problems?"

Dr. Burkhard said that a great many children have vision deficiences that handicap them in their schoolwork.

"What good does it do to give them beautiful school buildings and carefully engineered equipment—all designed to speed-up performance, when vision problems exist that make it impossible to achieve quantity and quality in learning".

He said that since 80% of all learning is based on vision, his recommendation is that parents take it upon themselves to fill these modern schools with "up-to-date and visually alert children".

Dear Dorothy:

This letter is long overdue but is just as sincere as if written on time.

I wanted to thank you for the beautiful job you did on the story of the Tipton Reporter.

We parents have all received favorable comment on it and, of course, the boys were very pleased.

Another thank you, too, for spending so much time with them the day they visited.

You have a gift, Dorothy, for making a story come alive, so that your readers truly share your interest in the subject.

Sincerely,
Dorothy Osburn

$58,391 in Livestock Sold

A total of $58,391.62 worth of livestock was sold by 4-H and FFA members in Lenawee County at the Fair August 18.

The amounts covered:

- Lambs—$1,015.16
- Hogs—$2,194.23
- Cattle—$44,182.24.

There was a significant variation in price per hundred pounds in the livestock, which according to Gary Seevers, county extension agent, signifies three important things.

First, buyers are willing to pay more for higher quality.

Second, the 4-H and FFA members, who do an extra good job are rewarded when their animals are sold.

Third, it points out that the Junior Livestock Sale is consistant with regular marketing channels where higher grading livestock bring better prices.

☆

SHARON MITZNER and Joan Mumaw were invited to be assistant superintendents during the 46th annual State 4-H Club Show this week at Michigan State University.

Sharon assisted the livestock and Joan with flowers, Leaders Day and Parent's Day.

This was the first year that most contestants in judging events could confer individually with judges about strong and weak points of entries.

Another new feature was the automotive skill driving contest. Contestants had to pass written and oral tests on car operation and drive on the road and through an obstacle course.

Hog carcasses were butchered and judged for the second straight year. For the first time the public could see a demonstration of carcass cutting techniques.

Nearly 100 4-H'ers made exhibits, entered contests or gave demonstrations during the 1961 State Show.

ASC Community Boundaries Are Unchanged

Chairman of the Lenawee County ASC Committee announced today the establishment of the boundaries for all Agricultural Commodity Stabilization Communities in Lenawee County for 1962.

These boundaries and community designations must be established each year before community and county elections.

Mr. Capper states the boundaries for the ASC communities in Lenawee County are to remain the same as in previous years.

The following townships shall be designated as communities with the same name:

Adrian, Cambridge, Fairfield, Dover, Franklin, Hudson, Macon, Madison, Medina, Ogden, Palmyra, Raisin, Ridgeway, Riga, Rollin, Rome, Seneca and Woodstock.

Clinton and Tecumseh townships shall be combined into one community designated as Clinton-Tecumseh community and Blissfield and Deerfield townships shall be combined into one community known as Blissfield Deerfield community.

The 1962 ASC election in Lenawee County will be held from September 9 to September 21, 1961. All election ballots will be mailed to farmers by September 8, 1961.

County Will Operate West Branch School

West Branch School, which was to be closed this fall along with the Macon School due to the austerity program, will be open this fall as a part of the services provided by the County Board of Education.

The building will house three rooms, which will provide classes for mentally handicapped pupils who are partially socially competent.

These pupils for the most part have been attending the Croswell School in Adrian, which will now be closed.

The County Board of Education and the State of Michigan will pay the complete cost of educating these pupils.

The Board of Education of Tecumseh will provide over-all supervision through the superintendent of schools.

The County Superintendent's office has direct supervision of the program. Parents who have children who would benefit from this type of program should call —Colfax 5-2110 for appointments to test their children.

Mrs. B. B. Fisher will be acting principal of the building.

Two new station wagons have been purchased by the county to pick up these children since they live in all parts of the county.

The school will start at about 9 o'clock and close around 2:30 or 3 p.m.

The funds for educating these children come from State Aid and the one-half mill tax throughout the county, which was voted for special education purposes.

ABOUT DUTCH ELM DISEASE

The shrill whine of a chain saw has been an altogether too familiar sound in Tecumseh this summer. It's heart-breaking the way we are losing the lovely old monarchs of our streets, the elm trees.

Hitch-hiking into the country on a load of elm lumber from Holland, sometime in the late Twenties or early Thirties, it has quickly become the scourge of the land.

The fungus of the disease is carried to the tree by the bark-beetle, and once there attacks that part of the tree responsible for carrying water from the roots up to the leaves.

What actually happens is that a substance is produced which clogs up the water system and the tree turns yellow as if it were "choking."

As we all know too well, the disease is fast progressing and fatal — as yet there is no cure, no delaying treatment, no immunization.

Are all elms doomed?

On the radio the other day I heard a forester from one of the eastern states and he held out a small ray of hope.

His part of the country had been under attack for some 30 or more years and there are still a few elms surviving. The answer is apparently prevention.

☆

THIS IS what the controversy rages over. All agree that the fungus carrying beetles must be kept from the trees. But how?

Well, they say that the beetle, to complete its life cycle, needs two things — living wood to feed upon and dead wood in which to lay eggs. Therefore, one of two things, or a combination of both, may be done.

Eliminate the food supply, which is, of course, intensive spraying with poisonous materials, or eliminate the breeding places by the removal of all dead or dying elm trees, Which is best?

Here is where the July-August issue of "Audubon Magazine" was most timely.

In an article, "Is Spraying Necessary to Halt Dutch Elm Disease" they explored the question. The town of Glen Ellyn, Ill., has Dutch Elm trouble and after deciding to do something about it, a committee was appointed to study the case for and against spraying.

The group turned in a "split decision' 'and both majority and minority reports filed, appeared in the magazine.

☆

IT WAS interesting to note that the report favoring spraying, which incidentally was the majority, death mostly with why sanitation (the removal of dead wood, i.e. breeding spots) alone was not satisfactory.

They favored a two-fold attack — spraying and sanitation, but with definite limitations on the first.

Recognizing the hazards of spraying, they advised it be done only when the trees are dormant, in areas of heavily diseased elms and by trained competent tree experts.

The opposition cited cities which had discontinued spraying in favor of sanitation and quoted experts such as Dr. D. S. Welch of Cornell University.

The report went on to say that the few dubious advantages of spraying were far, far outweighed by the inherent dangers of using the highly toxic non-selective poisons.

Their disatrous effects upon bird life are well-known and, "sprays also destroy natural enemies of the beetles, thereby increasin g the hazard to unspraying elms.

"They eliminate predators of pests of other types of trees, often causing an increase of such infestations as the cottony maple scale; often raise to pest status such enemies as rose chafers, aphids and mites; cause injury to the elms themselves in many instances when used in concentrations large enough for adequate coverage; injure the finish of automobiles and cause damage to ornamentals and other plant life!"

☆

THE COMMITTEE as a whole made recommendations among which were:

1—Spraying if decided upon, should be strictly supervised and done only during the dormant season.

2—Sanitation is absolutely necessary, private as well as public property, must be completely cleared of any beetle-breeding wood.

3—Publicity should be given the disease—citizens should know what it is and the steps being taken to curb it.

4—With utmost speed trees taken out should be replaced.

So it is that Tecumseh is not alone in its struggle to save the elm trees. This is not a good job but I have tried to answer some of the questions that we have been asked about Dutch Elm Disease.

Service to the community

A colleague of ours tells this one. On Saturdays he sells dimes (10c each). Seems the neighborhood movie is next door. The kids stop in before the show for dimes—for the vending machines in the theatre. A lot of our business is like this—service to the community. Glad to do it. Because we're conveniently located and open long hours, we're a handy place to pick up change or a bottle of aspirin. But a pharmacist's true service to his community is to be a quick, reliable source of the drugs and medications your physician prescribes. That's the real reason we're here. And we are always pleased to serve you.

Players Open New Season

The Tecumseh Players will begin their second season of activity Sunday, Sept. 10, at 7:30 with a meeting in the Sage Building.

All people interested in community theatre are invited to attend.

The new board, with Dr. Robert Murray as president, met last week to outline plans for the coming year.

The board includes:
Rick Kureth, vice-president
Mrs. Terry Mackin, corresponding secretary
Mrs. Ralph Dabe, recording secretary
Mrs. William DePuy, treasurer
Mrs. Gloria Jadwin, public relations
Richard Boyd, historian.

A membership committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dabe and including Dr. and Mrs. Richard Coak, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Corkery, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pokorney has been appointed.

If the group grows sufficiently, a third production might be considered.

The first play of the season will be Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit", which is scheduled for Nov. 1 and 2 at the Strand Theatre.

Try-outs will be the last weekend of September.

A play reading committee has been appointed to suggest shows for future production this year.

BY EARLY October, the players will have two programs available to organizations in Tecumseh and surrounding communities.

They will consist of short plays and a reading and be about one-half hour in length. The programs are tentatively scheduled to be seen by the Players on Sept. 24 and Oct. 22.

Anyone interested in previewing them for their organization is cordially invited.

JEANETTE'S BELT WIN — Jeanette Starkey made the belt she holds as leathercraft project with the Lucky Clover 4-H Club. She was awarded premium ribbons at both the Lenawee County Fair and again at the State Show.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

An Independent newspaper, published every Thursday morning at 117 S. Evans Street. Entered at the Post Office in Tecumseh, Michigan as second class matter.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Theory vs Fact

Some folks say that the coming Constitutional Convention should be non-partisan.

Theoretically, they are correct.

From the practical standpoint, though, this is a near impossibility.

In almost every case, candidates are either Democrats or Republicans. Many ran without party support in the primaries, but most will need it to gain election in the final runoff, Sept. 12.

Thus, with the party helping a hopeful win a Con-Con seat, the party will expect—and in most cases get—cooperation of the delegate.

Certainly, there will be some "independents" rise up and try to tip the cart, but they'll be a minority.

Thus, it's going to be one party against the other in the final analysis.

Of the four candidates lined up against one another in this area, The Herald would like to endorse Charles Figy, a veteran of political wars who would be a most capable delegate.

Farmer's Income: $1 an Hour

The average commercial farmer in central Michigan in 1959 earned about $1 an hour for his labor, management and risk, less than one-half the $2.66 an hour averaged by Michigan production workers in manufacturing in 1959.

So reports John Ferris, Michigan State University agricultural economist.

The farmer received $22,127 in cash income and incurred cash expenses and depreciation of $17,895.

The figures were gained from an examination of the records of 227 central Michigan farms whose operators are cooperators in an accounting project of the MSU agricultural economics department.

They operate farms which are considerably larger than average Census farms.

After accounting for inventory adjustments, an average one of these farmers had $6,659 left as net farm income to cover his labor, management, risk and a return on his investment.

Allowing 5% return on investment left him a labor income of $2,678, Ferris says.

This "average" commercial farm" in 1959 had 290 acres of which 228 were tillable. The total investment on this farm was about $80,000.

Two men were employed full time, so the average investment per man was about $40,000, twice the investment per man in industry, Ferris says.

Of the total investment, $52,000 was in real estate (not counting the operator's residence), $10,000 was in machinery and equipment, $11,000 was in live stock and $6,000 in feed and crops, Ferris says.

Childhood Sweethearts Are Married in Elwood, Ind. Church August 26

- Smilax, rubrum lilies and lighted tapers were used with gladioli and Fuji chrysanthemums to enhance the East Main St. Christian Church in Elwood, Ind. where J. Phillip Surratt of Tecumseh and his childhood sweetheart, Ann Forney, exchanged nuptial vows.

The ceremony took place Aug. 26.

The new Mrs. Surratt is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Forney of Elwood and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John M. Surratt, 203 N. Union St.

Entering the church with the minister, the Rev. J. E. McCoy, the groomsmen, Jon Terry Lindgren of Ann Arbor and the bridegroom was his brother and best man, Paul R. Surratt.

The bride chose a gown of white bouquet taffeta and Alencon lace embroidered with pearls at the neckline. The controlled skirt featured a carriage back that flowed into a court train.

★

HER FINGERTIP veil of silk imported illusion fell from a cap of seed pearls and rhinestones.

She carried a cascade arrangement of stephanotis and Phalaenopsis orchids with blue delphinium flowerets.

Eleanor June Moore of Indianapolis was maid-of-honor and Ann Surratt, sister of the groom was the bridesmaid. Both wore taffeta dresses of opera blue and light blue respectively, featuring rounded necklines and short sleeves.

The draped skirts were accented with an Obi in the back. They wore veils on their hair to match their dresses and carried cascade arrangements of pink glamellias.

The guests were seated by Robert Hood of Ann Arbor, Robert Ploughe of Anderson and George Surratt, junior usher.

They were registered by Barbara Stark and Georgia Mangas.

☆

A RECEPTION was held in the Fellowship rooms of the church immediately following the ceremony. A four-tiered wedding cake topped with floral arrangement centered the bride's table set with crystal and silver.

Lighted candles in a seven branched candelabra flanked the cake.

Serving the guests were Mrs. William Griffin, Mabel Digel, Blanche Digel, Hazel Poer, Fran Hubley, Georgia Mangas, Mrs. Robert Cotner, Mrs. R. R. Ploughe and Mrs. Kenneth Fudge.

The young couple honeymooned in the southern states and will make their home at 1328 Washtenaw St., Ann Arbor.

Variety of Info Recorded in Book

Gertrude Van Vleet, 108 N. Maumee St., brought an interesting old cook book to the Herald office this past week.

Mostly recipes, the book also pertains to the household, and sick room according to the frontal page.

It was published in 1877 and dedicated to 500 ladies "whose skill and good practical sense have contributed so much to the success and popularity of 'The Home.' "

The Tecumseh Herald, owned by S. C. Stacy at the time, had two pages of advertising announcing that the newspaper had entered it's 28th year of publication, that its circulation and influence was more widely extended than ever before and that the proprietor intended to make 1878 eclipse any previous year in the history of the paper.

Furthermore it reads, "No family in Northern Lenawee can be happy without THE HERALD."

Among the recipes for head cheese and Indian meal pound cake it tells about cleaning stoves with turpentine, making soap and how to get fat.

James Elliott, blacksmith, Miss J. A. Hough, milliner and L. I. Bidwell, livery stable owner, were among some of the other advertisers.

The interesting little book belonged to Miss Van Vleet's mother, Mrs. Edgar C. Van Vleet.

Long & Short

By TOM RIORDAN

Just three years ago, Tecumseh was without a Chamber of Commerce.

Business and professional people had memories of the slow death incurred by a post-World War II Chamber that flourished for a time then quietly folded.

Many times, the idea of having a Chamber came up in coffee klutch sessions, but nothing was ever done.

In the spring of 1958, a small group of business and professional men put their heads together and came up with a plan.

They all agreed a well-run, full-time Chamber was what Tecumseh needed.

Furthermore, each one consented to spend time and energy to get such a project rolling.

There was a hum of optimism in the air as these fellows set about the task of signing up 100 members at $100 annual dues for a three-year period.

In a whirl-wind campaign, which lasted one month, the goal of 100 members was reached.

Don Murphy was hired on a full-time basis as secretary.

Has this Chamber done anything for Tecumseh, a lot of folks ask now and again?

In a word—yes!

In some respects, this is a loaded question. A person, while giving a quick answer, can run in most any direction he or she wishes.

We might as well ask, "Has your church done anything for you?"

Or, "Has your fraternal lodge accomplished anything for you?"

It's my opinion that the Chamber has done much for our community.

First and foremost, the Chamber has brought unity among the many facets of our business and professional people.

Before the Chamber, there was considerable pettiness and misunderstanding between merchants.

This is best summed up in a statement by a Chamber member, made shortly after the successful campaign to recruit 100 folks:

"Joe (that wasn't his name) is a competitor of mine and he never spoke to me. Well, we had to work together on this project and got to be quite friendly. Now, when he drives by my place, he'll wave and smile."

Store hours, Christmas decorations, town-wide promotions were all items at which retailers threw up their hands because they knew no one among them could get everybody to "go along" on a specific arrangement.

But through the Chamber—sort of neutral grounds respected by all members—these things have been worked out to almost 99% satisfaction.

Not 100%, you'll note, because this is an impossibility, and even Ivory soap won't claim that much.

The Chamber has its fingers in many pies, all with the aim to make this a better community.

Among accomplishments which have made a great impression on many members, is that of the off-street parking committee, headed by Bill Powell.

This group has worked diligently on Tecumseh's most serious downtown problem—getting adequate, improved parking.

Cooperating closely with the city, the Chamber's committee has helped work out a plan in which there now are two excellent, hard-topped and lighted lots, within a few seconds walk of the main four corners. Two others are "on the way".

When this giant, three-year project is completed sometime in 1962, our city will have off-street parking the envy of most communities in the state.

Without Chamber efforts this probably never would have happened.

Sure, these lots are metered and that has caused gripes. But what shopper isn't willing to spend a nickel to make sure she has a place to park, which will be high-and-dry and only a few steps from her destination?

The nickels and pennies from parking patrons are providing the needed financing for these improvements.

The industrial committee, although operating as a corporation before the Chamber started and named enmass to be the Chamber committee on industry, has fitted beautifully into the pattern.

An idea was advanced to the Chamber board Tuesday evening which got an OK and will become a reality in about three or four weeks.

An opinion survey will be made of every member. This will be done in a scientific manner, using identical questions asked each member by an interviewer trained for the job.

Members will rate their organization, advance ideas for future goals — and be given a chance to register any complaints.

With this information, the board will then be better able to formulate plans for the future.

Adrian College Enrollment Now Tops 1,000 Mark

Ed Pellowe, public relation director at Adrian College, told Rotarians Tuesday night that the school's growth during the past five years has been tremendous and registration is now over 1,000.

The Rotary Club, after meeting at the Tecumseh Country Club for the past month, is again gathering at the Methodist Church.

ONE FOR THE RECORD BOOK — Dr. Ralph Helzerman shot this buck antelope with bow and arrow at the Bill Maycock ranch near Gilliette, Wyoming last October. Of 500,00 hunters in the United States last year, Dr. Helzerman was one of the 20 to get an antelope with bow and arrow. It was the largest head taken in northeast Wyoming. The "prize" will be entered in the Pope and Young Record book for Archery in the trophy class. The doctor shot the buck from a blind at about 50 yards. The Helzermans plan to return to the 99,000-acre Maycock ranch to hunt again this October.

Indian Gridders Open at Willow Run Friday

By JIM LINCOLN

Tecumseh kicks off its 1961 grid season Friday night at Willow Run with high hopes of thumping the home team in the season's opener.

Game time is 8 o'clock.

A "wait and see" situation exists for local fans as graduation has ripped the backfield of stars that toted the pigskin for the past couple of years.

Coach Dunc Leckta, sporting an exceptional 22-2-3 won-lost record here during the past three years, has pointed out that this year's biggest weakness is the overall team speed.

Although several of the backs are quick, there's no speedster comparable to the breakaway backs of previous years. The backfield has been practically rebuilt.

Sophomore Jim Simmons will open at the fullback slot and could be the Indians top gainer. Jack Rutherford is slated for one of the halfback posts, and though only a 140 pounder, is quick and aggressive.

Tim Sisson, last year's quarterback, will start against WR, but may share the post with Danny Greene and possibly run from a halfback position when not calling signals.

John Britton, letter winner last year and the most experienced halfback, also is slated to start against WR. He'll handle the punting assignments, too.

☆

THE OFFENSIVE and defensive lines, if the Indians show their heels to opponents this fall, must pave the way. Both lines have experience and depth.

Capt. Tom Simmons, injured last week, will definitely miss the opener. Whether he can make the Sept. 22 game with Dundee is questionable.

Tecumseh's offensive line will average 168 pounds and will have Danny Greene and Jerry Forsyth at ends; Kent Naugle, Mike Osburn, tackles; Norm Tucker, Jack Dick, guards; and Mike Rohrer, center.

The defensive line, including linebackers, will have Greene, Forsyth, Osburn, Naugle, Tucker and Jim Simmons from the offensive unit.

Also starters on the defensive line and expected to play some offense, too, will be Jim Tilton, Phil Radant, and Steve Fretwell.

Others picked for action are Dave Blanden, Chuck Osburn, Mark Vallincourt, Dennis Martinus, Jim Johnson, Dick Golat, Dave Blouch and Paul Decker.

☆

LITTLE IS known of Willow Run's squad which was swamped here last year 39-0. It's doubtful that WR has improved enough during the past year to upset the Indians.

Tecumseh may not be quite as strong as last year, but should have enough, especially in the line, to win the opener.

Last year, WR's pre-season boast glorified its line, which proved woefully fat and slow and ended up yielding over 450 yards to the Indians.

A repeat performance this fall by the Indians should register another win over WR.

Following the Willow Run clash, the Indians' schedule

School Board Hears Woes of Parents

First public reaction to the Tecumseh schools austerity program occurred at Monday night's school board meeting when approximately 30 rural residents protested the schools bus pick-up and routing schedules.

The board and Dick Purkey, bus route supervisor, came under attack for group pick-ups of youngsters, instead of door-to-door, and for scheduling which necessitates walking along or crossing main highways.

Purkey explained bussing problems and answered most of the questions. In some cases, he told parents that it was not necessary for their children to cross a highway.

Several board members said that they would like to have door-to-door service, but the schools simply cannot afford it.

In cases where parents have a health problem or handicapped child, they were told that routing would be adjusted for pick-ups at the homes.

Most of the parents were from the Bailey and Haviland Dr. and Gady and Sutton Rd. areas.

Many questions were asked, some of which confused school with city action. It was pointed out that the city is supporting school traffic patrolmen, and the city, not the board is pondering over a $10,000 skywalk at Tecumseh Acres school.

Mr. Purkey asked the parents to be patient, as there were problems which could be eliminated. He added that several problems occurring the first few days of school already had been corrected.

Although several parents appeared satisfied after presenting their problems, a majority apparently felt that their children were being jeopardized for dollars.

The board sympathized with the parents and asked for their cooperation in getting the children safely to and from school.

☆

IN OTHER action, the board approved a proposed survey by the steering committee, of the Citizens Committee on schools curriculum, finance, school-community relations, school plant and personnel.

In a report to the board, the committee said complaints regarding the Group Guidance Course have been alleviated since pupils may be excused from a portion of the course which had come under criticism.

The committee also said difficulties had been removed in the grading system of the lower elementary grades. Lower elementary grading will be on the same basis as the upper elementary sections, and the controversial California Achievement Tests will not be used.

Purpose of the school survey is to uncover information for additional operational millage, which the electorate has twice defeated.

The school board will meet again next Monday night to open bids for the tile field at the Ridgeway School and to complete Monday night's agenda.

The board adjourned this week at 12:30, Tuesday morning.

Her cousin, Bonnie Bleau of Nitro, W. Va. visiting the Pecks, asked her nonchalantly what a sunbeam was, only to be ignored by the tiny miss.

Persisting, Miss Bleau repeated her question. This time with a look that clearly made it known that she felt her cousin quite ignorant, Lynn said, "Well, don't you know? Its a coffee pot."

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Slim Gets in the Swim

Shorty Johnson's eldest boy, Slim, is as tall as his dad is short, and when he heard about an opening for an assistant lifeguard at our local kiddie pool, he figured there was the perfect job for him.

Right away he made a beeline over to see the head lifeguard, who asked him how long he'd been swimming. "Well, to tell the truth," says Slim, "I never learned."

"You don't know how to swim?" asks the lifeguard, puzzled. "No," says Slim, who's 6'7", and still growing, "but I sure can wade!"

From where I sit, it's not how you get a job done, but how well you do it that's important. Most folks have their own way of working—a way that suits them best. It's the same when it comes to personal preferences. I may like an occasional glass of beer with my meals; you might rather have buttermilk. Neither of us is "right"—it's just a matter of taste. Recognizing this fact is one sure way to get along "swimmingly" with your friends and neighbors.

THIRD IN A SERIES

There are still a few places left in Holland which made me feel as if the clock had been turned back a hundred years.

At Volendam and Marken, two small fishing villages near Amsterdam, nearly all of the inhabitants wear daily the old Dutch costumes.

The women do the housework in ankle length skirts, wooden shoes, and white starched hats which extend over the sides of the faces.

The men dress in dark, sailor-like trousers, short, tight-fitting jackets, wooden shoes and little berets.

But perhaps the strangest thing of all is that both boys and girls up to the age of eight are dressed alike. Both sexes have long, curly hair and wear long dresses.

When a young man reaches the ripe age of six, he is given a boy hair cut. At the age of eight, all boys are taken out of long skirts and put into pants.

Then, "officially", they are boys.

☆

HOWEVER, IT IS possible to tell the ladies from the gentlemen when both are wearing long dresses by one slight difference in the boys' costumes.

All little boys under the age of eight have a stripe running down the front of their dresses while the little girls usually have a flowered or print material for theirs.

Both Volendam and Marken are delightful places to visit, not only because of the strange but beautiful costumes, but also only because of the general atmosphere ,making me feel as if I was walking backward through history.

Another place which took me back in time was "DeWaag", a museum in Deventer owned by my Dutch "father", also Marielle's father.

(Marielle is now living with the Dwight Hodges here.)

"De Waag" is a historical museum filled to the brim with every aspect of past Dutch life. Two of the rooms have been furnished as a medieval kitchen and meeting hall.

The other rooms contain old coins and pottery, 16th century costumes, 19th century toys, prehistoric tools, and cooking utensils, fossils, antique furniture of all types, and even a paper Easter tree. Here, there is something for everyone!

☆

THERE IS one more place in the Netherlands that I would like to mention, and that is "De Hoge Veluwe". This is a large national park covering several thousand acres.

It's possible to travel through it by foot, bike or car.

In one part of the park is the Rijksmuseum Kroller-Muller, a beautiful art museum containing 270 works by Vincent van Gogh plus a great deal of modern art. Surrounding the museum are many pieces of modern sculpture, all placed in the open air.

With this exception, there is nothing special to see at "De Hoge Veluwe". It's just a beautiful place to wander through.

These are just a few of the unforgettable places that I visited during my stay in the Netherlands. It's hard to describe them in words because there is a certain charm about all of them that escapes words.

The only way to thoroughly enjoy is to see them for yourself.

Mrs. Dabbs, who holds a master's degree from Indiana University, is sponsored by the manufacturers of Crayola crayons.

TOLEDO — Jacqueline Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Dunn, 403 W. Brown St. is among the 74 freshmen who began the new 30 month nursing education program at the Mercy School of Nursing.

DAR Told Piano 'Got the Boot'

Mrs. Joe Smith of Saline presented a program entitled "Looking Backward" for 16 members of the Abi-Evans Chapter of the DAR Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Ray Whelan.

In reviewing the years, the place a piano has had in the home was discussed.

At one time, nearly every home had a piano prominently displayed in the parlor and piano music was used in nearly every DAR program.

One mentioned that now most living rooms are without pianos and music is seldom used in DAR programs.

Past regents and charter members, Mrs. O .W. Laidlaw, Mrs. Hoyt Whelan, Mrs. J. Smith and Edith Ingersoll, each gave a review of the year when she was in office.

Past regents Mrs. Eugene Rosacrans and Mrs. Herbert Newman each sent a written report to the meeting.

During the program it was noted that only seven of the original 22 charter members are still living.

A cooperative dinner was served preceding the business session, when Mrs. George Wittrup, vice regent, presided.

Murph Reports

By DONALD MURPHY
Executive Secretary, Chamber of Commerce

When a new manufacturing plant goes up, there is a net addition to income flow in the community.

The new payroll dollars roll into the cash registers of the local merchants, into the coffers of the local banks and the local economy experiences expansion.

Furthermore, this economic expansion is reflected usually in general community growth with increases in population, school enrollment, and all the rest.

A number of attempts have been made to measure the quantitative effects on a community of a new industrial payroll. No exact measurement is possible because other influences are simultaneously at work in the particular community.

Nevertheless, rough measurements are possible. This attempt at measurement was undertaken by the National Chamber of Commerce Research Department in response to many requests from local Chambers, the business development of public utilities, and others.

It must be remembered that every case of industrial expansion is unique. No two communities will experience exactly the same effects from new industrial payrolls.

The relationship between industrial growth and general community development is a chicken-and-egg relationship. You can't have eggs without chickens.

Similarly, industrial growth stimulates the remainder of the local economy and the existence of the comunity makes possible industrial growth.

The statistical measure of the effect of 100 new industrial jobs on various other economic and social factors in the local community is not a one-way cause-and-effect relationship.

But in the study from which the following statistics are taken, the sample areas used have been selected in such a fashion that there is a strong connection between the growth of industrial payroll in the particular area and changes in such other indexes as bank deposits, retail sales, etc.

"WHAT 100 NEW FACTORY WORKERS MEANT TO THE COMMUNITIES USED IN THIS STUDY"

296 more people
112 more households
51 more school children
$590,000 personal income per year
$270,000 more bank deposits
107 more passenger cars registered
174 more workers employed
4 more retail establishments
$360,000 more retail sales per year.

Annual Dog Show Will Be Sept. 21

The sleek "show dog" is often a runner up to the homely, shaggy dog when it comes to a boy or girl choosing a pal from the canine world.

The same shaggy dog with the different sized ears, the wrong number of spots, or the too-short legs will have a chance to become a blue ribbon winner.

During the week of Sept. 18, the Country Markets, in conjunction with Ken-L-Ration dog food a division of the Quaker Oats Co., will sponsor a series of kids dog shows at all five of their stores.

The Tecumseh pet show will be held Thursday, Sept. 21, at 6 p.m. at the Tecumseh Country Market.

Joe Busch, general manager invited every youngsters who owns a dog to enter the amateur contest. Prizes and free gifts are planned for each entrant.

Prizes to be awarded include gold and silver loving cups, ribbons, tee shirts, dog leashes, booklets.

Every dog who brings his master will receive a free can of Ken-L-ration dog food.

Categories to be judged have been selected by Country Markets and Ken-LRation to give any dog regardless of ancestry or breeding a chance to win.

Classes include:
1—best trick dog
2—dog with most spots.
3—Dog with the longest tail.
4—shaggiest dog.
5—best groomed dog.

Police Start Crackdown on Bikes

Accidents and near-mishaps, plus many complaints, have instigated action toward bicyclists by the Tecumseh police, according to chief Murell Clark.

Starting Monday, police will start cracking down on bicyclists, who break the city bike ordinance.

Bicyclists, on many counts, have the same laws as motor vehicles. This includes traffic lights, stop signs and riding on the right side of the street.

The city statute also controls the number to be carried on a bike, riding on sidewalks, lights, bells and brakes. The complete ordinance is available from the police chief or city clerk.

Chief Clark says parents of bicyclists violating the ordinance will be arrested and held responsible.

Jury Finds Storeman Innocent

After a five-minute deliberation by a six-member jury, Mel Wegner, owner of Wegner's Market was found innocent of selling beer to a minor.

The trial, presided over by Justice L. J. Van Deusen of Clinton, was held in Council chambers of city hall Thursday.

A 16-year-old Ridgeway boy told police May 19, when he and four companions were caught drinking beer, that he had purchased it at Wegner's.

In trial testimony, two of the youth's friends said they doubted if the 16-year-old actually bought the beer, but had an adult get it.

After these comments, the jury wasted little time in exonerating the market owner.

Two of the young men involved are now in military service.

STEAD AIR FORCE BASE, Nev.—Second Lieutenant Darrell A. Lowery has successfully completed helicopter training here and was graduated as a member of class 61-FH Sept. 1.

His next assignment, as a helicopter pilot, is to 67th Air Rescue Squadron, Toul-Rosiers AB, France.

Lieutenant Lowery is married to the former Mary Lou Perry, 714 River Acres Dr. The lieutenant came to Stead for helicopter pilot training in April after completing pilot training and winning his wings at Webb AFB, Texas.

The training course lasted about five and one-half months to qualify him as an operational helicopter pilot.

While at this mile-high school in the High Sierras, he logged 105 hours of helicopter flying and 132 hours of academic instruction.

Graduates of class 61-FH are being assigned to Air Force units world-wide. Helicopter pilots are vital in search and rescue missions.

A graduate of Tecumseh Public High School, Lieutenant Lowery was active in baseball and foolball while in school. He was class president for two years. Lieutenant Lowrey attended Adrian College in 1958-1959.

Lieutenant Lowery is the son of Mrs. Sarah M. Lowery of Brition.

What Is Price We Must Pay?

What is the price we must pay for following the highest we knew?

Are we willing to face the fact that the highest we can know demands our best?

There is no place for mediocrity in the application of Jesus teachings. He always claimed the best of which man is capable.

The Rev. Allen Wittrup will be speaking on the subject "No Time For Cowards" at 10 a.m. in First Methodist Church.

Teachers and pupils have returned to church school and there is a class for every age.

The Intermediate Youth Fellowship will meet at 6 p.m. and the Senior High Fellowship will meet at 6 p.m.

God as Spirit

The nature of God as Spirit, not matter, will be brought out Sunday at Christian Science church services.

Larry Ruhl Tells About Trip West

(Editor's Note: Larry Ruhl and Tom Dickinson of Explorer Post 87 and William Kukral of Troop 17, Tipton spent an interesting and exciting 10 days in August at Cimarron, New Mexico where the Philmont Scout Ranch is located. Here is an account of the trip written by Larry.)

LARRY RUHL

Our train left Toledo at 6:30 a.m. July 28, and arrived in Chicago about noon.

We transferred to the Santa Fe for the remainder of the trip to Raton, New Mexico where we arrived about 1:30 p.m. Saturday.

From there we took a bus to Cimarron, where we bought western style hats and then went to the main headquarters.

We had our picture taken, had our physical exam, got our equipment and had the rest of the day to ourselves.

We left early the next day for our base camp, Ponil. It was the oldest and the nicest camp on the Ranch.

That day we rode horses for three and a half hours. The next morning we picked up our pack burros, which we had for three days.

They carried our food, sleeping bags, patrol cook kits, and the trail tents.

Our first stop was Dean. We crossed two mountains before getting there, and when we reached camp we made a sigh of relief and prepared to pitch the tents.

Before we got set up the rain hit with full force. Everybody grabbed their ponchos and sat it out. It only lasted for about 10 or 15 minutes.

☆

WE FINALLY got camp set up, and that night we crossed a hill into the next camp, found a Redwood tree, and chopped it down.

Some of the fellows carved spoons, knives and other things out of some of the loose pieces.

The following day we started for our next area, which was Dean Cow Camp, where we climbed some rocks.

Harland was the next stop. Here we did not do anything because we got there quite late.

We took off at seven in the morning for Cimarroncito base camp. At Cito we spent two days with warm showers and everybody took advantage of them.

They were the first and last showers until we got back to headquarters. That night we were raided by a bear, who stole one whole patrol's ration of food. The next morning we ate half rations.

Well the following morning we were up and took off early again. Our next stop was at Cyphers Mine.

We spent another two days there and panned for gold and went through a gold mine.

Black Mountain Camp was our next stop. We got there about 10 in the morning, ate dinner and decided to go to our next camp, the stockade.

We arrived there about three or four in the afternoon. We were supposed to climb the Tooth of Time, but we didn't have time.

We killed a rattle snake there. The next day we took a bus back to headquarters to spend the night.

We arrived back in Toledo at 3:15 a.m. Aug. 12, having had a wonderful and memorable two weeks.

Dinner Has Become Tradition

When St. Elizabeth's eighth annual Roast Beef dinner is in progress next Sunday, Sept. 17, parishioners will be working together with the efficiency of a professional catering service.

They will be guided by a detailed plan, carefully set down in a 12-page specification manual.

The workbook represents growth and long hours of service from the first "Housewarming Dinner" served country style seven years ago.

According to one of the first dinner chairmen, Mrs. Kenneth Kitson, whose husband is co-chairman this year, "We borrowed practically everything."

In the manual, supply lists, quantities of food, floor plans, schedules of work, etc., are included to help chairmen and workers to coordinate their efforts into a dinner production of 6½ hours to feed over 1,200 persons.

About 175 parishioners are scheduled for various jobs.

☆

DETAILS OF the manual range from listing: scrub brushes, carrot cutters, "cardboard to protect floors in meat room" (one of the school classrooms), methods of carving meat and having paper bags ready for left-over rolls.

The menu and general dining room service have remained nearly the same with improvements made each year.

The workbook was compiled by Mrs. Leo Bishop, formerly of Tecumseh and now of Royal Oak.

The traditional event marks a milestone in the church and school, since St. Elizabeth officially opened its new home and present site at N. Union and Brown Sts., just one month after the first dinner was staged so that "parishioners and friends could come and see our new school and convent."

The "Housewarming Dinner" was an immediate success and the Rev. Fr. Thomas J. Collins, pastor of the church, named it as an annual church event.

Ben Hammack, now of Kalkaska, Mich. was the first year co-chairman.

☆

THE NEXT year under Tim Neill and Mrs. Bishop, 700 were served and the guest book held names of persons from all parts of southeastern Michigan, Indiana, California and Ontario, Canada.

CO-CHAIRMEN KEN KITSON AND MRS. BEN McWILLIAMS WITH ONE OF NEW DINNER SIGNS

Chairs for the auditorium were purchased from dinner proceeds.

Dinners increased to 1,000 at the third affair which Harvey Wilson and Mrs. Robert Sage handled. Guests came from Detroit, Pontiac, Flint, Ann Arbor, Redford, Utica and Plymouth.

The next two dinners with Zell McCarthy, Mrs. Bishop and Ford Mudgett in charge, continued to have large crowds.

In 1958, the kitchen had to be enlarged. A new refrigerator and cooking utensils were purchased from a gift. The St. Elizabeth Altar Society and other church organizations supplemented the costs of kitchen expansion.

In 1959, James McKenna and Mrs. Thomas Riordan headed the dinner which was combined with the Fall Festival.

Door prizes, nine booths and children's rides made it a successful attraction. Last year Dr. Don Phelan and Mrs. Weston Haeussler as co-chairman had the largest crowd and proceeds.

☆

EVERY YEAR Van's Bakery begins the dinner when it turns on the ovens to cook the beef and potatoes — this year 600 pounds of delicious meat and 500 pounds of spuds.

Relishes, roast beef, baked potato, corn, green beans, rolls, butter, tomato wedges, milk, tea or coffee, homemade cherry or apple pie, will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. in St. Elizabeth school auditorium.

Mrs. Benjamin McWilliams and Mr. Kitson are supervising the general sections of kitchen, buffet table, dining room service, decorations, hostesses, supplies, tray boys, potatoes, meat, advertising, tickets, treasurers, dishwashing and cleanup.

During the past seven years, the parish has increased to 353 families and new classrooms have been added to the school.

"I'd like to let my mother know I've arrived safely."

Miss Willett was given a corsage anb Pickard was given a butonniere.

Miss Willett will attend Olivet Nazarene College at Kankakee, Ill.

Johanna Young Guest of Honor at Bridal Shower

Games were played with prizes won by Mrs. Clifford Bird and Mrs. Clayton Mikesell, who presented them to the bride-elect.

Research Is Costly to Industry

Industry is spending nearly four and one-half billion dollars a year on scientific research to develop new and better products.

Few people appreciate the costliness of the continuous research being carried on by business. No major company can afford to neglect this aspect of competition. And by no means all of this investment pays off. A large percentage of new products fails to impress the consumer.

The steady improvement in the quality of almost everything we buy today is due to industrial research—to say nothing of the introduction of so many new products which no one heard of a few years ago.

Tires which once lasted for only 1,000 miles are now good for as much as 30,000 miles, and similar improvements have been made in numerous other products. This is the other side of the "planned obsolescence" we hear so much about.

Mr. and Mrs. John Buckles and family are moving to Northport, Mich. from their farm home near Britton.

One American in four has this disease

Physicians call it obesity, but it's just as unhealthy if we call it pounds—too many pounds. In some places a chief cause of early death is malnutrition but in this country the Grim Reaper's number one helper is overeating. Overweight people subject their heart and blood vessels to undue stresses and strains. Every ounce of excess flesh is a menace to health. Which is why so many of us diet today. And those of us who are wise see a physician first. We, as professional pharmacists, know how effective a doctor's advice can be.

Britton Gridders Open Friday

BRITTON—Head Coach John Korican has worked Britton gridders harder than usual this fall.

Reason: many will have to play four full quarters each game, starting Friday night at Manchester when Britton opens the season.

A small squad, varying in number almost daily, has its work cut out this fall but with hopes of breaking into the win column.

Coach Korican, speaking highly of hard running backs, says the Tories could win some games this fall if the line comes through and there are no injuries.

Larry Hummel and Danny Henning will provide the punch, and both have the size and good speed to gain yardage.

Hummel, 6'-3", tips the scales at 220 pounds, is fairly fast and played in the line last year. Henning at 170 pounds could be Britton's top back.

Joe Prochaska, a junior, will start at one of the halfback spots, with Ron Mastie, 145-pound sophomore and a fair passer, expected to start at quarterback.

The ends will be 6'-7", 200-pound Phil Benedict and 165-pound Tom Koman, considered the team's best blocker. Both are good receivers.

Two sophomores and a senior are battling for tackle positions.

Sept. 15	Manchester	T
Sept. 22	Adrian C. C.	T
Sept. 29	Boyssville	H
Oct. 6	Sand Creek	H
Oct. 13	Ida	H
Oct. 20	Summerfield	H
Oct. 27	Whiteford	T
Nov. 3	Deerfield	T

Lee Wagner, 5'-10", 200 pounds and Al Ross, 5-10, 180 and a transfer from Tecumseh are classmates in contention with Dean Conrad, 6', 185 pounds.

Russell Cadmus, senior, 5'-10", 160 is a sure starter at either guard or center. If 165-pound Kenny Ivan makes the grade at center, Cadmus will hold down one of the guard roles.

Ray Richards 5'-6", 140, and Ronnie Miller, 5'-9", 150 are scrapping for the other guard post.

Others expected to get some action are Terry Faust, Tom Cadmus, Barry Branun, Terry Auten and Jack Barnoske. Faust just came out and is counted on after a few practices. Barnoske is planned to play considerable defense, as is Auten.

Branun is a freshman and played last year in Ann Arbor Junior high.

Walter Korican, brother to the coach, occasionally may spell Mastie at quarterback.

Coach Korican, who just graduated from Eastern Michigan U. and is a '57 Britton graduate, expects Britton to be stronger since many of the players gained much experience last year.

The Tories have eight games scheduled with homecoming on Oct. 13.

THROUGH MY WINDOW

IT'S THEIR CREEK NOW

The first clang of the school-bell signaled the expiration of the lease which all summer the youngsters, both young and old, held on the creek.

Now that the fishermen, waders, explorers, bridge-players, stonethrowers, etc, have gone, Mother Nature's children are taking over. They have been around right along, of course, but their actions were nervous; they were always tensed to leave at the first inkling of an outsider's approach.

Now they are coming back into their own—the squirrels are skipping to the water's edge for cool drinks and the birds splash about in the shallow bathtub type pools.

Blue-jays and robins are avid bathers but the ones who really make a business of it, are the grackles.

Any time during the day three or four of the black thieves can be seen taking their showers and really, the way they duck under and thrash their wings about throwing water everywhere, a shower is what it is.

The cardinals enjoy their daily dip but as might be expected, they are quieter, more orderly, almost dainty about it.

One bright male we especially enjoy because, after getting his pretty feathers thoroughly soaked, he picks a branch right in the middle of our window picture to fluff and preen and let the sun dry him out.

When wet he is dark of course and it is fun to watch the sun "put his color back."

☆

THERE ARE many, many others who now claim the creek as their own but by far the most active are Gertie's ducks and the king-fisher.

As reported some time ago, there was a blessed event in the duck family this year.

After a long, nerve racking wait, five tiny bits of bright gold fluff hatched. Soon, however, they started losing their yellow and as for growing—well, from the distance at which we watch them, it is no longer possible to tell Mother Duck and the children apart.

There are just six big snowy white ducks on the creek these days. (There is more news about Gertie's ducks pending, but it must wait.)

Much of each day the ducks spend up the creek out of our sight but quite often we do see them leave or returning to their home, Gertie's backyard and creek bank.

Usually it's a single file procession, one closely follows another—wonder if they are regimented so much that they are always in the same order.

If in no particular hurry the group often "falls out" when they reach the deep pool at the bend in the creek and my, what a great splashing, thrashing and throwing about of water there is then. Kids at play.

☆

EVEN WITH the bridge-runners and stone-throwers back in school, Doctor's bridge will not be lonesome. The squirrels love to scamper about and play on it but their visits are irregular, not planned.

An everyday caller is my old friend the kingfisher, in fact he's there many times each day. The top support of the bridge is an excellent fishing site and how long he will sit there waiting for a fish to swim by.

When fishing from a tree limb we have noticed that he usually dives straight down but from the bridge, he spreads his wings and gracefully glides and then, when still several feet above the water, the wings are suddenly closed and head first he plunges into the creek.

Needless to say, he makes quite a splash.

But we enjoy the kingfisher for more than just the fun he affords us with his fishing tactics. His loud, raucous voice never fails to bring a shiver of excitement—we will miss this harsh rattle when he heads south for the winter.

So it is that now the creek is busier than ever. The kingfisher and the ducks have taken over—it's their creek now.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

An Independent newspaper, published every Thursday morning at 117 S. Evans Street. Entered at the Post Office in Tecumseh, Michigan as second class matter.

VOICE of THE HERALD

Next Time Around

One report has filtered in that the mom of a first grade pupil doesn't care for the half-day sessions.

She is the same one, who when reminded to be sure and vote on the recent four-mill school operating levy, shrugged her shoulders and said she was too busy.

How many others are there in the same catagory?

If she and a lot of other "busy" people had gotten out and voted and supported the school board proposal, the situation of today might not have happened.

Cutting costs in the operation of schools is necessary, but there is always the danger of going too far.

We think half days are dangerous.

And the local situation may get worse. Next year, the lower three grades may all be on half days and the Tipton School might have to be closed.

We imagine that between now and the end of school, the board will once again seek more operating money so that these things won't have to take place.

Let's hope parents, upset now over half days who didn't vote in the four-mill issue, think of this the next time around.

We Tip Our Hat

It's a fact—Tecumseh will soon see another growing, prospering industry operating in its midst.

Don't be critical if we have to pinch ourself every now and again to make sure we're not just dreaming.

Bringing a new plant into a community may seem like a simple task. The way our Industrial Development Corp. did the job almost lends credulousness to this theory.

Actually, this is a real chore, about a 1,000-to-one shot.

Our lads made it look easy because they have backgrounds steeped in the knowledge of getting what a potential industry seeks in the way of information.

As was pointed out in Herald stories of last week, our IDC has been intensly active over a period of more than four years in a campaign to get good new plants for Tecumseh. Its members have written and connected more than 1,000 industries which were thinking of moving or might be considering a relocation.

They worked with two dozen hot prospects and in several instances deals were almost closed.

Faraday, then, is the group's first completed endeavor.

We can certainly tip our hats to these seven fellows, who are thinking basically of building our community.

It's a fact that when new families move into a city, a town is helped in many small ways—the home owners contribute to community and school operations, they swell the business of local retail stores.

But the importance of new industries pales in comparison with the arrival of a new industry, even one which employs only a few hundred.

The new plant's imprint on community life is considerable.

Of course, when that firm happens to be one like Faraday, prospering, progressive, expanding, the effect is even greater.

Fall-Out Shelter Get OK by FHA

"We have received many inquiries recently concerning the availability of FHA loans for fall-out shelters," reports Walter R. Nunimaker, State Civil Defense Director.

"FHA Commissioner Neal J. Hardy has ruled that fallout shelters will be an eligible item for insured loans under the agency's new rehabilitation program.

"The rehabilitation loans included in the 1961 Housing Act provide for FHA insurance on loans up to $10,000 with maximum interest rate of 6 percent for rehabilitation of individual homes.

Let There Be Light

On September 4, 1882, the company bearing Thomas Alva Edison's name turned on the current in its central lighting station on Pearl Street in New York City.

The world gaped at the wonders of "The Wizard of Menlo Park."

Thus began the first regular distribution of electric light. The company had only 57 customers—all promised free current for three months. But, on a paying basis, only a month after the bonus period, the Edison Company was lighting 5,000 lamps in 225 homes, including the mansion of financier J. Pierpont Morgan.

Electric power transmission had arrived. That was Edison's great gift to the electrical industry—the contribution which entitled him to be honored as its "father."

Banana Tree Blooms on Pearl Street

Before it's all over with, Earnie Topps, 502 S. Pearl St., may find himself the only banana planter in Michigan.

It all started when Earnie and his wife were in California last winter.

Earnie's brother-in-law, Walter Chase, a nursery owner, gave his Michigan guests a tiny banana tree plant to bring back with them in February.

"Probably won't live," was Mr. Chase's dour prediction.

He also gave Earnie two poinsettias.

Mr. Topps carefully packed them in a suitcase and when he got home placed all three plants in buckets of earth in the basement.

All grew happily, especially the banana tree, which shot up with vigor.

Earnie put out all three in his garden during April. From its original 2½' in height, the banana tree has grown to more than six feet.

The poinsettias have also flourished.

Now comes the touchy time with Michigan frost on the way.

Earnie says he will take his California imports back into the basement for the winter — but may have to "dig a hole in the floor" for Mr. Banana.

Earnie explains the secret of raising a banana tree is to water the leaves, not just the ground around it.

A retiree from Tecumseh Products Co., Mr. Topps says that he would be glad to have school children come to see the tree since Michigan youngsters have little opportunity to see them grown in their home state.

If all goes well this winter, Earnie's tree will bear fruit next year and then he could become Michigan's only banana planter.

Long & Short

By TOM RIORDAN

There were 25 beaming students at West Branch School last Thursday morning.

These are physically-handicapped children, attending special education classes here, who come from various parts of the county.

Reason for the grins: a surprise treat for each child.

Don Wines, manager of Kroger, sent enough cup cakes, via the mother of a West Branch student, for all the youths.

Kroger celebrated its third birthday in its new Tecumseh store last weekend and as part of the festivities there were tiny birthday cakes for customers.

Don sat aside 25 for West Branch boys and girls, who were delighted by the thoughtfulness.

Earl Kotts writes from his new locale, San Diego, Calif.

He reports that his family loves California, but they miss their Tecumseh friends.

Earl enclosed a clipping from the San Diego Union Tribune, telling of a rather unique golf course where Earl plays with his father-in-law.

The course has one section, which is posted, "Danger rattle snake area."

On top of that, the course was recently invaded by about 30 mountain lions, which nightly have been using the course as a watering hole.

An El Cajon trapper has been hired to snare the animals. If he can't get the job done, they may have to be shot.

Notes Earl, "I ask you, my friends, how can a man shoot decent golf when he expects at any time to be attacked by lions and/or snakes? I feel like I am on safari."

Earl closed, "Keep The Herald coming. We fight to see who reads it first."

Ernie Jeschke, one of our talented printing force, heard a scratching at the back door late Thursday night just before quitting time.

Rolling the big door open, Ernie at first saw nothing. Then a little voice chirped, "Hi, Ernie."

Off to one side stood an old friend, Bootin' Pussy.

"Gosh, we didn't think we'd see you this year, kid," Ernie said. "Didn't you tell us after that Adrian tie you were going to retire? "

"I did say something like that. But I'm too young for that. I thought I'd better be getting back to bringing good luck to the Tecumseh Indian gridders."

So Bootin' returns.

He hitched a ride in The Herald car to the Willow Run game. All the way back, he didn't say much.

At the shop, he strolled over to curl up under our big press for the night, then mused, half to himself, "Dunc and I will have to get to work on shaping up that defense."

If electing public officials wasn't such a serious business, many a person no doubt would have fallen off their chairs with laughter when they spied a quote in the friendly Free Press last week.

It came the morning after the Con-Con delegate vote.

Putting his foot in his mouth with a statement was August "Gus" Scholle, Michigan AFL-CIO president.

Said Gus:

"Republicans always do better than Democrats in a light election like this. The idle rich have time to get out and vote, our people have to work for a living."

Now this is a real astute appraisal of an election.

What sent chills up my spine was the thought that if the other side had turned in a resounding victory, we would have had Gus calling many of the Con-Con shots, since organized labor has such a strangle hold on the Democratic party.

At least we were spared this.

A special note to Gus: Don't let this quiet you in quotes for publication. Your comments certainly spice up this serious reading we do every day.

(Let's hope nobody ever takes Gus seriously.)

Faraday Will Still Move Here

A change in management has been made at Faraday, Inc., but it will not effect the coming transfer of the firm from Adrian to Tecumseh.

Frederick J. Worden of Franklin, Mich. has been named general manager, replacing Robert Barnard, who has resigned.

Announcement of the move was made Wednesday by Verner E. Gooderham, president of Faraday.

"Since the change of ownership at Faraday earlier this year, we have been working in the direction of increased management concentration on our expanded product development and marketing program," Mr. Gooderham said.

"This management change is in line with the new objectives for the company," he said.

Mr. Worden has had extensive experience in management, marketing and product development. His past associations include 20 years with Kelvinator, a division of American Motors.

Most recently, the new Faraday general manager, has been a management consultant to industry.

Lawrence Razete, for some time associated as a management consultant with Tele-Tronics, Inc., Faraday parent company, will assist with this management change and expidite progress on the new programs.

Paving Project Opens in October

City manager Ed Nelson told councilmen Monday night that a $15,200 bituminous concrete paving project would start here in October.

The paving includes the new downtown off-street parking lot in the northeast block, parking lots at the hospital, portions of N. Union and Brown Sts., and two blocks of S. Maumee St.

Gridders Win Opener

A surprising, fast Willow Run eleven nearly pulled the season's first upset last Friday night when the Tecumseh Indians outscored their rivals, 25-21, on the WR gridiron.

The Flyers played the Indians about on even terms only to fall one touchdown short.

Tecumseh has a chance to atone for many of its mistakes this Friday evening when the Indians tangle with Dundee on the Vikings field.

Dundee, light and inexperienced, is not too fast and tied Ida 6-6 in its opener. The Vikings graduated 10 of its 11 starters in June and appear to be a season or two away in Friday's tilt against Ida.

After Friday's Willow Run shocker, Coach Dunc Lectka has been stressing defense this past week, and fans who saw the game know why.

CRAIG'S SECOND TD—Craig Rosacrans scored Tecumseh's first two touchdowns in the exciting 25-21 win over Willow Run. In his first varsity game, Craig gained 117 yards in 15 carries. This Friday, the Indians kickoff in Dundee at 7:30 pm

The Indians, boasting experience players in most positions on the line, stunned the coaching staff and fans alike with their inability to cope with WR's offense.

Fleet Willow Run backs consistently turned the corners on the Indians and didn't find too much difficulty in ploughing through the middle.

Unable to stymie the WR backs, Tecumseh merely outscored its opponents, and for most part of the game, the team who had the ball scored.

Junior halfback Craig Rosacrans sparkled twice on TD romps and paced all scorers. The shifty little back scooted home on one eight-yard stint, and then tallied again on a 22-yard run, both in the second quarter.

John Britton, who proved to be Tecumseh's hardest running back, turned left end on a reverse for 33 yards and the Indian's third score in the third stanza.

Jack Rutherford, another junior who is just getting his first taste of varsity ball, popped over from the two-yard mark in the final stanza to climax Tecumseh's scoring.

Rutherford was a victim of a bobble late in the fourth period when it appeared he had tallied again, only to fumble on WR's two.

☆

EXCEPT in the second period when the Flyers gained a brief 7-6 edge, Willow Run was always on the short end and trying to catch up.

A late fourth quarter drive from their two never really threatened the Indians goal. Danny Green picked off an aerial on the Tecumseh 40 and returned it 24 yards to WR's 36 when the game ended.

While the Indians linemen were disappointing on defense, they were equally impressive on offensive, opening up big holes in the WR line throughout the entire game.

Tim Sisson, junior quarterback, turned in the finest game of his prep career and left little doubt that he's capable of running the club. His ball handling, faking, passing and running were outstanding and instrumental in the Indians victory.

Halfback Rosacrans and Britton both turned in offensive performances of merit. Rosacrans, workhorse of the team, especially in the first half, rolled up 117 yards on the ground, averaging 7.8 yards per carry.

Band Festival Will Feature Eleven Units

Lenawee County's Annual Band Festival, one of the state's most entertaining musical events, will be held Tuesday, Oct. 10 at 8 p.m. on Tecumseh Recreation Field.

This show will feature 11 high school bands from the county. Altogether, 600 musicians will participate.

This year there will be an open theme throughout the show. For the finale, with all bands and their directors on the field, the Civil War will be the theme.

All proceeds from the show go to the participating bands. The money is used to help defray the expense of the bands throughout the year.

The Festival is sponsored by the Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce through the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation.

The Festival was started 15 years ago when the late Clare Camburn, the founder, met with a group of interested people, presented his idea and with the help of the County Band Directors Association prepared the first show.

Admission to the show has remained the same since its founding — adults 75c and students 35c.

Tickets will be on sale at each high school in the county beginning Oct. 2.

Tavern Is Sold Here by Berdan

Whitney Berdan operator of the Tecumseh Tavern for several years, has sold the downtown establishment to Anthony and Mary Naciewicz of Jackson.

The tavern is presently undergoing remodeling changes, including a new stone-type front, new floors and ceiling plus redecoration.

Mr. Berdan a noted Civil War authority and instigator of the electric battlefield displayed at Gettysburg, plans to renew his writings and study of the war.

Adrian College To Get 1,200-Seat Auditorium

Plans for a new theater-type auditorium to be built on the Adrian College campus were revealed Sept. 15 at a student assembly by R. W. Herrick, chairman of the board of the Tecumseh Products Co.

Mr. Herrick said that the new $475,000 building, with a seating capacity of 1,200 will be named Dawson Auditorium.

The donor unveiled a large architect's sketch of the building. Mr. Herrick's announcement as to the name of the structure came as a complete surprise to the college president, Dr. John H. Dawson.

Mr. Herrick reviewed the growth of the college and said that he would like to see a new church, a better place for Bible study, a new art building, an English building and a music building on the campus.

The auditorium is the tenth new building on the campus in recent years. Carl B. Marr of Marr & Marr, Detroit is the architect and Krieghoff-Lenawee Co. of Adrian is the builder.

☆

DAWSON Auditorium will be located west of Ritchie Hall and Rush Union in the southwest campus area. It will face north, toward the Peele Hall of Science.

It will have first floor and balcony seating and the entire building will be air conditioned.

The auditorium will have large stage dressing room facilities for both men and women, a drama workshop, back stage rest rooms, storage and mechanical equipment rooms.

The first floor lobby will have rest rooms, a cloak room, building office and ticket office. The seats will be of fine quality theater design and a pipe organ will be installed.

The stage will be fully equipped for concerts, dramas and other types of cultural entertainment. It will be 80 feet wide, 30 feet deep and 30 feet high.

Indiana limestone will be used in the construction of the exterior and oak paneled wainscoting and plaster will be used in the interior.

It is hoped that the building will be ready for dedication during commencement activities the later part of May next spring.

Moves Office

Dr. George Burkhard has moved into his new location at 113 W. Chicago Blvd., the former Van's Donut Shop.

The entire structure, which includes two apartments on the second floor, has been purchased by the local optometrist.

Youths Disregard Hazards of Traffic

By JIM LINCOLN

Adrian St. traffic past the Tecumseh Acres school continued to present Council with problems Monday night.

Various methods of controlling the traffic and youngsters, who swarm across the street, were discussed, but most possibilities were rejected.

City Manager Ed Nelson and Engineer Cal Zorn were asked to submit costs of lowering the hill or crest, and thereby eliminate a blind spot for motorists coming from the southeast.

Hundreds of youngsters from the school cross the heavily-traveled street several times a day. Most disregard the patrolman on duty who is there to stop traffic for safe crossing.

The greatest danger lies in the Shady Lane intersection and on the slope of the hill, which hides the pupils from oncoming traffic until the cars and trucks are on top of the youngsters.

The Tecumseh police have regularly stationed patrolmen in front of the school to insure safe crossing. Many youngsters instead walk or ride their bicycles south and away from the patrolman, and then cross amid traffic.

☆

IN OTHER action, Council:

► Approved purchase of a 1956 GMC dump truck from Tecumseh Equipment Co.

► Asked city attorney James Beardsley to submit an ordinance on controlling the planting of certain types of trees within 35 feet of sidewalk.

► Tabled appointing a new member to the Planning Commission until the next meeting. Donald Murphy, Carl Fosbender and Joe Rice have been suggested as a possible member.

► Requested city manager Ed Nelson to get a firm bid on an alarm system at the Community Center from Faraday, Inc.

TEENS

By NANCY NIXON

Last Wednesday, grades ten through twelve held class meetings.

The Senior Class officers are:

Treasurer—Nancy Beland

Among four proposals for class colors the majority voted for red and white.

This color combination will be used in the graduation exercises for the caps and gowns.

It was decided that the refreshment stand, traditionally run by the seniors, will be managed by a permanent committee instead of a different group of students for every athletic contest.

☆

Junior class officers are:
President—Nancy Nixon
Vice-President — Tom Dickinson
Secretary—Betty Kish
Treasurer—Jack Dick

After plans were made for a Homecoming float, the meeting was conducted by Eugene Franklin, a magazine salesman for the Curtess Publishing Company. Mr. Franklin informed the class as to the procedure involved in soliciting magazines.

"Christian Education is one of the most important functions of the Christian Church, and begins with the small children and continues until the day of their death."

People Just Don't Realize

Some do not realize the contributions of the ages that make up our Christian faith.

Lacking appreciation and understanding people tend to pass them by or consider them to be of minor consequence.

Eventually this approach leads to new ideas which may not measure up to the experiences of God and man through many years.

The Rev. Allen Wittrup will speak on the subject "Is it Your Religion"; Sunday, Sept. 24 at 10 a.m. in First Methodist Church.

The Church School meets at 11:15 and there will be a new adult class for people 20 to 45 years of age, and a Bible class for 45 and beyond.

Medical Building Is Planned

A request to Council Monday night concerning a medical building near the hospital was referred to the hospital board.

Drs. Carlton Cook, Richard Coak and Harold Ocamb have announced plans to locate their offices in a building to be constructed at the south end of Division St., just east of the visitors parking lot.

Dr. Cook, who attended the Council session, told city officials they were interested in buying or leasing the land, now owned by the city, and buying or leasing the building, whichever the Council or hospital board decided.

If the board and Council approved the site, the medical building will be located on land formerly occupied by a creamery, some 30 or 40 years ago.

His Debut Is Marred

BRITTON—Coach John Koricán's debut as Britton-Macon football mentor was marred somewhat last Friday night when Manchester, capitalizing on fumbles, edged the Tories, 13-6.

Britton, lacking in number and counting on several inexperienced players, was not expected to do much this season.

Dan Henning, praised by the coach as an outstanding hard runner, sprinted 40 yards for Britton's lone TD.

Britton plays at Adrian Catholic Central this Friday night.

What's Going on at BOYSVILLE

By DAVE KLAVON

The Boysville school year is on its way and six new teachers can be seen on and about the campus.

Boysville's chaplain this year is the Rev. Fr. Harry Stegman, CSC, formerly of Notre Dame. Father will teach two classes in religion as well as perform his sacerdotal duties.

Brother Roger Berg, CSC, is in charge of the library and also teaches typing and eighth grade English.

Brother James Kinsella, CSC, teaches modern history and second year religion.

Brother William Verstraete, CSC, teaches social studies.

Brother Lionel Light, CSC, is Boysville's new infirmarian. He also prefects several study halls.

A new face for the biology and science students is that of Lawrence Hetzenbeler, a native of Montana, who obtained his degree at the University of Detroit.

☆

The Boysville varsity football team suffered a defeat in a non-league opening game against Dexter's Dreadnaughts Friday night, 38-6.

The team discovered some weak spots to iron out before tomorrow's River Raisin League opener against Deerfield High School at Deerfield.

☆

Students returning to Boysville saw a new sight on campus when they came back to school.

A bright new school bus was parked in the driveway. The bus will be used quite often for transportation to and from activities which will come through the year at Boysville.

An unusual factor surrounding the presence of the bus on the campus is that it was financed entirely by trading stamps saved over a period of several months by Michigan Knights of Columbus, their families, and friends of Boysville throughout the midwest.

☆

The Boysville chapel was furnished during the summer with new, white oak pews. The seating capacity of the chapel was raised from 170 to 276.

A close friend of Boysville donated the funds necessary to provide the much-needed pews.

☆

Area residents driving past the Boysville campus will note the construction work under progress next to the dining hall.

A brand new dining hall is being built by the Goodrich-Hazen Construction Company of Adrian. Begun about the middle of August, the dining hall is expected to be completed early in February.

Difficulties with rainy weather, however, have slowed activity down. Nevertheless, the foundations are just about finished.

After they are completed, the outside structure should go up quickly. The contractors hope to have completed the shell of the building before snow comes.

As soon as the new dining hall is completed, the old inadequate building will be evacuated and eventually moved from its present location.

☆

A double handball court is being constructed behind the Boysville gymnasium.

Edward Haggerty, father of one of the Boysville students, is doing the construction work.

The back wall of the gym is to serve as the main wall of the courts. Three dividing walls will outline the limits of the two courts.

It is expected that many boys (and faculty members) will make use of the courts.

Tecumseh's Rotary Club Wins Honor

Tecumseh's Rotary Club has won special distinction for its efforts with the annual Vehicle Safety-Check project.

A letter to Charles Butler, this year's co-chairman, explained the honor

Dear Mr. Butler:

On behalf of the national sponsors, I am pleased to advise that Tecumseh has been selected by the National Board of Judges to receive a 1961 State Award of Excellence for conducting an outstanding Vehicle Safety-Check program in your state in the under 10,000 population group.

After careful consideration, the National Board of Judges declared a tie between Tecumseh and Lawton, Mich. and directed that two awards be given to recognize equally outstanding Vehicle SafetyCheck programs in that group. You will be contacted in the near future regarding the presentation of your award plaque.

The Auto Industries Highway Safety Committee, LOOK Magazine, and the Association of State and Provincial Safety Coordinators join the National Board of Judges in extending sincere congratulations to all who contributed to the success of your program.

MEMORIAMS

In loving memory of my beloved husband Clifford B. Preston who passed away three years ago Sept. 15, 1958.
When the ties of love are broken,
And loved ones have to part
It leaves a wound that never heals,
And an ever aching heart.

No one knows how much I miss you,
Since you were called away,
But to I who loved you so
It seems like yesterday.
Sadly missed by your wife Pansy. S21,p

Coach Carl Hale directs the squad this fall in games that include Adrian, Milan, Dundee, Airport and other Huron League opponents. The Jayvees play Willow Run tonight at 7.

Over 250 fans watched the young Indians, coached by Carl Hale, completely dominate their tilt with the Royals.

Big Bob Barth scored three times, Jay Osburn took the opening kickoff back for a TD, and Tim Collins tallied twice.

Merchants Support Flag Plan

Who pays for the care of the 63 flags which adorn downtown Tecumseh on holidays?

Service clubs purchased the bunting and last year 47 merchants contributed $4.50 each to have Boy Scouts put up and take down flags and keep them in top condition.

The Chamber of Commerce makes arrangement to collect the money.

Actual contract with the Scouts totals $252 for the yearly duty and the program ran $40.50 in the red during the past 12 months.

Assessment for flag care will be $5 this year, explains Chamber secretary Don Murphy, so as to help erase the deficit.

MICHIGAN UTILITIES MEETING DEMANDS

Federal Power Advocates Wants To Duplicate Lines

Michigan's electric utilities, individually and through cooperation with each other, assure the state of ample electric power now and in the future.

Executives of the state's two largest power companies, Detroit Edison and Consumers Power, commented on the local power situation in connection with a nation-wide report issued today.

"Michigan fits solidly into a national pattern of continuous planning and building for an always electric power supply," said Alphonse H. Aymond, Jr., chairman of the board for Consumers Power.

Detroit Edison President Walker L. Cisler emphasized that America's investor-owned electric power companies, in Michigan and throughout the nation, have demonstrated historically their ability to furnish all electricity needed—at all times and in all places.

"Certainly this shows that vast expenditures on Federal power programs are unnecessary," Cisler said.

The comments by the two utility executives were promoted by recent government proposals which suggest building giant transmissions lines in portions of the nation.

☆

BOTH AYMOND and Cisler emphasized the importance of investor-owned power companies as economic stabilizers. They voiced confidence that their companies would continue to "deserve the reputation for good service which they enjoy as strong contributors to the industrial and economic well-being of Michigan."

The two companies with a total of 6,740,000 kilowatts of electric generating capability could provide five per cent of all U. S. power needs.

The chief executives of the two companies said:

"Michigan power requirements as represented by the service areas of the two companies, which include most of the Lower Peninsula, have always been met.

"Current construction programs of the two companies, totaling more than $100 million in expansion of electric power facilities, provide more-than-adequate reserves now and in the near future.

"Long-range plans for continuing to be prepared to supply the power requirements of Michigan citizens in advance of the actual need are well along, with some studies being made by the companies jointly. These studies cover the period through 1980.

"The companies are wholly separate and independent corporations, each owned by thousands of American citizens as stockholders, more than 60 per cent of them living in Michigan.

"THE TWO companies have long cooperated with each other in improving service to the people of Michigan beyond any private or local considerations. This has been done most dramatically by tie-ins of transmission lines of the two systems at points near Flint, Monroe and Ann Arbor.

"These interconnections enable the companies to move power supplies back and forth as they are needed, without interrupting service to either company's customers.

"Also, Edison has two tie-ins with Ontario Hydro commission across the St. Clair and Detroit rivers, which directly interconnect the Ontario and Edison systems, and indirectly the Consumers system as well.

"Other electric systems in Michigan are connected with Consumers Power and Detroit Edison. Consumers also supplies power to the Upper Peninsula via underwater cables across the Straits of Mackinac. This represents a strengthening of power supply in Northern Michigan on a two-way basis also.

"All through their long histories Michigan's electric utilities have worked to serve her people so that they would always have the power they wanted, when they wanted it and at reasonable rates. It is a challenge which the utilities have met and intend to go on meeting."

THROUGH MY WINDOW

SUMMER HAPPENINGS

Let's face it, I'm a coward. Many things have been happening lately, but most of them point toward fall and, although I realize nothing will stop the coming of cold weather, I prefer to ignore it as long as possible—let's talk about a couple of the birds we enjoyed some weeks ago.

One Sunday afternoon we were sitting out in front on the blacktop. Two days of heavy rain had made the yard impassable for the wheel-chair, and swooping down to sit on the top rail of the fence came such a pretty black and white bird.

Shades of last year's vacation —it was a kingbird. Glistening black head shading into a dark gray back. Cheeks, throat and breast white, pearly white and most distinctive of all, a white band at the very tip of his tail —it's too bad such a handsome bird doesn't come around oftener.

Actually this was the first kingbird we had ever seen in the yard but for the next few days, Mom and Dad occasionally saw him perched on the TV antenna, the fence or the telephone wire.

As a member of good standing in the fly-catcher family, the kingbird, we reasoned had been attracted by the insects who were investigating the brush heap in front of the fence.

"Before the rains came" Dad had been trying to conquer some unruly forsythia and dogwood bushes and the results of his pruning were piled high waiting for the city pick-up squad. Happy hunting ground for the kingbird.

☆

ON LAST YEAR'S vacation we saw him on his really happy hunting grounds, the grazing and grain-raising areas of the prairie states.

Wherever the huge fields were fenced in, we saw the handsome kingbird sitting on fence posts, ready to zoom out and catch any hapless bug or insect which happened to hop or fly by.

On this year's trip the birds showed us another side of their characters—fierce and fearless fighters, they defend their home territories against all intruders.

Several times we laughed at the ridiculous sight of big crows fleeing frantically trying to escape the ferocious divebombing attacks of the small, eight or nine inch long, kingbird.

By now these interesting birds are probably winging their way south, or if the trek hasn't actually started, preparations for it certainly are well under way.

What a marvelous trip it is way down to Central and South America they go. But any discussion of fall migration will soon lead to winter and no, no—let's get back to summer.

WHAT COULD be more summerish than hummingbirds? They were absolutely wonderful. Never have we had so many. Even though they came every day we never tired of watching them go through their whole bag of aerial tricks.

For several seasons we have had a clump of Goats Beard or Bergamot but this year it went on an unexplained growing spree and the southern edge of our window picture was a riot of rather coarse looking, fiery red blossoms.

The tiny long-billed hummers loved them and were forever probing for "sweets".

Of course, the first thing we think of after seeing a new or different bird is how to photograph it. Already we are plotting and planning camera positions for next year—wouldn't it be exciting to get pictures of these tiny beauties as they visited either our Bergamot or the honey-water filled hummingbird feeders.

So it is that even though fall is "coming on like gang-busters" I hate to think of winter. It is nicer to think back on happy summer happenings.

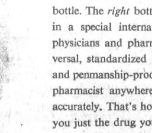
How do we read prescriptions?



According to some of our customers, prescriptions aren't written—they're doodles. Yet your pharmacist looks at the cryptic scribbles and calmly reaches for a bottle. The right bottle. Prescriptions are written in a special international language known to physicians and pharmacists . . . a kind of universal, standardized shorthand that's grammar- and penmanship-proof. It exists so any registered pharmacist anywhere can fill your prescription accurately. That's how we're always able to give you just the drug your physician prescribes, and why the directions are always correct. We are pleased to serve you whenever prescription medication is required.

MR. AND MRS. CARL AUTEN

Mr. and Mrs. Auten Surprised by Family

BRITTON—Mr. and Mrs. Carl Auten were pleasantly surprised Sunday by a family gathering at the home of their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Auten and children.

The occasion honored the 45th wedding anniversary of the couple.

A three tiered wedding cake was the feature of the dining table seating the 27 members of the family.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Auten and family, Mrs. Harold Auten and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Miller and family, all of Britton; Mr. and Mrs. Duaine Auten and family of Athens and Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Leonard and son of Adrian.

Carl Auten and Marion Kuder were married Sept. 12, 1916 at the Presbyterian Church in Tecumseh.

Future Farmers Will Pave Part of Pen Outside Barn

By DAVID HOUSEMAN

BRITTON — Monthly meeting of Britton Future Farmers was held in the Vocational Agriculture Building.

It was decided that a small portion of the pen outside the steer barn should be paved.

The area will measure 10 x 34 feet when completed. Members of two agriculture classes will do this work during their class period.

The work will give these boys experience at determining the slope at which to pour the concrete, mixing the concrete and pouring the concrete.

It was also decided that a loading chute was to be constructed at the northeast corner of the barn with a 30-foot walkway leading up to the chute.

The walkway will be constructed on the east side of the building.

On the southeast corner of the barn, two swinging gates will be erected in such a way that the steers can be cornered and sorted in this area.

The improvements on the barn have already been started and the chapter hopes to have them completed by the end of October, at which time the steers will be purchased.

Terry Faust, Lee Wagner, Bob Knudson and David Houseman were chosen as the committee to purchase the steers.

Plans are also under way for the 1961 Parent and Son Banquet, which is to be held Nov. 6 at 6:30 p.m. in the cafeteria.

When a car is this beautiful, you know Pontiac built it!

Who else but the builder of those front-running Wide-Track Pontiacs could bring out a car so freshly and finely styled! It's longer, with a crisp, low silhouette. It's distinctly Pontiac, with a new twin-scoop grille you can recognize a block away. Powered by the potent Trophy V-8, with 215 to 348 h.p. Beautifully poised on Pontiac's famous Wide-Track stance. We've even cut the turning radius as much as 3½ feet to make handling easier. The result is a pride-pleasing new version of America's Number One Road Car. Come on in—and let a Pontiac show you its stuff while it's showing you off!

The '62 Wide-Tracks are here!

Our Readers Write

My name is Craig Knudson, and I am a missionary for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints at the present time.

My home is in Tecumseh, and I graduated from Tecumseh High School in 1958.

After this time I spent two years up at Michigan State University studying Electrical Engineering.

My college education was postponed by a missionary call from my church to serve as a missionary for two years in the Northwestern States mission at my own financial expense.

When I complete my mission out here I plan to return home and then go back to school

I would like to keep up on the events that are happening in Tecumseh more so then by this means, so I want to receive your newspaper by mail.

Thank you very much,

Sincerely,

Missionary Baptists Select New Minister

The Rev. Paul N. Revlett of Detroit and his wife and children, Sandra, 14; Gloria, 12 and Dennis, 10 moved to Tecumseh Sept. 9.

The minister has accepted the pastorate of the Tecumseh Missionary Baptist church replacing the Rev. Edgar Owens.

The Revlett family are living in the parsonage on Cairns St.

The Rev. Revlett attended high school at Bremen, Ky. and lived in Michigan for nine years before entering Clarke Memorial Baptist College at Newton, Miss. in 1956.

He pastored at the Southside Baptist Mission at Meridan, Miss. and was ordained at Eber Baptist Church in Detroit in 1957.

He completed his college courses in 1958 and then served the Jowinia Baptist Chapel in Nashville, Tenn.

The children are attending school in Tecumseh Public Schools, Sandra in the eighth grade; Gloria Dean and Dennis Russell in the fourth grade.

6,000 Eggs Every Day

What sort of a job would it be to care for 10,000 hens?

Mr. and Mrs. Don Freeburn, as owners of the Shamrock Egg Co. in Clinton find it to be time consuming to say the least.

Gathering the eggs is one of the biggest chores and must be done four times a day, seven days a week.

Promptly at 8 and 10 a.m., then again at 1 and 4 p.m., the Freeburns and their four employees gather eggs, usually about 6,000 each day.

These then have to be sorted and graded.

The layers, kept in two 36x196 feet coops, never get outdoors, but have plenty of sunlight from the windows on the east and west sides of their buildings.

To aid in gathering, there is a double row of automatic nests down the center, which contain belts that are supposed to bring the eggs to the front of the house for sorting.

The belts do a good job, but don't get all the eggs, especially from the younger hens, who haven't become accustomed to laying exactly where the Freeburns want them to.

Hens are part of the Shamrock producing force for 16 months, then are sold.

While on the Shamrock team, the layers are carefully fed a balanced diet.

The Freeburns have almost 60 wholesale customers, including Meadowridge Dairy of Tecumseh, which distributes only "extra large" eggs in this area.

Shamrock also has a retail outlet at its plant.

Also present were Vincent Worley, state FFA president, Edwin St. Johns, from the state FFA office and the local FFA advisers.

Lee Prettymans Accept Posts at Baptist Church

H. Lee Prettyman has accepted the position of treasurer of the First Baptist Church, replacing Earl Kotts who has moved to California.

Mrs. Prettyman has accepted the office of financial secretary vacated by Mrs. Kotts.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Baily were hosts for the Happy Home Builders Class Wednesday evening, Mrs. B. O. Bashore conducted devotions.

Mr. and Mrs. George Halberstadt will be hosts for the Christian Workers Class Friday, Sept. 22, when the group meet for a potluck supper in the Youth House.

The exhibit will be held Sept. 23 and 24 at the Detroit Light Guard Armory. It is sponsored by the Michigan Federation of Democratic Women.

Over three hundred works of art, screened by members of the Detroit Art Galleries Association, will be featured.

Experts from the Detroit Galleries have searched both in this country and abroad for oils, water colors, graphics and sculptures. Michigan artists will have a prominent place in the exhibit.

THE EDGE OF SADNESS by Edwin O'Connor — This is a story of a middle-aged priest, and the several worlds in which he finds his [illegible] bubbling [illegible] American world in which he was born and raised, and the far different, somber, silent, shabby world to which, through various circumstances, his life has taken him. Edwin O'Connor is the author of the best seller, The Last Hurrah.

THE COLLECTED SHORT STORIES OF CONRAD AIKEN — A book of first-rate stories by a mast craftsman. Vivid, absorbing, penetrating, these tales are all touched by the magic of poetry; for Conrad Aiken is a man of letters, novelist, critic, and poet whose verse has been honored by both a Pulitzer Prize and a National Book Award. He is also a story writer of the highest rank.

FLIGHT INTO CAMDEN by David Storey — The author minutely explores the contradictions of love as it courses through the lives of two individuals: a grave and independent woman, surprised by love but determined to cling to that love at all costs; and a well meaning man caught in the cross-fire of desire and duty.

THE BLACK THE GRAY AND THE GOLD by Norman Ford — Many of the cadets received identical white envelopes at breakfast. A hush fell over Washington Hall as each turned pale. It was no longer Corps rumor; a committee was to investigate reports of widespread cheating. What happens at a revered institution like West Point when one of its most basic codes, the Honor System, is threatened by scandal? The author brings such a volatile situation to life in a vivid novel.

TIGER BY THE TAIL by Alan E. Nourse — A fearful journey across the scorching Mercury; a disastrous mining operation in the Venusian mud; a frightening training course for a future starship pilot; these are only a few of the remarkable science fiction adventures you will encounter.

A flashing high-performance addition to the Oldsmobile line of cars for 1962 is this Starfire coupe with its distinctive band of brush-textured anodized aluminum extending from front to rear. Luxuriously and tastefully appointed, it offers the same color, trim and mechanical features as Oldsmobile's spectacularly-received Starfire convertible. Included as standard equipment on the new 345-horse-power transmission. The new Olds go on display at Keith Bailey Motor Sales this Friday.

1,183 Eat Beef

Some 1,183 persons were served at St. Elizabeth's eight annual Roast Beef Dinner held Sunday.

Co-chairmen were Ken Kitson and Mrs. Benjamin McWilliams.

Proceeds from the dinner netted $1,450, marking another successful all-parish event to which nearly all of the food and entire cost of the meat was donated.

Guests came from as far away as Indiana along with numerous families from eleven suburbs of Detroit.

Other Michigan towns and cities represented at the affair were Kalamazoo, Ann Arbor, Jackson, Adrian, Petersburg, Milan, Clinton, Hillsdale, Willis, Stockbridge, Saline and Ypsilanti.

Also Riga, Brooklyn, Ottawa Lake, Mt. Clemens, Jasper, Battle Creek, Newport, Carleton, Deerfield, Monroe, Dundee and others.

In addition to local friends and parishioners, guests drove from Toledo and Sylvania, Ohio.

An added attraction for guests under 12 this year was the stagecoach drawn by ponies provided with the compliments of Beach Bros. Service.

☆

THOSE WHO received door prizes were:

Elsie Neitling, 702 Island Dr., a Sunbeam hand mixer

Irma Haeussler, 601 Brook St. an umbrella

Joseph Dugaf, 2706-23rd,, Wyandotte, a pair of gloves

Shirley Horn, 214 Sand Lake, Onsted, a pair of gloves

Mrs. Susie Coscarelli, Hudson, Mich., an apron.

According to the co-chairmen, the crowd was handled with considerable ease this year, since a classroom was converted into a dining room to accomodate more persons at one time.

Proceeds will go toward operation of the school for the coming year.

Success of the dinner was due to the splendid cooperation of hundreds of parishioners who made donations and the 175 workers who prepared and served the dinner, the chairmen said.

SERVING TECUMSEH, BRITTON, RIDGEWAY, MACON AND TIPTON

VOL. 110 — ONE HUNDRED ELEVENTH YEAR — NUMBER 51 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1961 | 20 PAGES — TEN CENTS A COPY

Long & Short

By TOM RIORDAN

My good friend Walt Nichols, manager of the Strand Theatre, is quite a kidder.

He is in especially good form when a Walt Disney picture plays at his house. Disney draws when all else fails.

Last week, with "Parent Trap" packing them in, Walt was in rare fettle .

"So I pick up my Herald to find all the important, breaking news," Walt chirps at me, "and what do I find: A banana tree is blooming on Pearl St."

He chortles and I grin.

"You have to admit," I counter with tongue in cheek, "It makes a real interesting story."

As it turned out, this banana business has a twist which came most unexpectedly.

The Herald story concluded:

"If all goes well this winter, Earnie's tree will bear fruit next year and then he could become Michigan's only banana planter."

The Blissfield Advance arrived Friday and what should turn up on its front page but a big picture and story about a chap named Charlie Mason of that community and his banana tree.

It seems that Charlie has one which is four-years-old and it has been producing fruit.

So Earnie Topps will not only not be Michigan's only banana planter, he will not even be Lenawee County's only BP.

OK, Walt, sharpen your harpoon and aim for the funny bone.

Modern devices are making a lot of jobs easier.

Take police work.

A patrolman idly stands by his scout car, casually eyeing the dial of a machine set near the curb.

An auto cruises by, the patrolman looks up, grins and nods the motorist to the curb.

Radar has struck again.

I got mine last week on N. Union St., about 15 minutes after my wife had called to warn me that the device was perking there and to watch out on the way home.

Apparently (notice I'm not incriminating myself) I was going 35 miles an hour in a 25 mph zone.

Patrolman Bob Purkey neatly fashioned my summons to Justice Ernie Oliver's court and handed it to me.

As the process was going on, one car wheeled up and the driver (whom I shall not name) yelled, "Hey, have you got the camera, I'll take your picture." (Very funny).

Then a gal, (who shall also be anonymous) with a load of kids, slowed and shouted some snide remark about my driving. (When I got home and reported this to the wife she informed me the same woman had gotten a ticket the day before.)

But, seriously, the ticket was deserved and we can all be thankful that our police are out reminding drivers that they must watch their speed.

(Darn, why didn't I go home Evans St. that night.)

☆

"Wow," exclaimed Bootin' Pussy when he looked over the layouts for The Herald's annual football section.

"That's the kind of publicity I like to see my boys get," exclaimed the kicking cat.

"The Tecumseh merchants and industries should be congratulated for putting on this sort of a program," Bootin' continued.

(You'll find the gridiron section starting on page three.)

"We all agree," was my response, "Now how about a few words on the team?"

"Glad to," said Bootin', as he popped the cap off a Coke from the office refrigerator.

"As I see it, these Indians are light, but not fast. However, as I strolled behind the bench at Dundee last week, I detected one important factor."

"What's that," was the question.

"Our lads have great spirit. Desire, if you will. They want to win. They realize football is a team effort and they are willing to go all out.

"This Indian team might turn into one of Coach Leetka's finest .

"Friday's tilt with Ypsi Lincoln should tell a lot. And don't forget the band goes into action this week. It looks like a real wonderful night. I'm going out about 6 to get my spot on top of the House that Neil Built."

Bootin' drained the bottle with a flourish and placed the empty in the middle of my desk.

"Take care of that, will you, son," he grinned as he jumped to the floor and scurried out the back way.

Bands Select Own Themes for '61 Event

Eleven high school musical groups taking part in the 15th annual Lenawee County Band Festival have chosen themes for the affair which will be held Tuesday, Oct. 10 on Tecumseh's Recreation Field.

This year the schools were given an option of choosing their own general catagory, instead of all conforming to one.

The massed band number—featuring more than 600 youngsters — will follow a Civil War topic.

Here are the bands participating and the name of their theme.

Addison — Broadway, The Great White Way.

Deerfield — Hi-Fi Show.

Morenci — Precision Drill.

Hudson — Our Sweetheart.

Britton-Macon — Holidays USA.

Onsted — Maching Down Broadway.

Sand Creek — Entertainment USA.

Blissfield — The Sound of Music.

Clinton — The Big Band Swing.

Tecumseh — Wagon Train.

Adrian — Paul Bunyan Invents the USA.

This event is unique from the standpoint of financing. The Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce, through the Tecumseh Community Fund Foundation, is the sponsor of the event. The gate receipts are divided equally between the participating bands, thereby helping each band in the country.

"If you have never witnessed 600 youthful musicians in one band you have something to see," says Don Murphy, Chamber secretary.

Band members from every high school in Lenawee County have tickets to sell.

"Remember you can help finance your high school band by attending the Band Festival, as well as viewing one of the most spectacular events in the state," he adds.

Yearbooks Completed

The Progress Extension Club met Sept. 25 at the home of Mrs. Arthur Baske. Members voted that each would make a small flag for United Nations Day.

Registration for sewing will be held this same evening, as will registration for adult driver training, typing and women's recreation.

The latter registration will be held in Room 13 from 7 until 8 p.m.

"These courses will be withdrawn if there is not enough adult interest to warrant having them," said Mr. Pobuda.

WE WUZ ROBBED—This lateral from Craig Rosacrans to Tim Sisson (out of picture) resulted in a 30-yard gain for the Indians Friday night at Dundee. Unfortunately, the refs ruled the toss illegal, nullified the game's longest play, and penalized Tecumseh for the infraction.

You Told Us

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Peace has descended again on the lakes. After the turbulance of summer water skiing and boating it was most restful to canoe quietly through the chain of lakes in the Irish Hills Sunday.

Black ducks, turtles and Ma and Pa Blue Heron have taken their accustomed places in the sun.

The water, now quiet, mirrors the fluffy clouds in the bright blue sky and the lovely green maples, oaks and birches as they wait for Jack Frost to touch them with his icy fingers.

How wonderfully comforting to smell the wood on the fire and know that God is in His heaven, though all may not be quite right in His world.

Panama Missionary Speaks Oct. 29

Sunday, Oct. 29, at 8 p.m., at the First Presbyterian Church, the Tecumseh Ministerial Association will sponsor its annual service for the Christian community.

This year, as in past years, an outstanding personality will be brought into the community to give an authoritative picture on an area of vital concern.

This service offers an opportunity for concerned people to grow in understanding, to share mutual concern, and to unite in a meaningful worship experience.

This year's speaker will be Dr. Robert White, former medical missionary to Panama and most recently, the Belgian Congo.

Dr. White, head surgeon and hospital administrator at Wembe Nyama Hospital in the Belgian Congo, was one of the last of the missionary personnel to be flown out along with his family.

The Belgian Congo is one of the central trouble spots today on a great continent that is in a state of turmoil.

In recent weeks, the attention of the world has been focused on the trouble there and the possibility that war will erupt on a larger scale.

The attention of the church has been focused on this area for many years, for here the church has invested great effort through its ministry and service. Many people would like better to understand the situation today, the role the church has played and what lies ahead for these people.

Dr. White will bring a first-hand report as seen through the eyes of a dedicated Christian layman.

All interested persons and their friends are cordially invited by the ministers to attend this service.

Mrs. Hunt Advanced in Office

Mrs. Robert Hunt advanced from chaplain to the office of senior vice-president when the Lenawee-Monroe County Association officers of the Order of the Eastern Star were installed Saturday in the Blissfield High School gymnasium.

Mrs. Hunt, carrying the Bible, escorted the officers to the center of the room where a huge cross was formed around the altar.

She also gave the invocations for both afternoon and evening sessions.

Lawrence Hoagland opened and closed the sessions.

Mrs. Gerald French of Clinton was elected marshall. Mrs. Kenton Hunt was installed as organist during the evening.

Others attending from Tecumseh were: Mrs. Cecil Viele, who took part in the drills, Mrs. Don LaBounty, Mrs. Lawrence Hoagland, Mrs. Robert Bonner and Mrs. Harry Beland.

Mrs. Erma Whaley, Mrs. Jay Morse, Mrs. Jennie Satterlee, Mrs. Nina Heath and Lillian Cannon also attended and were honored among those over 75 years of age who have been faithful over the years.

SOCIAL SECURITY
Questions and Answers

1. Question: Do the recent changes in social security have anything to do with hospital care?

Answer: No. Hospital or medical care benefits under social security are not a part of these changes.

2. Question: I'm a widow 64 and have been getting social security checks since my husband died last year. Will my monthly check be more because of the new law?

Answer: Yes. Widows over 62 will get about 10% more. The check you will get early in September will be in the new amount.

3. Question: I've been getting $33 a month. Will I get a raise?

Answer: Yes. Two groups will get higher benefits. You're in one of the groups, those who get the minimum benefit. The other group includes women over 62 who are getting widow's checks. Your checks will be raised to $40 a month beginning with the check you get in September.

4. Question: The paper said that those getting the minimum benefit will get a raise Who does this include?

Answer: Most workers who now get less than $40 a month will get an increase. Most families who receive less than $60 a month will also get an increase.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TO THE EDITORS:

Thanks for bringing us up to date with the papers. Received them OK.

You will never know how we miss the paper when we do not receive it. Its just like a letter from home, only just a little bit better, in that we get all the news and pictures of so many. We really appreciate it so much.

The weather here is just beautiful been hot, up in the high 80's and 90's but you don't mind it if you stay out of the direct sun. There is always a nice breeze.

Flowers down here are just lovely, so many different kinds that you do not have in Michigan.

We are starting and transplanting poinsettias, getting ready for the Christmas blooms. Have just set out five double red ones to go with the singles. They grow to be just like trees.

Thanks for everything.

Coach Likes Team Attitude

HEAD COACH DUNCAN LECTKA
HIS TECUMSEH RECORD: 24-2-3

This marks Duncan Lectka's 14th season as a football coach and his fourth at Tecumseh High School.

His record here is an amazing 24 wins, three ties and but two losses.

This year's squad is still in the realm of a question mark. The Herald has asked Coach Lectka to analyze his 1961 team in a question and answer article.

Coach, what is the greatest asset of this crew?

The kids have good attitude. They run technique as well as any boys we have had. But attitude is the main factor.

What do you mean by technique?

Their timing. This year is outstanding. We're running more offense—more variation and different plays—than ever.

What about the debit side of the ledger?

It's our lack of speed. This keeps us from going for distance. We can get by the line of scrimmage, but don't have the speed to take us all the way.

What do you do when you don't have speed?

You try to play ball control, grind it out. And you play good defenseive ball.

But isn't your defense weaker than in previous years?

Oh, yes. Our lack of speed hurts here, too. They can't pursue as well. Our lack of maturity hurts our defense, too. We have only two players, Tim Sisson and Tom Simmons, from last year's defensive unit. The rest are inexperienced and need lots of work.

Will your defense improve with experience?

It should.

What is hurting you most now on defense?

Our linebackers. Their job is arm wrestling, one-on-one, and the other teams are licking us.

How does Sisson match up as an offensive quarterback to Steve Kruger and Dale Tuckey, two of your former signal callers?

Tim does everything as well as those kids except throw the ball. He's as good a ball handler and better runner than Steve or Dale, but he can't pass nearly as well. Tim still has another year though.

Speaking of former THS stars, who were some of your favorites?

Mike Walter and Larry Yoakum were the finest defensive backs I have ever had. They reacted tremendously. Then there were Jim Curth and Jim Neitling, the real keys to our undefeated season two years ago. The two Jims were great high school athletes, agile and strong. They had a nose for the ball, always at the right place at the right time.

What about a thumb-nail discription of your defense in general?

We play what we call a 45. A four-man line, three linebackers immediately behind and inside the ends. We offset these kids, moving them around. We run a lot of stunts from this formation, the kids varying their charges from play to play. Then we have two corner back and two deep backs.

Do these fellows move around, too?

Yes, sometimes they'll rotate, the outside men dropping back into deep spots. They'll also move after seeing what the offensive formation is.

Then this isn't primarily a zone defense?

No, it's pretty much a one-on-one situation, except the wide people who often have to take on several opponents. Our corner men will read the reaction of the offensive backs. If his "man" goes away from him, he'll rotate to a deep back. If his immediate opponent comes toward him, the corner man will burst forward. This is a "key" defense where a player keys on his man.

Where did it originate?

Basically it come from pro football. I picked this up about five or six years ago from Bill Yeoman, a Michigan State University assistant coach.

How does this sort of defense affect the players?

It makes an average player a real good one. He can become an aggressive competitor. If he reads and reacts accurately, he can be on the move. Injuries come from waiting and happen mainly to a boy on the defense. People slicker you so much now, you can't sit back and wait.

We see you have again been chosen as a member of the Free Press All-State board. Does this mean you'll be writing a column about area youngsters?

Yes, every Thursday starting this week. I'll be covering about 70 schools with assistance from four other coaches.

Herald Football Section

Does your wife Phyllis still get cornered in the super markets by mothers of players asking why their sons don't play more?

Yes, but only once in a great while, nothing serious.

Is your family football minded?

We talk quite a bit of football at our home. Nothing personal, just basic football. We figure it's a family affair. No decisions are made in these sessions.

Does your wife and daughters, Mary and Ann, get excited about the games?

Before the Dundee tilt Mary couldn't eat dinner.

What has been your biggest thrill as the Tecumseh coach?

Our undefeated season two years ago. The big thing was the way the kids came along, the development of the team as a unit.

What, first of all, do you demand of a player?

He must give of himself to the game. He has to sacrifice all else for the thing that he is doing. He has got to do that above all else. This will include desire, attitude and unselfishness — they're all inclusive. Secondly, he has to be in good physical condition.

Are you satisfied with your kickoff kicking?

No obviously not. Kicking takes natural leg power. Then there must be practice, practice, practice. It becomes a mechanical thing. We just don't have the time to work with a boy. He has to do a lot of this on his own time.

What about those tremendous kicks we see in pro ball.

You must remember, they tee up the ball four inches. In high school, the limit is one inch. That makes a difference, also of course the pro kickers are specialists and have spent hundreds of hours perfecting this skill.

What can you do to help get the ball farther back on kickoffs?

We'll probably try the squib kick. The ball is placed flat and it is hard to handle by the receiving team.

HOLD ON TO IT, JOHN—The pigskin almost squirmed away from John Britton (7) as the Tecumseh fullback plowed into the Dundee end zone for an extra point. John will have to get a death grip on the ball this week against Ypsilanti Lincoln in a game which may well be the "key" to a successful year. This photo and others taken of Dundee tilt were snapped by Richard Duffin, rookie Herald lensman.

Ypsi Will Be Tough

A tough Ypsilanti Lincoln eleven, which likes to throw the ball, will journey here Friday night to face the Indians in the first home game of the 1961 season.

Game time is 7:30.

The Railsplitters, 1-1 for the season, lost last week to a fine Grosse Ile team, 20-7. GI, Tecumseh's next to the last game opponent, dropped its season's opener to Riverview by one TD. Riverview is rated one of the best in the Detroit suburban area.

Aaron Kuzan (No. 22) does the passing and his favorite target is halfback Dave Sparrow (No. 24). The combine clicked on two long tosses in the Lincoln 26-0 win over Clarenceville.

Ypsi is coached by Tom McCormick.

The Indians, who have proved to be a power in the Huron League for the past three years under the coaching of Dunc Lectka, will have their hands full against Ypsi.

No Lectka team here has lost more than one game during the season. Two years ago his club swept undefeated through a nine-game schedule.

Whether this year's team is capable of an outstanding season hinges much on Friday night's encounter. The Indians showed some improvement on defense in winning over Dundee, but were lax in reacting to the Vikings passing game. (Details of the Dundee game appear in the last section, page 6.)

Church News

New Officers Being Installed at Gloria Dei

New officers of the Luther League will be installed in the service at the Gloria Dei Lutheran Church Sunday.

They include:

President — Dorothy Nettleman

Vice-president — Bill Thomas

Secretary-treasurer — Eugene Boyers

Bradley Stuart, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Dunn, was baptized during the worship service last Sunday.

Sponsors were Mrs. Carl Brown from Blissfield and Richard Demlow from Adrian.

St. Elizabeth Will Now Have Three Masses

St. Elizabeth Catholic Church will now have three Masses each Sunday.

The Rev. Fr. Thomas J. Collins announced that services will be held at 8, 10 and 12 a.m.

Father Collins will say the first two Masses with Boysville chaplain, the Rev. Fr. Harry Stegman, CSC, handling the third.

Father Collins explains that more than 1,000 persons attend Mass each week, causing overcrowding with many having to stand.

Mind, Spirit Also Needs Nourishment

Following the Church School, held at 10 a.m. in the First Baptist Church, Holy Communion will be celebrated in connection with World Communion Sunday.

The Rev. B. O. Bashore will speak to the subject, "A Channel of Divine Grace."

Just as the physical needs to be renewed by bread and water, so the mind and Spirit must be fed.

When Jesus spoke of himself as "bread that cometh down from heaven," He was aware of the keen hunger of the human spirit. Thus He provided for the renewal of the "spirit" of man.

"This renewal comes in every worship service, but more especially in the Holy Communion. As the Master presents His way of living to each of us, He also makes available the strength to live in our lives the very life of God."

"This means sacrifice, to be sure, but fellowship with Him and our fellowmen serve to supply the "bread" needed. The experience and blessing of the Holy Communion will help each one to start right where we are, and begin a great Spiritual adventure. Begin by going to the church of your choice THIS SUNDAY," suggests the Rev. Mr. Bashore.

Circle Sessions Are Scheduled for October

Sunday, Oct. 1 at the 11 a.m. service, the First Presbyterian Church along with protestant churches the world over, will observe World Wide Communion.

Wednesday, Oct. 4 at 7:30 p.m. a training program for teachers will begin. The program of study will be the theology of the Bible and is for all church school teachers.

The Junior Fellowship group of the Church will meet this Sunday evening, Oct. 1, from 5 to 7 p.m. in the Fellowship Center.

Circle Meetings:

No. 1—Oct. 3 at the home of Mrs. Max Smith—1:30 p.m.

No. 2—Oct. 3 at the home of Mrs. Don Ketteman—1:15 p.m.

No. 3—Oct. 2 at the home of Mrs. Gordon Garlick—8 p.m.

No. 4—Oct. 3 at the home of Mrs. Robert Hanna—8 p.m.

No. 5—Oct. 3 at the home of Mrs. LeRoy Titley—8 p.m.

Thoughts

The importance of distinguishing between sound and unsound thoughts will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

CITRUS FRUIT GROWER—No sooner had last week's Herald with the banana tree story been delivered than Sandy Stout, a secretary at Ottawa Machine, called to report that her mother, Mrs. Carson Stout, 409 W. Kilbuck St., grows her own full-size lemons and miniature oranges. Mrs. Stout keeps her three-year old trees in crocks. They're outside during the warm months and in the dining room when temperatures drop. So far she has picked four oranges and two lemons from her tree. Mrs. Stout holds fruit she grew.

Communion Brings Together

Holy Communion will be observed in the First Methodist Church at 10 a.m. Sunday.

"World-Wide Communion on this day brings the churches together in a great Christian observance," explains The Rev. Allen Wittrup, who will have as the Communion meditation "In Remembrance of Me."

There will also be the reception of new members at this service.

Church School meets at 11:15 a.m. and there are classes for every age. The fourth, fifth and sixth graders will meet for choir practice at 4:30 Sunday afternoon, and the seventh, eighth and ninth graders will meet at 5:30 for practice.

Intermediate and Senior Youth Fellowships will meet at 6:30 p.m. Sunday.
